Rev. M. Carlson at Workshop Session

Problems of Churches in 'Cut-over' Area Discussed

A workshop meeting to discuss the special problems of churches in areas of critical social and economic adjustment in northern Minnesota and upper Michigan has been set for Feb. 7 and 8 at Grand Rapids, Minnesota.

Announcement of the plans for this meeting in the "cut-over" area come from Dr. E. W. Mueller, secretary of the rural church program of the National Lutheran Council, sponsor of the workshop.

Attending the workshop will be 42 representatives, half of whom will be pastors and half laymen, who have been invited to study the problems of how social and economic difficulties affect the church and how the Lutheran Churches can meet the problems in these communities.

In addition to several Lutheran pastors of Northern Minnesota who will speak on the subject; two rural sociologists, Dr. Lowry Nelson and Dr. Douglas Marshall of the University of Wisconsin will address the workshop on the responsibility of the church to help answer the problem that exists in the area.

The Rev. Marvin O. Carlson, pastor of the First Lutheran church of this city has been invited to be a representative at the meeting in Grand Rapids.

Rites For Mrs. George Erickson Set For Friday

Mrs. George Erickson, long time resident of this city, passed away suddenly Monday evening at the age of 56 years. Funeral services will be conducted Friday, February 8 at 2 p.m. in the Community Methodist church with Pastor E. C. Mead officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Erickson was born October 20, 1900, in St. Thomas, N. D. She moved with her parents to Mahnomen in 1905, and in 1910 they moved to this city where she has since resided. She attended school and teachers training here and graduated in 1919. For two years she taught school in Carlos, Minn.

On June 15, 1922, she was united in marriage to George Erickson in this city. Mrs. Erickson was a member of the church circle, and at one time was a member of the Rebekah lodge. For many years she was active in Christmas Seal work.

Survivors include her husband, George; one son, Jack of this city; one daughter, Mrs. Virgil Jackitch of Campbell, Minn.; two grandchildren; seven sisters, Mrs. Martin Stenberg and Mrs. Norman Johnson of this city, Mrs. Roy Wallen of Grand Marias, Minn., Mrs. Roy Lessor of Minneapolis, Mrs. Don Noyes, Mrs. Elaine Smith, Mrs. Ralph Pileow and one brother, Donald Erickson all of Minneapolis. Her step-father, Henry F. Erickson of Princeton also survives her.

Mother of Lloyd Tygeson Dies in Crookston Feb. 6

Mrs. John Enwald, resident of Crookston for the past 70 years, passed away Wednesday morning in the Bethesda Nursing Home in Crookston. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:00 in the Houske Funeral Chapel of Crookston with the Rev. J. David Larsen officiating. Burial will be made in Oakdale cemetery.

The former Ida Nelson was born July 2, 1882, in Manitowoc, Wis. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church in Crookston and also the Daughters of Norway.

Survivors include her husband, John; one son, Lloyd L. Tygeson of this city; two step sons, Forrest and Vernon Enwald of California; one sister, Mrs. Olga Sampson of Crookston; one brother, Norman Nelson of Crookston and seven grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at the Houske Funeral Home from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday morning until the time of services.

eral stores, indicates that all business buildings will be occupied again shortly with encouraging prospects for further expansion.

This year will be a good building year, he said, just with the carry-over of what was started in 1956. School construction will continue through most of the season and a large number of skilled workers will be required to complete installations at the new telephone company building. There are good prospects for at least one new large building project, and we may expect home construction to continue at about the same level as in recent years, he said.

Because of a lack of the required quorum, the election of directors was postponed and the meeting was recessed, subject to the call of the president.

FHA and FFA Plan Banquets

The February meetings of the FHA and FFA of the Middle River high school were held Monday evening. Those from here who participated in the planning of the Mothers-Daughters banquet and the Fathers-Sons banquet were Elona and Anita Aase, Naomi Engevik, Phyllis Lunsetter, Janet Dahl, Donna Nelson, Margaret Klamar, Clelia Anderson, Janice Polansky, Adrienne Johnson, Barbara and Edward Monson, Clarence Dahl and Darrell Tale.

The Gatzke grade school basketball team scored three victories during the past few days. They defeated Grygla on Wednesday evening in an over-time game by the score of 47 to 41. On Monday evening, the score of 59 to 30 spelled out another victory over Middle River. Gully was also defeated here by the score of 50 to 29. The school is growing increasingly proud of the team under the fine coaching of Mylon Abrahamson.

Gary Overvold of Middle River was a Wednesday over-night guest of Edward Monson.

Bob Jacobs Speaks At Ag. Meeting

Bob Jacobs of the University of Minnesota animal husbandry division was the principal speaker at the agricultural meeting held at the school gymnasium on January 31. Mr. Jacobs spoke on livestock feeding, a topic of general interest to the farmers of the community. Lawrence Ludtke, vocational agriculture instructor at the Middle River high school conducts classes regularly at Gatzke and finds the public very receptive.

Newfolden Man Builds Thriving Enterprise out of Rolling Pins

John Lokstad, a Newfolden part-time farmer, part-time manufacturer could well say that opportunity, like gold, is where you find it.

As a farmer Lockstad doesn't appear different from his contemporaries in northern Minnesota. As a manufacturer he stands head and shoulders above practically all of them. Whereas most farmers in this area, and around Newfolden, where Lokstad lives, aren't too awfully busy except for their usual winter chores, he is going at his business of manufacturing rolling pins with hammer and tongs.

What used to be more or less of a hobby is a very profitable business, according to what he says. From a business established less than 10 years ago he is deriving both income and means of keeping himself occupied in slack seasons. Summers he helps his brother on the family farm.

Always interested in woodworking—and any kind of shop work, for that matter—Lockstad has learned by doing himself, what others go to school years to learn. And even at that very few people become as handy with tools as he is.

In the small one-room shop Lockstad has his entire factory. He also keeps his raw materials, stock inventory, packaging materials and other items pertaining to the business.

In one corner of the shop stands Lockstad's lathe. With this he does the largest operation in making rolling pins—turning hexagon-shaped blocks of sugar maple down into perfectly round wooden cylinders.

In order to get the pins drilled dead center before putting them in the lathe chuck, however, he puts each block in the jig under a drill press alongside the lathe to make sure each hole in the end of the pin is just right.

After the pinholes are drilled the block is mounted in the lathe and turned with a special tool that does the job in mere seconds. Another tool puts grooves in the pin if it is to be a lefse or other kind of pin.

After this the handles, already painted a bright red, are installed with a wooden pin in each end of the rolling pin.

However, Lockstad doesn't go through the entire operation of making a single rolling pin at a time. He drills so many blocks in one certain time, turns down and grooves so many at another, installs handles at still another until he finishes a large number of them, mass-production style.

One day he makes pins. Another day he makes and paints rolling pin handles. When he has all the component parts finished he does final assembly work on the whole bunch.

A look around Lokstad's shop reveals ingenuity supreme. The cutting tool on the lathe, the grooving device, the machine that puts the prickly finish on certain types of rolling pins Lokstad makes—all of them are his own products, made to do a special job and, because of that, are not available on the market.

He makes the tools out of materials at hand. A wrist pin from a car engine makes cutting tools. An old combine shaft, a piece of automobile spring, vacuum cleaner motor, a hand-wound phonograph spring all have a function. Odd perhaps — but fitting material for special uses!

Although he originally sold the finished and very neatly packaged rolling pins to his customers Lockstad now deals with wholesalers who buy his entire stock every year. Last year, he said, the supply couldn't meet the demand.

Although it sounds as though Lokstad "has it made" he does have problems peculiar to his business. For one thing, he has a hard time getting the wood for the rolling pins. Very few firms dry and handle the maple Lokstad uses and even when he gets a supply it is expensive and not all of it is suitable for making into rolling pins.

Tools are also a problem. He can't run out and buy one every time one wears out or is broken—quite often he has to build it from scratch.

Making the finished rolling pin attractive to the customer's eyes is also something that keeps Lokstad on his toes, too. While [illegible] is continually trying to improve its marketability.

As a matter of fact Lockstad says he had a hard time finding some of the recipes on the rolling pin wrapper. He never dreamed that lefse recipes were, for the most part, handed down from mother to daughter! However, now that John Lokstad is making his fancy rolling pins up at Newfolden there's slight danger the art of lefse baking will die out—there are recipes for potato and Hardanger lefse on every rolling pin that he makes.

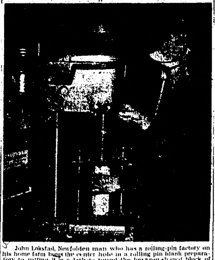
Then, on the other hand, this might be called by some an excellent scheme to promote the use of rolling pins in the future, thus assuring Lockstad a good market for his product in years to come.

He Made These

JOHN LOKSTAD

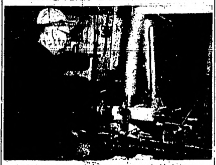
Newfolden rolling pin maker holds two of the special handle and pin cutting tools used in the manufacture of rolling pins. These parts cannot be bought anywhere so Lokstad, a former Navy toolmaker instructor, made them himself out of materials available. The tool on the right turns out rolling pin handles—all Lockstad does is mount the tool in a lathe, stick in square pieces of material and—presto—he has a rolling pin handle. The tool at left does the same for the pins used in attaching the handles. Both are made from steel shafting and automobile wrist pins. Except for a lathe, drill press and table saw, all Lokstad's tools are self-made.

Step 1 In Making Rolling Pin



John Lokstad, Newfolden man who has a rolling-pin factory on his home farm bores the center hole in a rolling pin blank preparatory to putting it in a lathe to round the hexagon-shaped block of sugar maple. The framework in which the block is fastened is a jig which centers the block for boring it dead center.

Lathe Turns Down Pin Block



In just a matter of seconds a sugar maple block becomes a smoothly-rounded cylinder in John Lokstad's lathe. Tubes draw off wood shavings from cutting tool. After rounding the block Lokstad will use another tool to groove the pin, depending on whether he is making smooth, grooved or prickly-type pins. Only perfectly sawed and cured white sugar maple is suitable for the industry.

Here's The Finished Product

John Lokstad, Newfolden "rolling pin tycoon," surveys a completed rolling pin he just turned out in his little factory. Special tools, practically all made especially for his kind of work, enable him to turn out a pin in a very short time as he works on a mass-production basis. The pin he is holding here is a prickly-finish type used in making lefse. Others are grooved or smooth, depending on the type used for certain kinds of baking. The rack in the background has rolling pin handles stored on the shelves. Lokstad makes 1000 of these at a time with a special cutting tool he made himself, and uses a special method of painting them. It takes only a very short while to make 10,000 of the handles, Lokstad said.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Whew! Almost missed an edition—such situations are about to become habitual and we can't have that! We'd hate to think of writing a column for a daily paper.

Filed your income tax return yet? Every year we dread that chore more and more. It isn't that we hate to pay taxes—our protest is against the bookwork Sam, you made the forms too long (even the 1040!)

This really is the season of doldrums. It's too long since hunting season to fool around with guns and too far ahead of fishing season to recondition your tackle.

We've a good idea that if modern mothers did more baking at home they wouldn't have nearly as much trouble keeping their kids there. A boy will seldom stray far from the cookie jar.

You think prices are high here? Folks down in Chicago pay $1.80 per admission to a first-run movie. A haircut costs $1.75. Our source of information says other items are equally high in many instances. We hope no one here tries to emulate the Chicagoans.

If our figures are right there are over 60 million cars on the road in the U.S.A. Yet there are many drivers who still selfishly insist on driving as though they have the road all to themselves. Unfortunately, not all the 40,000 or so who died in traffic accidents last year as a result were this kind of characters.

There's one nice thing about having work piled up on you—it's such a grand feeling you have when you've finally waded through it. SO LONG!

AIRPORT NEWS

The month of January contributed very few days of good flying weather to the local pilots, and still we did add quite a number of visiting pilots to our Guest book.

On the 30th of January we had Hugo Puronen of Calumet, Minn. stop in and gas up his Champ, as he was on his way to Grand Rapids. Hugo was doing cross-country solo to obtain a private pilot's License.

Miles Wermager and Basil Celuny came to pick up Wermager's T-Craft and return it to Karlstad, on the 30th. While here Miles went up with Martin Rantanen for an hour of instructions.

Thursday the 31st, brought us the gang from Crookston—Gene Miller in the T-Craft and flying the Champ was Harold Ross with passenger Harold Limkow.

February 1st dawned clear and oh, so cold, but Martin Rantanen and Joe Kell, Middle River, took off for Minneapolis in Martin's warm Super Cub. They made the return trip on Saturday.

Saturday brought us a chain of flyers starting with Tony Burkle and Felix Wilebski, Greenbush, in a J-3; Floyd Anderson and Gene Miller, Crookston, T-Craft; Frank McDaniels, Roseau, Champ; Delmar Hagen, Grygla, Champ. Delmar purchased the Champ from E. A. Bache of Red Lake Falls, and keeps it out at his farm.

Tom Hagen and Floyd Anderson of Crookston were over again on Sunday in the T-Craft. They came to inspect the recover job being done on a Crookston Sprayer.

Two of Martin's students soloed this last week; they were Dayle Kainz and Allen Larson. Congratulations fellows!

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Dairy

University of Minnesota studies show that good pastures cost the farmer only 74 cents in production costs for every 100 pounds of total digestible nutrients (T.D.N.) in forage.

That's far cheaper than any other feed that a farmer can raise or buy. Alfalfabrome hay and silage each cost $1.45 per hundred pounds of T.D.N. and oats cost $3.60 per hundred pounds of T.D.N.

Let's compare top quality pasture with poorly-managed pasture that is 40 per cent lower in feed value. Poor quality pasture would cost the farmer just as much to maintain.

But if the farmer made up the difference in feed value between the good and poor pasture by feeding hay or silage, it would cost him an extra $10.00 per cow for the summer. With other feeds, it would be even more expensive. Feeding enough corn to make up for the 40 per cent T.D.N. loss in poor pasture would add $21.60 to each cow's production cost, and feeding a medium-high protein concentrate would mean an additional $34.00 feeding cost per cow.

Past research has shown that with excellent pasture and ration-a-day grazing, a dairy herd with a butterfat average of 350 pounds per cow can give the farmer only $11 labor return per acre. Labor return is income after production costs and interest.

Sheep

Feed wintering ewes all the legume hay they want, but if possible, don't feed low grade roughage.

If you feed oats or corn silage, the ewes need at least two pounds of good quality legume hay each day.

With grass silage, feed ewes one-half to one pound of grain plus the legume hay. Corn or oats silage has enough grain in it, so you don't have to feed grain with it. At one month before lambing, and one-half pound of corn or three-fourths of a pound of oats per ewe each day.

When ewes don't get any legume hay at all, feed about one-fourth pound of oil meal per day.

When ewes go into the winter in thrifty condition and are fed a good legume hay, you don't have to worry much about them.

It's a good idea to put the legume hay and any other roughage into racks at some distance away from the barns. That will force the ewes to walk to eat. Exercise will reduce pregnancy disease, make lambing easier, and help produce strong lambs.

To supply the minerals for sheep, a mixture of 7 pounds of trace mineralized salt and 2 pounds of dicalcium phosphate or bonemeal, will provide the sheep with trace minerals, calcium, phosphorus and salt. You can use one pound of phenothiazine with the mixture, to control internal parasites.

Make sure the ewes have plenty of ice-free water.

Hogs

A hogs menu need to be planned according to his age and the way he's fed.

For example, milking sows need a ration with 16-17 per cent protein, while 14-15 percent protein is best for bred sows and gilts.

Growing pigs need less protein as they get older. Pigs weighing less than 75 pounds need a high-protein ration—14-16 per cent. After 75 pounds, the protein content can be reduced to 12-14 per cent until pigs weigh 150 pounds. And from then to market weight, 10-12 percent protein is enough.

Zavoral and Meade list 14 suggested rations for hand-feeding or self-feeding sows and pigs at different ages. These rations are spelled out in "Animal Husbandry Fact Sheet number one", recently issued by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service. From this list of rations, you can select one to fit your hogs and your feed supply.

You can get a copy of this fact sheet from the county agent's office or by writing to the bulletin room. Institute of Agriculture, University of Minn., St. Paul 1.

The key to safety is you.

Melee Marks Prowler Six Win at Warroad

In a game that was enlivened by a rink-sized brawl midway in the third period, the Prowlers defeated the Warroad Warriors, 5 to 1, in a regional conference hockey tilt played at Warroad on Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule on Saturday afternoon when, with the game-opening face-off slated for 3:00 p.m., they meet the Baudette Burbos on the Baudette rink. The game could be a preview of a sub-regional game, for according to the present standings, and the tournament pairings, it is probable that Baudette and Thief River Falls will meet in a first round game on Monday evening.

With the Prowlers leading by a 4 to 1 score midway in the third period, the game erupted, and the spark that exploded the fracas was a setto between the Prowlers' Don Litstrom and the Warriors' Jack Foster. Prowler players poured out of the box and over the boards onto the ice, and after officials Mylo Anderson and Orv Kofstad had restored a semblance of order and had finished finger-pointing the culprits, eleven Prowlers — Litstrom, Jim Reese, Jim Hall, Jim Nelson, Jeff Hanson, Dale Wennberg, Jerry Jorgenson, Mike Poole, Wendy Johnson, Darryl Smith, and Duane Erickson — and five Warriors — Jack Foster, Bob Meek, Don Cornelliusen, George Lewis, and Dick Huerd — had been waved out of the game.

In order that the game could be resumed and that the Prowlers would have a full complement of players, it was necessary to "suit up" several of the Prowler 'B' team players. Incidentally, in a preliminary game, coach Gene Sack's Prowler 'B' team scored a 1 to 0 win over the Warroad 'B' team.

In the game proper, the Prowlers, after being held scoreless in the first period, tallied twice in the second stanza to gain a 2 to 0 lead. Freshman Wes Halvorson banged in a rebound at the 1:12 mark; and Jerry Jorgenson and Dale Wennberg combined for a goal at the 9:40 mark.

Warroad's chunky Bob Meek pared the Prowler lead to one goal when, on a shot that was deflected into the Prowler goal, he scored at the 3:10 mark of the third period. Jorgenson and Wendy Johnson pumped in a pair of quick goals, scoring at the 4:10 and 4:50 marks. Then came the melee and the fisticuffs.

Freshman Curt Nelson finished out the game [illegible] assisted goal a short while after play was resumed.

Drunken Driving Penalty Endorsed

Poll Shows 92 Pct. O. K. Suspension of License

An overwhelming majority of adults in the state (92 per cent) approve of suspending, for at least 30 days, the license of any driver convicted of drunken driving, a survey by the Minneapolis Tribune's Minnesota Poll indicates.

An additional 2 per cent approve, but would like the suspension to last for longer than 30 days. Four per cent disapprove and the remaining 2 per cent have no opinion or give other answers.

The 30-day suspension for drunken drivers was ordered by Gov. Orville L. Freeman last month. He also directed that every driver whose license has been suspended for any traffic violation, or combination of violations, must pass the written test for new drivers before his license is reinstated.

Sixty-two per cent think the examination procedure will help the traffic situation "quite a bit," 35 per cent said it would not help very much," and 3 per cent had no opinion.

Boy Scouts Guests at Lions Luncheon

Area Executive Tells of Growth of Scouting Here

In connection with the observance of Boy Scout Week, members of the Lions club had a group of scouts and leaders as their guests at Wednesday's luncheon meeting in the Elks club rooms.

Bob St. Lawrence, area Boy Scout executive, commented briefly on the growth of scouting in this area, and stated that at present nearly 400 Thief River Falls boys are engaged in various forms of Scout work. He solicited the cooperation of adult groups in sponsoring additional units.

Others present with St. Lawrence were Neal Fox, cubmaster of Pack 60; Warren Nelson, Explorer post advisor; David Rasmussen, Explorer scout; Tom Lindberg, Boy Scout; and Mike Fox, Cub Scout.

11 Traffic Cases Are Heard in Court

Several Penalized on Drunk Driving Charges

Eleven traffic cases, and several lesser ones, made a busy afternoon in court Monday as 13 persons appeared before Judge H. O. Chommie to face an assortment of charges made by city police and the highway patrol.

Of the persons appearing in court, eight were brought in by the highway patrol. They were:

William A. Sather, Newfolden. Sather pleaded guilty to driving without a 1957 registration, was fined $5 plus $4 costs.

Harry E. Loggens, St. Hilaire, pleaded guilty to speeding, was fined $12.50 and $4 costs.

Kenneth F. Besch, Stephen, pleaded guilty to being drunk on a public road, was fined $10 and costs, $4.

Daniel F. Slominski, Grand Forks, N. D., pleaded guilty to operating under the influence of intoxicants, paid $100 plus $5 costs.

Joseph F. Riskl, also of Grand Forks, arrested at same time, pleaded guilty of driving under the influence and paid the same amount as Slominski.

Arlos R. Amundson, city, driving after license revocation, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 plus $4 costs.

L. Gordon Ballingrud, pleaded guilty to speeding, paid $12.50 and $4 costs.

Merlyn Rhen, city, speeding, pleaded guilty, paid $20 and $4 costs.

City police also had a variety of cases appearing as follows:

Carl Gutterud, city, drunkenness, 10 days in jail, also got 20 days for petty larceny with 10 days suspended.

Carl W. Swanson, Rt. 5, city, pleaded guilty to speeding, was fined $10 plus costs, $4.

Clark L. Boman, St. Hilaire, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $25 plus $4 costs, of which $15 was suspended.

Duncan J. Lawson, Warroad, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence and was given a choice of $100 plus $5 costs or 60 days in jail. He also pleaded guilty to driving without a license and drew a $25 fine $4 costs or 20 days on that charge. He was jailed.

Judge Chommie has set the rate for overtime parking in the city at $1.50, rather than the $1 formerly charged. As before, farmers will not be charged for overtime parking, except when they are chronic offenders.

Two Car Mishaps in City This Week

No Accidents Reported by Sheriff or Patrol

Only two accidents since Monday disturbed the peace and quiet which otherwise reigned in the city, according to the city police.

Neither the sheriff's office or highway patrol had accidents to report.

Monday, about 11:45 p.m. A. Ellsworth Jorgenson, who was driving east on E. 3rd st. was struck on the right side of his car by another driven by Orrin A. Drangstveit, Rt. 3, Goodridge, who was going north on Tindolph av. [illegible] $200 on Jorgenson's car, which was battered around the radiator, fender, right front door and wheel. Damage to the Drangstveit car was about $15, according to police.

At about 7:30 a.m. Wednesday Elnar Barstad, who was driving south in the 200 block on Tindolph av. N., was hit by a car driven by the Rev. John C. Zollbrecht, going north on Tindolph. Damage to each car was estimated by police at about $100.

Police said Lawrence Norman, city, reported someone had stolen 70 feet of extension cord for his headbolt heater. The cord was taken from where Norman kept it outside his house when using the headbolt heater on his car.

Ernest Breznay Wins 4-H Award

Ernest Breznay of the Mavie 4-H club won special recognition in the farm mechanics project on Monday night at the 4-H Leaders Council meeting, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Ernest's award, a set of tools was donated by the Stanley Tool company. It was announced by the state 4-H office. He has a fine record of achievement in his 4-H work, and last week was chosen as the 4-H'er of the Week.

Ernie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Breznay, Goodridge.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's Not Hopeless

The season's largest crowd should be attracted to the basketball game that is on the schedule for the local gymnasium on Saturday night, for it will find the defending regional champion Bemidji Lumberjacks meeting coach Al Adams' Prowlers. Coach Bun Fortier's Jacks will be coming here fresh from their surprising 50 to 47 win over the previously undefeated Willmar team in a preliminary game played on the Minnesota Fieldhouse court on Saturday night.

Incidentally, that 50 to 47 game, with Willmar losing, was especially distressing to the transplanted Willmarite, Doug Tegtmeier. Doug has been paying off coffee bets. A few more games like that and Doug will be saying that he's from Blomkest.

But to get back to Saturday night's tilt. While it's a cinch that the Jacks will be rated a top-heavy favorite to defeat the blue-and-gold, the game isn't a hopeless cause for the Prowlers. They have a chance. Man for man, and on a pound-for-pound and inch-for-inch basis, the Prowlers are as impressive physically as the Lumberjacks. Where the Jacks have the edge is in foot-speed and reflex action. And Bemidji has that uncanny knack of playing as if they were trying to win their first regional championship. They have intense desire. A fact that Willmar perhaps learned last Saturday night.

Not since the days of Rog Williamson and Dick Bjorkman, and that carries back to the season of 1951-52, have the Prowlers defeated the Lumberjack cagers. During that season, the Prowlers, coached by Bob Rick, and with such players as Gary Anderson, Stan Rosengren, Art Johnson, Chuck Dicken, Bruce Williamson, Gary Smith, Jerry Tygeson, and LeRoy Aasland, in addition to Rog and Dick, scored 48 to 40 and 57 to 48 wins over Bemidji. Since that time, the Lumberjacks have rolled up ten straight wins.

In an earlier game this season, the Jacks, after being held to a 11 to 10 score at the end of the first period, and a 30 to 23 score at the half-time intermission, piled up an 18-point lead in the third period and won the game by a 72 to 48 score.

[illegible] as much interest and excitement as the varsity game which will be the preliminary game between Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team and Jack Louma's Bemidji 'B' team. In the previous game between the two clubs, the Bemidji B's, after trailing throughout the entire game, edged out the locals in the fourth period to win by a 48 to 46 score.

College Match

John McGinley and his "Fast Break" Jaycees basketball team have issued a challenge to Ralph Skiod, Al Adams, Joe Mrkonich and their "Zone Defense" Faculty team for a "March of Dimes" benefit basketball game.

The game, which will be played on the high school gymnasium floor, has been tentatively scheduled for next week. It isn't a spur of the moment production, for various precautionary measures must be taken. According to John, arrangements must be made whereby the Faculty team would have an adequate supply of oxygen tanks, salt tablets, stretchers, etc.

Keep this game in mind. Not for the spectators and the participants, but the proceeds will be funneled into the Polio program.

Always on Schedule

Neither snow nor sleet, nor below zero temperatures, have been able to keep that Mentor Co-op bowling gang from fulfilling their Monday night Service league bowling assignments. They haven't missed a match. And to Service league bowling assignments, They haven't missed a match. And to bowl these weekly matches, these fellows have a round-trip of 74 miles.

While the Mentor Co-op do have some local bowlers on their squad, the majority are bona fide Mentor residents. And we will give them a salute for their devotion to bowling, and to Monday night Service league bowling in particular, we'll recognize Len Boyum, Ed and Lloyd Ramberg, Jerry Super, Morris Dunrud, Lloyd Iverson, and Art and George Moe.

Piling up the Cordwood

Lloyd Wiseth, bowling second on the Goodridge team in the Monday night Service league, really scrambled the pins in the final game of Goodridge's three-game series against the KTRF team. Lloyd marked up a 279 score, setting a season's single-game record.

Lloyd, bowling on alleys three and four, poured in seven strikes in a row. In the 8th frame he left the 5-pin standing, getting a wobble. He picked up the spare, and then added four strikes for a record-shattering 279 score.

Bar Assn. Tells Who May Make an Arrest

Under certain circumstances arrests may be made with or without a warrant and by either a private citizen or a police officer, according to the Minnesota State Bar association.

There are three classes of offenses involved in the making of a lawful arrest: felony crimes, punishable by state prison or reformatory sentences; gross misdemeanors, punishable by fines or jail sentences in excess of three months, and misdemeanors, punishable by fines not exceeding $100 or jail sentences not exceeding 90 days.

An arrest for a felony offense may be made with or without a warrant at any time of day or night by a police officer, and only by a private citizen when the offense has been committed in his presence, or he has reasonable grounds to believe such person committed an established felony. The same holds generally true for arrests for gross misdemeanors.

Arrests for misdemeanors, or minor offenses, far exceed those for felonies and gross misdemeanors, and consequently create a more common problem. Both a police officer and a private citizen may make an arrest for a misdemeanor committed in either's presence. Neither a police officer nor a private citizen may make an arrest for a misdemeanor not committed in his presence, unless the police officer has a warrant for such arrest. Only a police officer may serve and arrest with a warrant, of course. A police officer with a warrant may not make an arrest on Sunday or at night unless the magistrate issuing the warrant has endorsed such permission on it.

A person arrested is entitled to know why he is arrested and to see the warrant if one is used, if he so requests. An officer should identify himself as an officer. Upon a lawful arrest, the person, as well as his real and personal property in the immediate vicinity of the arrest, may be searched, the Minnesota State Bar explains. After a person has been arrested and jailed, he is entitled to consult with an attorney before any other proceedings are conducted.

(This column, based on Minnesota law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

SECOND SECTION
Pages 1 thru 4

Volume Forty-six — Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — Thursday, February 7, 1957 — Nnumber Eleven

Bob Hope succumbs to the lure of Katharine Hepburn, intrepid Russian woman flier who discovers that it's more fun to be a glamorous woman than a patriot. The dancing scene is from "The Iron Petticoat," hilarious comedy showing Sunday for 3 days at the Falls Theatre.

Total Government Tax Receipts Now $1,900 Per Family

Federal, State and Local Agencies Collected Total of $100 Billion in 1956

Total government tax receipts in the U.S. are, for the first time in the country's history, reaching the $100 billion mark. This sum equals $1,900 for each American family.

Preliminary estimates by the Tax Foundation indicate a record-breaking collection of $99.8 billion for 1956. The $100 billion mark may be passed when all final figures are tabulated.

The early estimates calculated that the Federal government would collect $72 billion, the state governments nearly $15 billion, and local governments, $13 billion. The total was almost ten times as much as was collected by all levels of government only 20 years ago. At that time, the per family tax burden was an estimated $330.

Tax receipts were higher at all levels of government in fiscal 1956 than in the preceding year. At the Federal level they went up about $9 billion; at the state, about $2 billion, and only slightly less at the local level.

Evidences of the increased "take" at the Federal level are given in the figures: In 1946, Federal tax receipts were $38 billion; by 1956, they had climbed to over $72 billion.

'Save Wetlands' Plan Expanding

Game and Fish Division Director Sees Progress

The "Save Minnesota's Wetlands" program which is now firmly established on a statewide basis is being further expanded to include impounding additional waters on state-owned refuges and public hunting grounds, announces Richard J. Dorer, supervisor of game, Minnesota game and fish division.

Dorer points out, "10,500 acres of impoundments have been created at the Roseau River game refuge, but there remains another ideal location on the refuge suited to impounding 10,000 acres at a minimum cost."

"In like manner the impoundment programs at Thief Lake, Red Lake, Mille Lacs, Carlos Avery, Whitewater, Talcot Lake and other state-owned refuges can be improved and supplemented to increase their water areas by at least one hundred percent," added Dorer.

Similar projects can also be launched at desirable sites on other state-owned lands which are a part of the public domain.

"It is most gratifying to see that public interest in our wetlands program which has mounted remarkably during the past few months," said Dorer. "People are becoming more and more water conscious and are responding to our efforts to save the wetlands. Every day brings letters from all over the state expressing concern over the plight of our water areas and indicating that they hope our program will be successful in reaching its objectives.

Crooked Teeth Are Children's Handicap

(This is the last in a series of five articles on dental health being presented by the Times, in cooperation with the Pennington Co. Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 3-9.)

* * *

One of the worst results of so-called crooked teeth is the impact of ridicule upon a child who may be taunted by his playmates or the psychological stress borne by a teen-ager who is miserably self-conscious about appearance.

In addition to emotional and social factors, teeth in improper alignment—dentists call it malocclusion—present other problems.

Malocclusion may cause facial deformities. It may contribute to speech defects. It may interfere with proper eating habits, causing malnutrition. The teeth may be especially susceptible to dental decay because their position makes it difficult to clean them properly. And malocclusion may lead to diseases of the gums later in life.

Dentists agree generally on the major causes of irregular teeth.

There is evidence that heredity may play a part. Another cause is persistent thumbsucking beyond the age of about five, and other habits that put abnormal pressure on the teeth and jaws.

Still another cause is premature loss of first teeth or too long retention of first teeth.

Studies indicate that about one-fifth of U. S. children have serious malocclusion. The condition develops most commonly during the time when a child is losing his first teeth and when his second teeth are appearing.

The development of badly positioned teeth may often be prevented by periodic dental care. For example, if a first tooth is lost too soon, the dentist can insert a space maintainer, if necessary, so there will be space for the permanent tooth to come in at the right place.

If special corrective treatment is needed, the dentist may refer the patient to an orthodontist.

To sum up, the means are at hand to cut down drastically on the enormous rate at which dental disorders are developing. The most practical approach to the problem is through the child. The youngster who starts out with proper dental health habits has an excellent chance to reach adulthood with sound teeth.

Ideally, the toothbrush should be used after every meal and snack.

Consumption of sweets should be reduced, especially between meals.

The fluoride content of the public drinking water should be adjusted or, in rural areas, a fluoride solution applied to the teeth of children.

There should be periodic visits to the dentist, beginning when the child is about three.

With proper safeguards, there is practically no reason why teeth should not last a lifetime as they were intended to do.

PERMANENT SOLUTION?

Governor Orville Freeman is very hopeful for the adequacy of a four million dollar appropriation which he has recommended as aid for the contruction of homes for the aged. His listing of this as an item of non-recurring expense would make cheerful reading if we might reasonably expect so small a sum to solve so large a problem. We are sure this money, like aids in any form, would not satisfy the demand but would merely whet the appetite for more.

And before we venture out into this field with state money better we be sure we know where we are going. In spite of the fact that this is a problem that has developed in a comparatively short period of time there is no emergency that requires speedy action. It is a local problem and present laws permit local units of government to contribute financially toward the solution. In some areas there might be jusification for state assistance but there is no need for aid on a statewide basis at this time.

MORE FREEDOM LOST

Under the plan for federal aid for school building construction presented to Congress last week Minnesota would receive seven million dollars a year. All agree that in order to give that money to us the government will have to take that much money away from us and that we will gain nothing by the transaction. All of us will also agree that we are capable of doing our own financing here in Minnesota and would be much better served if the federal government would put forth additional effort in getting its own affairs in order.

The highly organized educators who are pressuring this measure through congress know, of course, that seven million dollars is a ridiculously small drop-in-the-bucket in terms of school building needs. To them this bill is important mainly as a foot-in-the-door for a permanent and much larger federal aid program for education. This is just the entering wedge and the beginning of expanded federal controls.

We have lost local control of our welfare problems. We are losing local control of our schools. We are bargaining away our freedom and getting nothing in return.

ONLY ONE BASKET

Frank Starkey, state employment security commissioner, has properly reported to the Legislature that the reserve fund, out of which jobless benefits must be paid, has shrunk from $134 million to $118 million during the past three years. This is a condition about which there should be some concern.

When a reserve fund, created to cushion the shock of unemployment in a period of depression, is reduced in a period of comparatively high employment, then, obviously, either the payments from the fund are too liberal or the assessments on payrolls are too small.

The problem is in good hands in the Legislature and we are sure the right solution will be found.

We would like to suggest however, that while the committees are figuring out ways to build reserves bigger, a little thought might be given to what our problem will be when we do have a depression and we start drawing heavily on these reserves.

The state of Minnesota's so-called unemployment insurance reserve fund has a credit balance of $118 million that employers of the state have paid to the federal government in excess of what the federal government has given back to the state to manage the department and pay unemployment claims. The state of Minnesota does not have this money in a reserve fund of its own. The state of Minnesota holds only a due-bill from the federal government, a promise to pay, if and when, as needed.

But where, we would like to know, and we think it is a reasonable question, has the federal government placed this vast reserve that it is holding in trust for the employees of the 48 states?

According to the best information we have been able to get there is no reserve fund as we think of reserve funds required of private insurance companies. The reserve funds are not in a liquid form and readily available if an emergency develops. In back of this obligation, instead of a reserve, is the federal government's power to tax and its right to print paper dollars.

If this actually is the situation then it might not be prudent to siphon off another $50 million from the reserves of Minnesota employers to be added to the reserve that does not exist in Washington.

We are satisfied that a small reserve can be justified as a cushion for the fluctuations in employment that occur regularly. We are afraid however that the present system will not in itself prove adequate to withstand the pressures of a real depression.

These are things the committees will want to take into consideration in the study of this problem. The basic weakness of this reserve fund, as we see it, is that too many of its eggs are in one basket.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul.—A group of state legislators believe they have found the answer to the vexing problem of revision of the Minnesota constitution, which next year will be 100 years old.

Theirs is the simple device of submitting to the voters in 1958 a group of amendments aimed at removing portions of the constitution objected to by advocates of a complete new constitution to be drawn by a specially-called constitutional convention. The plan, they contend, will accomplish as much and cost less.

Make Changes In 1958

Their proposal would give the voters an opportunity in the 1958 election to remove from the present state constitution these provisions which they describe as "defunct."

Election of United States senators by the state legislature. Minnesota voters have elected U. S. senators since 1916.

Restriction on the right of women to vote. Women have voted since 1920.

Limiting the state debt to $250,000. The state debt has far exceeded that figure for years.

Requiring the legislature to redistrict the state every ten years. The legislature has not redistricted since 1913. The proposed change would permit the legislature to redistrict whenever it sees the necessity.

Giving Indians the right to vote with the necessity of a court order declaring them capable of voting.

Remove Deadwood

"The objective of these amendments," the group said, "is to remove the deadwood from the state constitution and to meet objections that have been raised to obsolete provisions in the constitution. Sections that have no meaning would be eliminated, and the constitution permitted to function as the fluid, workable instrument now, capable of meeting today's needs as it did yesterday's and will tomorrow's."

Another group of legislators have a proposal to amend the present constitution to permit four-year terms for the governor, lieutenant - governor, attorney general, state auditor and state treasurer. All except the state auditor now have two-year terms. The auditor is elected for four years.

Authors of this proposal are Senators Rosenmeier of Little Falls, Donald Sinclair of Stephen, W. J. Franz of Mountain Lake, Albert H. Quie of Dennison and Donald Frazer of Minneapolis, and Representatives Ernest Windmiller of Fergus Falls, Clarence Langley of Red Wing, Clifton Parks of St. Paul, Arthur Ogle of Mankato and Harold Anderson of Minneapolis.

Convention Advocates Active

Advocates of a constitutional convention, however, are still on the job urging that the question be submitted to the 1958 voters.

Senator Homer Carr of Proctor, Speaker A. I. Johnson of Benson and Representatives Sally Luther of Minneapolis, Joseph Karth of St. Paul, Clarence Langley of Red Wing, and Roger Noreen of Duluth, have introduced a bill calling for such a convention to do a complete new job on the constitution.

Among the objections to drafting a complete new constitution is the cost. Legislative students of the subject say the experience of other states has resulted in a cost from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Missouri Experience

Missouri, which redrafted its constitution in 1945, not only spent a large sum on the project, but then had to hire 12 lawyers who worked two years analyzing 55,000 statute provisions and redrafting them to conform to the new constitution. The 1947 legislative session had to consider 600 bills to make the statutes conform.

On top of that, it had to submit five amendments to the new constitution to meet changed conditions.

Although the Missouri convention increased the size of the legislature considerably, it did not reapportion the state legislative districts. Neither did the New York and New Jersey conventions which met subsequently to draft new constitutions.

Must Be Flexible

"Constitutions cannot be static instruments," Representative Duxbury said. "They must be fluid and subject to change as the times change. Under our system of government we call upon the courts to interpret our rights and to guarantee that legislation will not trample them. As times change, no matter how new or how old our constitution is, we have to make changes in its provisions, which the people have to approve."

Authors of the amendments aver that the people would rather vote for single amendments to the constitution rather than vote for a "package deal" such as would be handed them at the polls following a constitutional convention.

YES, SIR. I'LL GET THE UNIFORM I WORE TWO YEARS AGO.
READY?
I THOUGHT YOU SAID YOU KNEW HOW TO DANCE THE ROCK-AND-ROLL
YEAH, I'M TAKING LESSONS.
IS THIS THE WAY THEY TAUGHT YOU?
WELL, I'VE ONLY HAD ONE LESSON
CAPTAIN! I JUST SPOTTED A FLYING OBJECT TRAVELING AT TERRIFIC SPEED
IT'S A GLOBE OF SOME KIND! IT'S COMING THIS WAY!

PERMANENT SOLUTION?

Governor Orville Freeman is very hopeful for the adequacy of a four million dollar appropriation which he has recommended as aid for the contruction of homes for the aged. His listing of this as an item of non-recurring expense would make cheerful reading if we might reasonably expect so small a sum to solve so large a problem. We are sure this money, like aids in any form, would not satisfy the demand but would merely whet the appetite for more.

And before we venture out into this field with state money better we be sure we know where we are going. In spite of the fact that this is a problem that has developed in a comparatively short period of time there is no emergency that requires speedy action. It is a local problem and present laws permit local units of government to contribute financially toward the solution. In some areas there might be justification for state assistance but there is no need for aid on a statewide basis at this time.

MORE FREEDOM LOST

Under the plan for federal aid for school building construction presented to Congress last week Minnesota would receive seven million dollars a year. All agree that in order to give that money to us the government will have to take that much money away from us and that we will gain nothing by the transaction. All of us will also agree that we are capable of doing our own financing here in Minnesota and would be much better served if the federal government would put forth additional effort in getting its own affairs in order.

The highly organized educators who are pressuring this measure through congress know, of course, that seven million dollars is a ridiculously small drop-in-the-bucket in terms of school building needs. To them this bill is important mainly as a foot-in-the-door for a permanent and much larger federal aid program for education. This is just the entering wedge and the beginning of expanded federal controls.

We have lost local control of our welfare problems. We are losing local control of our schools. We are bargaining away our freedom and getting nothing in return.

ONLY ONE BASKET

Frank Starkey, state employment security commissioner, has properly reported to the Legislature that the reserve fund, out of which jobless benefits must be paid, has shrunk from $134 million to $118 million during the past three years. This is a condition about which there should be some concern.

When a reserve fund, created to cushion the shock of unemployment in a period of depression, is reduced in a period of comparatively high employment, then, obviously, either the payments from the fund are too liberal or the assessments on payrolls are too small.

The problem is in good hands in the Legislature and we are sure the right solution will be found.

We would like to suggest however, that while the committees are figuring out ways to build reserves bigger, a little thought might be given to what our problem will be when we do have a depression and we start drawing heavily on these reserves.

The state of Minnesota's so-called unemployment insurance reserve fund has a credit balance of $118 million that employers of the state have paid to the federal government in excess of what the federal government has given back to the state to manage the department and pay unemployment claims. The state of Minnesota does not have this money in a reserve fund of its own. The state of Minnesota holds only a due-bill from the federal government, a promise to pay, if and when, as needed.

But where, we would like to know, and we think it is a reasonable question, has the federal government placed this vast reserve that it is holding in trust for the employees of the 48 states?

According to the best information we have been able to get there is no reserve fund as we think of reserve funds required of private insurance companies. The reserve funds are not in a liquid form and readily available if an emergency develops. In back of this obligation, instead of a reserve, is the federal government's power to tax and its right to print paper dollars.

If this actually is the situation then it might not be prudent to siphon off another $50 million from the reserves of Minnesota employers to be added to the reserve that does not exist in Washington.

We are satisfied that a small reserve can be justified as a cushion for the fluctuations in employment that occur regularly. We are afraid however that the present system will not in itself prove adequate to withstand the pressures of a real depression.

These are things the committees will want to take into consideration in the study of this problem. The basic weakness of this reserve fund, as we see it, is that too many of its eggs are in one basket.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul.—A group of state legislators believe they have found the answer to the vexing problem of revision of the Minnesota constitution, which next year will be 100 years old.

Theirs is the simple device of submitting to the voters in 1958 a group of amendments aimed at removing portions of the constitution objected to by advocates of a complete new constitution to be drawn by a specially-called constitutional convention. The plan, they contend, will accomplish as much and cost less.

Make Changes In 1958

Their proposal would give the voters an opportunity in the 1958 election to remove from the present state constitution these provisions which they describe as "defunct."

Election of United States senators by the state legislature. Minnesota voters have elected U. S. senators since 1916.

Restriction on the right of women to vote. Women have voted since 1920.

Limiting the state debt to $250,000. The state debt has far exceeded that figure for years.

Requiring the legislature to redistrict the state every ten years. The legislature has not redistricted since 1913. The proposed change would permit the legislature to redistrict whenever it sees the necessity.

Giving Indians the right to vote with the necessity of a court order declaring them capable of voting.

Remove Deadwood

"The objective of these amendments," the group said, "is to remove the deadwood from the state constitution and to meet objections that have been raised to obsolete provisions in the constitution. Sections that have no meaning would be eliminated, and the constitution permitted to function as the fluid, workable instrument now, capable of meeting today's needs as it did yesterday's and will tomorrow's."

Another group of legislators have a proposal to amend the present constitution to permit four-year terms for the governor, lieutenant - governor, attorney general, state auditor and state treasurer. All except the state auditor now have two-year terms. The auditor is elected for four years.

Authors of this proposal are Senators Rosenmeier of Little Falls, Donald Sinclair of Stephen, W. J. Franz of Mountain Lake, Albert H. Quie of Dennison and Donald Frazer of Minneapolis, and Representatives Ernest Windmiller of Fergus Falls, Clarence Langley of Red Wing, Clifton Parks of St. Paul, Arthur Ogle of Mankato and Harold Anderson of Minneapolis.

Convention Advocates Active

Advocates of a constitutional convention, however, are still on the job urging that the question be submitted to the 1958 voters.

Senator Homer Carr of Proctor, Speaker A. I. Johnson of Benson and Representatives Sally Luther of Minneapolis, Joseph Karth of St. Paul, Clarence Langley of Red Wing, and Roger Noreen of Duluth, have introduced a bill calling for such a convention to do a complete new job on the constitution.

Among the objections to drafting a complete new constitution is the cost. Legislative students of the subject say the experience of other states has resulted in a cost from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Missouri Experience

Missouri, which redrafted its constitution in 1945, not only spent a large sum on the project, but then had to hire 12 lawyers who worked two years analyzing 65,000 statute provisions and redrafting them to conform to the new constitution. The 1947 legislative session had to consider 600 bills to make the statutes conform.

On top of that, it had to submit five amendments to the new constitution to meet changed conditions.

Although the Missouri convention increased the size of the legislature considerably, it did not reapportion the state legislative districts. Neither did the New York and New Jersey conventions which met subsequently to draft new constitutions.

Must Be Flexible

"Constitutions cannot be static instruments," Representative Duxbury said. "They must be fluid and subject to change as the times change. Under our system of government we call upon the courts to interpret our rights and to guarantee that legislation will not trample them. As times change, no matter how new or how old our constitution is, we have to make changes in its provisions, which the people have to approve."

Authors of the amendments aver that the people would rather vote for single amendments to the constitution rather than vote for a "package deal" such as would be handed them at the polls following a constitutional convention.

23 State People Die in Firearms Mishaps

A total of 23 people were killed and 119 were injured by firearms while hunting, target shooting and gun handling during 1956, according to a summary by Carl W. Moen, secretary of the water and firearms section of the Minnesota Safety Council, made public today.

During the deer season 2 hunters were killed and 16 injured; in the pheasant season, 3 were killed and 31 injured; the duck season, 2 were killed and 4 injured, and in the grouse season, 1 killed and seven injured.

During the 12 months of the year guns were used for target practice, shooting pests, and hunting squirrels and rabbits in open seasons. There were 6 deaths and 19 injuries by shotguns in 1956. There were 9 deaths and 42 injuries by .22 rifles during the year.

"The common and usual causes for death and injury were repeated again this year," said Moen. "Falling, pulling the gun by the barrel, crawling through fences, dropping from a tree, and shooting at sound or movement without identifying the target: We have warned hunters year after year about these dangers.

"The most tragic of all I think, is the little three year old girl who lost her left arm below the elbow because a hunter DID NOT UNLOAD HIS GUN when he set it against the garage wall. The gun fell, or the little girl stumbled over it — it discharged and the charge hit the arm."

Moen said, "Almost every year there are similar cases, a gun has not been unloaded after hunting and weeks or months later the gun is handled and discharged to injure or kill an innocent bystander."

Involved in the 1956 toll were 83 youths under 21 and 59 adults, 13 youths were killed and 10 adults. Most of the youth accidents were by .22 guns, 7 deaths and 31 injuries.

Of the 23 deaths, 10 victims killed themselves, and 13 were killed by other gun handlers. Forty-one people injured themselves and 78 victims were injured by other gun handlers.

The comparable figures for 1955 were 4 deaths and 18 injuries in the deer season; no deaths and 17 injuries in the pheasant season; 3 deaths and 9 injuries in the duck season and no deaths and 6 injuries in the grouse season.

The totals for 1955 were 16 deaths and 98 injuries.

Ask Bids on Twin Spans at Moorhead

To Consider Bids on Red River Bridges Feb. 15th

Bids on twin bridges to be built on the new interstate highway 392 over the Red river between Minnesota and North Dakota will be opened February 15 at the North Dakota highway department offices in Bismarck. The two bridges, carrying separated west and east bound traffic will be located approximately one-half mile south of the south corporate limits of Moorhead, Minn., and Fargo, N. D.

Route 392, a part of the new 40,000-mile U. S. interstate highway network, will cross Minnesota, westward from Hudson, Wis., to the Twin Cities and thence northwestward to Moorhead and Fargo.

The bridges are a joint project of Minnesota and North Dakota, with the North Dakota highway department to let the contract and supervise construction. The parallel structures will have overall lengths of $1,302 feet with 30-foot wide roadways, each roadway providing two one-way traffic lanes.

As an interstate network project, the bridges will be paid for 90 per cent from federal aid and the remaining 10 per cent by the two states, sharing equally.

Construction is expected to start this year and to be completed within two years.

Checks Soil Erosion — Adolph and Paul Brendemuehl, a father-and-son team in Washington county, have contour-stripped 120 acres and field-stripped 60 acres with a corn-grain-hay-hay rotation. They report that they have had no legume seeding failures and have stopped most of the soil erosion on their farm. At seeding time, they apply 300 pounds of 4-24-12 or 5-20-20 fertilizer, according to Clifton Halsey, Washington county soil conservation agent.

Plenty Fertilizer Boosts Corn — Orville Gish, Mahnomen, last summer raised some corn that went as high as 11½ feet—tall corn for his area. There were plenty of ears on each stalk. The land had been in alfalfa three years ago, with the second crop plowed under. This spring, he applied a good dose of 6-24-12 fertilizer. His motto: It's not how much land you farm, but it's how much you get off each acre that really counts. He's a cooperator in the Mahnomen county soil conservation district.

• • •

X-Tra Use More Fertilizer — Minnesota farmers in the 1956 X-Tra Corn Yield Contest invested more money in fertilizer than ever—$20.12 per acre. They also found it paid off. Average fertilizer investment was $17.78 per acre, according to Charles Simkins and Curtis Overdahl, extension soils specialists at the University of Minnesota.

• • •

See Value of Sidedressing — Sidedressing corn during the growing season can mean a big boost in yields. A Wright county farmer, Andy Davis, says that on a 23-acre field of seed corn last summer, he sidedressed 15 acres with 50 pounds of actual nitrogen, using anhydrous ammonia. At harvesting time, he says, the non-sidedressed 10 acres yielded one-fourth less per acre than the part of the field that received anhydrous ammonia.

Freeman Proclaims School Patrol Week

More than 27,000 school and bus safety patrol youngsters in Minnesota will be given recognition for their excellent work during the annual observance of "School Safety Patrol week," set today by Governor Orville L. Freeman for the week of February 17 through 23.

Governor Freeman requested that local organizations and groups, especially those who sponsor safety patrols within their communities, arrange special programs and activities "to give proper recognition to these faithful youngsters who contribute so much to the state's safety program."

In his proclamation, the Governor pointed out that:

"The school safety patrol program which originated in Minnesota more than 37 years ago has proved to be a most effective protection for children.

"The program has the outstanding record in the nation in that there has never been a traffic fatality charged against the school patrol."

"These youngsters perform a vital public service, resulting in the saving of lives and property damage, with great loyalty and courage in all weather."

"When any traffic safety program continues year after year, as the school patrol does," the Governor said, "without being charged with a traffic fatality there is a great wealth of service performed. We adults must express our appreciation with high commendation for the fine job these youngsters do in protecting our children."

The Governor called attention to the summer training camp, "Legionville", where advanced instruction is given 1,000 young patrol leaders each summer. Calling attention to the need for funds to complete a new center near Brainerd, he said, "This is one campaign which will prove profitable for all of us as it helps our safety program. I hope you will find it within your abilities to contribute to the Legionville Building fund through The American Legion."

FFA Week Being Noted Commencing Feb. 16th

Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation are scheduling special activities to forcus public attention on the work of their organization during national and state FFA Week, February 16-23.

Locally, members of the T. R. Falls FFA chapter plan to have a radio program sometime during the week.

Membership in the FFA is made up of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organizaton's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in faming.

The T. R. Falls chapter has 40 members. Officers are: Roger E. Anderson, president; Gary Rolandson, vice president; Duane Bjerke, secretary; Larry Johnson, treasurer; Boyce Lee, reporter; and Darryl Skallet, Sentinel. Jon Metusalem, vocational agriculture instructor in Lincoln High School, serves as advisor of the FFA chapter.

The national Future Farmer organization has more than 382,000 members, with 8,990 local chapters in 48 States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Membership in Minnesota totals 11,500.

The Future Farmers of America Week in Minnesota will officially open the 27th Anniversary celebration as the first state FFA chapters were founded in Minnesota in the fall of 1929. Since the beginning of the FFA program in 1929, Minnesota has approximately 50,000 former Future Farmers who have studied vocational Agriculture in the Minnesota public secondary schools.

State headquarters of the Future Farmers of America is located in the agricultural education service of the state department of education, vocational division.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILIZATION

Some folks judge civilization's progress by the kind of houses they live in.

Others point toward the giant strides of science or industry—or the striking advance of music, art and literature.

Yet civilization is perhaps best measured by the kind of people it produces.

Picture a man who respects the dignity and rights of others, and who looks with compassion on human suffering. He is guided in all things by an abiding love for God. His moral stamina never ebbs. His spiritual courage grows stronger.

Multiply this man by the thousands . . . by the millions . . . and you'll see a civilization higher and greater than has ever existed.

The Church is the one great institution that devotes itself to the development of man's character and spirit. As long as it continues to thrive, we can expect our civilization to flourish and progress. Help extend the influence of the Church—give it your support, make it a part of your life!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The WORLD OUTDOORS

WHAT happens to the hearty hunter when the "season is out?" In many states, he goes right on hunting. His target, instead of quail, squirrel, deer, rabbit and other such game animals, becomes "varmits" — ground hogs, starlings, crows, hawks, etc. In many states, these are legal game the year round.

To an ever-increasing army of off-season shooters, the crow offers the most exciting challenge. The crow is a smart, tricky fellow who isn't easily fooled.

Two popular methods of taking crows are "spot calling" and "shooting the flyway." In spot calling, hunters seclude themselves in likely cover near a corn field or farm land where the crows are feeding and lure them into shooting range with a crow call. This method is best during the day when the crows are well scattered and feeding. But the shooting may not last long and the hunters must seek another likely spot.

Shooting the flyway is more productive. The "flyway" is a natural flight lane followed by crows returning from their feeding grounds to roost each night.

The advantages of flyway shooting are many. To begin with, there are more crows, and a fresh "bunch" are coming over all the time. Crows traveling singly or in pairs are sometimes difficult to interest and may be quite wary. In a flight or large group, however, a curious bird or two flares off to investigate the hunter's call—and once you get a few started your way it's almost a certainty that others will follow. Whether you will get good shooting depends on three things: the skill of the crow caller; the effectiveness of your hiding place, and the ability make a minimum of distracting movements.

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 245 h.p.*

Come on in and take a turn at the wheel of a new Chevrolet.

4-H Preview o[illegible] Winter Shows Set This Week

Demonstrations of Dairy Projects Set Friday and Saturday

4-H girls and boys who will be giving dairy demonstrations at the Red River Valley Winter Shows will preview their demonstrations this week, County Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

Two meetings will be held to which the public is invited. Each demonstration uses dairy products in the demonstration or shows a way of keeping milking equipment clean.

The first public meeting will be held at the home economics room at the Goodridge school at 7:30 Friday evening, February 15. Presenting demonstrations at this meeting will be Sherry Wilkins of Goodridge 4-H; Donna Schlofer, Carol Lovly, and Marlys McEnelly of Star 4-H; and Marie Breznay and Margaret Wayne of Mavie 4-H.

At the second public meeting scheduled for the court house meeting room on Saturday, February 16, at 1 p.m., the following 4-H'ers will demonstrate: Diana Bjerke, Raymond Nelson, Sharon Rupprecht and Jeanette Nelson of Silverton 4-H; Bonnie Dicken, Virginia Finstad, Cathy Mousley and Irene Morris of Rocksbury 4-H; Marion Swenson, Sharon Pietron, and Sharon Peterson of St. Hilaire 4-H; Patty Hornseth and Patsy Vatnsas of Steiner 4-H and Nelda Lea Nelson of Smiley 4-H.

The 4-H members will be much encouraged and assisted by an audience at these meetings. Many new ideas for using dairy food are included in the demonstrations, said Miss Olsen.

School Board Assn. Takes No Stand on Withholding Tax

Issue Was Discussed Thursday at Convention in St. Paul Auditorium

The Minnesota School Board association convention Thursday refused to take a stand for or against enactment of a withholding system of collecting state income taxes.

Despite the unanimous recommendation of the association board of directors that the convention endorse the withholding system, the delegates voted not to take a stand.

When a motion was made to adopt a package of seven recommendations on taxation, Leon Sabine, Mounds View district 38, said, "How the state collects taxes is not the business of the convention." He moved that the withholding recommendation be deleted.

The vote to delete it was by a show of hands.

Later, however, Edward Smith, Crosby, Minn, told the delegates "we would be lacking in responsibility if we did not take a direct vote on the question of withholding," and moved to reconsider the action.

His motion was defeated by a show of hands.

State income tax money is assigned entirely to school purposes.

The Friends of the Minnesota Schools were conspicuous by their absence from convention deliberations this year. This week many "Friends" will stage their own convention, the Minnesota Association for Public Schools, at St. Cloud.

Goodridge Man Is Now Employed by Capital Airlines

Andrew G. Holen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Holen, Goodridge, recently graduated from the McConnell Airline School in Minneapolis has accepted a position with the Capital Airlines.

A graduate of Goodridge high school, Mr. Holen spent four years in the Air Force, completing his service as A/1C. During his high school days he was interested in flying at the local Flying Club.

He is currently completing his indoctrination in Washington

'U' M. Alumni to Hear [illegible]ofessor Feb. 13th

DR. ROBERT J. KELLER

The annual banquet of the Thief River Falls unit of the University of Minnesota Alumni association will be held Wednesday evening, February 13, at 6:30 in the American Legion club rooms, Dennis Rolle, president, announced today, adding that the public is invited to attend.

Tickets may be obtained from Rolle, Roy Oen, Wallace Tunberg, Clarence W. Pope, Stan Mortenson, Dr. D. M. Travnicek or N. A. Holen, and may also be secured at the Legion club preceding the dinner.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Robert J. Keller, professor of education at the University of Minnesota and a recognized authority in the field of junior colleges.

A native of White Bear Lake, Minnesota, Dr. Keller received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at the U. of M., and has been a member of the University faculty since 1947 and a full professor since 1950.

He has been active in educational organizations including chairman of the Senate committee on institutional relationships, president of the Association of Minnesota Colleges and director of the Minnesota Association of Secondary School Principals.

Soils Specialist to Discuss Topic at Meeting Feb. 19th

C. J. Overdahl to Speak in Court House Meeting Room Tuesday Next Week

C. J. Overdahl, extension soil specialist, will be the speaker at a soils meeting which is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 2 p.m. in the court house meeting room, states County Agent Paul Sjelmaschuk.

The subjects to be covered are of concern to all area farmers. High lime content in soils presents a special management problem. New chelating agents which show promise in correcting this condition will be discussed. Farmers in other areas are using bulk fertilization and fall application of fertilizers. How practical this is and what nutrients can be applied in the fall will be considered at the meeting.

Fertilizers vary in their solubility. Some are water soluble and some are citrate soluble. Which is the best fertilizer and how important is this solubility? This is another question that will be considered.

Soil variations in Pennington County will be discussed by Don Lawrence, SCS technician. All farmers and fertilizer dealers in the area are invited to attend the meeting.

Plan for 4-H Play and Music Contest

The annual 4-H play and music contest will be held again this year in Pennington county, Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

The 4-H leaders Council decided at their last meeting to continue with the county contest, even though the district contest may be dropped his year.

If no school and county events are conflicting, and if the weather proves cooperative, the county contest will be held the week of April 22. This is the week following Easter vacation.

However, if this week is unsatisfactory, the county contest will then be held the week of April 8.

There are 16 4-H clubs at present in Pennington county, and it is expected that most of them will take part in the contest.

Rest Home Session to Be Wednesday

The annual four-county meeting of the welfare boards which are charged with the administration of the Oakland Park Nursing Home has been set for Wednesday, February 13, at 2:00 at the home.

The meeting has been called by Don Olson, chairman of the Pennington county welfare board. In addition to the 28 welfare board members, there will also be present the four executive secretaries, the superintendent of the home, and the county attorney.

The present executive committee, elected by the four boards to supervise the administration of the home, are Roy Edmund, Omer Houle, and Carl R. Anderson. There is a vacancy from Roseau County.

Home Council to Meet Wednesday

The home council of the Pennington county extension home program will meet Wednesday, Feb. 13, County Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

The program, which follows the business meeting, will feature a cancer movie for women. The council will assist in promoting a cancer education meeting later on in the winter, in cooperation with the county cancer committee. The movie will be shown to acquaint council members with the information and material which will be used at the later meeting.

Lunch hostess will be Mrs. Selmer Ramsey, councillor from Star township.

The meeting starts at 1:30 in the court house meeting room.

Kiddies Carnival Friday Acclaimed as Huge Success

Members of the Thief River Falls Lions club expressed themselves as well pleased with the success of their annual Kiddies Carnival, which attracted a near capacity crowd of youngsters to the municipal Auditorium Friday evening. The various stands operated by members of the club were well patronized, and the children obviously had a merry time.

Dell Proposed for U. S. High Court Justice

House Resolution Asks Chief Judge Be Appointed to Post

The Minnesota House of Representatives Friday passed a resolution, 118-0, urging President Eisenhower to appoint Chief Judge Roger L. Dell of the Minnesota supreme court as a member of the United States supreme court.

The concurrent resolution now goes to the Senate for action there.

Unanimous approval came after the five authors of the resolution, led by Rep. Roy E. Dunn, former Republican national committeeman, told the lawmakers, "This would be a fine thing for Minnesota and the Midwest."

The resolution said that Judge Dell a former Fergus Falls attorney, is "a jurist of great legal learning and legal training, whose opinions and decisions compare favorably with eminent jurists of our country."

"His brilliant mind, guided by his sense of integrity and justice and tempered by his calm judgment," the resolution reads, "has enabled him to serve our courts with honor and credit while holding fast to the fundamentals of the laws of God and man."

The Minnesota House labor Committee Friday killed a bill which would have prohibited employers from requiring women workers to lift more than 25 pounds.

Gov. Freeman advised the Legislature he would send up a special message Monday outlining his proposals for labor legislation.

Among new bills in the Senate were proposals to bring state employees under the state labor relations act, to permit cost of tuition books and supplies for dependents attending college as a state income tax deduction and to prohibit 17-year-olds from driving on public highways between 11p.m. and 5a.m. unless accompanied by an adult.

The House voted to send back to the Agriculture committee a bill that would give farmers six months instead of four to make claims for gasoline tax refunds.

Soo Depot Second Floor Gets Tiling

The installation of asphalt tiling on the entire second floor of division offices in the Soo Line passenger depot in Thief River Falls was completed during the past week. The cost of the work was approximately $1,200.

$4,100 Collected in March of Dimes Campaign to Date

With about one-third of the Thief River Falls business district still unreported, collections from all sources in the Pennington county 1957 polio drive totaled approximately $4,100, at the end of last week, Richard G. Mabey, campaign chairman, announced today. He added that to date only about $100 has been turned in from the rural areas. Girl Scouts will pick up coin receptacles from local business places during the coming week.

Secy. Benson Cuts Supports on 1957 Crops

Dairy Products to Be Supported in 1957 on Current Levels

The agriculture department Saturday cut price supports for the 1957 crops of eight important farm products.

At the same time, it announced that dollars-and-cents supports for dairy products will be continued through the coming year at their present levels.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced supports for oats, rye, barley, flaxseed, soy beans, grain sorghums, cotton and cottonseed at five to six per cent of parity below the 1956 figures.

The result will be a cut of 5 cents a bushel in oats support, a drop of 8 cents a bushel for barley, 12 cents a bushel for rye, 6 cents a bushel for soy beans, and 17 cents a bushel for flaxseed.

Here are details of the price support announcements:

Dairy products: The department will continue to pay $3.25 per hundredweight for manufacturing milk and 58.6 cents per pound for butterfat in the marketing year beginning April 1.

This level is intended to reflect 83 per cent of the current parity equivalent price for milk and 80 per cent of parity for butterfat. Because parity prices have climbed in the past year, these figures are lower than the 84 and 81 per cent levels provided this year by the same dollar level of support.

Oats: The 1957 support will be at a national average of 60 cents per bushel, compared to 65 cents in 1956. The new figure is 70 per cent of current

21 Seniors Named to Honor Society at Lincoln School

Elected to National Group for Possessing High Qualifications

A group of 21 senior students in Lincoln high school have been elected to the National Honor Society, it was announced Saturday by F. Milo Nelson, principal.

He said the students were awarded the coveted honor on the basis of a high scholastic standing, leadership, character, citizenship and cooperativeness in school, as well as service to the school community.

The group includes ten boys and eleven girls, listed as follows in alphabetical order:

Air Force Reserve Is Due to Get 'Go' Signal

Designation of Thief River Falls Air Force reservists as a flight under the 9749th AFRes squadron, headquartered at Fargo is virtually assured, according to word received by 1st Lt. V. M. Draper last week.

M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson, 9749th liason non-commissioned officer, wrote that application of the local reservists has been approved at squadron headquarters in Fargo and at group headquarters in Bismarck, and that the application probably will be approved within a few days, if it has not already been approved, at the Minneapolis Air Force Reserve Center.

To date 16 local and area Air Force reservists have been accepted for membership in a Thief River Falls unit and three more will be processed as soon as the local unit begins training sessions. Local reserve officers are optimistic that a 30-man flight can be had here within a year, as more and more airmen with reserve obligations are released from active duty and join the local flight to fulfill their obligations.

M/Sgt Hanson said that Lieutenant Draper has been recommended as commander of the Thief River Falls unit, in the communication received here last week.

The Veterans' room in the city hall has been conditionally approved as a meeting place for the local Air Reserve unit, Draper said. A meeting—the first of the local reservists as a designated unit—has been called for Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. to discuss a training program. Sgt. Hanson, liason non-com, will attend the meeting to assist in planning the schedule and get the Thief River Falls flight off to a flying start.

Local and area reservists will be notified by mail to insure good attendance at the meet, Draper said. That a minimum of 10 reservists in attendance at training sessions is mandatory, in order for the flight to remain activated, was emphasized by Hanson.

As yet the local flight's alphabetical designation has not been announced but it will probably be Flight "C" or "D", 9749th AFRes sqdn.

Goodridge School Head Honored on Receiving Ph. D.

David M. Brown, superintendent of the Goodridge public schools, was honored by the students and faculty members Friday afternoon at a special assembly program. The occasion was his receiving a doctor's degree in education.

The program Friday was patterned after Ralph Edward's "This Is Your Life." Material for the program was compiled by the students from information furnished by relatives of Mr. Brown. After the program he was presented with a book of "his life." The event was a pleasant surprise for him.

Supt. Brown received his doctorate from the University of North Dakota February 2.

Weeds & Seeds Parley Topic on Wednesday

51 Persons Attend '57 Plant Industry Conference in City

The plant industry conference held in Thief River Falls last Wednesday covered a variety of subjects of interest to township and village officials.

Mac McConnell, entomologist employed by the state agricultural department, pointed out the possibility of the alfalfa aphid appearing in Minnesota. This pest has covered two-thirds of the United States, two years after being introduced from Europe. Farmers were warned to be on the look-out for it. Sheep ticks, flies, mosquito, and other pest control measures were also discussed by Mr. McConnell.

Frank Fairbanks, district weed inspector, pointed out expansion of present weed inspection would be useful. He recommended that all township officials be made weed inspectors. This would help pin-point isolated areas of noxious weeds which should receive early attention prior to general infestation of an area. New weed chemicals such as amino triozal and tandon were explained by Fairbanks.

Leo Lehr, area weed inspector from Crookston, presented a report of the seed drill survey carried out in Minnesota. It showed improvements could be made by farmers in selecting better seed of a certified or registered group or getting their own seed tested. Each farmer is permitted five free tests a year. The tests will show the germination of the seed and purity as to weed seeds.

Oscar Pearson, state agriculture department entomologist, discussed control of grasshoppers. He pointed out that toxaphene, heptochlor, dieldrin, and eldrin may be used to control the pests. Feeding of sprayed grass to dairy and slaughter animals should be avoided from 40 days after using toxaphene to 7 days after using heptochlor. Populations of more than 7 grasshoppers per square yard should be watched carefully [illegible]

The meeting was attended by fifty-one township officials, village officials, and farmers, said County Agent Paul Sjelmaschuk.

Kay Wik to Seek District Honors in Radio Speaking

Speeches to Be Aired over Radio Station KILO on Monday, February 25

As Pennington county winner in the 4-H radio speaking contest, Kay Wik, member of the St. Hilaire 4-H club, will compete in the district event to be broadcast over station KILD at 1:45, Monday, February 25.

Kay won the county contest in competion with 15 other 4-H members.

All contestants will broadcast original speeches on the subject, "How the International Farm Youth Exchange Program Builds Better World Understanding."

The district contest in which Pennington county's representative will participate is one of 18 being held throughout the state in February and early March. Eighty-eight county 4-H winners will compete for district championships in these events. The statewide radio speaking contest is being sponsored by the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service and the Minnesota Jewish Council for the 15th year.

District winners will receive cash awards and an expense-paid trip to the Twin Cities to compete in the state finals March 9. All awards are being given by the Jewish Council.

School Discussion Meeting Tuesday

Local citizens interested in school affairs were reminded today by Supt. J. A. Sater that the seven lay committee discussion groups will meet at Lincoln high school Tuesday evening, February 12, to continue their deliberations. He added that the public is invited to attend, whether or not they have attended previous meetings.

New $100,000 Highway Building Now in Use

The new state highway department building here will make for a more efficient department and save taxpayers' money was the statement of E. C. Pearson, project engineer of the department.

The recently-completed building makes it possible for personnel of the department to work under one roof, Pearson said, thus making an across-town trip unnecessary when someone in one branch of the department wants to consult with someone else in another branch.

Grouped under the roof of the $100,000 structure are the highway engineering department, maintenance department, highway patrol, patrol radio and district radio repair facilities, and personnel of the game and fish and forestry divisions of the Minnesota conservation department.

A large shop for repair and storage of highway department vehicles occupies the east wing of the new building. There is also room for parts and storage in this wing.

On the ground floor in the center of the building is the 8th district patrol radio maintenance shop, which services an area as far south as Detroit Lakes, east to Bemidji and north to the Canadian border.

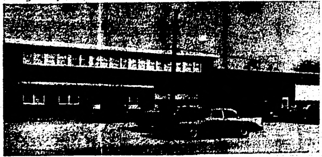
Upstairs offices are occupied by the highway department engineers and the drafting room there takes up most of the valuable space. Pearson said this is a great improvement over facilities used in the past and it is a help to know the engineers won't have to move from one building to another as was the case before construction of the building.

Downstairs offices of the building house conservation department personnel, 8th district highway patrol offices and the patrol radio switchboard.

Standing just east of the patrol radio tower, the new building is an attractive addition to that part of the city and all highway department personnel take great pride in their new quarters.

Brooks Cavin, St. Paul, was the architect, and Prichard Bros. Construction Co. was the general contractor for the building, which was completed in January and accepted as complete by the highway department about three weeks ago.

Highway Dept. Building is Attractive New Addition



The newly-occupied $100,000 highway department garage and office building near the police radio tower south of the Great Northern tracks, shows a highly attractive face after its completion in late January. The new building was accepted Tuesday, Jan. 29 for the state by Mr. Erickson of the department of administration and for the highway department by H. W. Anderson, building engineer and Lee Boyd of Crookston, district maintenance engineer, from Prichard Bros. Construction Co., contractors, of this city. The upstairs portion of the building shown at left houses the engineering department and offices. Below are the offices of the highway patrol and state game officials, while the wide door in the center of the building is the entry to the radio maintenance headquarters. At far right is the garage and storage facilities for highway vehicles, parts and supplies.

The Thief River Grain company of Thief River Falls was inadvertently omitted from Thursday's Times as a sponsor of the advanced 4-H grain project. This is the project where boys over 13 years of age will have their grain financed from spring till after harvest by grain dealers.

Roy P. Halseth Succumbs, Rites Set For Tuesday

Roy P. Halseth passed away February 5 in Petersburg, Fla. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Gulbranson's Chapel with the Rev. Otto Dale officiating. Burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Halseth was born November 28, 1891, in Lake Park, Minn. He came with his parents to this city where he was associated with his father in paint contracting. He was united in marriage to Miss Verna McMahon in this city. In 1926 they moved to Grand Forks where he was associated with Ralph Larson in paint manufacturing and paint contracting.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock of Arlington, Va.; one grandson, Raymond of Arlington, Va.; four sisters, Mrs. Walter Peterson and Mrs. Alcid Morrissette of Plummer; Mrs. John Pahlen of Seattle, Wash. and Mrs. P. H. Johnson of Oklee. He was preceded in death by his wife, one sister and one brother.

Services Held in Minneapolis for Herbert Hanson

Herbert M. Hanson, salesman with headquarters in Minneapolis the past 20 years, and formerly of Thief River Falls, where he was graduated from Lincoln high school, passed away at his home last Monday morning at the age of 58.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday from the House of Prayer Lutheran church in Minneapolis, of which he was a charter member. Interment was in the National Cemetery at Fort Snelling, Mr. Hanson having been a veteran of World War I.

Born in Nash, N. D., May 18, 1898, he came to Thief River Falls as a child and grew to manhood here. He was married in 1923 to Miss Ella Gran, who survives his death, together with a daughter Nancy and two grandchildren, as well as a sister, Cora Hanson of Grand Forks, and a brother, Herschel of Duluth.

Mrs. Harry Dahl and Alvin Heizknecht of this city attended the funeral rites.

Coal production per man will rise 3 to 4.5 tons from the present 10-tons-per-man level by the beginning of 1960, according to Keystone Coal Buyers Manual. This expansion in output directly reflects greater mechanization of mining operations.

Thieves Win Two Tilts from Roseau over the Week-end

Local Team Wins Each Game by Score of 7 to 4; to Play Mercurys Sunday

The senior hockey Thieves swept their two-game weekend series with the Roseau Cloverleafs, winning both games by identical 7 to 4 scores. Playing at Roseau on Saturday night, Coach Paul Bedard's club broke up a 2-all tie at the end of the first period by scoring five goals in the second period while the Leafs were adding two tallies to their total to take a 7 to 4 lead. Neither team scored in the third period.

Playing on the Arena rink on Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, after trailing by a 2 to 0 score in the early minutes of game, came to even the score at 3-all at the end of the first period, take a 5 to 4 lead in the second period, and win by a 7 to 4 tally. Sid Vraa sparked the Thieves' play by turning in the "hat trick."

The Thieves will play the popular Elmwood Mercurys here on Sunday afternoon. It will be recalled that the Mercurys played here a couple of weeks ago and sustained a one-goal win over the Thieves. Coach Paul Bedard and his Thieves are revenge-minded. Face-off time is at 2:30 p.m.

Gatzke Quintet Seeks to Make It 12 in Row Tonight

Out of 11 starts the Gatzke grade school basketball team coached by Mylan Abrahamson has won 11. They hope to stretch that record to 12 Monday (tonight) when they travel to Grygla for their final conference game.

Teams in the grade school conference are Gatzke, Grygla, Goodridge and Gully. Tournament play is scheduled for the week of February 18th at Goodridge.

In a non-conference game played Thursday night at Middle River the Gatzke five defeated Middle River grades 33-21.

Members of Coach Abrahamson's squad include Richard Slinger and Eldon Johnson, co-captains; Wayne Larson, Larry Blahauveitz, Harold Bagley, Gary Peterson, Alan Aune, Dwight Peterson, Roger Ruud, Michael Polansky and Jerome Lund.

Three railroads serving the Hampton Roads, Va., export coal trade (Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and Virginian) are spending $230,000,000 for new coal cars, power, coal dumpers and other facilities to accelerate coal movement abroad.

New, Old Insurance Directors

Elected to replace Oscar A. Nelson, Thief River Falls, right, as a director of Group Health Mutual and Group Health Association, was Ernest Swanson, left, of Goodridge. A meeting of delegates representing 5000 families in District VIII was held last Tuesday in the Legion Clubrooms here. Swanson was elected to the post after Nelson, who had served as a [illegible], declined renomination.

Crookston Area Men Ask Board of Regents for Two-Year College

At an open meeting of the University of Minnesota board of regents Friday in Minneapolis, a delegation of 14 Crookston area businessmen and legislators urged regents to establish a two-year college curriculum at Northwest school of agriculture.

Representatives of Northwest Education Improvement association, headed by the president, Tom Hagen, Crookston, asked expansion of the University-operated school. It now offers a six-month agriculture course.

A spokesman, Marvin Campbell, Crookston banker, said the association feels its objective ties in with principles for expansion of education facilities set forth in a recent report by the governor's committee on higher education.

Establishment of a two-year college, he said, would bring greater equality of educational opportunity to young persons in the state.

University President J. L. Morrill told the delegation the university is [illegible] to determine whether it would be wise to establish a junior college curriculum in any of its four outlying schools of agriculture.

He then referred to a proposal by Gov. Orville Freeman that the university regents take over control of Minnesota's five state teachers colleges.

"I'm a little disturbed that our major university requests (to the legislature) are going to get a little mixed up in all of this," Morrill said.

University financial requests to the legislature, he noted, did not take into account the new proposals.

Morrill later summed up the attitude of the regents in their executive session on the question of state college control:

"The university awaits developments. Certainly there is no disposition on the part of the regents at this time to sponsor any such measure."

N.W. Trailer Court on Approved List

National Group Gives Local Court High Rating

The Northwestern Trailer Court and Sales, Thief River Falls, has been awarded an approved rating as one of the top mobile home trailer parks in the United States, according to the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

That announcement was made last week with the publication of the 1957-1958 Official Mobile Homes Park Guide, published by the association following a thorough inspection of 12,525 parks from coast to coast. Of that number 6,101 rates the "Approved List", according to Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the association. Only approved top rated parks are listed in the book.

Parks are graded on appearance and facilities, using a point system. M.H.M.A. approval and listing in the Official Mobile Homes Park Guide require 80 points out of a possible 107. The inspection was handled by Marketing Information Associates, an independent research firm.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway will take delivery of almost 12,000 freight cars before the end of 1957, completing the largest order ever placed by the company, which is the owner of the largest coal car fleet operated by any U. S. carrier.

$1,200 Damage in Four City Mishaps Since Thursday

Three Accidents Occur at Street Intersections; Police File No Charges

City police reported four accidents here since Thursday resulted in property damage totalling nearly $1200, with all but one of the accidents occurring as intersection collisions.

In the first collision, which happened 8:45 p.m. Thursday, Merlyn H. Offerdahl, driving north on LaBree av. was struck by a car driven by Lester R. Larson, driving east on sixth st. Both are city men. Larson's car sustained an estimated $150 damages while the Offerdahl car had about $65 damages.

Friday about 8:25 a.m. Robert Mattson, driving a station wagon east on Eighth st. was hit by Robert Mauer, who was driving south on Knight av. Mattson's vehicle was damaged about $250 and Mauer's, about $300. Both men are from the city.

Saturday, about 1:40 p.m. Mrs. Mary Dryden, driving east on First st. was hit on the right side of her car as she attempted to make a right turn into the alley between Spruce and Maple avenues. Dwayne M. Hesse, rt. 2, city, claimed he started to pass Mrs. Dryden on the right because he thought she was going to make a left turn, according to the police report. The Dryden vehicle sustained about $55 damage and the Hesse car about $65.

Sunday at 10:40 a.m. Kenneth Nelson, Middle River, who was driving east on St. Paul av. met Mrs. Irene Steenerson, city at the Michael st. intersection. In the ensuing collision both cars suffered damages of about $150 each.

Police did not report any charges against the drivers involved in the accidents.

County and All of Subdivisions Get State Tax Money

County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud Saturday received from St. Paul checks for the share of the state liquor and cigaret taxes due Pennington county and its subdivisions for the last half of 1956.

Included was $3,183.78 in liquor taxes, which will be distributed to the townships on the basis of 62 cents per capita; and $2,921.88 in cigaret taxes, which goes into the county revenue fund, the payment being at the rate of 52 cents per capita.

Checks for the shares due the city of Thief River Falls were received Monday morning from St. Paul at the office of City Clerk P. G. Pederson, and include $4,291.12 in liquor taxes and $3,601.52 in cigaret taxes.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Huck Olson brought a highly interesting clipping from the New York Times the other day and we feel it is worth passing on to you.

The item concerns highway signs along U. S. 301 which passes through the Tarheel state of North Carolina. The road is one of three main routes to Florida and is heavily travelled.

The signs are in the vein of the familiar Burma-Shave sign but are put up by the Tarheel state's highway commission. One of the admonishments is aimed at the fast curve driver and goes:

Heavy foot
Light head
Bad curve
Stone dead

Another sign which appealed to motorists was the one which is as follows:

If you must kill yourself
Get off the highway

Another asks: Are you driving yourself to death?

Or, in the vein of a warning: Take your time—the judge can wait!

Or, there's the one which kids the impatient speedster: Don't be impatient—it's a short hill.

They're even polite about their radar. One of the signs says:
SOMEWHERE AHEAD
RADAR!

A little humor along the road is a swell idea, in our opinion. Another advantage of these signs is that it reaches those people who evidently don't bother to read traffic fatality statistics, judging by the way they're slaughtering themselves on the highway.

Which reminds us, incidentally, that North Carolina at one time boasted the best roads in any of the 48 states. We don't know how they rate now—but back in the 1930's when we did some travelling in the Tarheel state one could certainly notice the difference in roads just as soon as the Tennessee-North Carolina border was crossed!

Say, don't miss the article in last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post about what's happened to childhood's joys. We can't remember the exact title but it was so good George Grim devoted a column to the article. (Nor are we to be outdone by a mere Tribune columnist!)

Gist of the article is that kids nowadays just don't know what to do with themselves unless they have adult supervision. They can't even get up a ball game between themselves without a supervisor or some thing like that. And, in modern times the art of just doing nothing and enjoying it is dying out, says the author of the article.

The author deplores the modern-day trend to having everything, even to our kids playtime, planned by the experts. (You know what an expert is—a drip under pressure.)

• • •

Did you ever stop to think that a fellow who is so careless that he lets a highway patrolman catch him violating a traffic regulation (speeding, etc.) is plain accident bait? It may sound silly—but, to us it seems logical a fellow, who doesn't pay enough attention to whats going on around him so that someone can sneak up on him from behind or from the side will sooner or later meet disaster unless he changes his ways.

In short, if he isn't alert enough to spot a police car, how in the world can he spot anybody else's? He'll get by so long—then, Pow! . . . another statistic!

Gosh—with all the mild weather we've had lately we were hoping this would be an unusual winter and remain comparatively nice until spring arrives. But one look out the window Saturday morning and . . . SO LONG!

Marshall County ACP Conservation Practices Chosen

Action Taken at County Meeting Held in Warren Last Friday, February 8

The Marshall county ASC office held its Agricultural Conservation Payments (ACP) adoption meeting at the court house in Warren Friday. Those in attendance at the meeting included three township officials from each township area as well as the county committeemen, Yngve Bergman, Oscar Oswald and Emil Anderson. Also present to represent the soil conservation service was John McMartin from Grygla.

In the absence of Selvin Erickson, area supervisor, Andrew Strandquist, local ASC office manager, conducted the meeting.

ACP practices are those conservation practices which farmers are encouraged to use for the betterment of their land and also to keep the soil in place and in good condition for future generations. Cost sharing at about one-half the expense is paid by the government. Fertilizer is also approved for those practices indicated. Those practices adopted were:

A2 (fertilizer)
Part A—Initial establishment of permanent cover for soil protection or needed land use adjustment.
Part B—Complete re-establishment.
A3 (fertilizer)
Additional acres of cover for protection, improve structure and water holding capacity.
A6—Field strip cropping on contour for erosion.
A7—Planting trees or shrubs for erosion control.
B1 (fertilizer)
Improvement of a permanent vegetative planting.
B3—Spraying shrubs for better pasture.
B7—Constructing pits or ponds for vegetative protection.
C2 (fertilizer) Establishing permanent vegetation to reduce erosion and siltation.
D1—Establishing winter cover on open cropland to protect from erosion.
D3—Green manure practice.
E1—Stubble mulching practice.
F9 — Constructing permanent open drainage ditches to dispose of excess water (not allowed for cleanouts, new land which has had no crop since 1953, and due consideration to wildlife habitat.

Any practices which are to be used for the following year must be signed up for in advance.

The key to safety is you.

Crookston Loses to Prowler Quintet and Bemidji Wins 72 to 51

It was a win and loss for Coach Al Adams' Prowler cagers as, on successive nights, they faced a pair of defending district basketball champions, meeting the Crookston Pirates on Friday night, and winning by a 47 to 42 score, and the Bemidji Lumberjacks on Saturday night, and losing by a 72 to 51 score.

The Prowlers will face another district champions this week when, on Friday night, they travel to Kennedy for a game against Coach Laurel Olson's high-scoring Rockets, the district 32 champion.

On Wednesday night, Feb. 20th, the Prowlers will conclude their home schedule when they meet the highly-regarded Grand Forks Central squad on the high school court.

Playing at Crookston on Friday night, the Prowlers put together a strong second half, getting fine scoring support from the guard positions, to defeat the Pirates, 47 to 42.

Crookston moved ahead to a 13 to 8 lead in the first period, with all of the Prowler points being contributed by Dave Hanson. That five-point lead was peeled to one point in the second period when the locals outpointed the Pirates, 14 to 10, and the halftime score registered 23 to 22 for Crookston.

Kenny Jones, who had tossed in a pair of field goals in the second period, added three field goals in the third stanza, and Dave Hanson ringed the hoop for three field goals as the Prowlers moved into a 36 to 32 lead.

The Pirates, early in the fourth quarter, evened the score at 36-all, and gained a lead, 42 to 41, but that was the end of their rally for the Prowlers, with Jones and Keith Johnson doing the scoring, pulled away to win by a 47 to 42 score.

On Saturday night, on the local court, the Prowlers met the defending Region Eight champions, the Bemidji Lumberjacks, and lost by a 72 to 51 score, but not before they had given the highly-rated Jacks a tussle.

The Prowlers played the Lumberjacks on near-even terms the first two periods, trailing by a 19 to 14 score at the end of the first quarter and a 34 to 28 score at the intermission. And but for some exceptional marksmanship by the Jacks' Bill Lawrence, the locals would have held the half-time scoring advantage. Bill, a younger brother of Dick and Jim Lawrence, had eight "outside" shots in the first half, and all eight shots connected for field goals. Bill potted three field goals in the first period, and added five fielders in the second period.

The Prowlers kept in contention until midway in the third period when, with the score 38 to 31 in favor of Bemidji, the Jacks looped in four quick field goals to open up a point-spread. Bob Ingalls fired in a pair of field goals, Jim Patten added one, and Ray Cronk tossed in a fielder. Scoring twenty points during the period, the Jacks gained a "comfortable" 54 to 39 entering the final period.

The Jacks continued to outpoint the locals in the final period, 18 to 12, to gain their 72 to 51 triumph.

The Lumberjacks' [illegible] "press" did not have much effectiveness against the Prowlers, and this lack of effectiveness was due largely to the nimble footwork and dribbling of the Prowlers' Keith Johnson. Johnson was given the task of brining the ball up the floor and across the time-line, and without fail or fumble he accomplished the task. On occasions he made the harassing Lumberjacks look silly as they attempted to intercept the ball or break up Johnson's dribbling tactics.

In 'B' squad and preliminary play on Friday and Saturday nights, Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team dropped a pair of decisions. On Friday night the locals lost to the Pirate 'B' team, 48 to 30; and on Saturday night, Coach Jack Louma's Bemidji 'B' team triumphed, 70 to 57.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

You Can't Win 'em All, Boys.

For awhile it appeared that the Alan Thompson rink would win all of its curling matches, for the boys ran up a streak of four straight to take over first place. It's probable that the boys on the rink—lead Phil Beadle, second Buster Anderson, third Ardell Liden, and skip Al Thompson—began to believe in their invincibility, too. But they're just human, for on Friday night they were beaten by Henry Thorson's rink, 10 to 8. And a fine match it was, too.

Henry Thorson's rink, and they will surprise several other rinks before the schedule is completed, took a 4 to 0 lead on the first end. Thompson's crew, curling carefully, picked up points to take an 8 to 4 lead at the end of the 6th. Thorson added a pair of points on the 7th end to trail by an 8 to 6 score. Hank laid in a stone for anther counter on the 8th end to pare the Thompson lead to a point; and a two-pointer on the 9th end gave the Thorson rink a 9 to 8 lead coming home. On the 10th end, Al Thompson's final stone failed to carry out a Thorson counter, and Thorson won, 10 to 8.

It's not to be wondered that the Thompson rink has been winning so many matches. The boys, Ardell and Alan in particular, are practically living out there at the Fair Grounds. We wouldn't be surprised if they are accepting mail deliveries in care of the Fair Grounds Curling Club. We've been out to the rink on numerous occasions, morning, noon, and night, and in each instance we've seen Al Thompson and Ardell Liden out there.

Mnemonics—that's a 25 cent word we picked up the other day and it means "assisting the memory". And it surely is applicable to the visit of Robert "Roundy" Erickson here last week. Roundy, now a resident of Santa Monica, Calif. arrived here, by plane, to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Erickson, who passed away suddenly last Monday afternoon.

While it wasn't a very happy occasion, Roundy did have an opportunity to renew acquaintances with classmates, school mates, and teammates. Roundy, you know, was a captain of the 1928 Prowler basketball team that was upset in an overtime tilt by the Warren Ponies, 14 to 12, in the district tournament. (Incidentally, the Prowlers were called the Whippets back in those days).

Several of Roundy's teammates on that team—Roy Oen, Mel Carlson, and Emil Dostal—were in attendance at an informal reunion held at the Elks Club on Friday night, and we got all the details of that loss. It seems that five days prior to the tournament, the Prowlers had trounced the Ponies, 20 to 10, so the tournament game appeared to be a shoo-in for the locals.

Came the game, and the Prowlers, or the Whippets, with Roundy, Selmer Snoose Serverson, Gordon Boomer Dablow, Johnny Arnold, and Roy Oen in the lineup, gained a 5 to 4 lead at the end of the first period, a 9 to 8 lead at the intermission, and a 12 to 8 margin at the end of the third period. Warren's Mons Bourdson, who potted long shots with rifle-like accuracy, hit with a pair to tie the game at 12-all; and the Ponies won in the two-minute overtime period. Ed Boe, of Grand Forks and North Dakota athletic fame, coached that team, and luring last Friday night's get-together he sent his greetings to Roundy and the group via a long-distance phone call.

Well, it was surely fine to see Roundy again, and in our book he rates as one of the local school's sturdiest competitors. It's doubtful if he ever took a step backwards in his entire athletic career. Remember when Roundy used to box on the fight at Grand Forks? And under the name of Ernie Peters?

Wes was in Town.

Wes Westrum, catcher for the New York Giants, spent a few hours in town last week visiting with his aunt and uncle, the Jack Robinsons. Wes was enroute from his home in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. to the New York Giants training camp in Arizona.

Wes had been visiting with his mother in Clearbrook, and came up here for the short visit with the Robinsons. He also drove over to Oslo where he spent a few hours with his cousins, Smokey and Bunty Robinson.

We'll never forget the season that Wes spent with Gus Krueger's Plummer Red Sox. That was Wes' first step up the baseball ladder that has carried him to the Big Leagues. Kruegger, who has been retired from baseball activity for a number of years, has always taken great pride in giving Wes his "start" in baseball. In fact, Gus calls Wes "his boy".

Miscellany.

Clark Corky Johnson, Bemidji's all-state tournament selection in basketball and baseball last season, is attending the University of Minnesota. Corky has decided to forego basketball and concentrate on baseball, and he has been "working out" with Dick Seibert's Gopher varsity squad. We think that Corky has chosen wisely in deciding in favor of baseball, for the stocky and powerful former Lumberjack is a definite "big league" prospect. Corky is being given a "tryout" as a catcher, and that is his best position. In high school and Legion ball, Corky was a strong-armed pitcher.—And speaking of baseball, Ralph Skjod, the Prowlers' baseball mentor, is busy lining up a schedule for his squad. According to tentative plans, the blue-and-gold will have a twenty-game schedule this spring. At Saturday night's basketball game, Ralph came to terms with Fertile's Chuck Johnson, who attended the Bemidji vs. Prowlers cage game, for a home-and-home series with the Falcons. Fertile, with a veteran squad headed by such starry performers as Arlo Brunsberg and Dick Roragen, is entitled to be rated as a district 30 and region 8 favorite. That series with the Prowlers should be a dandy.

Hockey Prowlers to Start Tourney Play Tonight at Warroad

Coach John Matchefts hockey Prowlers, the defending regional and state champions, will enter the sub-regional hockey tournament at Warroad this evening, meeting the Baudette Burbots at 9:00 p.m. In a 7:30 p.m. game tonight, the league-leading Roseau Rams will play the Red Lake Falls Eagles. The sub-regional tournament will continue on Tuesday evening, with the Williams Wolves meeting Indus at 7:30 p.m.; and at 9:00 p.m. the Hallock Polar Bears will meet the Warroad Warriors.

The winners of these first-round games will then enter the Regional tournament that will be played at Roseau on Thursday and Friday. On Thursday night, with face-off time at 7:30 p.m. the winners of Monday's sub-regional games will play; and at 9:00 p.m. the winners of Tuesday night's sub-regional games will meet. The regional championship game has been slated for 7:30 p.m. on Friday night, with a consolation game being scheduled for 9:00 p.m.

The Prowlers, plagued all season by crippling injuries, and with Jimmy Hall a doubtful starter, will be carrying a disappointing six-won and thirteen-lost record into the sub-regional eliminations this evening. Playing at Baudette on Saturday afternoon, the Prowlers, without the services of Hall, who was side-lined by a back injury received in the Warroad tilt, dropped a 5 to 2 decision to the Burbots. It is hoped that Hall will be available for tonight's important playoff game, for he is the lone tournament veteran on the squad. Fred Dablow, the other tournament-wise player, has been out of action for weeks because of a severed tendon.

Northrop Indians Take Washington Wildcats 26 to 14

Coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians defeated the Washington Wildcats, 26 to 14, in a grade school league basketball game played on the Northrop floor on Thursday afternoon. The win boosted the Indians season's record to two wins and two losses, and second place in the league standings.

The Knox team, with three wins and no losses, are perched on the top rung; while Washington, with no wins and three losses, are in the cellar.

The Industrial Arts Department
Lincoln Junior-Senior High School
By J. Arthur Johnson

J. ARTHUR JOHNSON

A resident of Thief River Falls since 1934, has a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts from the Stout Institute of Menomonie, Wisconsin. He has taught school in Detroit, Michigan and Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

For several years he worked on construction jobs, but finds working with boys more interesting. He spends his summer vacations working for local contractors thereby keeping abreast with the latest developments in industry.

Industrial arts is a part of general education that concerns itself with the materials, processes and products of manufacture and with the contributions of those engaged in industry. The learnings come through the pupil's experiences with tools and materials and through his study of resultant conditions of life. It is a curriculum area, rather than a subject or course, being comparable in this respect to the language arts.

Four different industrial arts classes are taught in our schools. They are Shop I, Shop II, Shop III and Shop IV. There are three classes of Shop I which is for seventh grade boys. Sixty-nine boys are enrolled. Boys in the seventh grade are highly active, short in interest retention, easily motivated and inquisitive so they are given short jobs or lessons which are simple in manipulative work. The subject areas in which they work are graphic arts, leather, metal, plastics, assembly and dis-assembly, and woodwork. The time spent in each area approximates thirty hours. This year of shop experience is largely explorative. Besides being explorative and finding the boys' interests, we are in some cases giving them opportunities to develop abilities in these arts and crafts that they may carry with them the rest of their lives. By this we mean that they develop hobbies and it is these hobbies that people need to obtain a certain self-satisfaction plus passing a lot of leisure time. In Industrial Arts, Shop I, we are giving to our pupils and to the state of Minnesota a partial answer to our great mental health problem. Mr. Bruce Reski is the Shop I instructor.

Shop II is for the eighth grade boys. Three classes with fifty-three students are enrolled. Mr. Vernon Johnson and J. Arthur Johnson are their instructors. Boys in the eighth grade are more purposeful in their activity, show improved muscular coordination, improved and lengthened interest span and greater ability to think before acting, so in view of these characteristics the number of subject areas are lessened giving more time to dig deeper into the chosen areas. This school year the students will work in the fields of drawing, are experienced — orthographic projection and development drawing so commonly used with sheetmetal work. Metal work centers around sheetmetal and cold steel projects. In woodwork, the making of a project of wood familiarizes the boys with the natures of wood and how to work it. Electricity comes into the picture for the first time in the eighth grade. Here connecting circuits teaches the boys some of the nature of electricity, how to handle it and what to be careful of. Some students make toy motors, flashlights and simple radios.

Shop III is elective for the ninth grade boys. We have four classes. Eighty-eight boys are enrolled. Students in Shop III have advanced to a marked degree beyond the eighth grade pupils in size and muscular coordination; have made a noticeable improvement in acquiring skills and apply shop knowledge; and are mentally able to handle more responsibilities. So the time has come for them to do more individaul planning. The subject areas therefore are fewer in number allowing more time for planning construction and related information. In our school the subject areas are Woodwork and Mechanical Drawing. Eighteen weeks of five hours a week of instruction is spent in each area. In woodwork the boys are taught to square pieces of lumber to size. This is the ABC of woodwork. When a student has learned to do this quickly and accurately the road is open for him to choose a project of his own desire providing it is not beyond his capabilities. Planing, sawing, boring, drilling, counterboring, counter sinking, chiseling, chamfering, carving, routing, jointing, dadoing, scraping and sanding are some of the [illegible] Also he will get experience in applying paints and transparent wood finishes. The ninety hours of work in mechanical drawing will enable the pupils to make use of the symbols of drawings, make othorgraphic and isometric drawings. From his work in Shop III the student shoud gain some understanding of the problems of industry and later in life be a wiser user of the products of industry. Mr. J. Arthur Johnson is the instructor.

The senior high school industrial arts is more difficult to describe. Actually many students in these grades are mature enough to select definite vocation or trade preparation. Many of these students have not, however, decided on their vocational future and need furthur exploration and for these boys Shop IV is offered. Two classes of nineteen and sixteen boys are enrolled from grades ten, eleven and twelve. This course consists of one semester of general metal work and another of basic electricity. The metal work centers around three areas—sheetmetal, corld iron work and artmetal work. In these areas the boys become familiar with the charateristics of mild steel, tool steel, aluminum, copper, brass and German silver. In addition to [illegible] machine shop work, acetylene and arc welding. Besides learning how to fuse steel together they become familiar with the melting points of metals and how to heat treat metals, how to harden and soften them. The eighteen weeks of electricity is spent learning fundamentals of magnetism, the electron theory, Ohm's law, generators, motors, transformers, D. C. and A. C. characteristics. The practical side of this course begins with connecting common circuits in lighting and signalling, and continues with various experiments including simple telephone, telegraph and radio circuits.

The objectives of Industrial Arts are essentially the same as those of other subjects or areas. The place of industrial arts in the school curriculum is justified and assured because the field, with its distinctive physical setting and pupil activities provides a highly effective means of reaching worthy ends. The objectives may be listed as follows:

1. To develop in each pupil an active interest in industrial life (Young people are alert and curious as to what goes on about them, and present day homes and communities do not afford real oportunities for observing and understanding industrial fer a partial solution.) life. The industrial arts shops of-

2. To develop in each pupil the appreciation of good design and workmanship and the ability to select, care for, and use industrial products wisely.

3. To develop in each pupil the habits of self-reliance, self-discipline and resourcefulness in meeting practical situations.

4. To develop in each desirable attitudes and practices with respect to health and safety.

6. To develop in each pupil a feeling of pride in his ability to do useful things and to develop worthy leisure time interests.

7. To develop in each pupil the habit of orderly, complete and efficient preformance of any job.

8. To develop in each pupil an understanding of drawings and the ability to express ideas by means of drawings.

9. To develop in each pupil a measure of skill in the use of common tools and machines, and an understanding of the problems involved in common types of construction and repair.

Seek to Add T. H. 2 to Federal System

Highway Passes Thru Bemidji and Crookston

Sen. John McKee of Bemidji received a letter Friday from Sen. Thye in which Thye promised to do all he could to have Highway 2 included in the federal interstate highway system.

The letter was in reponse to a petition signed by northern Minnesota legislators.

Sen. Thye explained that routing of the interstate system in each state is done jointly by the State Highway Department, Thye wrote.

"If no reconsideration can be had then it may be necessary to provide by congressional action for additional mileage in the interstate system which would allow the addition of Highway 2 mileage in Minnesota."

Highway 2-a New York-Seattle route-runs through Duluth, Grand Rapids, Bemidji, Crookston and East Grand Forks.

Two out of every three hopper cars of coal moved by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway are hauled to ocean docks for delivery over seas. In 1955 the railroad carrie nearly 15,000,000 tons of export coal to shipside.

Air Force Seeks Teachers to Fill Posts Overseas

Interviews for teaching and recreation leader positions at Air Force overseas bases will be conducted at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, on February 15, 1:00-5:00 p.m. and February 16, 8:00-12:00 noon.

The 91 overseas dependent schools will require approximately 400 elementary teachers and 150 secondary teachers for the next school year. Elementary requirements are two years current teaching experience plus a bachelor's regree. Secondary teachers with 15 semester hours credit and two years experience in two major subject matter fields are preferred.

Recreation specialists are needed to direct a program for servicemen of arts, crafts, athletics or social activities.

Single applicants are preferred, although men administrators in education or recreation may obtain family housing in some areas. Housing and transportation overseas and return are provided by the Air Force in exchange for a one-year work agreement.

PLANNED SCARCITY?

An ambitious expansion program has made the University of Minnesota and its future a highly controversial issue in the present legislative session. In the background of this University argument is the overall problem of higher education, including teachers colleges and junior colleges, all demanding attention. Under the circumstances it is likely that the legislature will wrap all of these headaches into one package and refer them to an interim committee for study.

In the meantime some interesting facts are being brought to light. Senator Don Sinclair of Stephen, always concerned about what the state gets in return for the dollars it spends, has wondered how much better the University would be if it were twice as big.

Through the Legislative Research Committee, of which he is vice chairman, he obtained the year-by-year production records of some of the University's professional schools over a period of the past 35 years. These figures reveal the surprising fact that while the University has increased greatly in size, its production in the professional fields is no greater than when the enrollment was less than half the present total.

In the following table these production and enrollment records are presented, showing the number of students each year since 1921 who received degrees in dentistry, law, medicine and pharmacy:

Year	Total Enrollment	Dentistry D.D.S.	Law LL.B.	Medicine M.D.	Pharmacy B.S.

1955-56	27,235	83	64	115	37

These figures indicate that the need for more dentists, doctors, lawyers and pharmacists in Minnesota has not been relieved by the greatly expanded facilities and much larger enrollment at the University. They strengthen the argument of those who maintain that our professions have achieved a closed-shop status and that the University is a party to a program of planned scarcity. Based on this record of past performance, it would be reasonable to conclude that regardless of how large the University may become in terms of enrollment, the number of students who would be graduated and certified as qualified to be dentists, doctors, lawyers or pharmacists would remain constant.

These figures do not strengthen the case of those who say it is in the public interest to make the University larger. It should be quite obvious that the school is not now measuring up to its responsibility either to the taxpayers, or to the hopeful young people who enroll as students in the hope of entering one of these professions.

Schools are processing plants, converting raw materials into finished products, and to some extent their utility and efficiency can be gauged by the same standards we use in determining the worth of factories. Measuring the service of the University by these standards we certainly are justified in concluding that it is becoming increasingly inefficient as it becomes larger.

On a production basis we are getting less and less for our money as we spend more and more to maintain this institution.

FOUR OF THE GREATEST

Thomas Edison was born 110 years ago today. Tomorrow will be Abraham Lincoln's birthday. January 17 was the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth and next week we will observe the birthday of George Washington. These four men, our choice for the four all-time greatest Americans, achieved greatness the hard way.

None of the four had much schooling but all of them acquired good educations. At some stage early in the lives of each of them they became inspired with a desire to learn, and they formed study habits that gave them both knowledge and character.

Considering the circumstances of their lives we are justified in concluding that lack of schooling is not an insurmountable handicap.

MATHEMATICAL FACTS

(New Prague Times)

Mathematical facts like other facts are sound until we start distorting them. Illustrative of this is the following cute little yarn:

"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor earnestly. "Figures can't lie. For instance, if one man can build a house in 12 days, 12 men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quick-brained student. "Then 288 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,036,800 in one second. And I don't believe they could lay one brick in that time."

While the professor was still gasping, the smart "ready reckoner" went on: "Again, if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day. I don't believe that either; so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live by the light that I have. I must stand with anybody who stands right, stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong.—Abraham Lincoln.

NEARLY EVERY SCHOOL A BASKETBALL DARKHORSE

While Minneapolis' Roosevelt continues an overwhelming favorite to retain the state basketball championship won in 1956, many smaller schools, in the expert opinion of Art "Basketball" Johlfs, Minneapolis realtor and amateur sports analyst, have enough height and marksmanship to upset the dope. Madelia with a game score of 101, no monopoly on spectacular basketball. Long winning streaks by Kennedy, Walnut Grove, Belview, and others, hint at the probability of one or two "sweetheart teams" in the March tournament. Naming several "darkhorse possibilities" including Alden, Belgrade, Cass Lake, Cannon Falls, Cottonwood, Halstad, LeRoy, Monticello, Osseo, and Spring Grove, Johlfs grows quite specific: "It looks as if Roosevelt or Willmar will meet Bemidji or Kennedy in the first round; Fergus or Brainerd either Duluth or Coleraine; Winona or Rochester tackling Red Wing or Anoka; Mountain Lake or Worthington meeting Montevideo or Granite Falls." About six weeks will tell!

CHATTING with your HOME AGENT

Marge Olsen

I met Mrs. Elmer Erickson last week carrying a big box of bananas which she had just bought. Seeing all these bananas made me think how tasty this fruit is, and how we all enjoy eating and baking with bananas.

Banana Oatmeal Cookies

One of the fruit companies has sent me several banana recipes, two of which I'd like to share with you today. Banana Oatmeal Cookies should be real popular with your children — they're so crisp and chewy. Here's the recipe:

1½ cups sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg, ¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon, ¾ cup shortening, 1 egg, well-beaten, 1 cup mashed ripe bananas, 1¾ cups rolled quick-cooking oats, ½ cup chopped nuts.

Sift together flour, sugar, soda, salt, nutmeg, and cinnamon into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening. Add egg, bananas, rolled oats and nuts. Beat until thoroughly blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 1½ inches apart, onto ungreased cookie pans. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, or until cookies are done. Remove from pan immediately. Makes about 3½ dozen cookies.

Banana Chiffon Cake

For a special treat on Valentines Day coming right up, why not try this Banana Chiffon cake.

2¼ cups sifted flour, 1½ cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup cooking or salad oil, 5 medium-sized egg yolks, unbeaten, 1 cup mashed ripe bananas, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 cup egg whites (7 or 8).

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Make a "well" in dry ingredients and add in order, oil, egg yolks, bananas and lemon juice. Beat smooth. Add cream of tartar to egg whites. Beat egg whites in a large mixing bowl until they form very stiff peaks. Do not underbeat. Gradually and gently fold banana mixture into egg whites, just until blended. Do not stir. Pour into ungreased, 10 inch tube pan, 4-inches deep.

Bake in a moderate oven, 325 [illegible] utes, or until cake is done. Immediately turn pan upside down, placing the tube part over a small necked bottle or funnel so that the pan is elevated about 1 inch above surface of table. Let cake hang until cold. Loosen cake from sides and tube of pan with spatula. Turn pan over and tap edge sharply to loosen cake. Spread top and sides of cake with your favorite frosting, if desired.

Makes one 10-inch tube cake (16 to 20 servings).

Hints On Buying Bananas

The fruit company also lists hints for buying bananas.

Buy bananas by the "hand", or section, of the "hand," at the stage of ripeness you find them in the store.

For further ripening, keep bananas at comfortable room temperature. Do not place bananas in the refrigerator, as low temperature prevent proper ripening. However, fully ripe sliced banana in salads or fruit cups may be placed in refrigerator for cooling, just before serving, without impairing the delicate flavor.

Slightly green tipped bananas are excellent for cooking—bake, broil or fry and serve as a vegetable with main course. Cooking makes partially ripe bananas readily digestible . . . brings out a delicious and different flavor.

All-yellow bananas are firm enough to cook, ripe enough to eat and to use as an ingredient in baking.

Fully ripe bananas—yellow peel flecked with brown—are best for fruit cups, salads, desserts, drinks as an ingredient in baking and eating out of hand.

To keep sliced or cut bananas from turning dark, prepare them as close to serving time as possible. If necessary to prepare them 1 to 2 hours in advance, dip pieces into or sprinkle them with canned pineapple juice, fresh or canned grapefruit juice, orange, lime or lemon juice.

Infant feeding. For feeding babies, select fully ripe bananas, and mash thoroughly. Or, press bananas through a fine mesh strainer with the back of a spoon.

• • •

Stretch your food dollar with these suggestions from Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota:

Plan meals ahead and make a marketing list at the same time.

Check on best food buys mentioned in columns, such as this one, advertisements and on radio and television.

Shop in person so you can see exactly what you are buying.

Read labels; compare weights and prices. Then select the quality best suited to your use.

Buy perishables in small amounts so they can be used before they lose food value.

Buy staple groceries in larger quantities if they are better buys than smaller quantities and if home storage space is available. So-called "economy size" packages are not always the best buys.

Compare prices at different stores.

Keep a record of food expenditures and use them as a guide for future buying.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—Does a Korean GI trainee have the right to change his course if his progress in his present courses hasn't been satisfactory?

A—He may, if he can show VA that the lack of progress was not due to his own misconduct, neglect or lack of application—and if he has not changed his course prior to that time.

Q—My son has a scholarship granted by the Atomic Energy Commission. He also is eligible for benefits under the War Orphans education program. Could he keep his Atomic Energy scholarship and also draw War Orphans allowances?

A—He could not. The monthly allowances under the War Orphans program would constitute a duplication of benefits paid from the Federal Treasury. Such duplication is prohibited by the law.

Q—I am a World War II veteran, and I understand I must apply for a GI loan by July 25, 1958. Must I actually obtain the money for the loan by that date?

A—No. Your leaders at least have agreed to make the loan, and must have requested VA's approval by July 25, 1958. The law gives you up to an additional year to close the deal.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, died of a condition not related to his military service. I have not remarried. As an unmarried widow, would I be eligible for a GI loan?

A—No. One requirement of the law is that the veteran must have died of some condition related to his military service. Widows of veterans who died of non-service connected conditions would not be eligible for loans.

Though natural gas is lighter than air, if last year's production of gas were put on the scales, it would weigh two and one-half times as much as the year's total steel production.

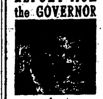
REPORT from the GOVERNOR



by Orville L. Freeman

About one third of the ninety-day session of the Minnesota Legislature is now over. The members have been working hard, and it is the general impression of those who are familiar with the work of legislatures that this work is farther along this year than it usually is when the first third of the session is over.

Committees

Most citizens who are unfamiliar with legislative procedure do not realize how much of the important work goes on in committees. During the first part of the session, these committees must consider and study hundreds of bills. So many bills are introduced each session that no member could give adequate attention to all of them, and therefore the task must be divided up. Many of the bills that are of great importance are so long and complicated that careful study is necessary.

Hearings

Legislative committees consider many bills that are controversial,—and on such questions they try to give both sides an opportunity to explain their positions. Experts, representatives of pressure groups, and just ordinary interested citizens, have an opportunity to express their opinions to the committees. Sometimes these hearings are held in committee rooms—and at other times public interest is so great that they are held in the auditorium of the state office building.

During the time the major legislation is being given serious attention in the committees, both houses meet to consider and act on other legislation. It is natural that the bills that come up for final action early in the session would be those that are relatively simple and easy to understand, and those about which there is general aggreement. Usually many of these are considered and passed early, and are therefore out of the way when the debates begin on the more controversial measures.

Citizens Interest

It is therefore clear that the number of bills enacted into law during the first part of the session is no real indication of the amount of work that is done. Citizens who have a special interest in some particular legislation find it more effective to express that interest to the committee that is in charge. For it is much easier to influence the provisions of a bill while it is in committee than it is later on when the bill is up for consideration before the whole house.

Safety

Several bills have been prepared to promote stricter enforcement of laws directed toward increased traffic safety. I hope that the public will give careful consideration to these new measures; and that it will give positive support to efforts in the legislature to make our highways safer for motorists and pedestrians.

Late Events in Middle River

By Carlyle Hanson

Rev. C. O. Hanson and Family To Move to Superior

Rev. C. O. Hanson at his morning services last Sunday tendered his resignation as pastor of the First Lutheran congregation at Middle River and Strathcona. The church board with regret accepted his resignation at a special meeting Monday evening.

Rev. Hanson has served this parish the past seven years and has accepted a call from the Bethel Borea congregation in Superior, Wis. He will leave with his family the first part of May.

Rev. Hanson has worked hard to build up the congregation, as well as being instrumental in getting the super structure of the church edected while he served the congregation here. He worked side by side with the carpenters. As well as helping raise the necessary funds to pay the bills. Both Rev. and Mrs. Hanson have worked deligently with all the organizations and will be missed by all, as we all wish them good luck in their new field. A meeting of all three congregations will be held Monday evening, Feb. 11th at First Lutheran church, when call will be sent out to prospective pastors.

Celebrates 10th Birthday

Mrs. Andy Anderson, assisted by Mrs. Oliver Niemela and Mrs. Albert Hanson entertained fourteen of Mark's young friends and cousins at a birthday party in honor of his 10th birthday, Monday after school. Mrs. Hanson brought a box full of brightly wrapped gifts to be given as prizes for their games and contests played. Mark was presented with many nice gifts, after which they enjoyed a deligious lunch and birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. George Franzen and daughter Janice left Thursday morning for Harlinger, Texas where Mr. Franzen will be busy a couple months with his bees.

Host to Polio Benefit Coffee Party

Alfred G. Hanson was host to his friends at a polio benefit coffee party last Thursday. Those who enjoyed being present were Supt. Robert Prickett, Alfred Hanson, Lawrence Ludtke, G. Overvold and Fred Larson.

Supt. Robert Prickett, Milton Lundquist and John Sandberg spent a few days last week at St. Paul where they attended the annual two days conference for school board members on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Halme spent last week end visiting their son and family Dr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Halme at Wadena, Minn. They visited Sunday afternoon at the Mr. and Mrs. Guy Clement home who have a lovely winter home at West Battle Lake. The men also did some fishing while there.

Monday evening visitors at the Ernest Peterson home were Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Thompson of Waukegan, Ill., Mrs. Hilda Peterson, Mrs. Esther Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schenkey.

Hostesses at Polio Benefit Coffee Party

Mrs. Oscar Schenkey and Mrs. B. A. Hanson were hostesses to a polio benefit coffee party Thursday evening at the Oscar Schenkey home. Those present were Mesdames Ralph Gresley, Agnes Hallquist, Ole Johnson, Myron Johnson, Charles Josephson, Olaf Folden, Geo. Fricker, Mrs. Sadie Josephson, Harold Johnson, Alma Wagner and John Loven.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Prosser, Dorothy and Arleen were dinner guests a week ago Sunday at the Mrs. Lena Sulland home in Thief River Falls from there Dorothy returned to Moorhead, where she is a student at Concordia college.

Join the thousands of Minnesota women who get a discount for cash

Do your daily shopping at stores that give you S&H Green Stamps

All business men get a discount for paying cash. And for 61 years fine S&H merchants have believed that consumers are entitled to one also. They recognize your right by giving you S&H Green Stamps as your discount for paying cash.

With S&H stamps you can get over 1500 nationally famous products to help you and your family live better. The latest models and designs of such famous companies as Westinghouse . . . Bulova . . . Ansco . . . Samsonite . . . RCA . . . to name a few. And not one of these things will cost you a penny!

—AND HERE'S HOW MUCH WOMEN LOVE TRADING STAMPS
Last November your women neighbors in North Dakota actually went to the voting polls to protect their right to receive trading stamps as a discount for paying cash. By an overwhelming margin, they voted against special interests who tried to banish stamps through the passage of a law. This North Dakota vote proved that opposition to trading stamps does not come from consumers. Women love them!

YES, TONTO. MAYBE THEY'RE THE ONES WHO STOLE THE STRONGBOX.
DO YOU KNOW WHAT'S IN THE BOX?
NO. MY HUSBAND LEFT IT WITH THE BANKER TO HOLD IN TRUST UNTIL BOB'S TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.
I WAS TO OPEN THE BOX TOMORROW.
YOUR FATHER ASKED ME TO BE WITH YOU ON YOUR BIRTHDAY. I THINK HE WANTED ME ON HAND WHEN YOU OPENED THE STEEL BOX.
WHY?
I'VE NO IDEA. WE MAY FIND OUT WHEN WE SEE WHAT'S IN THE BOX.
BUT THE BOX WAS STOLEN!
WE'LL TRY TO GET IT BACK!
IF ANYONE CAN CATCH THOSE CROOKS, THE LONE RANGER IS THE MAN TO DO IT.
WE'RE LUCKY HE CAME SO SOON AFTER DAD'S STRONGBOX WAS STOLEN.
HE PROMISED YOUR FATHER HE'D BE HERE FOR YOUR TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Taxpayer Unit Cites Financial Problems Facing Legislature

The Governor's proposed budget for the 1957-59 biennium provides for expenditures of $475,427,000. This is $153,889,000 higher than the $321,538,000 budget in effect for the current biennium. This is an increase of 47.8 percent. These facts are set forth in an analysis of the proposed budget in a statement issued today by Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary of the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

The statement also calls attention to the fact that the proposed 1953-55 biennium.

The increase of the proposed budget over the 1053-55 budget is 95 percent.

The Governor's budget and the other comparisons do not include highway and state building costs. Because of vastly increase federal appropriations for interstate highways and substantial increases in highway user revenues in Minnesota, our highway expenditures during the next biennium will greatly exceed any mark achieved previously.

Mr. Borgen pointed out in his statement that "the largest single increase proposed, $44,320,000, is in the income tax school fund. A growing school population, suggested changes in equalization aids and a $5.00 increase in the basic aid are largely responsible for the increase.

"The increase requested for the general revenue fund is $32,208,000. To this, however, can be added, the sum of $6,030,000, the University's share of the occupation tax revenues made available through the passage of Constitutional Amendment Number 3.

"The next largest increase, $36,600,000, is in non-recurring activities. This includes proposed expenditures of $25,000,000 for a Korean bonus, $5,000,000 for a school construction revolving fund, $1,000,000 for a nursing home construction aid fund and several smaller items."

An item of $33,825,000 is provided in the budget for a personal property tax replacement account. This sum is included in accordance with recommendations from the Governor's Tax Study Committee, the so-called Cameron Thomson Committee.

Ellendale Doctor Is Honored by MEA

Cited for Serving 36 Years on School Board

Dr. Gordon Mork, president of the Minnesota Education association presented Dr. Edward Q. Ertel, a present member of the board of education at Ellendale, Minnesota, and for 36 years director of the board, the MEA Distinguished Service school board award for 1956 and 1957. The MEA award exemplifies the gratitude of Minnesota educators for the unselfish service and devotion of all Minnesota school board members.

Presentation ceremonies were held at the main ballroom of the Lowry Hotel Wednesday evening. Dr. Mork, in presenting the award, pointed out the overwhelming number of testimonials sent to the MEA award committee in Dr. Ertel's behalf.

Dr. Ertel established his medical practice in 1908. Since then his long and varied list of accomplishments include:

He was instrumental in the drive for school consolidation in 1921.

He was the main instigator in providing a complete and efficient transportation system for the school in order to give the rural pupils the best educational opportunities.

He was resented with the American Legion and VFW citizenship awards.

He was given a testimonial dinner commemorating 40 years of service.

He gave $5000 for the purchase and development of land for a new athletic field.

He has served on the village council, has been the city's health officer and is on the county health board.

Wool Growers to Hold Convention in Bemidji Feb. 16

State Session to Be Conducted Saturday in High School Auditorium

Lamb and wool will take top priority when wool growers from all over the state of Minnesota gather at the Bemidji high school in Bemidji, on Saturday, Feb. 16, for their 33rd annual convention. A program for both men and the ladies is expected to swell attendance.

Starting at 9:30 in the morning, the lamb and wool market will be discussed by a panel of authorities in the sheep industry: Carl Spong, representative of the Central Livestock association; Richard Holm, Hormel & Co., Bill Morris of St. Paul University Farm; Earl Cunningham of Sleepy Eye, president of the Minnesota Purebred Sheep Breeders; Carl Nadasdy of Golden Valley, general manager of the South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa Wool Growers associations.

"Flairs and Fashions in Lamb Cookery" will be the main afternoon feature for the ladies. Martha Logan, nationally-known home economist for Swift & Co., will demonstrate ways to use the many lamb cuts available. She will prepare some of the less familiar cuts as well as favorites, such as chops and leg cuts. Each will be accompanied by an appetizing garnish and appropriate serving suggestions.

Appearing as Martha Logan is Matilda Towne, home economist at Swift & Comany's So. St. Paul plant. She is one of the graduate home economists who share the famous Martha Logan name.

The Shepherd's Clinic will keep the men busy with actual demonstrations of every phase of sheep raising. A highlight of the Clinic, conducted by Bob Jacobs of University Farm, will be a demonstration of the Australian shearing table. Ed Warner of the Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago, Ill., will operate this new shearing apparatus.

The Minnesota Wool Growers Association has 16,000 members and handled 70% of the wool produced in the state in 1956. Minnesota ranks 13th in the nation in wool production.

Pequot Lakes Man Barred from Race for Legislature

Attorney General Rules Ericson Is Disqualified from Seeking Election

George Ericson, Pequot Lakes, was disqualified Thursday by an attorney general's ruling from running in a special election to be held to fill Cass county's 52nd district seat in the hous of representatives.

Ericson was found by a district court to have violated the Minnesota corrupt practice act in the 1956 campaign. Attorney General Miles Lord ruled he is ineligible to seek the office in 1957.

Ericson defeated incumbent Representative Seth Phillips, Pillager, last Nov. 6 by 749 votes. Phillips challenged Ericson's right to be seated.

District Judge Arnold Forbes found the winner had violated the corrupt practices act in a "deliberate, serious and material manner."

The house of representatives subsequently declared the seat vacant, and Gov. Freeman set a 26.

Ericson paid his $10 filing fee Monday to L. C. Peterson, Cass county auditor. Peterson asked Edward L. Rogers, Cass county attorney, for a ruling on Ericson's eligibility. Rogers passed the request on to Lord.

Minnesota Farmers Fared Better in 1956

Minnesota farmers made a little more money in 1956 than in 1955, reports a University of Minnesota agriculture economist.

In the current issue of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes," a University publication, Economist R. W. Cox says early estimates show that total receipts from agricultural products marketed in 1956 were about $1.27 billion, compared to $1.24 billion a year earlier.

Net cash income for Minnesota farms as a whole rose from 356 million in 1955 to $367 million last year.

Receipts from crops, dairy products and turkeys were above 1955, but 1956 receipts from livestock and eggs dropped sharply, according to Cox.

Increases both in volume of sales and in price accounted for the boost in crops receipts. Index of crop prices was about 5 percent higher in 1956.

Minnesota dairy plants received about 12 percent more fluid milk in 1956. Average prices were $3.20 per hundred pounds in 1955, compared to $3.10 a year earlier. There was 13 percent less buterfat sold in cream during 1956, but total sales of milk and cream, including both wholesale and retail, were $259 million—$24 million more than in 1955.

Prices per pound for turkeys dropped about 2 cents in 1956, but total sales rose from $37 million in 1955 to $41 million last year, because of a record turkey crop.

For hogs, average price was down 4 percent from 1955, and live weight of hogs sold in 1956 by Minnesota farmers was 3 percent less. Prices during the past fall and early winter, though, were higher than a year earlier.

Cattle sales increased in 1956, but prices were almost 9 percent lower. Total returns from cattle and calves were about 4 percent lower.

Minnesota farmers took a 5 percent drop in egg receipts last year, although they sold about the same number of eggs as in 1955. Receipts from sale of chickens and broilers were the same for both years.

Farm costs rose about 2 percent in 1956, according to Cox.

Eight Scouts Are Elevated to Eagle Rank

One of Largest Local Groups to Receive Top Scouting Award

One of the largest Eagle scout pinning ceremonies in the history of Thief River Falls scouting was conducted at a court of honor at Zion Lutheran church Wednesday night by mothers of eight local scouts.

Seven of the scouts winning the Eagle badge were from Zion Lutheran church Troop 59 and the eighth was from Trinity Lutheran Troop 60. Those from Troop 59 were David Fischer, Larry Wold, James Terrian, LeRoy Kritz, Larry Krohn, Bruce Ranum and Jerry Wedul. Daryl Williamson was the Troop 60 Eagle award winner.

Eagle scout David Rasmussen gave the impressive opening ceremony at the court of honor and Trinity interne James Sorenson gave the invocation. Walter Kavanaugh, council advancement chairman, gave the welcome and also presided at the court.

In addition to the Eagle scout awards presented the following won high scouting honors: Star award, Troop 59, Ronald Hanson, Troop 57, Star award, Mark Maidment, Robert Brown, Tom King and Mike Cummings.

Troop 57, Life award winner was Donald Hill.

Star awards to Troop 60 members weer given as follows: Gary Christofferson, Stephen Embury, Peter Risrnoen and Curtis Johnson. Harold Froehle and Arlen Booren won the two Life awards given Troop 60 scouts. Star awards were given by Clarence Knudsen, neighborhood commissioner and Quentin Jones made the Life awards.

Second class scouting awards were made by Cleo King, Troop 57 committeeman while Ralph Fischer made first class awards. A large group of scouts won merit badges, which were awarded by Harold Rasmussen.

Morris Owen gave a Jamboree talk and described the trip that scouts from the city will take to the Valley Forge jamboree in July, giving the itinerary and other points of interest the trips hold for the 70-odd scouts who will attend.

Explorer induction awards were made to several scouts by James Sorenson, Troop 60 Explorer advisor and Vernon Quam, committeeman, gave Explorer recognition awards.

Before making the Eagle scout awards Judge Philip Anderson, Crookston probate judge, talked of the accomplishments of scouts and the work of attaining them entails. He said "Scouting awards take a lot of doing" and added that it takes more than scouts to have a successful scouting program. He gave credit to parents, the scout leaders and other scout

Anderson Moving His Jewelry Shop

To Occupy Portion of Dr. Kaisler's Building

John Anderson, owner of Anderson's Jewelers, announced today that he will move his business into the attractively remodeled building at 216 Main av. N. over the coming week-end. The building was purchased by Dr. W. P. Kaisler from the estate of the late Louis DeCreamer in October 1956. He took possession on Dec. 1, 1956.

Anderson said his jewelry firm will occupy the south half of the building, while the new offices of Dr. Kaisler will be on the north side. Dr. Kaisler said he expects to occupy his offices there about March 1.

The building is between the J. C. Penney Co. and Prior Electric, and at one time housed the DeCreamer Meat Market. The Trading Post occupied the building until it was purchased by Dr. Kaisler and the present remodeling job started.

The remodeling contractor is Harold Langseth.

Until the move next week-end, Anderson's Jewelers had been at the same location at 311 Main av. N. for 15 years, Anderson said.

Psychiatrist to Talk on Mental Ills Feb. 18 at Joint PTA Session

Roy L. Anderson, psychiatric social worker at the Mental Hygiene Clinic in Fergus Falls, will discuss the topic, "What Is Mental Health?", at a joint meeting of the four Thief River Falls PTA units next Monday evening, February 18, in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Mr. Anderson is a board member of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers and chairman of its mental hygiene committee. Stressing the importance of mental health in the schools, it has been pointed out that from 5 to 7 per cent of school pupils need psychiatric treatment, as well as 10 per cent of the general population.

The clinic in Fergus Falls with which he is affiliated is the first state-supported one of its kind in Minnesota, and it has served Northwestern Minnesota for the past 7½ years. He has been with the clinic since its inception, and during that period has been active in PTA work.

Also on the program at Monday night's meeting will be a group of selections by the Lincoln high school chorus.

Explorer Scouts Guests of Rotary

Present Program at Club Meeting Monday

Members of Explorer Post 60 of the Boy Scouts demonstrated various skills at the Rotary club luncheon Monday noon in the Elks club rooms, the occasion being the observance of Boy Scout Week.

Gerald Jorgenson also gave an entertaining report on last year's canoe trip in the Lake of the Woods area.

'U' Professor Speaks on Higher Education at 'U' Alumni Dinner

Sixty persons attended the annual banquet of the Thief River Falls unit of the University of Minnesota Alumni association Wednesday evening in the American Legion Club rooms, and heard an enlightening address by Dr. Robert J. Keller, professor of education at the University.

Dennis Rolle, president of the local group, had charge of the program, and called on Rev. Walter M. Pedersen for the invocation, after which Bryant Ulvin led in group singing, accompanied on the piano by Dr. Joseph Norquist.

In his address, Dr. Keller gave a detailed outline of the report of the Governor's committee on higher education, which he had served as director. He said that principal recommendations of the committee included equalizing educational opportunities, spending the money wisely, making full use of existing facilities, and maintaining the present high standards of the 'U' of M.

Among current needs, said Dr Keller, are more guidance counseling, more scholarships, state support of junior colleges and an increased number of such institutions in areas remote from college facilities.

In response to a question from the audience, he commented on the campaign under way in Crookston to have the Northwest School of Agriculture expanded to provide two years of college work. He said he couldn't see how the University could well operate a community college of that type, and added that the proposal will require careful study by the board of regents.

The principal functions of a junior college, said Dr. Keller, are to provide preparatory courses, vocational training, guidance in selecting a career and adult education.

Baritone to Give Concert Feb. 21st

Concert Association to Sponsor Ralph Magelssen

Ralph Magelssen, baritone, who has filled numerous roles in grand opera and light opera, as well as having appeared in concerts thruout the world, will appear in a concert next Thursday evening, February [illegible] high school auditorium, under the sponsorship of the Northwest Concert association.

Born in Minneapolis, he won a scholarship offered by the Juilliard School of Music in New York, following which he was graduated from the University of Minnesota, and continued his musical studies in Germany and Italy.

Scheduled to appear here Sunday evening, March 10, is the famed Don Cossack chorus and dancers, and the last concert of the winter series sponsored by the association will feature Jeannette Hansen and Lincoln Debell, duo pianists.

Freedom Crusade Opens Here Friday

"Crusade for Freedom" days February 15 thru 18 will be observed in Thief River Falls by receiving contributions at the two local banks and postoffice Friday, Saturday and Monday, it was announced today.

Funds collected in the Crusade for Freedom support Radio Free Europe, which in turn broadcasts news and other programs to 70,000,000 persons in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, where people are subjected to Communist versions of the news. Broadcasts are made over 29 powerful transmitters in Germany and Portugal.

The American Legion auxiliary is in charge of collections in this city, assisted by the Eagles auxiliary and the BPO Does. E. O. Peterson is local treasurer.

Freeman Asks State Jobless Pay Increase

Employers' Group Blasts Proposal to Pay up to $40 Week

Higher unemployment compensation benefits and increased maximum payments for injured workers were urged Monday by Gov. Freeman in a special message to the Minn. Legislature.

Freeman asked the lawmakers to give serious consideration to upping the maximum weekly unemployment compensation benefits from the present figure of $33 to $40.

The chief executive also recommended that the workman's compensation act be amended to make the maximum payment $50 a week, after declaring that the present "ceiling" of $40 a week is "far short" of the standard intended when the law was enacted.

Shortly afterward, Otto F. Christenson, executive vice president of the Minnesota Employers Assn., said Freeman's suggestion to hike unemployment compensation payments from the present maximum of $33 to $40 is "shocking."

Christenson said the governor's message on the quality of Minnesota working people, the industrial peace that now exists, and on safety, and in urging supervision of welfare funds of labor unions were "good."

However, Christenson said, that "to pay $40 a week of nontaxable income to an unemployed worker is equal to $55 a week for working."

"Put another way," Christenson added, "a worker would have to get $75 a week to make it worth $20 extra for him to go to work."

The Senate approved two resolutions Monday. One asks President Eisenhower to name Chief Judge Roger Dell of the Minnesota Supreme Court to the United States Supreme Court. The House already has passed such a resolution by a unanimous vote.

The other resolution asks Congress to designate the corntassel as the national flower.

The bill setting [illegible] pay policy for 13,200 state employes in the classified civil service had its first public hearing Tuesday.

The proposal was heard by the Senate civil administration committee. It provides for an average pay increase of 8 per cent, designed to bring state pay scales into line with comparable private employment, calls for some reassignments to higher pay classification, and raises top pay from $10,956 a year to $14,424.

Arthur Naftalin, state commissioner of administration, told the committee the proposal would cost $8,900,000 during the next two years.

Tax Authority to Speak to C. C. at Meeting Feb. 22d

Departing from its usual schedule of Thursday meetings, the Chamber of Commerce will hold its next meeting Friday evening, February 22, at 6:30 in the Elks club rooms, Don L. Olson, president, stated today. Guest speaker at the dinner meeting will be E. J. Whyatt, member of Governor Freeman's tax advisory committee which recently submitted recommendations for changes in the state's tax structure. Mr. Whyatt is an executive associated with Gould National Batteries in St. Paul.

Heart Fund Plans No Direct Canvass in Pennington Co.

However, Memorials and Gifts Are Requested to Aid in Reaching Quota

While only a little more than half the quota of the Heart Fund appeal in Pennington county is received from the Community Chest, no personal sollicitation of funds will be made locally, Gordon Hanson, county director of the Heart Fund appeal, stated today.

The organization, however, he said, is asking for contributions and memorials to aid in reaching the objective of $1,351 that has been set for Pennington county. Heart Fund coin receptacles have been placed in numerous business places.

As has been the case the past several years, an auction of articles donated by local merchants will be conducted at the Joppru sales barn Monday afternoon, February 25. A benefit basketball game also is being arranged between the Jaycees and the Lincoln high school faculty.

Hanson stated that the latest memorial gift was $10 in memory of the late Gust Hallberg.

Examination for Postoffice Clerk

Opportunities to apply for employment in the Thief River Falls post office were announced in a bulletin issued this week. Examinations are for substitute clerk carrier positions, which have a starting pay rate of $1.82 an hour.

Applicants must pass a written test and reside in the delivery area or be a bona fide patron of the local postoffice. Age limits are given in the examination announcement; however, there is no age limit for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Interested persons may obtain further information and blanks from the postoffice.

Elementary School Discussion Session Slated Next Tuesday

A general meeting of all persons interested in elementary education will be held on February 19, at 7:30 P. M. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The general recommendations of the seven elementary discussion groups will be discussed, said Kermit Eastman, director of elementary education.

A time limit will be placed on the discussion of each question. The following topics are slated for discussion:

1. Report cards—type of marking system—conferences.
2. Failures — retaining pupils who lack background or are too immature for promotion to higher grade level.
3. Entrance Age — discussion of the proposal to change the entrance age requirement to five years of age on or before September 1 for kindergarten, and to 6 years of age or before September 1 for grade one.
4. Physical education — ways to improve the elementary physical education program.
5. Transportation — special problems.
6. Donations — discussion of soliciting money for various charitable organizations.
7. Homework — problems involved in homework in elementary schools.
8. Grouping — division into classes on the basis of ability or by alphabet.
9. Discipline — the division of responsibility.
10. Remedial reading — advantages of helping pupils with reading difficulties through specially trained personnel.

Other topics will be discussed if time permits.

The response and participation in the elementary discussion groups has been very gratifying, said Eastman. Meetings have been generally well attended and sparked with discussion. A large turn-out of residents of School District 18 for this combined elementary meeting is urged.

Veterinarian

DR. KENNETH W. RYE has chosen Thief River Falls as the place to practice his profession as a veterinarian. He has established his office in his home at 215 South Kneale Ave.

Dr. Rye came originally from Minneota, Minnesota, and more recently from Nebraska where he has practiced following his graduation from the veterinary school of the University of Minnesota. He plans to establish a general practice including both farm livestock and pets.

Mrs. Andy Williamson Resigns as Chairman PTA Health Roundup

The Thief River Falls PTA council, at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Rex Cafe, accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Andy Williamson as chairman of the pre-school health roundup, which she has directed since its inception 20 years ago.

The council commended her for her outstanding service, and Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, said that Mrs. Williamson's invaluable assistance would be greatly missed.

Ormond Johnson, council chairman, announced that Mrs. Merle Lindberg had been appointed to direct the roundup this spring.

Arrangements also were made at the meeting for the joint meeting of local PTA units to be held next Monday evening, February 18, in Lincoln high school auditorium.

Mrs. Race reported on the unsatisfactory results of the immunization program conducted this winter in the local schools, and the council voted to invite a local physician to the next meeting of the group to explain further this vital health program.

Legion Post Plans for Basket Social

The local American Legion post will hold a Valentine basket social in the club rooms Saturday evening, February 16. The ladies are asked to bring a basket with lunch for two, and these will be auctioned off at 11 p.m., with the proceeds to go to the American Legion Hospital association.

Lincoln Debaters in State Tourney

Six Students to Share in St. Paul Event Saturday

Accompanied by their coach, Norman Arvesen, six Lincoln high school debaters will leave Friday for St. Paul to take part in the state high school debate tournament at Macalester College. A total of 17 schools will compete.

Representing Lincoln high school will be Judy Sater and Robert Netteland, taking the affirmative side; Julie Ose and James Kvikstad, negative; and Leola Dyrud and Robert Hallemack, alternates.

Four local first-year debate students took part last Saturday in a beginners' tourney at Elbow Lake, Thief River Falls placing first, Willmar second and Elbow Lake third. Lincoln students participating were Carol Ewing and Nancy Glass, affirmative; and Janice Anderson and Rosie Thorkelson, negative.

Faculty Gets Salary Boost for Next Year

Increases Average $379 Per Year Each for Local Personnel

At the February meeting of the board of education of School District 18 Monday evening, 95 teachers and members of the administrative staff were given salary increases averaging $379 per year each for the coming school year, involving an additional outlay by the district of $36,000 a year, Supt. J. A. Sater announced.

The salary schedule was altered as follows

For teachers with two years of college training the previous schedule called for a beginning salary of $2,800 with eight steps of $125 each to a maximum of $3800. The new schedule calls for a beginning salary of $3,000 with eight steps of $125 each to a maximum of $4,000.

For teachers with three years of training the previous schedule called for a beginning salary of $3,000 with eight steps of $150 each to a maximum of $4200. The new scale calls for a beginning salary of $3200 with ten steps of $125 each to a maximum of $4450.

For teachers with four years of college training the previous schedule called for a begining salary of $3,300 with eight steps of $175 and three steps of $100 to a maximum of $5,000. The new schedule calls for a beginning salary of $3,600 with twelve steps of $150 to a maximum of $5,400.

For teachers with five years of training the previous schedule called for a beginning salary of $3,500 with eight steps of $175 and three steps of $100 to a maximum of $5,200. The new scale calls for a beginning salary of $3,800 with twelve steps of $150 to a maximum of $5,600.

The sick leave on the previous schedule was ten days per year accumulative to 50 days. The new plan calls for ten days per year accumulative to 70 days.

No action was taken Monday on janitors and bus drivers' pay schedules, these matters being scheduled for action at the board's April meeting.

School administrators' salaries were set for the coming school year as follows: Superintendent, $10,900, up $400; high school director, $8,000, up $500; elementary school director, $6,800, up $800; senior high school principal, $6,800, up $550; junior high principal, $6,000, up $400; guidance director, $6,000, up $300.

Other action by the board included the appointment of Stanley Nelson, adult agriculture instructor in the area vocational school, to the post of director of the school, succeeding C. W. Pope, who will continue as carpentry instructor. It was pointed out that the position calls for a man who possesses a master's degree.

Billy Noonan, 76, of Baudette Is Dead

Widely Known Editor Succumbs Wednesday

Billy Noonan, one of the nation's best known weekly newspaper editors, died Wednesday in the Baudette hospital where he had been confined more than a year following a stroke. He would have been 76 Tuesday.

Known for his peppery editorial quips, Noonan was frequently quoted in many newspapers and magazines. His newspaper, The Baudette Region, also had a wide mailing list for his column, "A Little of Everything."

Noonan, a bachelor, born at Perth, Ont., came to Baudette in 1906 and bought the Region in 1908. He suffered a stroke in October 1955 and had been confined to Community Hospital in Baudette since. He recovered sufficiently to resume writing his column.

About a month ago he began to fail rapidly, thus ending his era in country newspapering. His last column appeared in the Region Jan. 2.

The Minnesota Editorial Assn. honored Noonan in 1954 for 50 years of newspapering.

Surviving are a brother, George J. Noonan of Perth, Ont., and a sister, Mrs. Helen Mulchey, Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be in Baudette at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Eagle Scout Award Winners Honored at Churches Last Sunday

One of the largest groups of boys (above) ever to win Eagle Scout awards from a local church-sponsored troop was honored at Zion Lutheran church Sunday when seven scouts from Troop 59 took part in Scout Week observances there, prior to their being given their Eagle Scout badges at Wednesday's Court of Honor. Two Trinity Lutheran scouts from Troop 60 won Pro Deo et Patria awards in services at the church.

N.W. Hospital Has 26 Children with Respiratory Ills

Near Record Number Is Reported Monday by H. W. Peterson, Admr.

H. W. Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital, stated today that on Monday there were 26 children in the institution who seemed to be suffering from severe upper respiratory conditions.

It was necessary for the hospital to purchase eight additional cribs since the regular pediatric section had only sixteen on hand. The hospitals supply of croupettes and oxygen tents are in constant use.

Total patients other than newborn have aggregated 87 on two different occasions recently. The average number of patients per day since the 1st of February has been 80. Mr. Peterson said that the community could consider itself extremely fortunate to have a hospital of sufficient size to care for the large number of patients who must often be admitted at this season of the year.

It is important that a hospital be of sufficient size to maintain patient care without placing patients in halls as they are in many hospitals. Overloading of a hospital creates many problems which make proper patient care very difficult, he said.

Mercury Reaches High Mark of 34 Monday, Tuesday

Warm temperatures prevailed over northern Minnesota this week with a high of 34 registered Monday and Tuesday followed closely with a 33. Lows ranged from 15 above to about 10 below zero, the latter reading registered Thursday morning.

The period since Monday was fairly windy, causing drifts to pile up in some places. There was a trace of precipitation on Monday.

The forecast is for increasing cloudiness and little temperature change today, with strong southerly winds, 20 to 35 m.p.h. today. Tonight it will be cloudy and warmer with occasional light snow. Colder Friday with cloudy weather and occasional light snow.

Today's high will be about 25, the low tomorrow about 15 above.

Grygla Pioneer Saws Wood at 95

Elias Braseth, who observed his 95th birthday February 2, still engages in sawing wood at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Selma Emmons of Grygla with whom he makes his home. Spry for his age, he performs this task almost every day as weather and his health permit.

Born in Trondheim, Norway, Mr. Braseth came to United States 75 years ago and settled near Hawley. There he married Dena Langand and in 1902 homesteaded five miles northwest of Grygla.

His son Edwin now farms on the family homestead and another son Alvin lives in the Grygla area. A son Elmer lives in Fargo. His wife passed away in 1940.

Preparing to Pour Concrete Piers on New 8th st. Bridge

Piers to Be Poured after Necessary Cofferdams Have Been Constructed

Work is going ahead on construction of the new Eighth st. bridge, despite cold weather and a frozen river, according to Clifford Larson, highway department bridge inspector.

In fact, Larson said, Swingen Construction Co., contractors on the bridge job, are in a hurry to pour two concrete piers for the new bridge before the ice goes out of the Thief river this spring.

The reason for this is that the frozen river makes a good work platform for the power equipment used in driving pilings, etc., in building coffer dams preparatory to pouring the piers, according to Larson.

Swingen crews are presently driving the metal sheets of the coffer dam, using a piledriver powered by a dragline winch. The dragline itself is on a platform on the frozen river. The pier concrete will be poured as soon as the coffer dams for the two piers are completed.

Even though the weather is cold, Larson said, this will not interfere as the aggregate will be heated, as will the coffer dams, and shelter will be constructed over the forms for heating purposes.

Scheduled for next summer's activity by the Swingen Co. is the building of abutments and grading operations while the firm waits for the steel necessary to complete the bridge.

Completion is set for the summer of 1958.

Local Banks to Help Young Farmers Go to St. Paul Farm School

Young farmers in Pennington county are eligible to apply for a two-year scholarship to attend the "U" of M. School of agriculture in St. Paul thru a scholarship fund under the auspices of the Minnesota Bankers association agricultural scholarship program and Thief River Falls banks.

Any young farmer interested in the post-high school two year non-degree program of agricultural education can visit his local banker, county agent or vocational agriculture instructor and receive information as well as an application blank.

The scholarship provides for $200 per year or a total of $400 for the two year period. The school year, which begins in October and ends in late March, consists of two terms of eleven weeks each.

In order to be eligible for the scholarship, the following prerequisites are required:

1. He definitely plans to make farming his vocation.
2. He seriously intends to apply himself to the fullest extent, both in gaining and using the training provided.
3. He is at least 17 years of age, and a high school graduate in good health.
4. He must be living or have lived on farms, and must be interested in rural life.
5. He does not plan on a four year college course for a degree.
6. He has financial need for the scholarship, but other factors will be given strong consideration, such as skill, past accomplishments, leadership ability, etc.
7. He has a strong back-ground in 4-H work, rural youth, Future Farmers of America, farm organizations and community betterment programs through the home, school and church.
8. He has a desire to be a good farmer, a better citizen and a true American.

157 scholarships have been awarded from counties in Minnesota since the program's beginning in 1951. At the present time, 43 students are attending the School of Agriculture under this MBA plan.

Pennington county is participating in the program for the first time and will select their first scholarship winner who will begin attending the school of agriculture this fall.

Anyone interested in receiving an application or further information may contact Paul J. Stelmaschuk, county agent, Thief River Falls, or any of the following high school Vo-Ag instructors: Larry Foley, Goodridge; Jon Metusalem, Thief River Falls; or Stanley Nelson, Thief River Falls.

The program is financed and sponsored by the Northern State bank and Union State bank, both of Thief River Falls.

These banks can also provide information and applications.

Funeral Services Held Wednesday For Richard Hall

Richard Hall passed away at Northwestern Hospital Sunday morning at the age of 72 years. Rites were held Wednesday afternoon, February 13 in Green Funeral Chapel. The Rev. Walter M. Pederson officiated and burial was made in Bethlehem Lutheran cemetery, New Solum township.

Mr. Hall was born May 25, 1884, in Dunganan, Ireland, where he grew to manhood. At the age of 21 years he came to this country and settled in Philadelphia, Pa., where he lived with his sister for a number of years. He then moved to Nevada, Iowa, where he operated a blacksmith shop with his brother.

On June 2, 1911 he was united in marriage to Nellie Stafford in Nevada, Ia. They lived near Albert Lea, Minn., for four years, after which they came to Marshall county. He farmed in New Solum township until 1940 when he moved to this city where he had since resided.

Survivors include one daughter, (Elizabeth) Mrs. John Thompson of Newfolden; two brothers, William Hall of Nevada, Ia. and Andrew Hall of Ireland; several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his wife, one son, two brothers and three sisters.

Rites Conducted Tuesday For Mrs. Leila Hansen

Funeral services for Mrs. Leila Hansen, who passed away in the Warren Hospital Tuesday, February 5, were conducted from the Zion Lutheran church in Viking Friday afternoon, February 8. The Rev. T. J. Weltzin officiated, and burial was made in the Viking cemetery.

Mrs. Hansen was born July 5, 1871, in Ashby, Minn., where she attended grade school. She graduated from the Teacher's College in Jamestown, N. D., after which she came to West Valley, Minn., where she taught school for several years. She was united in marriage to Oscar H. Hansen.

Surviving are three sons, Frank of Viking, Roy of Minneapolis and William of Strandquist. She was preceded in death by her husband and four children.

Rites Friday for E. A. Yonke, Pioneer

Native of Sanders Twp. Dies Monday at Age of 71

Ernest August Yonke, life-long resident of Sanders township, passed away February 11. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon in Trinity Lutheran church with Pastor Otto Dale officiating. Burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Yonke was born February 14, 1886, in Sanders township where he grew to manhood. June 30, 1909, he was united in marriage to Gertie Thorstad in this city.

He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith, and served as a trustee in Trinity church for several years. He also was town board supervisor for many years, and for a long time served on the school board for District 191, and on the board of the Farmers Mutual Telephone Co.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Earl at home and Everett of rural Thief River Falls; two daughters, Mrs. Alvin (Edith) Nelson of rural Thief River Falls and Mrs. Arthur (Marina) Peterson of this city; eight grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Dahl of Honolulu, Hawaii, Mrs. Emil (Agnes) Krause; and two brothers, William of this city, and Ed of Unionville, Mich. He was preceded in death by four sisters and one brother.

Final Rites For Anton Peterson Set For Friday

Anton Theodore Peterson of this city died early Monday morning at the age of 79 years. Rites will be held Friday, February 15, in the Assemblies of God Tabernacle at 2 p. m. Rev. Robert Abbott will officiate and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Peterson was born October 13, 1877, in Sweden. At the age of seven years he came to this country and settled in New York for a year before coming to St. Paul. When he was 18 years he came to Holt, where he started farming.

On May 19, 1907, he was united in marriage to Emma Erickson of Holt. He farmed in Smiley township, Pennington county until he retired in 1954. He has since made his home in this city.

Survivors include his wife, Emma; three sons, Arvid of Lansing, Mich., William of Portland, Ore. and Lloyd of Los Angeles, Calif.; six daughters, Myrtle at home, (Alice) Mrs. Earl Bragg of Portland, Ore., (Evelyn) Mrs. Irvin Strandquist of Newfolden, (Ruby) Mrs. Robert Crimp of San Francisco, Calif., (Eunice) Mrs. Robert Beals of Healdsburg, Calif., (Dorothy) Mrs. John Grill of Minneapolis; 12 grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by two brothers and two sisters.

The body will be reposing at the Green Funeral Home from this evening until Friday noon and at the church from one until two o'clock.

TRF Jaycees Are Represented at Bemidji Banquet

Windom Man Selected as Winner of State Medal for Distinguished Service

The state Distinguished Service award meeting and banquet of the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce was held last weekend at Bemidji, with several Jaycees of Thief River Falls in attendance.

Several hundred members and their wives from all over the state were present at the banquet to witness the award of the state distinguished service medal to Roger L. Benson, editor of the Windom, Minn., Reporter. Governor Freeman was the main speaker, and also on the program was Ira Cobb, International Jaycee president.

The highlight of the entertainment side of the meeting was a skiing party at the Buena Vista Ski Chalet located north of Bemidji.

On the business agenda was an important change in the present Jaycee regions of the state. Thief River Falls is affected in this redistricting in that three chapters, Ada, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead will now be included with the present region of Thief River Falls, Bemidji, and Crookston. Ormond Johnson, state director from Thief River Falls, stated that this change will be of great benefit to this northern region where state Jaycee business is concerned.

Presiding over the meeting was Roland Wilsey, State President. Local members in attendance were Stan Gibson, member of the board of directors; John McGinley, treasurer; Orin Green, president; and Ormond Johnson.

Soils Meeting to Be Held Tuesday

New Varieties of Seeds Also Will Be Allocated

The allocation of new seed varieties to growers in Pennington county will follow the soils meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 19. The meeting will commence at 2:00 p. m. at the court house. C. J. Overdahl, extension soil specialist will conduct the soils meeting. High lime soils, fall fertilization, bulk fertilization, and solubility of fertilizers will be given special attention.

Soil variations will be discussed by Don Lawrence, of the SCS.

Seed growers wishing to be alloted new seed are asked to have their applications at the extension office prior to the soils meeting. The allocations committee will meet after the meeting to consider the applications. Five new varieties will be available for trial to seed growers in 1947. They are Conley wheat, Minhafer oats, CE 1948 Flax, and Parkland and Forrest Barleys.

All farmers and fertilizer dealers are invited to attend the soils meeting, adds Stelmaschuk.

Quiet Week Noted in Traffic Court to Date This Week

A very quiet week, to date, was reported by all law enforcement agencies in the city and only two persons were brought before Judge H. O. Chommie in municipal court Monday, which is far below the average week's business there.

Lyle M. Johnson, rt. 1, was fined $80 plus $5.50 costs after he pleaded guilty to speeding 80 m. p. h. at night. Judge Chommie also recommended that his license be suspended for a 60-day period. Johnson was arrested by Sheriff Charles Richards.

The only highway patrol case involved Earl F. Wood, Oklee, who was charged with driving a single-axle truck loaded 6800 pounds over legal weight on a highway. He pleaded guilty and was fined $95 plus $4 costs, of which $45 was suspended.

Not one person was brought before Chommie by the city police.

FFA Members on KTRF Next Sunday

As a feature of the current observance of Future Farmers of America Week, a special program will be broadcast by members of the local chapter over Station KTRF Sunday, February 17, at 12:30 p.m. Taking part will be Roger Anderson, Duane Bjerk and Gary Rolandson, chapter officers, and Jon Metusalem, advisor.

Good Hope Local Sets Party Feb. 16

The Farmers Union Good Hope local is sponsoring a party and dance at Smiley Hall on Saturday night, Feb. 16 to raise money for the budget fund. Music will be furnished by the Valley Vagabonds. Lunch will be served. Members of other locals are cordially invited to attend, said Mrs. Norman Johnson, secretary.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

"Isn't it terrible," Sez the wifey Tuesday, as we were having our lunch, "How some people are so thoughtless of others' comfort and safety?"

"Uh-huh," yours truly mumbled at the plate, as we wondered what this would lead to. She used that certain tone of voice that meant no matter what yours truly said, it would be wrong.

"Evidently you didn't read what that Times columnist wrote not so long ago about folks keeping their sidewalks shovelled so the postman wouldn't have so much trouble getting the mail delivered." She continued.

"What columnist . . . . Oh—you mean— . . ." So that was it!

"That poor mailman had an awful time today," continued the low, even voice. By this time the soup was getting rather thin with tears.

"A different man brought the mail today, too. He was a little short chubby fellow, in place of the tall one, and it was hard work for him to plow through where the snow had drifted over our walk."

* * *

Well—that's one way of getting something done around the place. You can guess who cleaned off the walks at our place BEFORE SUPPER that day!

* * *

Did you read Cedric Adams' column in the Trib Sunday? Seems folks down that way don't always go for the style used by certain weather reporters. Seems, also, they think the newsmen use terms that are too colorful in describing run-of-the-mill weather; for instance, describing a temperature drop from 28 to 20 above as a "plunge." (That's overdoing it, we'll admit.) The man who was doing the bitter complaining that Cedric wrote about in his Sunday column went on to say that folks up in these parts expect cold weather in winter. In fact some folks love the chill temperatures and look forward to 'em.

What would have happened if all the early settlers had thought this country was too cold-to-live-in? the man went on. "And think of all the fuel dealers who derive a living from the cold weather."

"You'd think we were a bunch of namby-pambies," the man concluded, in general terms.

Then, in a postscript, he added, "You needn't answer this in your column since I'm going away before this week-end to soak up some sunshine down in Phoenix, Arizona."

If the weather reporters didn't convince this character the weather was so bad, just who did?

* * *

Before we leave the weather topic, just what is the nice weather we've been having leading up to? Not another March and April like the ones we had last spring, we hope! Anyway, we feel sorry for the people who had to spend all that dough to travel south for their sunshine.

* * *

Historians tell us Lincoln wrote his Gettysburg address on a scrap of paper in just a very few minutes and addressed the crowd there in a like period of time. We'd be willing to bet that our present-day politicians could not say as much in so little time if they employed a dozen speech writers.

* * *

We'll take that back. "Engine Charlie" Wilson, our defense secretary could. Never before in the nation's history have so many been so mad at a single man for making such a short, off-the-cuff, statement as he did recently about the National guard.

We emphatically disagree with Charlie but do think it's a heck of a note people are so willing to condemn a man for calling a spade a spade, if he thinks its a spade. SO LONG!

Soil Conservation Hearing Slated at Newfolden Friday

Marshall County Farmers Asked to Reveal Wishes on Enlarging District

A letter has been sent out from the Marshall county extension office notifying all land owners and tenants of land in the county not now in a district of the forthcoming hearing regarding the organization of a soil conservation district. These hearings are held for the express purpose of giving the public a chance to air their opinions as to whether or not such a district is needed.

According to Fred Heck, Marshall county soil conservation agent, many farmers have the mistaken idea that because they signed a petition they have done all that is necessary to form a district. This is not true. By signing a petition, the signer merely indicated that he wished that action on a district be taken. This means that he in effect, has requested that a hearing on the matter be held.

Such hearings are now scheduled, but if the farmers wishing to form such a district do not come to the hearings and testify for such a district, the matter will be dropped and no district will be formed.

Two hearings have been scheduled. The first is at Argyle in the city hall at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, February 14. The second will be at the Newfolden High School on Friday, February 15 at 2:00 p.m.

Teachers Join in Workshop Feb. 20

Pennington county elementary teachers will participate in a reading workshop at the court house next Wednesday afternoon, February 20, it was announced today by Mrs. Martha Matheson, county superintendent of schools. Miss Adelle Totting, reading consultant with the American Book company, will discuss the value and use of phonics in a good reading program, together with the use of supplementary reading in the various grades.

TRF Air Reservists Receive Designation

M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson, 9749th Air Reserve liaison non-commissioned officer, announced yesterday the designation of Thief River Falls' air reservists as Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve squadron, 9158th Air Reserve group, according to General Order No. 1, 2655th Air Reserve center, Minneapolis, effective February 8.

This means that all meetings held by local air reservists in the future are official and that organization of the local unit is complete. Preliminary organization work started here last November with the first meeting being held here Nov. 18 in the city auditorium, according to 1st Lt. V. M. Draper, who was named flight commander at the same time the Thief River Falls unit was given official designation.

Draper said the next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Veterans room in the city hall. A good turnout is expected for the meeting. Organization of the new unit has been met with considerable enthusiasm on the part of area reservists.

Several guests from other flights in the 9749th squadron have been invited to attend the first meeting of Flight E. The squadron is headquartered at Fargo, with flights in Fargo, Grand Forks, and Devils Lake in North Dakota and Fergus Falls and Thief River Falls in Minnesota. At least four members of the local unit belonged to the Grand Forks' Flight A prior to organization of the local unit.

Present strength of Flight E is 16 officers and men, which is expected to increase to 20 in the near future.

Sgt. Hanson will attend the Tuesday meeting and Draper said an invitation has been extended to the 2655th Air Reserve center to have a representative at the meeting to address local reservists.

State Holds Lead in Traffic Safety

Ranks Above Neighboring States During Past Year

Dispite a rising traffic fatality toll during the last months of 1956, Minnesota continued to lead its neighbor states in safety on the highways.

Reports compiled by the National Safety council were released today by the Minnesota Highway department to show that this state had a rate of 4.9 traffic fatalities for each 100 million vehicle miles driven during the first ten months of 1956. Vehicle deaths rose slightly to 20 fatalities per 100,000 population.

Minnesota was the only Upper Mississippi valley state to have a mileage rate below five and a population rate below 25. Other state records were:

North Dakota—9.2 deaths per 100 million miles. 26.3 deaths per 100 thousand population.

Wisconsin—7.1 deaths per 100 million miles. 25.7 deaths per 100 thousand population.

South Dakota—6.3 deaths per 100 million miles. 28.7 deaths per 100 thousand population.

Iowa—5.7 deaths per 100 million miles. 26.1 deaths per 100 thousand population.

Minnesota ended 1956 with 637 traffic fatalities compared to 575 in 1955 and 639 in 1954. Traffic deaths in 1956 for the other valley state were: North Dakota 169, Wisconsin 953, South Dakota 196 and Iowa 696.

Crusade for Freedom Proclamation

WHEREAS the cold war is as pressing here, in the Midwest, on the people of Minnesota and Thief River Falls, and

WHEREAS we feel as deep a tie with our fellow-men behind the Iron Curtain in the satellite countries, as the longing they feel for our form of government, and

WHEREAS, we recognize a need to convey to these people our fondest hope for their safety and deliverance,

Now, Therefore, do I, Dr. Orion D. Beich, mayor of the city of Thief River Falls hereby proclaim Feb. 15 thru 18 as "Crusade for Freedom" days — and urge all of our citizens to contribute to the Crusade for Freedom which, through its powerful Radio Free Europe, carries messages of hope and freedom to our friends behind the Iron Curtain.

Poll Finds 79 Pct. Like President's Handling of Job

Nearly 8 Minnesotans in 10 (79 per cent) approve of the way President Eisenhower is handling his duties, a survey by the Minneapolis Tribune's Minnesota Poll reveals.

Thirteen per cent say they disapprove, and 8 per cent are undecided or have qualified opinions.

In rating John Foster Dulles as Secretary of State, 50 per cent of the sample approve, 20 per cent disapprove and 30 per cent have no opinion.

Measurements of the President's popularity have been made over a period of four years by the Minnesota Poll, with approval figures ranging from 65 per cent to 84 per cent.

Mr. Eisenhower's strongest backers in the latest survey include Republicans (96 per cent approval), college-trained persons (88 per cent), and residents of small cities (86 per cent).

Least favorable to the President are Minnesotans who voted for Adlai Stevenson in the 1956 election, but even 56 per cent of those people approve of his official performance.

Airplane's Role in Agriculture to Be Winter Show Topic

Panel Discussion of Aerial Spray Problems Scheduled February 28

The Red River Valley Winter Shows Crookston, February 25-March 1, will score another "first" when it introuces an afternoon program on Thursday, February 28, with a general theme of "The Airplane in Agriculture."

Principal speaker for the program will be Dr. B. Austin Haws, entomologist, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, who has worked on Red River Valley insect problems for several years and last year experimented with granular insecticides spread by airplane.

A panel consisting of farmers, West Polk County Agent Carl Ash, and Charles Schmidt, past president of the Minnesota Flying Farmers, will discuss aerial spraying problem, experience with new sprays, and the custom applicator's place in the farm picture. The program will be topped off by Ralph Lindsay, Jr., air coordinator at the College Station, Brookings, South Dakota, who will talk on training of agricultural pilots. The College Station at Brookings has cooperated with Civil Aeronautics authorities to provide an intensive course in all phases of the problem.

The flying farmers and other flying guests will hold a banquet on Thursday evening at the Hotel Crookston.

Newfolden 4-H Youth Is Awarded Minneapolis Trip

Five Minnesota 4-H club members, including one from Newfolden, have been awarded all-expense trips to tour Twin Cities grain markets and plants Feb. 11-14.

The boys were selected on the basis of leadership and outstanding records in grain and other agricultural projects. Atwood-Larson company, commission grain firm, Minneapolis, is sponsoring the trip.

The winners are Russel Syltie, 17, Porter; Lawrence Bjorsness, 20, Newfolden; Jack Kitchell, 17, Ada; Lowell Wagner, 17, Sabin; Donald Holte, 19, Perley. Oswald Daellenbach, Clay county agricultural agent, will accompany the group.

According to Leonard Harkness, state 4-H leader at the University of Minnesota, they will learn how grain is graded, sold and processed into food and how grain production and marketing fit into Minnesota agriculture.

Grade Schools Set Hockey Playoffs

Tourney Opens Saturday Morning in the Arena

The city grade school hockey league completed its season's schedule on Saturday morning and, as has been the custom for the past several years, the St. Bernard's Broncos finished in first place. The runner-up honors were won by Knox school, with Northrop in third place, and Washington in fourth.

The grade school tournament playoffs will be held this week, with the first round games being slated for Saturday morning at the Arena. At 10:00 a.m., Knox school will meet Northrop; while at 11:00 a.m. the St. Bernard's team will meet the Washington team.

According to present plans, the championship finals, between the winners of the Saturday morning tilts, will be played as a preliminary to the senior hockey Thieves vs. Elmwood Mercurys game on Sunday afternoon. The grade school championship game will be played at 1:30 p. m. on Sunday afternoon.

Thieves Play Here Sunday Afternoon

To Face off vs. Elmwood Mercurys of Winnipeg

The Elmwood Mercurys of Winnipeg, Canada, completing a two-game invasion of northern Minnesota, will play the senior hockey Thieves in an exhibition game on the Arena rink on Sunday afternoon. Face-off time is slated for 2:30 p.m.

The Mercurys will be making their second appearance of the year, having defeated the Thieves in a well-played and entertaining game played here a couple of weeks ago.

The Thieves have been playing an excellent brand of hockey during the recent weeks, and are deserving of larger crowds than have been in attendance at the games. The Thieves roster will probably have Rod Collins at goal; Paul Bedard, Mouse Efteland, Dick Lane, and Mike McMahon at defense; and Sid Vraa, Chip Strand, Glen Carlson, Al Steenerson, Chickie Oveson, Del Ray Offerdahl, Gordy Bjerken and Darrel Durgin at forwards.

Football Tickets to Be Higher at 'U'

The University of Minnesota Monday announced across-the-board increases in ticket prices for home football games. Increases approved by the university's senate committee on intercollegiate athletics raise the 1957 single game ticket price from $3.60 to $4. The five-game home season ticket book will be $20.

State Police Assn. Sponsors Contest

Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency Essay Topic

Lt. William Joyce of the Minneapolis Police Department and President of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers' Association announced today that the state-wide Association will again sponsor an essay contest among high-school students in Minnesota on the subject, "The Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency".

President Joyce explained that the contest has been part of the Association's juvenile program for many years. The Association is made up of police, sheriffs, state patrolmen and peace officers from all branches of law enforcement in the state. Interest and participation in the contest has grown steadily with approximately 6,000 students competing last year. The contest is intended to stimulate the thinking of teenagers at the high school level on the subject of juvenile delinquency and, through writing and research on the subject, allow them to become better acquainted with the conditions and circumstances that usually lead to delinquency.

"It is very gratifying to know," stated Lt. Joyce, "that the juvenile crime statistics in Minnesota show a rate considerably below those prevailing nationally."

650.00 in cash prizes will be awarded to the writers of the best essays. The first place winner will receive $300.00.

A complete outline of the rules of the contest has been mailed to all high-school English departments in the state. The subject "The Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency" should be treated in not more than 1500 words and submitted for judging not later than April 20, 1957.

For further information on the contest, students are requested to contact the Executive Secretary, Minnesota Police and Peace Officers Association, 1521 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis 3, Minnesota.

Sanders . . .

Mrs. Vernon Wold, 437-M3

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wold and family were dinner guests at Elmer Kron of Rosewood Sunday. Other visitors were Mrs. Cora Wood and Chester and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wold and family. The occasion was Mrs. Wood's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Iven Miller have received word that their son and daughter-in-law, the Kenneth Millers have arrived safely at Columbus, Georgia. Kenneth is attending school at the Fort Benning Army Base.

Gordon Miller is assisting Mr. Liden wiring the Kaisler building in Thief River Falls.

Our congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Larson on the arrival of a baby girl born Feb. 11. Mr. Larson is serving overseas in the Navy and his wife is at the Mrs. Thelma Larson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wold and Francis were among those from here who attended the Larson and Mikkelson wedding Saturday evening at the Zion church in Thief River Falls.

Laurel Anton is busy getting the school house in District 194 ready to move to his farm. This school was built 67 years ago and at that time was bonded for $350. The first school board consisted of Nels Swanson, as director; Benjth Swanson, treasurer; and S. B. Osmundson, as clerk. All are now deceased. It is interesting to note the history of nearly extinct country schools. Most of them have been sold and already moved to farms for other purposes.

Mrs. Bernard Wold and girls, Mrs. Cora Wood, Janis Carpenter and Marjorie Potter visited with Mrs. Vernon Wold on Tuesday. Janis and Marjorie are home on Navy furloughs.

This community was shocked to hear of the death of Mr. E. A. Yonke. He passed away suddenly Monday evening. He has been a resident of Sanders for many years. Our deepest sympathy to the family.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Grain

Seed preparation is an important part of spring work on the farm. Seed treatment that costs only 1¼ cents per acre or less can prevent big crop losses from seed and soil-borne diseases in small grains. Farmers who aren't treating their seed are taking a loss.

On flax, for example, treating the seed can increase crop yields by 10 per cent or more.

And it's not too soon to get your seed treated for the 1956 season. Herbert Johnson, extension plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota, says you can treat seed—either at home or comercially—anytime from now on. Just make sure the treating is done at least 4 days before planting time.

Most important seeds to treat are flax, corn and oats. Johnson recommends one of the mercury seed treating compounds for both seed and soil-borne diseases on flax, wheat, oats, barley and rye. Use an "organic seed protectant" for controlling soil-borne diseases on corn and soybeans. These materials come in dust and liquid form. They're usually available from most feed, seed and fertilizer dealers.

If you do the treating yourself, apply the material to the seed and mix it in. One way is to run the seed through an auger elevator.

With mercury compounds, apply ½ to ¾ ounce per bushel for wheat, oats and barley, and 1½ ounces per bushel for flax. For organic seed protectants, use 1½ to 2 ounces per bushel for corn and soybeans. As a general rule, follow the manufacturer's directions on the label.

Beef

Beef cows will get along fine [illegible] pounds of good quality legume hay along with a "belly full" of lower grade roughage.

Thin cows may need a little grain before calving though, according to Robert Jacobs, extension livestock specialist, at the University of Minnesota. But with 4 pounds of legume hay, you can fill them up with corn stalks, straw, ground corn cobs or prairie hay or you can let them run on your stalk fields.

If you don't feed any legume hay, give the beef cows about a pound of protein concentrate per day, along with all the roughage they can eat.

Beef cows in good condition don't need to gain more than 125 pounds during pregnancy—a little more than the weight of the calf.

Beef cows will gain about a pound and a half daily on legume hay and free choice mineral. Thin cows need 3 or 4 pounds of grain per head daily during the last six weeks before calving.

A good mineral is two-thirds bonemeal and one-third mineralized salt. Feed this mixture free choice to your cows along with mineralized salt and let the cows have plenty of ice-free water.

Sheep

In the future you may hear more about a new protein supplement for sheep. It is feather meal.

Feather meal can be an economical protein feed for lambs, but it doesn't seem to contain any unknown growth factors as far as sheep are concerned.

That's the report from R. M. Jordan, livestock scientist at the University of Minnesota, after recent lamb feeding trials.

Lambs fed at "sub-optimum" —protein levels—lower than normally required—gained as well when feather meal was used as a protein source as they did when the protein came from soybean oil meal. Lambs normally need .22 pounds of protein daily. But in these tests they only received .14 pounds per day.

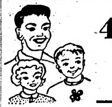
A ton of feather meal containing supplement with 41.7 percent protein cost about $52 per ton, compared to $60 or more for a ton of soybean oil meal.

The feather meal supplement contained 500 pounds of ground shelled corn and 50 pounds of molasses.

To determine if feather meal contained any unknown growth factors, lambs in another test were fed feather meal, corn and alfalfa hay in one lot and alfalfa hay, corn and soybean meal in another. If there was any "unknown" growth factor in feather meal, lambs receiving it should have gained more than lambs that received soybean meal. But that didn't happen. Lambs on soybean meal actually gained slightly faster than lambs on feather meal in this experiment.

Jordan says that it's okay to use feather meal in the protein supplement for lambs as long as it's cheaper per pound of protein than soybean oil meal.

4-H'er of the WEEK



Joan Welsch

A nine year 4-H club member is Joan Welsch of the Sanders 4-H Club.

Joan says: "I couldn't say how 4-H has helped me in a few words. I've been a member for nine years and it seems as if I've learned something new every year. 4-H work has helped me to be a better seamstress, cook, and given me more self confidence than I would have had if I hadn't been a member. The leaders in the club and the Home Agents have always been right there to lend a helping hand or offer encouragement when trouble arose."

In 1955, Joan attend the state fair and gave a food preparation demonstration on making salads. Her family certainly ate a lot of salads that summer as she faithfully practiced her demonstration.

This year at the annual 4-H leaders institute, Joan was chosen to give a health demonstration, in order to teach leaders the methods of choosing and giving demonstrations. She demonstrated good grooming, including care of the hair, nails and skin, and gave the leaders many new suggestions they could use in their own 4-H clubs.

4-H projects Joan has taken include food preparation, clothing, homemaking assistance, bread, junior leadership, garden, chickens, market lamb, ducks, potatoes, safety and health.

Joan would like to go to college and major in home economics, and then become a home agent. We hope she reaches this goal.

AIRPORT NEWS

Bob Hamilton and Arvid Wewn of International Falls, landed their Super-Cub here Feb. 4. They had stopped in for dinner.

The only pilot to land here on Tuesday was Al Kockman of Mahnomen in his Rearwin. He came to check with the mechanic on a minor repair job.

Thursday was a good day to take to the air—which most of Martin's students did. Also on Thursday we had a Piper J-3 land with LeRoy Mrened at the controls and Kenneth Holliday as passenger — they are from Fosston. Delmar Hagen landed his Champ for gas and was on his way to Crookston on business.

Nordle Swenson flew Junior Peterson over in his Ercoupe, Thursday to pick up the PA-11 that Junior had left here for the mechanic to paint. The plane looked mighty fine in its new coat of red and white.

Friday, the 8th, Gerald Clausen came over from Argyle in his J-3 and Jack Grahn with student Albert Ross of Roseau, landed their Champ here for a bite to eat.

Last Sunday Frank McDaniels and his hunting partner stopped here for dinner, while they were out hunting fox in the Champ. Calvin Kulling and Jim Votava of Gully paid us a visit in their Champ on Sunday, too.

Congratulations are due to Boyd Wilson for soloing this past week.

Baudette Eliminates Prowler Hockey Team in Regional Tourney

The Prowlers were shorn of their regional hockey title, and the opportunity to defend their state championship, when, on Monday night they dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Baudette team in a sub-regional tilt played at Warroad.

Other first round sub-regional games found the Roseau Rams, the conference champions, trouncing the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 14 to 0, in a 7:30 p.m. on Monday. On Tuesday night, the Williams Wolves shutout the Indus sextet, winning by a 10 to 0 score; and the Hallock Polar Bears edged out the Warroad Warriors, 2 to 1, in a game that was forced into overtime.

The regional tournament will open on Thursday night and will be played on the spacious ice sheet at Roseau. The semi-final games will find Roseau meeting Baudette at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday; and at 9:00 Williams will play the Hallock team. Much interest has been generated in this year's semi-finals games, for the two winners will gain berths in the state tournament.

On Friday night, with face-off time at 7:30 p.m., the regional championship game will be played. A consolation game, between the losers of Thursday night's game, will be played at 9:00 p.m.

In the Baudette vs. Thief River Falls game on Monday night, the Burbots, on a goal by Gary Noble, at the 10:25 mark of the first period, and Jack Nielson's goal at the 7:50 mark of the second period, gained a 2 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers bounced back to even the score when Dale Wennberg picked the corner of the net at the 8:50 mark, and when Jerry Jorgenson, finishing off a neat bit of the team play with Wennberg, beat Rod Pickett at the 11:15 mark.

What proved to be the winning goal and the tie-breaker was scored by Noble in the opening seconds of the third period. Noble, in a "sleeper" position near the Prowler blue-line, picked up a long pass and came to beat goalie Ken Sauve from ten feet out.

The summary:

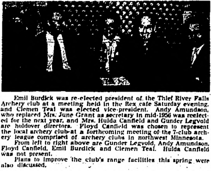
Archery Club Elects Officers



Emil Burdick was re-elected president of the Thief River Falls Archery club at a meeting held in the Rex cafe Saturday evening, and Clemen Teal was elected vice-president. Andy Amundson, who replaced Mrs. June Grant as secretary in mid-1956 was reelected for the next year, and Mrs. Hulda Canfield and Gunder Legvold are holdover directors. Floyd Canfield was chosen to represent the local archery club at a forthcoming meeting of the 7-club archery league comprised of archery clubs in northwest Minnesota.

Plans to improve the club's range facilities this spring were also discussed.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

End of the Trail

The hockey Prowlers, after a rugged season which found the boys receiving fourteen losses while compiling but six wins, came to the end of their 1956-57 campaign on Monday night. In a first round sub-regional tournament game played at Warroad, the Prowlers dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the up-and-coming Baudette Burbots. As a result, the Prowlers will be watching the regional tournament from the sidelines, which will be a strange experience.

It wasn't too surprising that the Prowlers did not gain the regional finals, but it was somewhat unexpected to have the locals meet elimination in the first round of the sub-regional tournament. That's the first time that has happened, and the last time, we hope.

The Prowlers started this season with a club that had suffered grievous losses by graduation, with such boys as Rod Collins, Duane Glass, Jackie Poole, Art Cloutier, Chip Strand, Glen Carlson, and Ronnie Reese.

And then, in the third game of the current season, playing against the Eveleth Golden Bears, Freddy Dablow was seriously injured when he had a tendon in his left ankle severed. The loss of Dablow, by injury, and goalie Collins and defenseman Glass by graduation, put too much pressure on the young and inexperienced Prowler blueliners.

This season's club had enough front-line power in Jim Hall, Jim Reese, Mike Poole, Jerry Jorgenson, Dale Wennberg and Arlan Hjelle. It was the weakness of the defensive contingent, and this wakness was due in the main to lack of experience, that proved fatal. The Prowlers gave up too many "cheap" goals.

We do hope, though, that the Prowlers continue to make use of the Arena Ice and while they are not allowed to engage in formal practice sessions, they can surely do some skating. If the Prowlers are to again rise to the hockey heights, much work will have to be done. The nucleus for a championship squad is there.

And the regional tournament, being played on Thursday and Friday, will find the Roseau Rams, the Baudette Burbots, the Williams Wolves, and the Hallock Polar Bears in competition. The strong-skating Rams should be able to write their own ticket, and win the tournament quite handily. The most exciting tilt of the tourney could be that semi-finals encounter between Williams and Hallock, with a state tournament entry riding on the outcome.

One of the Best

Our basketball memory, with regard to the Prowlers, goes back into more years than we care to recall, but that performance by Keith Johnson on Saturday night, against the region's ranking Bemidji Lumberjacks, was one of the best all-round games turned in by a Prowler cager. Keith was by all odds the best player on the floor.

It was certainly enjoyable to watch Keith, with his dribbling tactics, make a shambles of Bemidji's aggressive press. Time after time, Bemidji's up-court men, Jim Johnson and Bill Lawrence, were sent stumbling and sprawling as they attempted to halt Keith's change-of-pace dribbling.

The only complaint, or mild criticism, that we heard was that Keith should have taken more shots at the basket, and that he should have driven into the lane for some shots. As far as we are concerned, Keith had a plenty big night.

And that was a good game that the Prowlers, as a team, turned in against the heavily-favored Jacks. The Prowlers, since their game against Bemidji in December, have shown more improvement in their play than have the Lumberjacks. Eight or ten points would have been a fair difference in the play on Saturday night's game.

Coach Adams' Prowlers take on another of the region's toughies when, on Friday night, they meet the Kennedy Rockets on the Kennedy court. It should be worth the trip to watch the duel between the Prowlers' Keith Johnson and the Rockets' Gary Olstad.

Aside to Roy Oen

We leafed through our files on the 1927-28 basketball season, and we learned, Roy, that the Prowlers, after the regular season had been concluded, played a game against the Crookston Pirates, and lost, 20 to 19.

In that 1927-28 season, the Prowlers had been top-heavy favorites to win the district title, but were upset by the Warren Ponies in the semi-finals. The Crookston Pirates, in another district in those days, had also been heavily favored to win their district's championship, but they, too, were upset.

To add a bit of spice to the eighth regional tournament, which was played at Crookston, it was arranged to have the Prowlers and the Pirates play an exhibition game. In that game, Roy, the Pirates held the Prowlers scoreless throughout the first period, gaining a 9 to 0 lead; but coach Ed Boes' team came back to make a contest of the game, losing by a point.

Dark Houses Must Be Off Ice Feb. 28

Francis Johnson, supervisor of the warden service, emphasized today that fish or dark houses or any such structure must be removed from the ice after February 28. Johnson said that good sportsmen who realize their responsibility will also clean up and haul away all debris accumulated near their structure during the season.

Erling Torgerson Lists Averages in '56 Trapshooting

Figures Reveal Marked Improvement in Shooting Records for Past Year

Erling Torgerson, the able statistician of the Thief River Trapshooting club, has compiled an interesting set of figures on the results of last season's league competition. These figures have been broken down to an individual shooter basis, and they reveal that twenty shooters posted individual averages of twenty or better in the league matches.

This figure marks a vast improvement over the 1955 season, when only six shooters were able to better the "twenty" mark. And in 1954, only four shooters averaged twenty or better.

Dr. Jim Disse, with a mark of 23.5, was the city's high gun. It marks the third straight year that Jim has won the high average title. In second place, Capt. Walter Anderson, with 22.7 mark, gained second place in the individual ratings; while Ray Johnson, with a 22.6 average, earned third place.

The shooters who participated in four or more league shoots, and who posted averages of twenty or better are as follows: Dr. Jim Disse, 23.5; Walt Anderson, 22.7; Ray Johnson, 22.6; Tony Dorn, 22.1; Gordon Olen, 21.8; Stan Wilson, 21.7; Everett Amundgaard, 21.4; Clarence Mattson, 20.9; Si Schantzen, 20.9; Ole Ekeren, 20.7; Gene Carpenter, 20.7; Roy Peterson, 20.6; Erling Torgerson, 20.6; Jerry Amundgaard, 20.6; Orvis Olen, 20.5; Russ Embury, 20.5; Mel Hyland, 20.4; Hank Storhaug, 20.4; Bob Mattson, 20.3; and Rudy Sagmoen, 20.1.

Plummer's Roy Peterson revealed the greatest improvement in his marksmanship over the three-year period, for in 1954 he chalked up a 14.4 mark and this season had a fine 20.6 figure.

In the junior division, young Sandy Wilson, in ten matches, shot at a splendid 19.1 average.

Early Announcement of Hunting Seasons Is Planned This Year

The opening dates for next Fall's hunting seasons may be announced earlier this year. According to James W. Kimball, director of the division of game and fish, a plan is underway whereby the department would establish opening dates on several game species, but postpone setting length of seasons and bag limits until shortly before the seasons open.

This procedure would be experimental at first, but once established, hunters could plan on the same opening dates year after year just as the fishermen do at the present time.

In discussing the plan, Kimball pointed out two advantages first, it would be possible for hunters to plan in advance and arrange their vacations to coincide with their favorite form of hunting; and second, it would permit wardens, biologists and other field personnel to collect data on the annual reproductive success of each species later into the summer, and thus provide more accurate, "up-to-the-minute" information to be used in determining the bag limit and season lengths.

The department would also reserve the right to close any season completely even though the opening date had been established, if it was later learned that low populations or poor reproduction warranted such action.

Kimball expressed the belief that most sportsmen will favor this plan but the old argument regarding the desirability of having several hunting seasons open simultaneously, or having them open on different dates, will be revived.

Kimball said, "In wildlife management the welfare of the game must be considered first, but because there is some doubt that simultaneous openings actually do reduce the harvest, it is usually considered more desirable to regulate the harvest through the length of the season and the daily bag."

"We must remember, too, that our business is to provide the greatest possible number of recreation hours for all our sportsmen, and this is an important argument in favor of not having opening dates occur together. Perhaps more important is the fact that no one date appears to be satisfactory for the opening of several seasons. For example, the middle of October is too late to start shooting ruffed grouse but an early opening on pheasants may find much of the corn still unpicked."

"In selecting the opening dates, all of these factors, and many others, will be considered. The department has no delusions that they will satisfy everyone."

Silage Show Set for Winter Shows Tuesday, Feb. 26

Valley Farmers Invited to Bring in Samples of Silage for Appraisal

A new and added feature at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 25-March 1, is a silage show.

The purpose of this show, according to B. E. Youngquist, president of the Winter Shows, is to provide an opportunity for people to see examples of good silage, and an opportunity to discuss and talk about the making of silage.

Farmers are encouraged to bring in a sample of silage in a clear plastic bag. This sample may vary from one quart to one peck in size. These samples should be brought in on the first day of the show, Monday, February 25, or Tuesday morning, Feb. 26, up to 10:00 a.m. Dr. Rodney Briggs, a silage specialist from the Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, will be there to check in all samples and will also judge and evaluate the silage samples beginning about 10:00 a.m. on February 26.

Awards will be given for the top silage samples submitted in three different classes—in corn silage, in grass silage, and in silage which has been made with chemicals or some other supplement added.

Each silage sample entered should have an entry blank accompanying the sample. These are available at your county agricultural agent, or you might write to the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, for an entry blank.

Awards for the Show will be given out at the Crops Day meeting about 3:20 p.m. in the Central High School auditorium.

50 Aspirants for Highway Patrol to Receive Training

Candidates Chosen from 1,300 Applicants to Be Trained at Camp Ripley

Fifty aspirants for positions on the Minnesota highway patrol will begin ten weeks of intensive schooling, Monday, February 18, as the final qualification for appointments as patrol officers.

The recruit school will be held at Camp Ripley, the Minnesota National Guard military reservation north of Little Falls, under the direction of Captain Neil Deemer, St. Paul, a veteran of 17 years on the highway patrol, who is a graduate of the Traffic Institute of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

The students will be the cream of almost 1,300 young men who had applied. State civil service procedures of written and oral tests, background investigations and physical examinations had narrowed the list to fifty.

Among the 50 subjects in the curriculum of the 436-hour course are accident investigation, first aid, rules of evidence, court procedures, laws covering traffic, registration, arrest and criminal activities, judo and self defense.

Recognizing that the highway patrol officer is often the first contact touring visitors have in Minnesota, the school will stress development of good public relations, with special emphasis on a courteous and firm attitude, together with classes in Minnesota history, geography and the highway system. Because of the increased number of requests for officers as speakers with the highway department driver improvement and traffic safety programs, a special course in public speaking will be given.

Ten of the successful graduates will be appointed immediately to fill vacancies presently existing in the highway patrol. Names of others who qualify for appointment will compose an eligibility list for late openings.

SAUD A PEACE ENVOY

We will have to leave it to future generations to decide what actually was accomplished by King Saud's visit to Washington. It now appears however that our position in the Middle East, and with the Arab world, has been strengthened by the conversations that this visit has made possible.

The ruler of Saudi Arabia can be helpful in reconciling the differences that have brought the world dangerously close to another war. King Saud is in a position to pour oil on the troubled waters, and he has plenty of oil to use for such purposes.

The Suez incident has no doubt been a revealing experience for him. He now must realize the importance of the European market, which has been giving him several hundred million dollars a year in oil royalties.

The closing of the Suez Canal and the disruption of normal trade relations have cost him many millions of dollars. There is every reason to believe that from now on he will be a sincere advocate of peace, mainly because he has a direct personal interest in uninterrupted commerce.

The Middle East prospect does seem to be brightening. The United Nations police action has not been impressive but maybe there has been justification for the slow pressure in enforcing its orders. The important thing now is to keep a tribal dispute from causing another world war, and it appears that this is being accomplished.

THE DULL MR. DULLES

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is not a colorful character. He is not a wisecracker of the Churchill type. His record is neither thrilling nor brilliant. And we can't think of any declaration or observation of his by which he is likely to be remembered by future generations. To us he has been a rather dull Mr. Dulles.

But we are beginning to like him. Time and again we have been certain he has blundered, but somehow things have worked out well under his direction. He acts promptly and speaks with confidence under pressure, giving the impression that he knows as much as anyone about the problems with which he is dealing.

Certainly he does not lack courage. He is a tough fighter but he has been a clean fighter too.

Now that the small-fry of the opposition party have started to pick on him we are ready to throw in with him with our vote of confidence.

ATOMIC POWER

Atomic power is coming to Minnesota. The Northern States Power Company, in cooperation with a number of other utility companies, has announced its plans to have a [illegible]0,000 kilowatt plant in operation in southern Minnesota by 1962.

That is good news for all of the state, north as well as south. All of the state will benefit indirectly if not directly by a development of this kind. It means for all of us, in the forseeable future, a new source of cheap power, a source of energy that probably will prove to be as revolutionary as electricity itself.

PAY NOW

A bonus to Korean veterans will be paid, we are sure, and the circumstances make it advisable to pay it now. It so happens that there is money available for such a purpose at the present time.

When the legislature authorized the bonus for World War II veterans, bonds were issued as approved by the voters. Taxes were imposed to retire this obligation in ten years. Inflation has made these taxes more productive than was anticipated and so the needed revenue, and more, has been raised in eight years.

The taxes, already imposed, will provide enough revenue to pay the Korean bonus. And this, we hope, will be a non-recurring item of state expense.

SELF-HELP NEEDED

In recent months there has been a revival of interest among leaders of the dairy industry in the possibilities of an industry-controlled national marketing organization. There could be no question about the need for united action along this line. Leading dairy cooperatives support such a program in theory. The government favors it. The only thing that seems to stand in the way of such a self-help plan is the unwillingness of the cooperatives to cooperate.

With government assistance in getting started such a program should have little difficulty in increasing substantially the returns to producers. The parity price for butterfat in January was estimated at 73c a pound. According to department of agriculture figures, farmers received 59c a pound. That means a spread of 14c a pound between what the farmer is getting and what would be considered a fair price.

Only a comparatively small percentage of the total production would have to be held off the market to restore a balance between supply and demand. It would be profitable for the producers to absorb the cost of disposing of this surplus if they received a fair price for that portion which was marketed. Surely they could afford to pay a nickle if it would bring them back 15 cents.

Here at home we have a dairy marketing problem of our own that is begging for attention. The Department of Agricultural Economics of the University of Minnesota has made surveys of manufacturing costs throughout the state, noting the progress that has been made over a period of twenty years. These studies show that our corner of the state is lagging behind some other areas in the efficiency of our marketing organization.

It has been estimated that manufacturing costs in northwestern Minnesota are at least three cents a pound higher than they should be. If that estimate is reasonably accurate then the cost of inefficient marketing to the producers of this corner of the state would be approximately a half-million dollars a year.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul—The old contest between city and rural views has been revived in the state legislature. Pinpointing the contest is the demand by city legislators for a legislative reapportionment that will mean increasing the city representation and possibly reducing the rural.

City legislators contend they have districts that are too large as compared with those in the rural areas. Hence, the city legislators argue, the urban areas are not getting the representation to which they are entitled. Instead of the present division of approximately 75 per cent rural and 25 per cent city among the lawmakers, the city men would like to see a division of 50-50 city and rural legislators.

Viewpoints Change

The battle brings up an interesting observation regarding the development of legislative attitudes. These attitudes are important to both city and rural areas because they display a change in view that has been to the benefit of the cities. This change has taken place within the last 25 years.

The leaders in the fight over reapportionment are Representatives Alf Bergerud of Hopkins, long a proponent of reapportionment, and Carl M. Iverson of Ashby, opponent of reapportionment. Both men have been in the legislature many years and have lived through the periods when, according to the state constitution, a reapportionment should have been made.

Areas Are Closer

In the early years of the legislature, its members represented sections of the state. Transportation was not as fast as now, communications were slow and difficult, and the plan was to bring together in the state legislature the views of the people who had only rare contacts with each other.

The modernization of transportation and communication has brought the rural areas much closer to the urban. Villages in the rural areas have become cities, and people who not too long ago looked suspiciously at each other now visit regularly and understand each other's problems.

Legislators Are Cosmopolitan

Representative Iverson's backers take the position that legislators no longer view problems from a strictly sectional basis. The growth of urban areas throughout the state—cities like Winona, Rochester, St. Cloud, Brainerd, Bemidji and Willmar—have brought about a more cosmopolitan view that has been to the benefit of the big cities.

This group also contends that the general viewpoint in the legislature now is a statewide viewpoint, whether legislators come from the cities or the rural areas. Taxes, public welfare, highway building and education all are considered by all legislators from the statewide view and no longer from the old sectional view.

Labor Interests

Hence, say the Iverson men, the difficult proplem of reapportionment need not be tackled to alter the legislative viewpoint.

The main objection to reapportionment, however, lies in the possibility of increasing the labor representation in the legislature. Most of the city legislators now are backed by organized labor. Increasing the city representation would simply mean adding more labor representatives to the number now in the legislature.

Rural spokesmen want no part of such a development, arguing that the increase in labor representation would mean greater spending and higher taxes because of demands by labor for more public srevices.

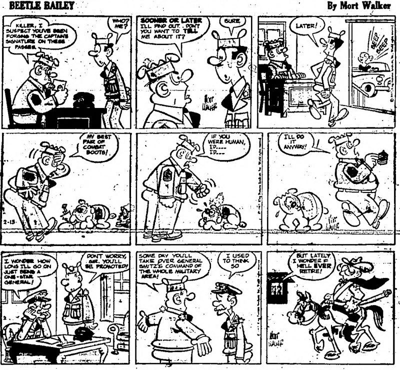
BEETLE BAILEY

By Mort Walker



KILLER, I SUSPECT YOU'VE BEEN FORGING THE CAPTAIN'S SIGNATURE ON THESE PASSES.
WHO? ME?
SOONER OR LATER I'LL FIND OUT. DON'T YOU WANT TO TELL ME ABOUT IT?
SURE.
LATER!
BEEP BEEP
MY BEST PAIR OF COMBAT BOOTS!
IF YOU WERE HUMAN, I'D.... I'D....
I'LL DO IT ANYWAY!
I WONDER HOW LONG I'LL GO ON JUST BEING A ONE-STAR GENERAL!
DON'T WORRY, SIR. YOU'LL BE PROMOTED!
SOME DAY YOU'LL TAKE OVER GENERAL SMITZ'S COMMAND OF THE WHOLE MILITARY AREA!
I USED TO THINK SO
BUT LATELY I WONDER IF HE'LL EVER RETIRE!

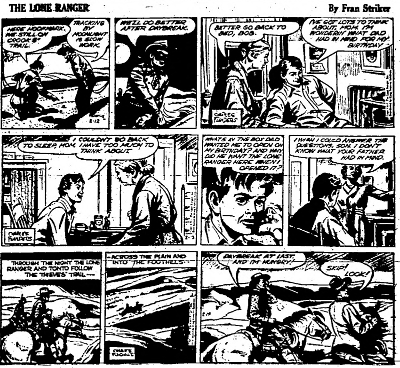
THE LONE RANGER

By Fran Striker



HERE HOOFMARK. HE'S STILL ON CROOK'S TRAIL.
TRACKING BY MOONLIGHT IS SLOW WORK.
WE'LL DO BETTER AFTER DAYBREAK.
BETTER GO BACK TO BED, BOB.
I'VE GOT LOTS TO THINK ABOUT, MOM. I'M WONDERIN' WHAT DAD HAD IN MIND FOR MY BIRTHDAY.
I COULDN'T GO BACK TO SLEEP, MOM. I HAVE TOO MUCH TO THINK ABOUT.
WHAT'S IN THE BOX DAD WANTED ME TO OPEN ON MY BIRTHDAY? AND WHY DID HE WANT THE LONE RANGER HERE WHEN I OPENED IT?
I WISH I COULD ANSWER THE QUESTIONS, SON. I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOUR FATHER HAD IN MIND.
THROUGH THE NIGHT THE LONE RANGER AND TONTO FOLLOW THE THIEVES' TRAIL---
ACROSS THE PLAIN AND INTO THE FOOTHILLS---
DAYBREAK AT LAST. AND I'M HUNGRY!
SKIP! LOOK!

SJOBERG'S APPLIANCE

New Hope for the "TIRED OUT"
Don't Feel And Look "Old Before Your Time" Any Longer

If you are wearing that look of "false old age", feel tired out, depressed, or suffer from sleeplessness, constipation, lack of appetite, digestive disturbances, lack-lustre hair, your trouble may be caused by iron-poor blood or a system starved for nature's essential vitamins and minerals. If so, you need suffer no more.

STOP SUFFERING
In just one day Drag-NOT Tablet's high-potency iron, multiple vitamins and blood-building elements are in your blood-stream, carrying new strength and energy to all parts of your body. Then watch your elimination. A few days after you start taking Drag-NOT Tablets the lazy organs will go back to work and you will notice the black, poisonous waste beginning to leave your body.

NEW LIFE
Then you will feel a wondrous change; the years will seem to slip away and you will enjoy wonderful new pep and vitality, look and feel younger. Get non-habit-forming Drag-NOT Tablets (rich in Iron, Vitamins B_1, B_2, B_{12}, C, plus other vitamins and minerals) and see results in 7 days or your money back. Price only $2.00.

Sales Tax Would Hit Farmers, Senate Told

A state sales tax would shift Minnesota's revenue-raising burden from city to rural areas, a representative of the governor's tax study committee told the senate tax committee Thursday.

Philip M. Raup, agricultural economist at University of Minnesota and an alternate member of the study group, said farmers are heavier consumers of durable goods than city residents.

In Iowa, for example, the per capita average for sales tax collection is 50 per cent higher in rural areas than in city areas, Raup said.

He also told the committee that if a 2 or 3 per cent sales tax were enacted in Minnesota, the state would have to permit more exemptions than other states for the sales tax to be "less of a burden than the personal property tax."

At one point, Sen. Donald O. Wright, Minneapolis, chairman of the senate committee, told Raup in any future studies the tax study group should forget the "tax to replace a tax" principle.

Wright said "some statisticians" say the state budget proposed for the 1957-59 biennium represents an increase of 75 million dollars a year over the current budget.

"As far as I'm personally concerned, we're looking right down the barrel at a very materially increased spending program," Wright said.

On questioning, Raup and J. Cameron Thompson, Minneapolis banker who headed the governor's committee, said the study group based its tax plan for the next biennium on an increase of "between 25 and 30 million dollars."

This is approximately the figure Gov. Orville Freeman has used to describe his proposed budget.

However, the Minnesota Taxpayers association has claimed that—if non-budgeted items are considered— Freeman's program amounts to an increase of about 150 million dollars over the next two years.

Gatzke Woman Wins $200 Prize

Mrs. John Gudwangen Top Winner in Fargo Contest

Mrs. John Gudwangen of Gatzke was first prize winner last week in a contest sponsored by a Fargo, N. Dak. firm. For her efforts she won a deluxe model electric sewing machine and free service on the machine for a year. The prize is worth over $200.

The Gatzke woman said this occasion was the first time that she had won a prize of any value and was happy to receive the honor. Adolph Jelinek of Fargo a salesman for the firm, delivered the new sewing machine to her home Wednesday.

In the contest which included entrants from the states of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin, Mrs. Gudwangen made as many three letter words as she could from the firm's name, Allied Electric Stores. Promptness and neatness, she said, may also have been considerations in making the awards.

Her daughter Judy was also a prize winner in the same contest, and received a $40 gift certificate, Mrs. Gudwangen added.

HEAR YOUR HEART BEAT heart fund

Heart disease might be solved in five to ten years, according to Dr. Paul Dudley White, if vital research projects are given strong support through the Heart Fund. The famed cardiologist, consultant to President Eisenhower, discussed a 1957 Heart Fund poster with Minnesota's Queen of Hearts, Anita Valor, during his recent trip to the state. The Heart Fund seeks $475,000 in Minnesota this month, through campaigns now under way in all 87 counties.

Crops and Soils Day at Crookston Feb. 26

Final arrangements are being made for the annual "Crops and Soils Day" which will be held on Tuesday, February 26, during the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. The day's activities will start with a noon luncheon and will be followed by a speaking program at 1:30 p.m., in the Central high school auditorium.

One of the main speakers will be Professor R. S. Dunham of the agronomy department, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, who will give an illustrated lecture on "Weed Control in England and the Northern European Countries." Professor Dunham spent three months in Europe this past summer and visited several experiment stations where he gathered the latest information on weed control. He took a large number of pictures on his trip which he will show at the meeting.

The second speaker will be Dr. J. M. MacGregor of the soils department, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. Dr. MacGregor conducted several field trails this past summer in this area on iron deficient soils. This condition brings about a yellowing of the leaves and foliage of plants and results in a decreased yield of [illegible] and flax are especially susceptible to this soil condition. Dr. MacGregor has been able to uncover several interesting facts from these field trials which should be of great interest to crops men of this area.

Recent changes in the commercial fertilizer field will also be discussed by Dr. MacGregor. There is a great deal of interest at the present time in the use and application of liquid fertilizers. This new method of preparing and using commercial fertilizers will lower the cost but will also involve some new problems in the fertilizer industry. In areas where liquid fertilizers are available, farmers are using their weed sprayers to apply it. This new method of handling fertilizer is beginning to move into the Valley and farmers will have an opportunity to obtain the latest information about this subject at this meeing.

Dr. O. C. Soine will briefly review the varietal trails of small grains for 1956 at the Northwest School and Experiment Station. Dr. R. A. Briggs will comment on the silage show and present the awards to the "Champion Silage Makers."

Alfalfa Pays on Sandy Land

A farmer-cooperator in the Sherburne county soil conservation district received yields of 105 bales per acre from two cuttings of alfalfa this year on sandy land. Duane Anderson, Becker, says that he applied [illegible] of 0-12-36 per acre as a top dressing after the first cutting. Now, Anderson says he's convinced that fertilizer helps alfalfa, and he will continue to apply it according to soil test.

Garden Clubs to Meet February 26 at Winter Shows

Numerous Speakers on Horticultural Society Session at Crookston

The annual business meeting and educational program of the Ninth District Horticultural Society, with representatives from the twenty-seven garden clubs of the Society, will feature the annual Garden Club day program to be held at the Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week, Crookston.

The meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 26, at 1:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church, Crookston. Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. P. C. Berberich, Ada, Ninth District society president. Officers serving with Mrs. Berberich for 1956 are Mrs. Clifford L. Olson of Halstad, vice-president, and B. C. Beresford, Crookston, secretary-treasurer.

The educational program beginning at 2:00 p.m. will feature a showing of the film "Fruits for the North" produced by the department of Horticulture, University of Minnesota. O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist, University of Minnesota, will comment on the color film.

"Preparing Flowers for Exhibition and Judging of Flower Shows" will be the subject discussed by Rudolph Hillig, Sheffield Florists, Minneapolis. Floral material will be used in his demonstration. E. M. Hunt, executive secretary of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society, will be present to extend greetings on behalf of the society.

Colored slides from 9th district gardens will be shown to conclude the program. Mrs. Berberich arranged for the collection of slides and they will be shown by Marion Parbst, county home agent, Ada. Mrs. Berberich will give recognition to Ninth district gardeners given awards by the Minnesota State Horticultural Society.

Plummer Asks Bids on School Project

Board to Consider Bids at Meeting March 1st

The board of education of Plummer Independent School District No. 10 has called for bids for the construction of their proposed school addition. Bids will be opened March 1.

To be included in the project are a gymnasium, shop and classroom addition. Separate bids will be received on general work, plumbing, heating and ventilation and electrical work.

Plans and specifications, prepared by Kurke Associates, architects and engineers, Fargo, may be seen at their office or at the office of the superintendent of schools in Plummer.

Voters in the Plummer district approved bonding the district in an amount not to exceed $160,000 for building expansion in a special election last September.

Warden Service Arrested 3,692 During Past Year

The warden service of the Minnesota division of game and fish chalked up a new arrest record for 1956, according to a report recently released by Art Emme, assistant chief warden.

"Our wardens made 3,692 arrests in 1956," said Emme, "as against 3,110 in 1955."

"This does not necessarily mean that game and fish violations were committed more often in 1956. Actually, we feel teamwork among the wardens has been responsible in large measure for the increase in apprehensions and successful prosecutions," explained Emme.

"Close cooperation between wardens has been instrumental in achieving this degree of proficiency on the part of the service. We are constantly striving to improve the efficiency of our wardens," asserted Emme. "Law enforcement aids such as a good communications system and the airplane are all important, but basically it is the ability of the individual which spells the difference."

The key to safety is you.

ARE YOU PUZZLED TOO?

Here is a young lady who's puzzled. She has all the pieces at her fingertips but how to make them fit into the finished pattern—that's her problem.

And it's your problem, too! Life is full of odd pieces which just don't seem to fit into any kind of sensible pattern. There are the odd pieces of sorrow and joy, of suffering and health, of doubt and faith, of evil and good, of death and life, and it sometimes seems as if we never could make them fit into a pattern which makes sense.

And yet there is a pattern for your life—and every life. God knows the pattern and wants to help you find it.

The key to the puzzle of life is a Cross. And the Church, with its message of the Cross of Christ, can help make the odd pieces in the puzzle of your life fall into the finished pattern: a life of confidence and courage and serenity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Report on Viking News of the Week

By Mrs. Orville Peters, Phone [illegible]

Youth's Service Well Attended

A large crowd of close to 300 persons gathered at the school auditorium Sunday evening to attend the young people's service at which time the film "Seventeen" was shown. The service was led by Dwight Tangquist, president of the Young People's Society of the Mission Covenant church. The audience sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" to open the meeting. Dwight then gave Devotions followed by a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hjelle, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Flodstrom after which the film "Seventeen" was shown. Following the first half of the film we were favored by a trumpet solo by Evonne Drotts who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Rud, both of Thief River Falls. After the film was completed an offering was taken to help defray expenses. Delano Sackett led in prayer. Pastor Dokken was then called on to make a few remarks. He also closed the meeting in prayer. Anyone who has not seen this film, should you have an opportunity to do so, by all means see it. Especially the young people.

Sunday afternoon guests at the Alfred Ranum home were Mr. and Mrs. Torkel Forland of Newfolden, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Forland of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ranum and Keith.

Verney Evensons Leave Community

Mr. and Mrs. Verney Evenson moved their household possessions to McIntosh on Saturday where they will now make their home. The Roy Halvorsons also moved their household goods here from Erskine on Saturday and will now be at home in the house owned by Mrs. Wm. Anderson.

Viking 4-H'ers Meet

The Viking 4-H club met for their meeting Thursday evening at the Viking school house. A business session was held at the beginning of the evening after which the program was as follows: To open the group sang "I've Got The 4-H Spirit." A demonstration was given by Arlene Carlson. Miss Janice Kyseth of Warren showed slides on demonstrations. A duet was sung by Janice and Kenneth Carlson, followed by a project talk by Lois Thompson. Maynard Samuelson rendered an accordion solo. Mr. Harold Kagg showed several slides, taken while on a trip to the south a couple years ago, which the young folk enjoyed immensely. Lunch was served. The hostesses being Mrs. Anna Jacobson and Mrs. Gloria Bulson. —Carole Jean Sherva, news reporter.

Some thoughts we would all do well to heed:

"When alone, guard your thoughts.
In the family guard your temper,
In company guard your words."

Young People's Society Meets

On Thursday evening the Young People's Society held their meeting at the Covenant church. Giving the program was the Christian Fellowship group from Newfolden, including a very inspiring talk by Professor Gordon Collin of the Newfolden high school. A very fine program was given by the young people.

Join the thousands of Minnesota women who get a discount for cash

Do your daily shopping at stores that give you S&H Green Stamps

All business men get a discount for paying cash. And for 61 years fine S&H merchants have believed that consumers are entitled to one also. They recognize your right by giving you S&H Green Stamps as your discount for paying cash.

With S&H stamps you can get over 1500 nationally famous products to help you and your family live better. The latest models and designs of such famous companies as Westinghouse . . . Bulova . . . Ansco . . . Samsonite . . . RCA . . . to name a few. And not one of these things will cost you a penny!

Be smart. Be thrifty. Do all your shopping at the stores that give S&H Green Stamps.

S&H GREEN STAMPS
Currently being saved by more than 20 million American women

—AND HERE'S HOW MUCH WOMEN LOVE TRADING STAMPS

Last November your women neighbors in North Dakota actually went to the voting polls to protect their right to receive trading stamps as a discount for paying cash. By an overwhelming margin, they voted against special interests who tried to banish stamps through the passage of a law. This North Dakota vote proved that opposition to trading stamps does not come from consumers. Women love them!

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Winter Shows Start Monday at Crookston

Evening Programs Are Arranged for February 26, 27 & 28

Nationally and internationally known speaker will feature the major educational meeting of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, February 25-March 1. The evening meetings will be held February 26, 27, and 28. Each evening's program will open at 7:45 p.m. with a one-half hour concert, with the Crookston municipal band, the Central high school concert orchestra, Crookston, and Northwest school of Agriculture, choral groups providing the music. The main addresses of the evening will get underway at 8:15 p.m. each evening.

On Tuesday evening, February 26, Dr. J. William Buchta, associate dean of the college of science, literature and the arts of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, and a national leader on the peace-time use of atomic energy, will speak on the topic, "Peacetime Possibilities of Atomic Energy." Dr Buchta the facility of bringing out a rather complicated subject in such a manner as to be will understood by a lay audience.

The speaker on Wednesday evening, February 27, will be George Grim, the popular columnist, world-wide traveler, and TV and radio news commentator. Mr. Grim has spoken at the Red River Valley Winter Shows more often than any other nationally-known speaker; he always draws a full house. This year he will speak on his private thirty-day trip through Russia, and his subject will be, "One Man's Russia."

The Thursday evening, February 28, program, will be highlighted with the address of Dr. Joseph L. Knutson, president of Concordia College, Moorhead. This is the first time that the Red River Valley Winter Shows has engaged an evening speaker on the subject of education as it affects the people in our country. Dr. Knutson was on the Governor's Interim committee studying the needs of higher education in Minnesota. He is, at present, president of the Minnesota Association of Colleges, has served on several national and international committees studying the problems of public and private schools. He is a well-received speaker, and his subject for the evening will be, "Education in the United States — Strength and Weakness."

PTA Units Tonight Hear Psychiatrist

Roy Anderson to Speak in High School Auditorium

Roy L. Anderson, psychiatric social worker at the Mental Hygiene Clinic in Fergus Falls, will discuss the topic, "What Is Mental Health?", at a joint meeting of the four Thief River Falls PTA units tonight, Monday, at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Mr. Anderson is a board member of the Minnesota Congress of Parent and Teachers and chairman of its mental hygiene committee.

The clinic in Fergus Falls with which he is affiliated is the first state-supported one of its kind in Minnesota, and it has served Northwestern Minnesota for the past 7 1/2 years. He has been with the clinic since its inception.

Also on the program at Monday night's meeting will be a group of selections by the Lincoln high school chorus.

Mrs. Earl Jensen Named Secretary Yule Seal Agency

Herman A. Kjos, chairman of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health association, sponsor of the annual Christmas Seal sale, today announced the appointment of Mrs. Earl D. Jensen, superintendent of the Oakland Park nursing home, to the post of secretary, succeeding the late Mrs. George Erickson, who had held the office for many years.

Baritone to Present Concert Thursday in Lincoln Auditorium

RALPH MAGELSSEN

A versatile baritone with a voice that has literally been heard round the world will sing in Thief River Falls Thursday, Feb. 21, when Ralph Magelssen presents the second concert of the Northwest concert association series. The program will begin at 8 at the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Ralph Magelssen's program will be representative of his varied career. Occupying a prominent spot will be songs of the theater, including selections from one of his best known roles, that of Edward Grieg in "Song of Norway." For the past six seasons Magelssen has been the leading baritone with Vancouver's famous summer theater, and in the United States he is one of the most popular artists on the operetta circuit.

Magelssen has also appeared in numerous Broadway productions, among them "The Great Waltz," "La Vie Parisienne" and "Very Warm for May" in which he introduced Jerome Kern's "All the Things You Are."

Born in Minneapolis of Norwegian parents, Ralph Magelssen graduated from the University of Minnesota and won a scholarship in voice at Julliard. He continued vocal studies in Germany and Italy, where he also did recital work. Returning to the United States, he was engaged by Alexander Smallens for a series of opera performances at Lewisohn stadium and Robin Hood Dell.

During the war, Ralph Magelssen's musical travels continued. As a featured soloist in Irving Berlin's "This is the Army," he toured 77,000 miles around the world and appeared before most of the Allied forces as well as the royalty of England, Egypt and Persia.

Last season found Magelssen still travelling to far away places and throughout the United States. He made a tour of the Caribbean, and for 17 weeks he toured as the singing lead in "Silk Stockings". He is currently on a five-week tour of the Upper Midwest for Allied Concert Services. He will be assisted at the piano by Anna Selm.

Oakland Park Rest Home Board Names Officers Feb. 13

Carl R. Anderson, Roy Edman and Omer Houle Elected Wednesday

The Oakland Park Home board consisting of the 28 welfare board members of the four counties which own the home held its annual meeting at the home Wednesday, February 13.

The main items of business on the agenda consisted of a review of the operations of the home by the executive committee during the past year together with an examination of a detailed financial report and finally, the election of the four man executive committee who will be charged with the administration of the home during 1957.

The present vacancy on the executive committee from Roseau county was filled by the election of Harry Hess, replacing Andy Erickson who had previously served. Others elected to the four man executive committee together with the positions to which they were elected are Carl R. Anderson, chairman, Pennington; Roy Edman, vice chairman, Marshall County; Omer Houle, secretary, Red Lake County. At the close of the four-county meeting the executive committee held its regular monthly meeting.

In addition to the welfare board members of the four counties there were also present at the meeting Mrs. Earl Jensen, superintendent of the home; the executive secretaries of the four welfare boards; Mrs. Alice Wold, head nurse of the home; and Miles Wangensteen, field representative of the department of public welfare.

A resolution was passed unanimously at the meeting extending the appreciation of the four counties to the superintendent and staff for the manner in which the home had been operated during the past year.

Plummer School Future Farmers in Judging Event

A five-member team representing the Plummer high school chapter of Future Farmers of America participated Saturday, Feb. 9 in a crops judging competition at NDAC "Little International" at Fargo, according to Vern Mortenson, chapter advisor.

The five were Tom Fallon, Kenneth Laufman, Vernon Konickson, James Wright and James Jolly. The Plummer FFA chapter has 28 members.

Mortenson stated several Minnesota teams entered in the competition, with Alvarado also from this area having a team at the Fargo meeting.

Oklee Sr. Class to Give Drama Friday

Juvenile Delinquency Is Theme of Production

The senior class of Oklee high school has selected for its class play the Studio One production, "Dino", to be given at the Oklee school auditorium, February 22, at 8 p.m.

Darryl Mathson plays the leading role. It is the first time a drama of this depth has been staged as a class play in Oklee. Ben Shetterly is the director.

This powerful and yet warmly moving story, first seen on Studio One, CBS-TV show, may yet prove to be Reginald Rose's finest work. Winner of the Society of Television Arts and Sciences' "Emmy" award for some of his earlier successes, like "The Remarkable Incident at Carson Corners" and "Twelve Angry Men," Reginald Rose is one of the acknowledged masters of the modern dramatic form. "Dino" is the story of a young man who, at the last possible moment before turning completely to crime and delinquency, is given a chance for a happier life. The way this is done and the fine people who do it make this dramatic work truly memorable.

Heart Fund, Polio Benefit Cage Tilt Thursday Evening

2 Hearings Favor Marshall Co. Soils District Addition

Arrangements Made to Conduct Referendum Wednesday, March 20

Two public hearings on a proposed Marshall County Soil Conservation District for the remaining unorganized area of Marshall county have now been completed, according to Fred Heck, soil conservation agent.

A large attendance was counted at both meetings. The Argyle meeting had numbers in excess of 130 people and the Newfolden meeting rated well over the 100 mark, with the Newfolden annual Co-op. Creamery meeting being held in another part of town as well.

Farmers from all the general areas of the county gave testimony at both meetings, indicating an overwhelming majority in favor of the organization of a district.

During the formal hearing Ted Hegseth of the state committee presented a list of petitions numbering nearly 400 signers. He also indicated that this was one of the largest signings ever received for a soil conservation district. He then proceeded to hold the formal hearing and invited both those in favor and those not in favor of a district to testify as they wished.

Following the hearings, a referendum (voting) date was agreed upon at each meeting and was set for Wednesday, March 20. This date will follow town election time by eight days, in order to avoid confusion by the public.

At this time, all land owners or occupiers within the area of Marshall county and west of the Marshall-Beltrami district are invited to cast their vote as to whether or not they favor the formation of such a district. Those excluded from voting are those having permanent residence in town and villages and not owning farm land, those owners who are absent from the area and those not owning or occupying land in the proposed area. Husband and wife may both vote. Aliens owning or occupying agricultural land may also vote.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX IS DUE BEFORE MARCH 1

Pennington county residents were reminded today by County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud that personal property taxes are due and payable before March 1.

House Passes Bill for Party Labels Friday

House Veterans' Committee OK's Korean Bonus Bill

Party labels for legislators, repeal of the $5 "head tax" and payment of a Korean war veterans bonus advanced during the most productive week to date for the Minnesota legislature.

The house passed and sent to the senate Friday the party designation bill on a 95-32 vote. The bill's hardiest foe, Rep. Carl Iverson, Ashby's liberal, argued stubbornly but failed to hold down the voting margin that was increased considerably by some members' confidence that it stands little chance of senate approval.

Repeal of the $5 income tax filing fee sailed through the house on a 129-0 vote, tempered only by Rep. John A. Hartle's warning that all of the special World War II bonus taxes should receive the same treatment.

The "head tax" is part of the package of special levies from which funds also would be drawn to pay the Korean veterans a bonus of $10 a month for domestic service and $15 for each month of overseas duty. A surplus exists in the bonus tax fund which would permit the second bonus payment even without the "head tax" returns.

The Korean bonus bill took a step forward Friday with approval by the committee on veterans and military affairs.

It goes now to the house appropriations committee, where its financing provisions must be approved before it goes to the house floor.

Before recommending the bill for passage, the committee amended it to exclude "professional" soldiers from its benefits. These it defined as persons in continuous service for four years preceding the Korean conflict.

St. Paul Man Will Speak of C. of C. Friday Evening

E. I. Whyatt, member of Governor Freeman's tax advisory committee and an executive of Gould National Batteries in St. Paul, will be the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening of this week at 6:30 in the Elks club rooms. Don L. Olson, chamber president, said that Whyatt will discuss some of the committee's recommendations for change in the Minnesota tax structure.

Farmer's Portion of Consumer's Dollar to Be Forum Topic Mar. 7

Does the middleman really get more profit from a loaf of bread than the farmers who raise the wheat?

Or do farmers get a fair share of the consumers food dollar after all?

Just how well farm people fare in the "price spread" from wheat to bread will be discussed by Harold Pederson, extension marketing economist at the University of Minnesota, during the tri county Farm Forum. The event is scheduled for Thursday, March 7, at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls, under the sponsorship of the Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and the local Chamber of Commerce.

Pederson will explain how the production and marketing costs break down for the average loaf of bread sold in Minnesota. He will point out how much, on the average, the farmer, mill operator baker, and grocer receive from that loaf. He will also relate these principles to other commodities.

How increased marketing costs have increased total costs for food items will be another point by Pederson. We have extra marketing services because people want them. These services include more display space and better packaging.

The farmer's share of the retail price varies, too. And just what causes this variation will be discussed by Pederson. An example, different qualities and different bakery products return different percentages of the final price to the producer.

The way that flour is sold can affect the producer's share of the profits, too. Flour sold in 2-pound packages cost more per pound to market than flour sold in 25-pounds sacks. These and more points will be explained fully by Pederson at the forum.

Other speakers will include Luther Pickrel, extension economist in public affairs and Reynolds Dahl, agricultural economist.

Five Members of Co. F Embark on Six Months Active Duty in Army

Five members of Company F of the National Guard left Thief River Falls Friday evening for Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, to start six months of active duty with the U. S. Army.

The men, who after the first eight weeks will be assigned to other posts, include Pvts. Jerome Skjerping, Donald Wahlbeck, Chester Nessen and William and Milton Mathieu. Two others who left previously to start their terms of active duty are Pvt. Joe Swick, now at Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Pvt. James Winjum, at Fort Leonard Wood.

Two officers of Company F who left February 1 for 16 weeks of special training are First Lt. Kenneth Miller, attending associated infantry company officers school, and Sgt. Ronald Belland at advanced NCO school, both at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Chief Warrant Officer Ivan Bundy stated that after April 1 the new program will be compulsory, calling for members of the National Guard to fulfill their military obligations by six months active duty service and four and one-half years in the Guard. He stated that groups of members of Company F will be leaving for active duty each month for the next six months or more.

Drapery and Hat Making Courses to Open This Evening

Courses to Be Conducted in Lincoln School Home Economics Department

The last group of classes to get under way this winter in the evening school for adults will start this evening, Monday, at 7:30 in the home economics department of Lincoln high school, under the instruction of Beth Pound and Harriet Gullingsrud.

The courses in hatmaking and drapery will begin tonight, according to C. W. Pope, evening school director. He emphasized that all persons who have enrolled in advance, as well as any others who may have delayed their decision to this point, should be sure to report for their first session tonight.

There have been some requests to take both courses and this may be arranged at the meetings tonight, by shifting the drapery class to Tuesdays, if there is sufficient demand. This will be decided this evening.

The hatmaking course will consist of five meetings of two hours each, or ten hours, and the drapery course will entail six meetings of two hours each. No fees are charged for either. An attendance certificate will be awarded to all persons who complete the program of instruction.

Those interested may call 1033 for further information or report directly at the home economics department tonight. The courses are open to all farm and city women of the area.

To Speak Tuesday

CURTIS J. OVERDAHL

At Elk Point, South Dakota, native, who joined the University of Minnesota staff as an extension soils specialist in November, 1956, will speak at a soils meeting Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 19, in the court house here.

Overdahl works in cooperation with Charles Simkins, another extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota, in bringing information on soil fertility and general soil improvement to Minnesota farmers.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Overdahl received his M.S. degree there in 1949, then worked for the agricultural extension service at Iowa State College from 1949-53. He then went to Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., where he was a staff member for a year.

Soils, Fertilizers to Be Discussed at Meeting Tuesday

County Farmers Invited to Hear Soils Authority; Seeds to Be Allocated

Soils is a subject discussed more frequently by farmers than any other topic. It is basic to the production of crops which supply half of the farm income to Pennington farmers. Good crop production per acre also means more livestock can be carried on the farm says County Agent Paul Steimaschuk.

A meeting on soils, fertilization programs, and types of fertilization programs, and types of fertilizer will be held in the courthouse at Thief River Falls on Tuesday. It will start at 2:00 p.m. Curtis J. Overdahl, extension soil specialist at the University of Minnesota, will assist with the meeting.

New chelating agents which have shown promise in correcting high lime soil problems will be discussed. There are many areas where high lime acts as a toxic agent, in preventing good crop growth. Fall fertilization and bulk fertilization, both new trends in farming will be examined. The solubility of fertilizers will also be discussed.

Don Lawrence, SCS technician, will discuss the soil types and variability of soils. Each soil type require different soil management, different fertilizer, and a different cropping practice. Lawrence will point out the differences in soils which you may expect on your farm.

All farmers are urged to attend the meeting, adds Steimaschuk. Fertilizer dealers are invited to attend. Following the soils meeting the new seed available for Pennington seed growers will be allocated. They are Parkland and Forrest Barley, Minhafer oats, Conelly wheat, and Bolley flax.

Trinity Group to Hold Dinner for Fathers and Sons

The annual Fathers and Sons banquet sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of Trinity church will be held in the church Tuesday evening, February 26, at 6:30. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Nelson Preus, pastor of Olivet Lutheran church in Fargo.

Businessmen Guests of TRF Schools Feb. 19

Teachers and School Administration to Return Hospitality

The Thief River Falls school administration and faculty will reciprocate the hospitality shown them by local businessmen last year at Business-education Day by playing host to business and professional people at the first Education-business Day to be held in the schools Tuesday morning, February 19, Supt. J. A. Sater announced today.

The program, which will start with registration at 8:45 at the Lincoln high school auditorium, is designed to acquaint local citizens with the facilities of the school system, and the instruction techniques utilized.

The morning's events will open with demonstrations of the value of modern visual aid equipment at 9 a.m. in the auditorium; of music in the Lincoln music room at 9:30; and of physical education in the gymnasium at 9:45.

Following a 10 o'clock coffee break in the home economics rooms, the guests will be divided into three groups to visit the Knox, Northrop and Washington schools to observe teaching methods and pupil progress.

At 11:10 the group will assemble at the area vocational school, where students will present a demonstration of their work. Starting at 11:30 a tour will be made of the new school construction projects and the school bus garages.

The guests will assemble at 12:20 in the Knox school kindergarten room, where questions relating to school operations will be answered by a panel including Supt. Sater, Paul E. Anderson, secondary director; Kermit L. Eastman, elementary director; F. Miles Nelson, senior high principal; and Arnold Larson, junior high principal. The program will close with the serving of lunch at 12:45 in the Knox cafeteria.

Former Air Force Men Are Invited to Meeting Tuesday

Flight E to Hold Its First Formal Session in Basement of Auditorium

An invitation has been extended to all former Air Force personnel in Thief River Falls and surrounding areas in northwestern Minnesota to attend the first formal meeting of Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve squadron here Tuesday evening in the downstairs meeting room of the city Auditorium.

M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson, 9749th liaison non-com, said Flight E meetings will be held here each Tuesday evening through June 25, after which they will be discontinued until September, when reserve training resumes.

Air Reserve training is set up on a semester basis Hanson said. Scheduling by semesters is applicable to both general training sessions and specialized courses.

Tuesday's meeting of Flight E will be mainly taken up with setting up a training program to cover the balance of the year through June. Duty assignments will also be made among personnel of Flight E and all members are urged to be present. Orientation talks will probably take up the rest of the time at the unit's first meeting.

Sgt. Hanson said it was especially important that all men who were released from active Air Force duty with reserve obligations attend the meeting since these men have an obligation to serve a specified number of years in the reserve before their military service requirements are met.

About half of the personnel assigned to Flight E are men with reserve time to serve, according to 1st Lt. V. M. Draper. The others are World War II veterans, for the most part, he added.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davidson of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Winjum were guests at the H. O. Ness home Sunday.

Mickelson-Larson Rites Solemnized February 9

Zion Lutheran church of this city was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony which united Miss Gloria Ann Mickelson and Lester V. Larson in marriage Saturday evening, February 9. Baskets of white gladioli, blue irises and yellow carnations provided the setting for the double ring ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Walter M. Pedersen in the presence of approximately 160 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Sivert Mickelson of rural Red Lake Falls are the parents of the bride, and the groom is the son of Albert Larson of Martinez, Calif.

Mrs. Reuben Lockrem presided at the organ for the traditional wedding music and played "The Voice that Breathes" as the bridal party proceeded to the altar. She also accompanied Mrs. Walter Pedersen as she sang "Crown With Thy Benediction" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of pleated tulle and imported lace over two layers of net and satin. The bodice, which was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins, featured long tapered sleeves. Her crown was also of pleated tulle and lace with pearl and sequin trim. She carried an orchid and stephanotis on a white Bible, gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by her sister, Clarus Mickelson of this city, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Eldon Larson of this city and Miss Donna Lindquist of Newfolden. They were attired in floor-length gowns of orchid, green and yellow, respectively, fashioned with net and lace over taffeta. The maid of honor carried a crescent bouquet of pink garnet roses and white carnations. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of yellow carnations and baby mums also in a crescent style. They all wore headbands of white satin and clusters of carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Clifford Larson of this city as best man. Groomsmen were Eldon Larson and Stanley Larson of this city cousins of the groom. All men in the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, dark trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

Ushers were James Gilbertson and Merlin Carlson.

Mrs. Mickelson chose for her daughter's wedding a green suit with black accessories. The groom's aunt, Mrs. Gust Larson, was attired in a light beige suit with brown accessories. They both wore corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

The bride's parents were hosts to a reception for 160 guests in the church parlors following the ceremony. Members of Circles 4 and 9 of Zion Lutheran Guild served. The three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with wedding bells and a miniature bridal couple, was cut and served by Mrs. Gust Craft, aunt of the bride. Miss Joann Kapler, friend of the bride, poured. Mrs. Marcie Strand and Bonnie Dickon served as waitresses at the bridal table. The guests were registered by Jane Carlson, friend of the bride, and in charge of the gift table were Mrs. Clifford Larson and Mrs. Art Dicken.

For travel, Mrs. Larson chose a black velvet sheath dress with a white satin embroidered bolero. Black accessories completed her costume. After a three-weeks trip to California, the couple will be at home at 912 Arnold Ave. No. in this city.

The bride is employed as secretary to Attorney Stanley N. Mortenson in this city. The groom is employed by the state highway department as an engineer aid.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lian, Emily Carriere, Sheryl Carriere all of Middle River; Lillian, Lester, Harold, Victor, Lloyd and George Quick all of Borup; Mrs. Charles Christianson of Deerwood.

Former Resident Wed February 9 In Cloquet, Minn.

Nuptial vows were spoken by Miss Marian Larson, formerly of this city and now of Duluth, and William R. Gannon of Cloquet in the Bethany Covenant church in Cloquet February 9 at 3 p.m. The double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Langvand in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives.

The bride is a niece of Miss Amanda Larson of this city, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Priscilla Gannon of Cloquet.

Given in marriage by her brother, Clifford Larson of Holt, the bride was attired in a white brocade street-length dress. Fashioned with princess lines, the bodice featured a scoop neckline which extended to a V in the back. She wore a small white hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations on a white prayer book. The traditional theme of "something old, new, borrowed and blue" was also carried out in her attire.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Janice Beaupre of Duluth, a close friend. She wore an aqua cotton dress styled similar to that of the bride's and a small white hat. Yellow carnations formed her bouquet which she carried on a white prayer book.

Leonard Sanvig, friend of the groom, served as best man.

Miss Amanda Larson chose a navy blue dress for her niece's wedding. The groom's mother was attired in a red dress. They both wore corsages of red carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the couple's home. Immediate relatives and friends were present. Centering the table was a two-tiered wedding cake decorated in white and yellow.

Mrs. Gannon graduated from Lincoln high school in this city and is presently employed by North Shore Mfg. Co. in Duluth. Her husband graduated from Cloquet high school and is at present employed at the Diamond Match Co. in Cloquet.

Orthopedic Clinic Is Set for TRF May 7 & 8

Fourteen areas and about 21 clinic days will make up the spring schedule of field clinics for Minnesota children in need of orthopedic attention. Two clinics at St. Cloud, set for March 2 and 9, will start this year's series, while one at Thief River Falls will be held May 7 and 8, it is announced by the crippled children services of the Minnesota department of welfare.

Special diagnostic consultation is provided for boys and girls from infancy to the age of 21 who have or may be developing crippling disabilities. In most instances, young patients are referred by their family physicians for the examinations by orthopedists and pediatricians. Appointments, made by contacting area public health nurses, are required for all clinics except at Worthington and are spaced so that each child can be given individual attention.

Consultants from the crippled children services of the state welfare department and area public health nurses work with the children's parents to arrange for any needed hospitalization, physical therapy, speech training, vocational counseling or other service, the announcement states.

Cooperating agencies and organizations include: Gillette state hospital, state division for vocational rehabilitation, state Christmas Seal organization, Northwestern Pediatric society, Minnesota-Dakota-Manitoba Orthopedic society, Minnesota State Medical association and local medical socities.

Dates and towns set for field clinics and the counties to be served include Thief River Falls, May 7 and 8, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

SCANNING THE NEWS

Two of the most important issues in the 85th Congress are interdependent, one upon the other. Likely the most important from both a social and political standpoint, is the passage of a more or less liberal civil rights law, particularly as it affects the right to vote.

Certainly the southern representatives in the Senate will filibuster this civil rights bill. But both Democrats and Republicans are looking at the record of the last election and can plainly see what happened to the negro vote, in both the North and South . . . it went to the Republican party, or rather to President Eisenhower, for the first time in more than 25 years. As a result, there is in both parties a slight majority which really wants to vote for some form of a civil rights measure. Dependent upon passage of this civil rights legislation is the vital and important school construction bill.

If civil rights passes, then there is an excellent chance that the school construction bill along lines proposed by the President will get through, that is, if civil rights passes first. If it doesn't then the filibusterers will seek to attach some sort of a civil right amendment onto the school bill, as was done in the last Congress and which likely will again defeat the school measure.

At this writing, it appears that the President's Middle East "Doctrine" will pass the Congress, despite the "bull-in-a-China shop" tactics of Secretary of State Dulles. Many members of the Congress, including both Democrats and Republicans find it hard to reconcile Dulles' statements today that the President's blank check Middle East legislation is today vital to the nation's safety, or the safety of the Middle Eastern nations, when in November both Dulles and the President were saying to the people that things were never better in that section of the world, and that no American soldier would ever be committed to settle the Egyptian or any other question in the Middle East. What is paradoxical about the Congressional attitude, is that there has been little fuss raised about the President's urgent plea that he be given a blank check to use United States manpower in that area. What has raised all the fuss is over the question of money, a mere $200 million, whereas the Congress has heretofore voted much, much more in foreign aid without batting an eye.

With some few exceptions, on the Democratic side, the Senators take the view expressed by Former President Truman — give the President the power and authority he asks, and then ask some very pointed questions. One outstanding exception is Senator J. W. Fulbright, of Arkansas, one of the best informed men in the Senate on foreign affairs, a long time member and third ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee. The Arkansas Senator has directly challenged either the necessity or wisdom of the President's so-called doctrine.

Other important legislation which will see some acrimonious debate will be over the policies of the Atomic Energy Commission which seek to turn over atomic power to private industry.

NW. BANCO FEELS ECONOMIC PULSE

Seventy-five state and national banks with 23 additional banking offices comprise Northwest Bancorporation, serving Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, and western Wisconsin. Current Bancorporation annual report shows the 1956 ups and downs of this area compared with the rest of the United States. New car registrations were off 17.6% from 1955, compared with a national drop of 16.9%; iron ore shipments were down 13.1% here, 10.8% generally; our wheat production was down 10.6%, national gained 6.7%; cash receipts from farm marketings were down 1% compared with a national gain of 2.8%. This area was up 2.8% in residential construction compared with a national drop of 7.4%. All other indicators showed a gain, local and national: non-agricultural employment 2%, 3.1%; department store sales 2.1%, 5.1%; milk production 4.2%, 3%; livestock slaughter 5%, 6.4%; bank debits 5.7%, 8.5%; corn production 8.7%, 6.9%; non-residential construction 10.7%, 8.4%; oil production 34.7%, 6%. The Northwest drop from 1955 totals 42.3% compared with national 35.1%, but on the gain side this area outstrips the national figure 76.2% to 56.9%.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

I have studied your recent editorial re University of Minnesota. I note, critically, your comment re "closed shop status." I hold no brief for the professions listed nor the heads of those departments at the U, but my study of our high school standards has got me to thinking along another line.

My studies so far as the U is concerned have been along engineering lines but has overlapped into the medical profession. I have determined pretty well to my own satisfaction that the dearth of engineering graduates is due almost entirely to lack of proper high school grounding. This is also true I know in the case of a couple of Crookston boys who entered the U as premedical students and flunked out.

Medicine and engineering are probably the toughest courses offered at any university, and students who take them must have some educational background and know how to study and apply themselves. Most of the present day high school graduates get neither by completing the grossly watered-down courses being required by our high schools.

If you happened to see the dissertion of mine that appeared in the February 11th and 12th issues of the Crookston Times, you will know what my position is insofar as higher engineering education is concerned, and I feel the same applies to medical education as well.

I feel that our whole tax-supported educational system from the grade schools up needs a thorough overhauling; probably the Teacher's Colleges most of all, since they are turning out most of our teachers.

Lee R. Boyd,
Crookston, Minn.

FAMILY MATTERS

When the entire Dufek family gets home it's not only "an occasion"—it's a major reunion; from military service, work, school, and various other scattered spots, all 15 of the Clarence Dufek children foregathered for Holidays at their Joran home, whence Senior effectively operates as a field man for Licensed Beverage Industries. . . Melose and Kenyon newspapers recently pictured two of the many five-generation families thriving in Minnesota. . . Mr. and Mrs. William Richards, respectively 81 and 80, recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their Kelliher home. . . At 93 and 85, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown celebrated at Kimball their 68th wedding anniversary; they have 14 great-grandchildren. . . An Austin lady set her alarm for 2 o'clock so as not to over-do an afternoon nap; next morning she was surprised to note that it was still dark after the family ironing and other chores were done; a check of the time disclosed that she had been up since 2:00.

Mercury Drops to —10 This Morning for Tonight, Tuesday Much Colder Forecast

Vacation's over—and Ol' Man Winter is back at his roaring best (or worst) as the mild temperatures of last week gave way to the below-zero temperature readings again. There was some snow thrown in for good measure Sunday but the amount was slight.

The latest U.S. weather bureau long-range forecast predicts below normal precipitation in our upper midwest area and temperatures will be about normal—which could be good or bad news, depending on the individual viewpoint.

The temperature record since Thursday shows all highs above zero and all but one day's low below zero. Friday's 30 above was high for the period while Thursday's minus 12 captured the low honors.

The Monday low was 10 below, Sunday's high was 25, with clouds, wind and snow flurries. Snowfall was not measured but amounted to only slightly more than a trace.

The forecast: much colder and generally fair today and tonight. Tuesday will be partly cloudy and continued cold. Little change is expected Wednesday. Highs will range from 0 to 10 above. The mercury will really hit the skids tonight, when a low of 15 to 25 below is expected in our area.

Winds will be northerly, 10 to 15 m.p.h., decreasing tonight.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare University of Minnesota

Is There a Father In The House?

"Monism" is a term used to describe what is supposedly common of late, homes dominated by Moms. People show varying amounts of concern about it, depending upon their own views and what the alleged results of "Momism" are. For example, during World War II military leaders lamented the soft, gentle, sensitive qualities in our soldiers which made it hard to train them to fight a war. Usually this was "blamed" on Mom. European girls, however, rushed to wed our soldiers, often because of these gentle traits, and they valued them.

Whatever the Mom-produced traits are, and to whatever extent they are valued, most everyone, including Mom, agrees that a Mom-and-Pop home is best. It might also be added that a recommended cure (or preventive) for "Momism" is more "Popism."

Uncooperative attitudes shared by husband and wife spill over. For example, some wives ask for, and get, a "Hands off—that's my job" home. The wife may feel justified because she is shut out of the husband's realm, and there is nothing left to feel important and indispensable about if she is not in the home. This idea of justice may help her, but it is hard on the children.

Not long ago in studying children's attitudes, some four to seven year olds were asked to say the first word that came to mind when "key words" were spoken, one of which was "Father." These responses came quickly: ashes, grouchy, big feet, spank, busy, money, fish, and car. While they do not represent children's total ideas of Father, they do suggest some rather interesting thoughts.

The role Father can and should play depends upon many things, especially the customs of the neighborhood. Some of the new suburbs are veritable "Papa towns," where a man just isn't fashionable without a baby buggy to push. Contrast this, though, with the course it takes to do the same thing elsewhere if baby buggy pushing "just isn't done" by men. Family sizes, ages of children (and Pop) make a difference, too. No one pattern is right for all, but the answer to "Is there a Father in the house?" should more often be "Yes, indeed, right here with the kids!"

Responsibility

Everybody talks about responsibility but not everybody means the same thing by it. It is easier to decide who is repsonsiblle than what it is.

Paul is president of Kiwanis and is always there to preside. He is good at smoothing ruffled feathers, and is frank and honest in his dealing with everyone. When he says he will do a thing you can depend upon him. His credit rating is tops. He is responsible.

Bill is twelve. He has a paper route an never fails to deliver papers on time. He does odd jobs in the neighborhood well and without supervision. He remembers to take the dog out. He puts on clean underwear without being told. So Bill is said to be responsible.

Sandra is five. She picks up her toys and closes drawers. She goes to the grocery and gets what she is told and brings home the change. She wipes her feet before coming into the house. She takes turns at play. Sandra is responsible.

Some of the traits common to Paul, Bill, and Sandra are dependability, punctuality, independence, perseverance, social sensitivity, loyalty, and conformity each of which tells only a part of the story of developing a responsible person. At different age levels different phases of responsibility emerge.

In the preschool years increasing maturity and self-help are rightly stressed; in elementary school years learning to conform to group living and building good work habits is accented; during adolescence learning to balance individual and group demands and to become self-propelling and self-adjusting are important; for the adult responsibility means keeping all of the foregoing and adding unselfish long-range concern for the welfare of other members of family, state, nation, and world.

It is well to remember that some of the attitudes of responsibility must be directed toward self and some toward groups. We must be growing, creative, productive individuals before we can be assets to groups. Children will show responsibility in different ways, depending upon age and circumstance.

Shootin' the Breeze

We never thought it would happen . . . a breakfast cereal manufacturer put out a new product and he isn't giving premiums, coupons, prizes or anything to induce folks to buy it.

On the box it says "If you're interested in gadgets instead of gastronomics your five-and-ten will be happy to accommodate you . . . We believe we offer the tastiest cereal on the market . . so why should you be bribed to eat it?"

We bet a lot of kids will be surprised to discover people who eat such stuff!

Boy, oh boy, does this one from the Readers Digest ever hit home to those, at times insufferable, optimists:

"If winter come . . ."
The verse began,
"Can spring be far behind?"
You bet it can!

We were quite surprised to get a birthday card from Phoenix, Ariz. Saturday for several reasons: (1) We don't know anyone in Phoenix (or didn't until this card arrived). (2) When we opened the card we discovered it was from Lloyd Bennes. We didn't know he was in Phoenix. (3) We didn't know Lloyd knew our birthday was Saturday.

Lloyd says they're having perfect golfing weather down that way and that he had a game with Dr. Bratrud and Frank Tunberg last Monday.

All that sunshine and warmth must really be hard to take, eh, Lloyd?

The man who says he has more time than money and thinks other folks are the same way soon changes his opinion when others start imposing on his free time.

Such a man would never think that in the first place if he could just realize how short his life span of three-score and ten years really is as compared to eternity!

Scientists tell us that if the ages of the Earth could be reckoned as a single year the known existence of man on this planet could be reckoned as having started sometime in December. The time since Christ was on Earth, if our memory is correct, could be reckoned as having started late Dec. 31 of that year.

So, the next time someone says he has more time than money take a good look at him because there's a man who doesn't know how to tell time!

The above, of course, is the reason why we can't understand why some folks spend their whole lives trying to make another dollar—and too many of the others spend their evenings going to meetings of some unnecessary organization instead of enjoying life as it should be enjoyed.

As Puck, Shakespeare's mischievous fairy, puts it, "What fools these mortals be!" So long!

4-H CLUB NEWS

Rocksbury 4-H Club

The main attraction of the Rocksbury 4-H club meeting that was held at the Martin Finstad home Feb. 6, were dairy foods demonstrations and project talks. "Party Snacks with Dairy Foods," were given by Virginia Finstad and Bonnie Dicken, and "Cheese Biscuits" by Cathy Mousley. An illustrated project talk on grain was given by Don Wald. Cathy and Margaret Mousley played two piano solos. Paul Stelmaschuk spoke on grain clinic and program, the changing of mechanics to farm and home shop and the 4-H livestock conservation demonstration program. He talked about the dairy calf that will be given to some lucky boy or girl who has been in dairy for two or more years and hasn't won a trip to the state fair. This calf is given by Art Dicken.

After a brief business meeting, our County Agent showed a movie "4-H Here and There," followed by lunch served by the Martin Finstad and Arnold Gunderson families. Virginia Finstad, reporter.

Smiley 4-H Club

Good attendance was noted when the Smiley 4-H Club met on the evening of Feb. 12.

During the business meeting it was decided that the proceeds of the meeting would be given to the polio fund. The coaches for the 4-H play will be Mrs. Anton Torkelson, Mrs. Herman Rude, and Mrs. Norton Nelson.

Sharon Nelson presented the program which consisted of group singing led by Sharon Knutson with Faye Torkelson at the piano. Interesting project talks were given by Bobbie McCrum on gardening and Mark Bruggeman on his dairy calf. A demonstration was given by Charles Carlson on a doll cradle which he made for his little sister.

The program was closed with a song by Gloria Phillip, Carol Stenseth, and Nancy Newton. At the close of the meeting a contest on the identification of leaves was conducted by Mrs. Nelson and Maurice Newton.

Valentines were signed and collected to be given to Arlo Rude who is ill in the hospital.

Games were played and lunch was served by the Bruggeman and McCrum families. Nelda Nelson, reporter.

Mavie

The Mavie 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Thursday, Feb. 7th at the Frank Kainz home. The topic was presented by Marie Breznay on food preservation. A demonstration was given by Ronnie Hamre on "How to Clean A Dairy Clipper." Shirley Oski gave an illustrated project talk on health, the subject being posture. It was favored to contribute $2.00 to the March of Dimes.

The program consisted of riddles by Lon Szymanski, jokes by Sharon Lindwick, a vocal duet by Shirley Oski and Donnie Hanson, a poem, by Rodney Wayne and Dennis Kainz, a story by Mrs. Breznay and a vocal quartet by Kathy Svendsgaard, Shirley Skibicki, Ellen Fulton, and Susan Bornholdt.

Shirley Oski led in recreational games and Ernest and Bill showed a movie entitled, "4-H'ers Here and There." Visitors present from the Goodridge club were Mrs. Lloyd Wilkins and Ronnie.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Kainz and Mrs. Hamre.

The Sanders 4-H club met at the Vernon Wold home Wednesday, Feb. 13. It was decided to have a window display for National 4-H club week. A committee made up of Joan Welsh, Rosalie Koralewski and Kathy Wold was assigned to work on this. The evening lunch money was voted to the March of Dimes. Tommy Welsch gave a demonstration on the "grooming of hands." The program consisted of several readings and group singing. Lunch was served by Mrs. Wold. The next meeting will be March 13 with Mrs. Thelma Larson as hostess.

Pioneer Succumbs

ERNEST A. YONKE

A native of Sanders township, where he was born February 14, 1886, who died last Monday in his 71st year, and for whom funeral rites were conducted Friday afternoon from Trinity Lutheran church. He was active for many years in township and school district affairs.

Did You Know That—

—For every dollar spent in 1955 by consumers for food, 8 cents went for transportation? In contrast, transportation cost consumers less than 6 cents of the food dollar in 1945.

—A consumer survey made in three American cities showed that apple pie was baked by more homemakers than any other pie? Following apple pie, favorites were cherry, pumpkin, lemon cream and chocolate.

—Baby beef, thrifty beef, economy beef, etc., are brand or trade names. The term "baby beef" is used to describe beef from 450-pound to 600-pound animals.

—The average homemaker can name only about 20 of the more than 120 retail cuts of meat in the market?

According to a nationwide survey, flour mixes, such as pancake, cake, hot bread and other kinds, were used by 4 out of 10 families at least once during the week the survey was made.

See you next week!

HAZEL . . .

Visitors at the Henry Burstad home a week ago Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson of Crookston and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson.

Mrs. Marie Omlid and Sidney of Bemidji, Mrs. Wallace Holthusen and children and Mrs. A. Hagen of Grygla visited Saturday at the Jesse Skaaren home.

4-H'er of the WEEK

Janice Johnson

This week we'd like you to meet Janice Johnson of the Double N 4-H Club. This is Janice's fourth year in 4-H.

The Double N Club has members in Norden and Numedal townships, and the names of the club was chosen from the first letters of the two townships.

Janice has served as president, vice president and secretary of the club. She has been a Sunday School teacher, and pianist for her church and Sunday School. In high school, she is in the mixed chorus, the glee club, Library club and Projectionist club. She also works on the school paper.

Her future is uncertain, but she thinks that she might like to be a nurse.

Of 4-H club work, Janice says: "4-H has helped me in many, many ways. It has helped me in holding different offices, and also take part in many things. I have learned to help others by taking Junior Leadership. I have also found out that it really pays to get things done on time.

"In 4-H I first got started in sewing and cooking. By doing it in 4-H I have really learned a lot about both of them.

I have really enjoyed the four years I have been in 4-H. I am also looking forward to this, my 5th year."

Janice's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norval Johnson who farm in Numedal township.

Wavell Seibert

An active 4-H'er in Pennington County is Wavell Siebert, who belongs to the Star 4-H Club. Wavell, who first enrolled in 1950, is especially outstanding for her work in the sheep project, which she has been enrolled in for six years. In her seven years of club work she has also carried projects in home assistance, chickens, and dairy calf, and has done well in all her records.

Last year Wavell was awarded a trip to the state fair with her sheep, after winning the county championship.

She has also won trips to the Junior Market Livestock show at South St. Paul. Both of these are top awards given to county winners.

Wavell is a top notch competitor and has done a fine job in all her exhibt work.

Wavell's mother, Mrs. Alvin Fjeld of Goodridge, has been an adult leader of the Star club for two years; 1953, and the present year. Mrs. Swen Sjulstad is the other leader of the Star 4-H Club.

Middle River . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Wold visited relatives in Fargo, N. D. from Friday until Monday of last week. They visited with their daughter, Rachel who is attending college there and with Mr. Johnson's mother and sister. They also visited at the Slingsby and Madison homes, who are aunts of theirs. On Sunday they attended services at the First Lutheran Church. On their return they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Syverson at Ulen, also an uncle.

Ladies Aid To Meet

The St. Pauli ladies aid will meet at the Melvin Torkelson home Thursday afternoon, February 14, at 2:30 o'clock. Lunch will be served by Mrs. Arnold Helgeland and Mrs. Torkelson.

Richard Amren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Amren left recently for Camp Ord, California having enlisted in the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson left Tuesday for St. Paul where Mr. Peterson attended a school board convention. They also visited at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Peterson.

During their absence Mrs. John Peterson of Thief River Falls stayed at the Earl Peterson home with her grandchildren, David and Ruth. They returned home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Froiland and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson and Johnny helped Mrs. John Peterson of Thief River Falls celebrate her birthday anniversary a week ago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson, David and Ruth visited Friday evening at the Henry Bothman home in Thief River Falls.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS, BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINN.

February 5, 1957

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of County Commissioners met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse at 10:00 A.M., February 5, 1957.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Anderson, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of the meeting of January 8 were read and approved with the exception of the motion that reads that the County Auditor be allowed an additional $1520.00 for the year 1957 which shall be corrected to read as intended, i.e: That the County Auditor be allowed additional Clerk Hire in the amount of $1520.00 for the year 1957.

Commissioner Anderson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption.

WHEREAS, Pennington County State Aid Road No. 1, located between the Northwest corner of Section 6, T152N, R44W, and Trunk Highway No. 32, a distance of 6.5 miles is on the County F.A.S. Route and in need of regrading and gravel surfacing. This road is one of the County's important farm to market roads connecting T.H. No. 32 at St. Hilaire and Polk County F.A.S. Route on the West County line which connects T.H. 75, and

WHEREAS, Due to the programming of additional grading projects on F.A.S. Route for the coming Season in addition to the regular County Aid Road regraveling need and due to the limited budget of the County Road and Bridge Fund, it becomes difficult for Pennington County to meet its obligations and match Federal Aid Secondary Funds for the grading and gravel surfacing of this project without the Aid of a Special Allotment from the State.

NOW, THEN BE IT RESOLVED: That the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County respectfully requests the Commissioner of Highways and the State Allotment Board for a Special Allotment of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) dollars to assist Pennington County in matching Federal Funds for grading and gravel surfacing of SAR No. 1, between the N.W. Corner of Section 6, T152N, R44W, and T.H. No. 32 at St. Hilaire, Minn. a distance of 6.5 miles.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and declared carried.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption.

Designating Extension to County Aid Road No. 54.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the following described road be and the same is hereby designated as an extension to County Aid Road Number 54: Beginning at the Southwest corner of Section 2, T152N, R42W, (Smiley Twp.), thence Easterly along the Section line between Section 2 and Section 11, a distance of 1.0 mile to the Southeast corner of said Section 2 and there terminating. Total length of this designation being 1.0 mile.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Olson and declared carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Anderson that the County Engineer and County Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for rental of equipment for the 1957 season's ditch and road work, bids to be called and opened at 2:00 P. M., March 5, 1957. Carried.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Hanson that Dr. H. Paul Wendt be appointed County Health Officer for the year 1957 and along with Commissioners Lindberg and Olson shall constitute the County Health Committee.

Carried.

Commissioner Anderson appointed Mrs. Leonard Melin to represent the 3rd Commissioners District on the County Extension Committee for a three year term to expire Dec. 31, 1959.

Members of the Town Board of Sanders Township appeared and after discussion the County Board agreed to participate on a 50-50 basis in construction of 1½ miles of road and the first gravel course on road to run between Sections 19 & 20 in Sanders Twp. and connecting C.A.R. 30 and C.A.R. 60 with the road to remain a Township road and Township to handle contract and finances.

Surety Bond of Gunnar Gunstenson as County Assessor was approved in the amount of $1,000.00 with the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York on motion by Hanson seconded by Lindberg and carried.

The Highlanding Club presented application for abatement of interest and penalty on taxes for years 1950 thru 1955. Upon approval of Town Board the County approved said application subject to approval of the State Department of Taxation.

Application for Homestead classification approved as presented by R. F. Mauer on Lot 1 in Block 12 in Oakland addition and for D. S. Green on S½SW¼ and S½SE¼, Section 25, T154N, R44N (Norden Twp.) and the Auditor and Treasurer instructed and authorized to change their records accordingly.

MOTHER FOR THE MARTINS

By Anna Nash Yarbrough

DAN MARTIN, tall, good-looking, red headed, opened his front door and called out, "How're my Gals?"

Mary and Anne dashed across the living room and into his arms while Baby Betty sat on the floor and patted her chubby little hands together in anticipation of the kiss she would soon receive.

Mrs. Doran, the housekeeper, had a piping good dinner, but Dan was glad when she was gone, and he and the girls were gathered into the living room for the very nicest hour of the day.

Mary, his eight year old, said quite unexpectedly, "Daddy, will you get us a mother? We need one."

Anne, his six year old, as if this were a cue, burst into noisy sobs.

Dan said anxiously, "What's the matter, Anne?"

Anne sobbed pitiously, "Miss Meredith called me a mule today."

That raised Dan's dander, "Who's this Miss Meredith? And what in the world did she do that for?"

Anne explained between sobs, "She's the City Health Nurse. She called me a mule."

Dan yelled, "She can't do this to my daughter! I'll phone her and tell her so!"

He grabbed the telephone directory and began searching through the M's.

Just as he was ready to lift the phone from its cradle, Mary grabbed his hand, "Wait Daddy, let's go see Miss Meredith . . . ."

Anne chimed in, "Sure, Daddy, you can tell her right to her face . . ."

"I'll do that!" Dan slamed the phone down.

He whisked his car away from the big houses that sat on deep, wide lawns to a street of apartment houses with almost no lawns.

Then he slowed his car and began to watch the house numbers. The house was just like all the others in the block, except it bore the wanted number.

Miss Meredith's room was down a long, narrow hall.

Dan knocked on the door, carrying Baby Betty in his arms.

Dan blurted out, "My daughter, Anne, tells me, you called her a mule today. Why?"

Miss Meredith lifted her dark brows in evident surprise, "A mule?" she repeated, then looked questioningly at Anne.

Anne's chin went up, "Yes," she agreed, "You came to our school to examine vacination scars. I told you we had small pox when Mother died. You said I was a mule."

"Oh," Miss Meredith's pretty red-lips perked up, "I said you are immune."

Then Miss Meredith looked down at Anne, and smiled.

Anne did a shocking thing. She winked at Mary.

Dan began to back away from the door, feeling more the fool by the second. Things were going on around here that he didn't understand.

Miss Meredith said, "Oh, Mr. Martin, do bring the little girls in for a while? I'd so love to have them visit me."

"Yes," chimed Mary and Anne.

"Yes," echoed Baby Betty.

While the girls sipped cocoa and cookies crunched, Dan explained to Miss Meredith the workings of the First National Bank. She seemed very interested, saying, "Oh, you must do exciting work, Mr. Martin."

When the little family started to leave, Dan, knowing his face was as crazily red as a liability list, said, "Miss Meredith, the children get pretty lonesome. Could you stop by sometime . . ."

Then Miss Meredith's face turned a very pretty pink, "I'd love to visit the children," she said.

Again Anne winked at Mary. Going home, Dan whistled under his breath, and grinned. Kids were pretty smart these days.

A Peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

BING CROSBY'S recording of "True Love" is his first million seller in some years and it's probably one of his most thrilling, as it marks the 20th gold record in his career a record that will be extremely difficult to top even for Elvis Presley . . . Incidentally, Grace Kelly realized about $11,000 as her share in the disc, which should just be enough to equip the nursery for the heir.

Speaking of Elvis, his first movie did fairly well at the box office but not half as well as his records, which go like hot cakes . . . We'd nominate the TV variety show with the best taste as Perry Como's without question, followed closely by Ed Sullivan . . . Ed, by the way, will not have Presley back for any more appearances as his asking price is a little beyond the budget despite the good he did Sullivan's ratings.

PLATTER CHATTER

CAPITOL:—This company has come out with a rash of terrific hi-fi albums, all pretty nice to have around the house . . . The Four Freshmen, who have made a big name for themselves in a short while, come up with one that all exponents of the new jazz age will take to heart . . . Accompanied by five trumpets, the boys do 12 numbers in their easy-going, change-of-pace manner, including "Easy Street," "Laughing on the Outside," "After You've Gone," "Goodbye," "Get a Date With An Angel," "Someone Like You," "Good Night, Sweetheart" and others

In singles, Les Baxter's "A Woman's Devotion" is one to keep your eye on . . . It's backed by an instrumental that may go places, too: "The Clown on the Eiffel Tower" . . . Nat King Cole does his usual good job on "Ballerina" and "You are my First Love."

Public and parochial schools enrolled in the Junior Red Cross program last year numbered 71,000.

SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. Robert H. Harper

DEBT TO THE PAST

"IN the ancient mystical letters of the Ephesians," wrote Marcus Aurelius, "there was an item that one should always have in mind some one of the ancient worthies."

At a Kiwanis international convention in Portland, Oregon, one of the speakers was a Canadian who spoke in the course of his address of the permanence and power of principles and ideals. "Aaron dies and Moses passes," he declared, "but the ark of the covenant remains, untouched by the elements of time."

In the realm of mechanics, it is true that application, elaboration and else men are under debt to a young man who watched his mother's kettle boil and discovered the power of steam. No present-day Franklin conducts electricity down a kite string, but the world is indebted to the great man who demonstrated the force of electricity.

In the realm of the spirit, the "cloud of witnesses" of which the apostle writes, has left us imperishable example of faith and consecration. And as we follow the example left us, we ourselves shall leave "footprints on the sands of time."

Prowler Quint Loses to Kennedy 52 to 42; G. Forks Here Feb. 20

The Prowler cagers turned in an inconsistent brand of ball on Friday night as they dropped a 52 to 42 decision to the Kennedy Rockets in a game played on the Kennedy court. The win was the eighteenth straight for the Rockets this season, while the loss was the seventh of the season for the Prowlers, who have scored ten victories.

On Wednesday night, Feb. 20th, the Prowlers will conclude their home schedule as they are hosts to the Grand Forks Redskins in an interstate tussle. The Redskins, rated as one of the stronger Class A teams in North Dakota this season, will be favored to defeat the locals on Wednesday night. In last year's competition, Grand Forks, by a 62 to 51 score, defeated the Prowlers on the Redskin court.

On Friday night at Kennedy, the Prowlers jumped into an early 9 to 0 lead, and held a 17 to 11 advantage at the end of the first quarter. Dave Rasmussen, with four field goals and a free throw, led the Prowlers' first period scoring spurt.

The local cagers, although outscored 10 to 7 in the second period, managed to hold their point lead, and left the floor at the intermission leading by a 24 to 21 score. Forward Louis Deere picked up five Rocket points in the second period.

The Rockets' "big" period was the third quarter when, with veterans Wayne Langen and Gary Olstad contributing 8 and 7 points, respectively, Coach Laurel Olson's 32nd district champions tallied 17 points to overcome the Prowler lead and take a 38 to 35 advantage.

Deere, with four field goals and a pair of free throws, poured in ten points in the final quarter as the Rockets moved to their 52 to 42 triumph. Deere, with 19 points, was the game's high scorer, with Olstad scoring 15 points, and Wayne Langen adding 12 points to the Kennedy cause.

Dave Rasmussen and Ken Jones, with 10 points, led the Prowler scorers. The Prowlers' high-scoring center, Dave Hanson, was held to nine points, on four field goals and a free throw. It marked the first time this season that Hanson had been held below double-digit figures.

In the preliminary game, Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team, with well-balanced scoring, trounced the Kennedy 'B' team, 50 to 18.

Jim Hall Leading Prowler Hockey Scorer of Season

Jim Hall, senior center on the Prowlers' number one line, and Jerry Jorgenson, sophomore center on the number two line, led the scoring for coach John Matchefts' hockey squad this past season. Hall scored 16 goals and was credited with 13 assists for a 29-point total. Jorgenson, who centered the line that had freshman Dale Wennberg and Arlen Hjelle on the wings, had 11 goals and 8 assists for 20 points.

Jim Nelson, the rugged defenseman for the Prowlers, led the penalty-servers, being assessed with nine penalties. Archie Schneider and Hall drew six penalties apiece during the season.

Minnesota State Hockey Tourney Opens Thursday

Hallock Six to Play International Falls in Event's 1st Round

The 13th annual Minnesota state high school hockey tournament will get under way on the Auditorium ice sheet in St. Paul on Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. when Minneapolis South, the Region Five entry, meets Edina-Morningside, the Region Six entry. At 4:00 p.m., the Hallock Polar Bears, representing Region Three will play the powerful International Falls Broncos from Region Seven. (In the Region Seven tournament finals on Saturday night, the Broncos edged out Eveleth, 3 to 1.)

Eveleth's loss to the Broncos on Saturday night will prevent the Golden Bears from playing in this year's state tourney, and that will mark the first time in thirteen years that the Bears have failed to gain a state tourney berth.

At 7:30 p.m. St. Paul Murray, of Region One, will meet coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, the Region Eight champions. And at 9:00 p.m. the first round of day will be concluded with the game between South St. Paul of Region Two meeting St. Paul Johnson of Region Four.

The semi-finals will be played at 7:30 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. on Friday night, with the championship finals being slated for 9:00 p.m. on Friday night, with the championship finals being slated for 9:00 p.m. on Saturday night.

The local radio station, with Doug Tegtmeier at rink-side, will be carrying the games of the Hallock Polar Bears and the Roseau Rams.

In the eighth region's play at Roseau on Thursday and Friday of last week, Roseau and Hallock won their state tourney entry berths. In the semi-finals on Thursday, Roseau defeated Baudette, 5 to 1; and Hallock, in a well-played and bitterly contested tilt, defeated the Williams Wolves, 2 to 0. In the championship finals on Friday night, Roseau shut out Hallock to win by a 5 to 0 score. In the consolation game, Williams edged out Baudette, 3 to 2.

Thieves Defeat Elmwood Mercury Six Here Sunday

Locals Even Series By Defeating Winnipeg Aggregation 9 to 5

The senior hockey Thieves evened their series with the Elmwood Mercurys when, in a game played on the Arena ice on Sunday afternoon, coach Paul Bedard's club defeated the Winnipeg squad, 9 to 5.

The Thieves turned in a fine brand of hockey as they outmanned the leg-weary Mercurys. Clifford Chip Strand proved to be the Thieves' sparkler, for the blond right wing came in for numerous shots at the Elmwood goalie. Cal Murphy Offerdahl pressed the Chipper for starring honors, for Cal scored a pair of goals, getting a backhander in the second period while being spun off balance by an Elmwood defenseman.

The Thieves lineup had Rod Collins in goal, Paul Bedard and Mouse Efteland as one set of blue-liners (and the visitors scored four of their five goals while these veterans were patrolling the blue-line) and Mike McMahon and Dick Lane as the other pair of back-liners. The forward lines were manned by Glen Carlson, Chip Strand, Al Steenerson, Chick Oveson, Sid Vraa, Gordy Bjerken, Cal and DelRay Offerdahl, and Jimmy Hall.

The control of game was in the capable hands of Dennis Spanky Sullivan and Jack McGill.

Knox School Quint Takes Washington

East Side Grade School Wins 4th in Row 21 to 12

The Knox school team of the city grade school basketball league won its fourth successive game on Thursday afternoon when they defeated the Washington team, 21 to 12.

The Knox team leads the league with a record of four wins and no losses; Northrop is in second place with two wins and two losses; and Washington, with four losses, is on the bottom rung.

In Thursday's game, the Knox team, with forward Mark Anderson scoring three baskets on drive-ins, pulled away to an early lead in the first period. The Knox Tigers, with 5-foot, 5-inch center Dwight Marcinlak clearing the rebounds, led all the way, and had a 12 to 8 lead at the intermission.

Larry Feigal paced the Washington Wildcats with six points.

BASKET JOHLFS "RIDES AGAIN..."

You can't lose heavily, even if your don't win much, betting on the field. So Minneapolis' noted basketball observer and analyst, Art Johlfs, by profession a real estate man, plays it pretty safe by starting his tournament predictions from a broad base. He looks for a good district showing by the following schools, expects many of them to emerge in regional play, and wouldn't be surprised to find some in the up-coming state tournament. Particular favorites of the moment are Anoka, Bemidji, Brainerd, Coleraine, Duluth East, Fergus Falls, Granite Falls, Kennedy, Montevideo, Mountain Lake, Red Wing, Rochester, Roosevelt (Minneapolis), Willmar, Winona, Worthington. Dark horses include Alden, Argyle, Aurora, Belgrade, Belview, Bird Island, Brooten, Cannon Falls, Cass Lake, Cottonwood, Danube, Elmore, Esko, Fertile, Folley, Gaylord, Grand Marais, Halstad, Hector, Hoffman, Isle, Karlstad, Kennedy, LeRoy, Lake, Rush City, Sanborn, Sherburn, Spring Grove, Tri-Mont, Two Harbors, Tyler, Walker, Walnut Grove, Waubun, Welcome. ..Or any other school that puts on a last minute spurt.

C. Marvin to Coach AHA All-star Team

Warroad Man Is Given High Coaching Position

Cal Marvin, 32-year old Warroad native, and well-known to hockey fans here was named coach of the American Hockey Association all-star team for the 1957-58 season.

The announcement of Marvin's selection as the coach of the American entry in the World's hockey tournament next year, was made on Thursday by Robert Ridder of St. Paul, vice president of the A. H. A.

Marvin is eminently qualified to coach the American all-star aggregation for he has followed up an active playing career, which saw Cal playing with the North Dakota Sioux during 1947-48-49, and later was a member of the Warroad Lakers of the States Dominion and Northwest Hockey loops. The past two year he has directed the destinies of the Warroad Lakers, coaching the club to league titles.

Marvin is a vice president of the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association.

Only Two Weekend Traffic Mishaps

$195 Damage Caused by Collision on Bridge

All three law enforcement agencies in the city chalked up a relatively quiet weekend, with city police reporting two non-injury accidents. To date this year no traffic fatalities have been reported in the city or area.

Neither Sheriff Charles Richards nor the highway patrol headquarters here had so much as a minor accident to report, as drivers, generally, continued their good record. Over the state there were five weekend traffic fatalities, according to Capt. Walter Anderson of the patrol.

In the city a minor collision at 2:40 p.m. Saturday, between a car driven by Ronald E. Engelstad, Gatzke, and a pickup truck driven by Reynold A. Mattson, city, resulted in $15 damages to the Engelstad car. The vehicles collided as Engelstad was leaving the Red Owl parking lot and met the truck driven north in the alley behind the Red Owl store by Mattson.

Sunday at 5:13 p.m. Anna Marie Jones, Fargo, N. D. going west on the 8th st., bridge, collided with Franklin W. Rux, city, who was entering the bridge on the west side. The damages from the collision to the Jones car were estimated at $110 and to the Rux car $85, police said.

Lincoln School Debaters Ninth in State Tourney

Cloquet high school won first place in the Minnesota state high school debate tourney held Saturday at Macalester college in St. Paul, and Alexander Ramsey high school, St. Paul, placed second. With 17 schools participating, Lincoln high school debaters coached by Norman Arveson won ninth place.

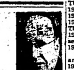
Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson



Along the Sideboards

Elmer Poole provides us with the information that the former Prowler hockey players who are members of the Rochester Mustangs of the Central Hockey league did right well in the scoring column this year. Bob Baker, the old master, and an all-state tournament choice in 1954, turned in a five-point effort in the season's final game to boost his point total to 28 points, to gain first place.

Paul Johnson and Bud Brossoit, also members of the Mustangs, tied for second place with 26 points apiece. Ken Yackel, the former Minnesota hockey star and now a member of the Minneapolis Bungalows, took third place with 25 points. In fourth place, with 24 points, was Jackie Poole, last season's Prowler all-state tournament selection. That's not bad for Prowler hockey, having Bob Baker, Bud Brossoit, and Jack Poole monopolizing the Central Hockey league scoring honors.

And speaking of Jackie. He's to participate in the national junior hockey game. This promotion has become an annual affair, and is contested between junior players from the East and junior players from the West.

We stubbornly maintain that the North Dakota Sioux or the Minnesota Gophers are making a mistake in not giving Jack a hockey scholarship. As a college prospect, he rates as highly as brother Joey, who is a stellar member of Al Renfrew's North Dakota club. Joey, by the way, scored the winning goal that gave the Sioux a 4 to 3 overtime win over Michigan Tech on Saturday night, giving North Dakota a sweep of the two-game series.

Incidentally, the Rochester Mustangs dropped their two-game weekend series with the powerful Warroad Lakers, losing by a 5 to 4 score on Saturday night, and being trounced, 9 to 1, on Sunday afternoon. The games were played on the Rochester ice.

Mike McMahon, an all-state tournament selection, at defense, while a member of the 1954 Prowler state champion hockey team, has transferred from Minnesota to North Dakota U. Mike, in the two years that he was in attendance at Minnesota, ran into scholastic difficulties and consequently was ineligible for Coach John Mariucci's Gopher varsity.

We hear, too, that there is a possibility that Loren Sid Vraa will transfer to Moorhead State Teachers college. Sid, too, has been at Minnesota, but he cancelled out of school this past quarter. The rumor is that MSTC is interested in the Sidder's football prowess.

A Ruling

We've learned, through ethical channels, that one of the city's golfer's, and he's of championship flight caliber, has been taking vitamin pills as a conditioner for next season's play.

And not only vitamins, but we've learned, from the same source, that this golfer, who is usually a contributing member of the Jack Boyer, Wally DuChamp, and John Moum foursome, is taking a well-advertised pill that is supposed to ease all arthritic and rheumatic pains.

The local golf club's handicap committee will undoubtedly be asked to hand down a ruling on this case.

The Roll Call

When the Roseau Rams, by a 5 to 0 score, defeated the Hallock Polar Bears in the eighth regional hockey tournament finals at Roseau on Friday night, it marked the fifth time that a Roseau team has won the title.

Since 1945, when hockey was officially recognized by the State Board as a major sport, thirteen regional tournaments have been held. Here's the roll call of the regional champions since 1945: Thief River Falls, 1945; Roseau, 1946; Roseau, 1947; Warroad, 1948; Warroad, 1949; Williams, 1950; Thief River Falls, 1951; Thief River Falls, 1952; Roseau, 1953; Thief River Falls, 1954; Roseau, 1955; Thief River Falls, 1956; and Roseau, 1957.

Of this group, Roseau in 1946, and Thief River Falls in 1954 and 1956, won the state championship.

To Answer a Query

The 31st District basketball tournament will be played on the University of North Dakota fieldhouse court on March 4th, 5th, and 6th. That's on a Monday, a Tuesday, and a Wednesday.

The Region Eight tournament, which will also be played on the North Dakota fieldhouse floor, is slated for March 14th and 15th.

Arrangements and pairings for the district tournament will be made tonight at a meeting being held in Crookston. The Prowlers, with only one loss to mar their district competition record, and that to Crookston, is in first place in the conference ratings. The Prowlers close out their season's schedule on Friday night when they travel to East Grand Forks for a game against Coach Snooks Sullivan's East Sides.

LOCAL STUDENT ASPIRANT FOR MOORHEAD TC OFFICE

A candidate for the office of social commissioner of the student commission at Moorhead state teachers college is Robert Knutson of Thief River Falls. The election is set for Tuesday, Feb. 19. Last Tuesday primary elections at the college eliminated all but two candidates for each of the 12 commission posts.

302 Deer and 64 Moose Counted at Mud Lake

The annual inventory of big game animals at the Mud Lake national wildlife refuge was accomplished February 13th, according to Herb Dill, refuge manager. The counting was done from the air using the Fish and Wildlife Service aircraft flown by Pilot Biologist Erv Boecker.

A total of 302 deer and 64 moose were counted within the refuge boundaries. However, a count taken on a two mile strip just outside the boundary, along the south and east sides of the refuge, revealed 124 deer and 24 moose.

Because of the open winter, there has been much movement of those animals. Moose have been reported in the vicinity of Gatzke and as far away as Middle River. Both the deer and moose are in excellent physical condition. With only 12 inches of snow on the level, the food supply is abundant, and the prospect is that they will winter in fine shape.

These counts serve as a basis for judging population trends, Dill stated, but should not be interpreted as representing the actual population of animals in this area. For example, with heavier snow cover, the deer are more easily seen. For this reason, more are counted. With the comparatively small amount of snow on the ground this year, some deer were missed. The moose, being much larger and darker, are more easily observed from aircraft.

Based on a comparison with counts made in other years, the trend of the deer population is downward. With the winter mortality experienced last year, this could be expected. Moose continue to hold their own. No change in the refuge population is noted.

Ada Girl Shares Feb. 21st in U. S. Pie Baking Event

Minnesota's 4-H pie queen, Myrtle Anne Blasey, Ada, will compete with other state pie champions in the national cherry pie baking contest Feb 21 at the Sheraton hotel in Chicago.

She will leave for Chicago from the Twin Cities, Tuesday, Feb. 19, accompanied by Mrs. Elaine Christiansen, state 4-H club agent at the University of Minnesota.

The 16-year-old Norman county girl won the trip to Chicago to take part in the national event when she was selected state 4-H pie championship title in competition with 68 other pie bakers, all of whom baked apple pies. She scored 97 on her technique and 97 on her pie.

Myrtle Anne is a junior in Ada high school.

U. S. Population Hits 170 Million

Expected to Reach 200 Million within 10 Years

The population of the United States reached an estimated 170 million Friday with a blinking of lights, a turning of wheels—and with some sobering figures.

The new mark showed on an elaborate electric display in the Commerce Department in Washington, D.C., as a white light flashed a net gain of one in the population, boosting the total to the magic 170 million mark at 11 a.m. EST.

Twelve seconds later, the figure moved on to 170,000,001. It is expected to reach 200 million in 10 years or less.

All this is estimated. Actually the 170 million figure may have been reached several weeks ago. Or maybe it won't be reached until next month. But, until someone comes along with a better system of counting people than the one used by the Census Bureau, Friday was the day.

About those sobering figures: There now are 7,200 more persons in the United States than there were just 25 hours ago.

CORN AND HAY REVENUE TOPPERS

Federal-State Crop Reporting Service discloses that corn is the most valuable agricultural product, nearly doubling any other nationally, more than doubling any other in Minnesota. In Minnesota oats run second, hay third, soybeans fourth; nationally hay is second, wheat third, and tobacco fourth. Potatoes normally bring the highest return per acre, sugar beets second, then corn, winter wheat, soybeans, and spring wheat. Renville leads Minnesota counties in corn and soybean production; Otter Tail in oats and hay, coming up second in rye production, while Stearns is second in both oats and hay. Polk county leads in barley, potatoes, sugar beets, and wheat; Lincoln in flax, Sherburne, in rye.

HOW TO DO AN EXPERT JOB WITH A PAINT ROLLER

by Bud Kelly

You're in for a pleasant surprise if you haven't used a paint roller before. It's so easy even a bride can do a clean, fast professional-like job.

• • •

Rollers may be used on just about any flat surface such as walls, ceilings and floors. They may be used with almost any type of paint including oil base paints, latex base paints — even enamels.

• • •

We've found that SUPERMIX Alkyd Flat Wall Paint, Super Kemtone and SUPERMIX 4-Hour Enamel give excellent results when used with a roller. Incidentally, if you're wondering what paint is best for the job you have in mind, come in and ask us. We'll be glad to help out.

• • •

Now for the actual painting. Use the paint just as it comes out of the can. Use a regular roller pan (we have them at all prices.) Or take an ordinary cake pan and set it up on a slant.

• • •

Paint the corners and edges of the wall first with a brush (about 1½" to 2"). Dip the roller in the paint. Roll out the excess paint on the upper flat part of the pan. Start at the top of the wall and work down to the baseboard in a strip three to four feet wide. Repeat until the wall is finished. Be sure to use a steady stroke; not too fast or too much pressure. And don't try to cover too much ground at a time.

• • •

Rollers clean in a jiffy. Just slip the wool jacket off the roller immediately after painting. Rinse in turpentine if you used an oil base paint; water if you used a latex base paint. Then wash it in lukewarm, soapy water.

Home Economics Education

By Mrs. Harriet O. Gullingsrud

The purpose of home economics education is to provide a program of education for the improvement of personal, family, and community living. It aims to make daily living more meaningful and satisfying to all students through many and varied experiences that will enable them to grow in their understanding of problems of living.

Our program is planned to help pupils (1) learn techniques of solving present personal, family, and community problems, (2) learn the fundamental principals upon which to build as future homemakers, (3) see the possibilities for the use of homemaking skill in wage-earning occupations, (4) develop an interest in continuing their education when they become adults.

A homemaking curriculum is generally set up by age levels according to the typical interests and abilities of the group. Therefore, the basic principals taught at each level are much the same each year, though the actual units covered may vary from class to class. We try to have the pupils contribute in the planning of learning experiences. In the respect each individual class serves as a guide as to exactly what will be its course of study.

We offer four courses in our homemaking program. Girls in seventh and eighth grade are required to take Homemaking I and II, respectively. Homemaking III is offered as an elective to ninth graders, and Homemaking IV is open to any girl in tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade who has completed Homemaking III. This year we have about 250 girls enrolled. All classes meet one hour a day during the entire year.

Our department employs three teachers. Mrs. Charlotte Hayes Mattson teaches Homemaking I, Mrs. Beth Pound teaches Homemaking II and III, and Mrs. Harriet Overboe Gullingsrud has Homemaking III and IV. We have three rooms, a foods laboratory that is used for laundry purposes and related units, and a second class room which is set up with cutting tables, sewing machines and a fitting room to be used for problems in clothing construction, selection, and care. You will find our living-dining room kept busy with the entertainment of guests on special occasions, with the practice of housekeeping duties and arrangement of furniture, or as an office.

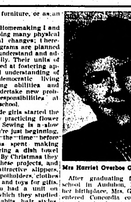
Students in Homemaking I and II are undergoing many physical and emotional changes; therefore, their programs are planned to help them understand and adjust more easily. Their units of study are aimed at fostering appreciation and understanding of cooperative democratic living and developing abilities and courage to undertake new problems and responsibilities at home and at school.

Seventh grade girls started the school year by practicing flower arrangements. Sewing is a slow task when you're just beginning, so much of the time before Christmas was spent making and embroidering a dish towel and an apron. By Christmas they had finished these projects, and sewed some attractive slippers, laundry bags, potholders, clothes hanger covers, and toys for gifts. They had also had a unit on grooming, in which they studied good health habits, hair styles, and clothing styles which are becoming to the individual girl. Some of the time was spent on the principles of art and design and an introduction to textiles. Right now we are in a unit on friendships.

The second half of the year will be spent in the kitchen section where we will study the culinary arts. Here, as in all the other phases of our program, we will try to cover subject matter at the level of the students. We try to learn what the girls help with in the kitchen at home, and then build our program on that basis. There will also be units on child care, hand laundry, and family relationships.

The eighth grade girls begin the first semester of school in the foods department. There are four sections of eighth graders and each section is broken into groups of four girls.

Before beginning with foods we had two short units, one on understanding our family and how we can make ourselves better family members, the second on the family's money and learning where it comes from, how we use it, and planning our personal spending. In the foods unit, a general view of the nutritional needs of the body is taught, with emphasis placed on the Basic 7 food groups in order to get a balanced diet. Their knowledge of nutrition is increased as they study and prepare different foods served for breakfast. Along with preparing breakfast they also practice table setting, etiquette, and efficiency in the kitchen. After preparing Christmas cookies and candies, the girls entertained their mothers at a tea very successfully.



Mrs Harriet Overboe Gullingsrud

After graduating from high school in Audubon, Minnesota, her birthplace, Mrs. Gullingsrud entered Concordia college. She transferred after two years to North Dakota State College at Fargo to earn a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics education, minoring in science. Her first year of teaching began here at Lincoln High School in 1951. She married a native of Thief River Falls, in 1951. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gullingsrud have one son, Bruce. They are members of Trinity Lutheran church.

Second semester the girls will move into the clothing laboratory. This year they will be making cotton skirts and blouses, learning how to use commercial patterns in the construction of a garment. Other units on personal grooming and clothing selection will be included later.

At ninth grade level, units are planned to help student approach adulthood with more understanding and to make the necessary adjustments with less difficulty and uncertainty; to broaden their appreciation of desireable ideals and goals; and to develop greater skills and abilities in meeting and solving the problems involved in "growing up."

They learn that management of time and energy as well as money is important to homemakers by practicing a unit in preserving food by canning, jelly-making, and freezing. They also find that it is well to know how to stretch the food dollar by understanding how to buy commercially canned foods, according to can sizes and descriptive labeling. A unit on kitchen efficiency and safety helps them develop better work habits before going into the more popular unit on planning, preparing, and serving luncheon and supper type meals. Emphasis in food work is placed on planning well balanced and attractive, but yet simple and economical meals.

Girls of this age are very interested in themselves and their friends—so find their discussions on dating and understanding themselves quite interesting. They enjoy learning about proper hair styles and grooming problems.

All the way through the course we believe that stress should be placed on "you as a member of your family." Learning to work together in the family and to have fun in the family are important outcomes of their study. In child care they will study bathing and feeding a baby and how to choose toys for children.

Since clothes are dear to a teen-agers heart, we try to help them learn about selection of suitable fabrics and styles, and procedures of caring for their clothes. They construct a cotton dress as their main clothing project.

Advanced homemaking pupils are actually looking more closely toward adulthood. We aim to help the girls recognize their various responsibilities to society. The units offered are designed to help them assume these responsibilities and their permanent places in society—in the home, in a job, and the community.

With their added maturity, we feel this grade level is able to deal with problems and experiences that are more nearly like real life. They study purchasing of furniture and appliances and the care of them. With the use of lovely new kitchen equipment they can practice using automatic laundry equipment to do family laundry and compare with other methods. You are apt to find the living-dining room topsy-turvy with the girls' refinishing the furniture or hanging draperies constructed by the class. Their main project in clothing, after a more intensive study of fabrics and weaves is the construction of a wool garment—suit, coat, or dress. In their foods unit stress is placed mainly on more difficult cooking techniques, such as preparing various types of meats. They learn to identify the cuts and kinds of meat and to do actual marketing for the preparation of food suitable for dinners. Again, learning to manage time and money is an important goal. In planning for the future they will study units such as "Earning your living" and "Marriage means partnership in living."

Since some outcomes or goals may be better achieved in a home environment than a school laboratory, pupils in Homemaking III and IV do extra projects at home. These home experiences may be an outgrowth of class activities or they may be stimulated by family activities. They are done as an integral part of their course to give added experience and possibly develop greater or new interests in the field of homemaking.

Home economics has much to contribute to the education of individuals for satisfying personal living as a part of general education. In summary, the various grade levels study different and integral phases of (1) social and family relationships, (2) care and guidance of children, (3) housing and home improvement, (4) health and family safety, (5) foods, (6) management of the home, (7) clothing, (8) use of leisure time and (9) planning for the future.

Strengthening democratic family living is our main objective.

Asks Drivers Be Given Periodic Eye Examination

"Vision should be re-tested whenever driver licenses are renewed," recommended Dr. Robert Zwicky, St. Paul, state chairman for Save Your Vision Week, as Gopher Jaycees in Bemidji and Minnesota optometrists readied their annual plans for the week-long event. A forum on plans for the week was held at the Junior Chamber of Commerce All-State Meeting in Bemidji over the February 10 weekend.

National and state observance of Save Your Vision Week is being celebrated March 3-9 under the joint sponsorship of the Minnesota Optometric Association and the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Elaborating on his statement, Dr. Zwicky said "about one out of six drivers has a vision problem of which he is not aware. Only by periodic re-examination are these cases detected."

Livestock to Be Topic at Winter Shows Feb. 27th

Three Men from U. of M. Agriculture Institute to Speak at Meeting

The list of livestock experts who will speak at the daytime meetings of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, will be headed by Dr. L. E. Hanson, the new head of the department of animal husbandry of the Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. He took his undergraduate training at the University of Minnesota and his graduate work at the University of Nebraska.

The theme of the Livestock Day program is recent development in livestock feeding as such concerns the pelleting of livestock feeds. The program will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, February 27, in the Crookston high school auditorium.

Dr. Hanson will discuss the topic, "The Use of Pelleted Feeds in Swine Rations." "The Use of Pelleted Feeds in Feeding Lambs" will be discussed by R. M. Jordan, and R. E. Jacobs will discuss "The Use of Pelleted Feeds in Feeding Beef Cattle." All men are from the Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. The discussions will be followed by a question and answer period. Harold Thomforde, manager of the Crookston Milling Company of Crookston, will preside at the meeting.

The "smorgasbord" dinner meeting for livestock breeders will be held on Wednesday evening.

OIL BOOM BIRTHDAY

Canada last week celebrated the tenth anniversary of the oil discovery that started its great oil boom. It was February 13, 1947, that the first Leduc well was brought in in Alberta.

There were scattered oil operations in Canada at that time but the Leduc well was the strike that touched off the feverish scramble to find other fields of "black gold." Since then production has soared to 470,000 barrels a day, and proven reserves are estimated at three billion barrels.

It is interesting to know that the company that brought in the Leduc well had been drilling in western Canada for thirty years—without results. Before Leduc the company had a record of 133 dry holes. By the end of 1947 however it had 24 producers in the area. Such is the oil business.

Our territory has been benefited by the Canadian development. We are getting dividends both directly and indirectly, and these dividends will increase as the industry expands. We are getting a substantial dividend in the form of pipeline taxes each year. And it is reasonable to assume that eventually the Canadian fields will serve us as a source of cheaper fuel.

EFFICIENCY NEEDED

Dr. Beardsey Ruml, New York economist of federal income tax fame, told a group of New York educators recently that the nation's liberal art colleges are "organizationally and financially bankrupt." He urged major organizational reforms to put the schools on a sound financial basis and to improve the quality of education.

He attributed much of the financial difficulty of the colleges to their organizational inefficiency, citing, among other things, their failure to make full use of plant facilities during afternoons and evenings, on Saturdays and in summer months.

Too many courses are being offered, he declared, suggesting also that too many of these are "frivolous." He also stated that classes should be doubled in size, which could be accomplished by "restoring the formal lecture to its traditional place as a method of teaching."

Some forward looking member of Congress might succeed in securing a substantial measure of real federal aid for education by having the Dr. Ruml speech printed at government expense and distributed to all school administrators in the country.

MIDDLE EAST MUDDLE

A Senate sub-committee is going to review American policy in the Middle East, and that appears to be a good idea. Such a study will serve a useful purpose to the extent that it will be an impartial approach to the several stages of development leading up to the present muddle, making possible a better understanding of the overall problem as a guide for future conduct.

The Middle East has been a political "hot-spot" for many years. The present situation is not the result of recent developments alone.

The question of American policy in the area involves the actions of several administrations and Democrats and Republicans alike. And our policy in this area has necessarily shifted from time to time as there have been occurrances over which we have had no control.

Basically, the issues in that area are still the same as they have been for some time. Only the circumstances are different. Our friends started a fight. We objected. The United Nations has intervened and, for the time being at least, a cease-fire is being enforced.

It can be said that the situation is less explosive now than it was a few months ago. The areas of difference have been reduced and the temperature, generally, has moderated. The charges and counter-charges are less bitter.

But there no doubt is justification for the criticism that we have no specific policy for the area except that now, as in 1946 when we stood firm against Russian occupation of Iran and as in 1947, when we served notice on the Russians to keep out of Greece, our primary objective still is to keep the Middle East free from Communistic domination.

A thorough study of all of these problems by a committee searching seriously for the facts could be very helpful in the establishment of a long range program for their solution.

A MIRACULOUS FUEL

(St. Paul Pioneer-Press)

The almost magical nature of nuclear powered engines is emphasized in the recent report that the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, has cruised more than 50,000 miles in the past two years on a single charge of fissionable fuel—the same load it had on board when it went into full service on January 17, 1955.

Comparisons enter the realm of the fantastic when it is considered that a diesel-powered submarine of comparable size would have required approximately two million gallons of oil to travel the same distance. This amount of fuel would tax the capacity of 200 tank cars.

The Nautilus, now in dry dock to take on a new and incredibly small amount of uranium fuel, has fully demonstrated the feasibility of a new kind of marine propulsion, and points to the almost incalculable potentialities of nuclear energy in terms of industrial power. Its performance also explains why the U.S. is presently building or has plans on the drawing boards to construct 17 additional nuclear ships, including submarines and an aircraft carrier.

AN AGE LIMIT FOR REGENTS?

(Northfield News)

Membership on the board of regents of the University of Minnesota may be a sinecure — which the dictionary says is an office or position requiring little or no work—and it is an honor which should be reserved for our very ablest and best citizens.

It was a bit surprising, however, to note that the legislature is prepared to re-elect four men to the board of regents only one of whom is under seventy, including James Ford Bell, who is 77, George W. Lawson, who is 80, Richard L. Griggs, who is 70, and Ray Quinlivan, a Carleton graduate who is chairman of the board and only 62. We have no idea what the ages of the other eight members of the board may be, and perhaps some are sufficiently younger to create at least a mathematical balance, but we think room should be made for younger men and women on these governing boards.

These are the boards, remember, that set 65 as a time when college and university professors should retire, and yet these could very well be the years when these professional men would be most useful in the classroom or laboratory. Why wouldn't 70 or 72 be an appropriate age limit for members of the board of regents? It could well be self-imposed and these ancients could perhaps do a service to themselves and the state if they set the limit themselves. That, of course, is expecting too much, for most men fortunate enough to be privileged to enjoy the glories of old age are quite convinced that nothing good has happened since they were on the earth the first time and that their superior wisdom clearly entitles them to be the official arbiters of all that goes on in the state or community which they grace with their presence.

Perhaps when we get there—which won't be so long, after all—we'll have a different opinion, but right now we hope that old-age, if it comes, will bring a mellowness of spirit, a kindliness of demeanor, a useful hobby to exploit, and a willingness to let others take over the burden, plus sense enough to retire from the scene with grace and dignity.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

Last week I sent to the Minnesota Legislature my recommendations for a program for Minnesota's older citizens. By 1965, it is expected that one out of every ten Minnesotans will be over 65 years of age. And while we are gratified to know that the life span in our state is longer than the average for the nation as a whole, we must act to make sure that these added years are healthy and happy ones insofar as possible.

A New Program

Among the several recommendations that I made to improve conditions for those who are aging, one involves a new kind of program that I think offers great possibilities. It is a program to encourage the mobilization of the resources within our local communities to develop well-rounded programs for our senior citizens. If this program is adopted, the state would encourage such community activities by means of grants-in-aid to the counties, and by expert advice, encouragement, and guidance.

Reasons

There are several reasons why I believe in such a program. First, I regard local initiative and direction as very important; and I know that the most effective services for older people,—as for youth,—must be provided right in the communities in which they live. Secondly, the kinds of activities that are needed are so broad and varied that no agency alone,—neither the state, nor the locality, nor private industry, nor voluntary organizations,—acting separately, can provide the well-rounded services we need.

Variety of Needs

For example, we need to do something to make it easier for people over 45 to find jobs. We likewise need to make employment opportunities available to those over 65 who want to work and who are able to do so. We need to have social, recreational, and educational activities readily available to older people whose greatest problem is often loneliness. And of course we need adequate provisions to take care of their physical needs.

Resources Available

On the other hand, there exist within every community individuals and organizations that are ready, willing, and eager to do something to help meet these problems. Religious organizations civic clubs, business groups educational organizations, and many others,—have done very effective work in helping to make the lives of older people better and happier. Usually, however, their work would be more effective if it is encouraged, stimulated, and coordinated with activities of other groups. Older people themselves can contribute much if they are encouraged and helped to do so.

Activities and Health

A study was made in New York in connection with a project in which older people were given opportunities for recreation, group activity, and constructive work. It was found that when these older people were provided with responsible activities they had 50 percent less illness than could be expected in their age and economic group. Such activity programs can often be provided at very little cost,—and the saving in medical care and the gain in happiness is immeasurable.

A Pilot Program

I am recommending a pilot program to launch and encourage such activities in our Minnesota communities. The total amount of money I am asking amounts to only a little over five cents per person per year in Minnesota. In these days when a nickel buys so little, certainly we can afford that much to try to improve living for our senior citizens. For Minnesota will become a better state to live in and work in as it becomes a better state in which to grow old.

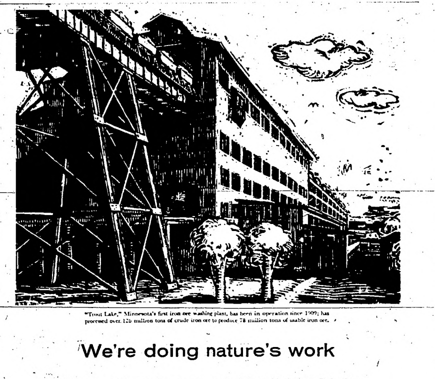
More than 95 per cent of all coal mined in Missouri and Kansas comes from surface-mining operations. In 1954 surface-mined tonnage in these states was more than 35 million tons.



"Trout Lake," Minnesota's first iron ore washing plant, has been in operation since 1907; has processed over 126 million tons of crude iron ore to produce 78 million tons of usable iron ore.

We're doing nature's work

Some types of Minnesota iron ore are washed to remove unwanted silica and make the ore suitable for use in blast furnaces. This is really a substitute for what nature could do over millions of years. Minnesota's mining companies have long been developing the low grade ores to replace our diminishing supply of direct shipping ores. Today there are over seventy-five beneficiation plants in operation. Minnesota must attract millions of investment dollars for more research and more new plants if we are to maintain our position as a major iron ore producer. Every Minnesotan has a stake in this effort.

RESEARCH AND INVESTMENT CAN KEEP MINNESOTA'S IRON ORE FUTURE BRIGHT!

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am a Korean veteran. Would I be permitted to study dressmaking in France under the Korean GI Bill?

A—The law prohibits it. The only foreign training allowed is college level work, approved by VA, offered by accredited institutions of higher learning.

Q—I was injured on the job, and doctors tell me I am totally disabled. I hold a World War II GI insurance policy. May I stop paying premiums and retain my coverage?

A—No. You should continue paying your premiums. After you have been totally disabled for six months, apply to VA for a waiver of premiums. Continue to pay until VA informs you your waiver has been granted. VA will refund all premiums paid during the period of your total disability, but for not more than one year prior to filing your claim.

Q—I am a disabled Korea veteran and I have received vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894. Would I now be eligible for further under the Korean GI Bill?

A—You may be. Subtract the amount of vocational rehabilitation training received from 48 months. If there is a balance left over, that is the amount of training to which you might be entitled under the Korean GI Bill.

Q—Am I supposed to notify my GI insurance beneficiaries if I want to make a change in my beneficiary list?

A—No. You need merely notify VA of your new list of beneficiaries. You need not notify the beneficiaries themselves.

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Grand Forks VA office.

From Grandfather, To Father, To Son

In Minnesota the history of brewing closely parallels that of every other industry and enterprise that has prospered and grown through 100 years.

It began with the pioneers who settled the state. Early brewmasters were among them. Their family trees uprooted and carried across the ocean, these men planted them again, deep in the soil of a new land and began brewing the beer that has brought Minnesota fame and given millions enjoyment.

And the story of each of Minnesota's 14 breweries has been really the story of a family tree. Because in Minnesota the brewing of beer has been passed on from one generation to another, from grandfather, to father, to son and their sons.

Threading through the histories of every Minnesota brewery are the same names — and the same skill in brewing. Traditions of quality have been passed on and combined with the latest equipment and techniques to produce the fine beers of Minnesota by men for whom such heritage is important.

And Minnesotans have benefited.

This is one of a series of ads on "The Brewing Industry of Minnesota" published by the following Minnesota Brewers.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the Minnesota Historical Society

CHIPPEWA FARMERS

When the Great White Father took possession of the Chippewa lands in a series of treaties with the Indians, he made it clear that he wished to help the people who were to be dispossessed of their happy hunting grounds.

The Chippewas who had never eaten regularly in the days of dependence upon wild rice and whitefish, were to be made into husbandmen. This did not appeal to many of the tribesmen who had always looked down upon the menial work of cultivating the soil.

Despite the lack of an agricultural background the Indians made quite surprising progress as farmers. This was made under direction of the Indian department and the government.

In 1840 the first farming instructor among the Chippewas began his work at Lake Pokegama, near what is now Pine City.

In 1852 all of the Chippewas produced 40,256 bushels of corn and rutabagas.

One of the principal advocates of farming for the Indians was Chief Hole-in-the-Day who was a most successful farmer upon a substantial scale.

In the Civil War days the work of Indian agriculture declined.

By 1869 the Indians were cultivating 785 acres of land and the government, with Chippewa help, cultivated 382 acres. In that year the bands and reservations produced 9750 bushels of corn, 21,700 of potatoes and 5200 bushels of turnips. The Indians harvested 1338 tons of hay and kept 1335 head of horses and cattle.

By 1881 there were 3388 acres of land under cultivation at Leech Lake, Red Lake and at the White Earth reservation.

PLUG AND PIPE

The early days of Minnesota were marked by a great use of tobacco. It may well be true that, in proportion to population, the use of tobacco on the Mississippi frontier was as great as any place in the world.

The reasons for such a condition are obvious. For a long time male population predominated in the territory and in the early days of statehood. Many of the men were rough men engaged in rought activities. They chewed and smoked almost constantly.

The lumbercamps were great users of the weed. Many merchants of the frontier communities received tobacco by the carload. The pipe and the plug were solace to the men in the woods.

The cigar was considered a sign of affluence and not used in fields and forests. Cigarettes were virtually unknown. In fact they were considered a sign of depravity in early days and there were loggers who would not allow a cigarette smoker in camp.

The Chippewas used tobacco not only to profusion but to downright excess. An early missionary in the Leech Lake area recorded that at one trading post the Chippewas spent as much as six thousand dollars in a year for tobacco. This was computed to be more than half of their annuities. Many would deny themselves food to buy tobacco.

The squaws took up tobacco much before their white sisters took up the habit. It was reported that the Indian women from Cutfoot Sioux were the heaviest users of chewing tobacco. Indian children took on the habit early.

HARDSHIP CENTENNIAL

The communities at the head of Lake Superior might well observe in 1955 the centennial of a tough survival. Duluth almost died in its earlier years.

Superior made an aggressive start with great dreams and visions. Duluth came along a little later with a plan for a city and enough lots laid out to accommodate the homes and buildings for twenty thousand people.

The years from 1853 to 1857 were depression years in a land of little wealth and general poverty. There was a shortage of food at Duluth. There was not enough land opened to cultivation to produce potatoes, the staple defense against starvation in a new land. Flour was fifty cents a pound, primarily for the reason that it had to be carried on human backs about fifty miles from a camp on the St. Croix.

All booms in property collapsed. Lots and land were completely without value. A Superior merchant was offered two lots in the center of Duluth in exchange for two pair of boots and would take the chance. There was no money and for a period of eight or ten years Duluth existed by barter.

About three-fourths of the people at and near the Head-of-the-Lakes left the country. Some were taken out by sympathetic captains of early boats. Others took a gun and a few possessions and shot their way out of the country living upon the animals they could kill. A few took up trapping for a very uncertain existence.

THE FIRST LOGS

The first logs to be cut in the area now part of Minnesota and floated southward to the mills at St. Louis to be made into lumber were taken on the Kanabec river.

In the fall of 1837 John Boyce came up the Mississippi and the St. Croix in a Mackinac boat carrying 11 men and six oxen. From the St. Croix he went onto the Kanabec and put his men at work. Soon the Chippewa chief, "Little Six" and about two hundred of his tribesmen appeared and drove Boyce away. An appeal to the Indians by the missionaries at Pokegama that a treaty with the white man for land and pine was then being made was of no avail. Boyce went back to the St. Croix where word was received that the 1837 treaty had been approved by congress.

In 1838 this first logger went back to the Kanabec. This time he cut pine. In the spring of 1839 he put his logs in three rafts held together by strips of bark from [illegible] pieces. What was left was put into one raft and that suffered damage. Boyce had no money. His men refused to work until he had written out on a slate, for there was not a piece of paper in the camp, a new agreement with them. But a part of the logs that were cut ever got down the river. Boyce lost all that he owned. His men got little pay and Franklin Steele, over on the Mississippi, was never paid for the supplies he had furnished.

The hardships of this first venture were to portend many failures and losses in logging which were to follow.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Although Washington's birthday was observed from the beginning of Minnesota's territorial days, it was not made a legal holiday by the state legislature until 1860. The following year many Minnesota towns celebrated the occasion officially.

The most popular form of celebration was a ball, then usually called a "cotillion party." At Faribault, the dance on the evening of February 22 "was decidedly the pleasantest of the season" according to the local newspaper. At St. Peter the ball at the Northwestern House "was not as large as it would otherwise have been" because of the weather. The music, however, "was excellent, the supper good, and all the arrangements perfect."

Shakopee's citizens observed the holiday with a grand ball and a masquerade at the National Hotel. "The party in attendance was very large—the very 'e-lite' of Shakopee Society", the editor of the "Scott County Democrat" declared. Stillwater had no dance, but observed the day by firing twenty-four guns, one in honor of each state in the union.

NAMES FROM SCOTLAND

Perhaps the most common Minnesota place name of Scotch origin is Ramsey. A county, a township, a village, a creek, and two lakes in Minnesota are named for Alexander Ramsey, a Pennsylvanian of Scotch descent, who was the first governor of Minnesota Territory.

Solway, a village in Beltrami county, is named for the Solway Firth, the wide inlet of the Irish Sea between England and Ireland.

Sterling township in Blue Earth County is sponsored to have been named for the city and county in Scotland spelled "Stirling," but the county commissioners thought the present spelling more "expressive of the quality of the soil and people."

Lake Lomond near Bagley was named for the celebrated Loch Lomond of Scotland, Great Britain's largest lake; Nevis, a village in Hubbard county, is named for Great Britain's highest mountain, Ben Nevis in the Scotch highlands.

Caledonia, a village in Houston county, is the Roman word for Scotland.

THREE-TIME WINNER

A few men have represented more than one state in the United States Congress, but no one has equalled the record of Minnesota's Senator James Shields. Born in Ireland in 1810, Shields came to the United States at the age of sixteen, destined to follow the frontier westward, and to be Governor of one state and senator from three others.

After attaining the rank of major general in the Mexican War, he was appointed governor of Oregon Territory, but resigned from that post in 1849 when he was elected United States senator from Minnesota, and when the state was organized in 1858, Shields and Henry M. Rice were elected its first senators.

In 1859 he moved to California and, after serving in the Civil War, he settled in Missouri. In 1879 he was back in Congress as senator from Missouri, but his term was cut short by his death in the same year.

In addition to these major achievement, Shields was also elected to a staggering collection of state and local offices in each of the many places he lived.

THE WINSLOW HOUSE GHOST

One of the best known hotels in early Minnesota was the large and elegant Winslow House, which opened in 1857 on the east bank of the Mississippi River near the Falls of St. Anthony.

In January, 1868, a Doctor Jewell, who had been operating the hotel as a "water cure establishment," died in his apartment there. His widow, a spiritualist, tried unsuccessfully to communicate with him through seances. In March of that year she decided to move to California.

About the same time, residents in the building reported that they had seen a strange man wandering about who had a way of disappearing very quickly. The fourteen-year-old daughter of a Professor F. E. McBain, who lived in the building, reported to her father that she had seen the sad-looking man in the laundry room. McBain gave the girl a pistol and told her to shoot the man the next time she saw him. She did. Since the bullet seemed to have no effect on the man, the professor reported the affair to the "Minneapolis Daily Tribune," which published his letter on March 21, 1868.

Immediately, crowds of curious people descended on the building, for interest in spiritualism and the supernatural was widespread at that time.

Professor McBain wrote to the paper again on April 7 to say that the ghost, which proved to be that of Doctor Jewell, had appeared and spoken to him two days before. The doctor explained that he had made all the fuss because he couldn't communicate with his wife. He wished to warn her not to take a certain steamer to Los Angeles. As a ghost, he had had advance notice that it would burn at sea.

Apparently satisfied, the doctor appeared no more, but the newspaper was flooded by letters from other people reporting a large number of ghosts all over Minnesota.

Father of a Free Country

First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen, George Washington held first in his own heart the ideal of a free nation. Let us today dedicate ourselves to our priceless heritage of liberty, which we owe in such large measure to the courage of his convictions and the wisdom of his leadership.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Soil Washes Less—Merlin Gunderson, Forest Lake, a cooperator in the Washington county soil conservation district, says that before he contour-stripped his farm, he had much soil loss through washing. Now, with slopes in contour strips, soil washing has been sharply reduced, he says. Fertilizer and lime applied to his land "stays put" now instead of washing away. He told Francis L. Paulson, Work Unit Conservationist, that farming on the contour also reduces gasoline consumption in the farm tractor.

Ask Interest Boost on U. S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury Thursday asked Congress for authority to apply flexible interest rates on savings bonds and proposed at the same time to raise the rate from 3 to 3¼ per cent.

Identical bills were sent to the Senate and House which would give the Treasury the same flexibility to adjust the interest on savings bonds that it has on other securities.

If Congress approves, the higher rate will be offered on all series E and H bonds sold on or after Feb. 1.

Treasury officials said there will be no advantage, therefore, in holding off purchases of the savings bonds until the legislation is passed.

The baby bonds—Series E—still will sell at the same price and carry the same maturity value. But the present 9 year and 8 months maturity will be shortened to 8 years and 11 months.

Redemption values in the early years will be increased substantially, however, to provide a better yield for bondholders who redeem the securities before maturity.

If held for three years, the new bonds will yield 3 per cent. The return received on the present E bonds, if cashed in three years, pay only 2¼ per cent.

The Treasury's announcement followed widespread criticism in Congress and elsewhere of the interest yield, in view of generally rising interest rates on other investments. Sales of E bonds have declined, and during most of last year redemptions exceeded sales.

The most common explanation has been that the public could find better paying investments.

The Treasury said present holders of bonds "will generally find it advantageous to continue holding them."

It gave this example: a $100 bond, which cost $75, has a redemption value of $79.20 when held for 2½ years. If that bond is held to maturity, the Treasury said, it will earn $20.80 more, which is equivalent to 3.28 per cent interest on the 79.20.

Masonic Hospital Fund Drive Seeks June Completion

Chairman Reports That $800,000 of Required $1,000,000 Is Pledged

"With 80% of the million dollar cost already pledged for the 80-bed Masonic Memorial Cancer Hospital at the University of Minnesota," Clyde E. Hegman, chairman Masonic Cancer Relief Committee announces, "we are intensifying our drive to raise the remaining $200,000 among Minnesota Masons, Order of the Eastern Star, and other generous citizens of the state. The hospital will be open to all terminal cancer patients regardless of race or creed, as a unit of the University Hospitals in Minneapolis."

Associate Justice Leroy E. Matson, chairman of the sponsoring committee, says that some 3,000 Minnesota Masons and ladies of the Eastern Star are conducting personal solicitations in all parts of Minnesota, primarily among members of the order.

The hospital will be at the corner of Essex and Harvard streets, Southeast Minneapolis, concrete with brick exterior, and will start with basement and two stories. Construction will permit the addition of two floors as needed. Frontage on Harvard street will be 234 feet, on Essex 102 feet, making 45,600 square feet of floor space.

A tunnel will connect the Masonic Memorial with the Mayo Memorial and other University Hospitals facilities a block away. The building will provide space for 80 beds — all in single or double rooms. The rooms all will be more liberal in size than the average hospital room, and every room will have its own toilet facilities.

For patients who are able to be up and around, the hospital will have a meditation room, a lounge, dining room, and craft room — all on the first floor. The hospital will have its own kitchen and food service facilities. Plans call for the installation of elevators.

Ground-breaking ceremonies probably will take place about June 1, 1957, and completion will require about one year.

Group Health to Dedicate Its New Home in St. Paul

Dedication of its new home at 2500 Como Avenue, St. Paul, will be a feature of the Group Health annual meeting on March 9.

Delegates representing 180,000 members in the six-state area served by Group Health will gather for the annual meeting at the Hotel Leamington, Minneapolis, on the morning of March 9 and will go to the new building by chartered buses.

Speaking at the dedication will be Minnesota's Governor Orville Freeman and Mayor Joseph Dillon of St. Paul. Out-of-town Group Health members will have an opportunity to inspect the building before the dedication services.

State Centennial Stamp Is Planned

A committee to pick the design for a commemorative stamp for the Minnesota Centennial next year will be headed by Henry W. Hill, Minneapolis stamp authority, it was announced Tuesday.

"The group will conduct a contest for the design with prizes of $250, $100 and $50. All entries must be made by May 1.

Medical Student Given Scholarship

Anoka Man Wins $4,000 Award from Medical Assn.

A 22-year-old Anoka, Minn., medical student has just received the rural medical scholarship award presented annually by the Minnesota State Medical association.

The recipient, Vincent R. Hunt and the late Mr. Hunt, former Northfield, Minn., high school coach, is one of seven children and a freshman at the University of Minnesota medical school. He received his B. A. degree cum laude from St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., in May, 1956, and graduated from high school in Princeton, Minn., where his family lived for a number of years.

The scholarship award entitles him to $1000 each year for four years with the provision he promises to practice medicine in a Minnesota town (with a population of 5,000 or less) needing a physician for at least five years after his graduation from medical school.

This rural scholarship program, sponsored by the physicians of Minnesota, has a dual purpose: to assist a worthy and outstanding student, meet the high expense of medical education and to insure a supply of physicians in small Minnesota communities.

Dr. Buchta is known as a national leader on peacetime use of atomic energy. He will speak on the Tuesday evening, February 26, program on the subject "Peacetime Possibilities of Atomic Energy."

Bell Telephone Co. Wins Safety Award

Safety Council Honors Firm for Record in 1955

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company and the other companies in the Bell Telephone System have won the award of honor of the National Safety council for 1955 and a replica of the company plaque has just arrived here, according to A. K. Bacon, Manager.

The telephone industry collectively leads all industrial categories both in terms of fewest accidents and in their severity, Bacon said.

"In our company," though", he continued, "we're not too happy about off-the-job accidents. Some of the same employees who are so careful while at work have been a little lax when they're off duty."

The on-the-job safety record for the first quarter of 1956 was even better than in 1955, Bacon said, with less than one lost-time accident per 1,000 employees on an annual basis. But in the same period the rate for off-the-job hours was about 40 accidents per 1,000 employees on an annual basis.

"We've got quite a program underway to remind people in our company that caution pays off 24 hours a day," he added.

The current safety rate of Northwestern Bell people is one lost-time accident for every 3,000,000 hours of work. At that rate, a telephone man or woman could go 1,600 years without an accident.

Wheaton Girl Is Named as Easter Seal Girl of 1957

A blond, blue-eyed, nine-year-old girl from Wheaton has been named 1957 Easter Seal child in Minnesota.

Dianne Rowland, a captivating youngster who attended the Easter Seal Society's Camp Courage last year, will represent thousands of crippled children and adults in our state. Dianne had polio at the age of three and it left both legs paralyzed. She wears braces on her legs and uses "sticks" to get around.

She comes from a family of seven. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rowland, Sr. She is the only girl and her four brothers range in age from one to 8.

Easter Seals helped more than 8,500 crippled children and adults in Minnesota last year. The 1957 Easter Seal appeal begins March 15 and will run until April 21.

No. Central Gets Endorsement to Serve 12 Cities

Recommend Extending Route from Grand Forks as Far West as Minot

Bureau counsel of the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D. C., last week recommended the addition of 12 cities to the North Central Airlines system.

Routes recommended are:

1. Between Minneapolis /St. Paul (Twin Cities) and Minot, N. D., via Brookings, Huron and Aberdeen, S. D., and Mandan and Bismarck, N. D.

2. Between the Twin Cities and Sioux Falls, S. D., via Watertown, Huron and Mitchell, S. D.

3. Between the Twin Cities and Sioux Falls via Mankato and Worthington, Minn.

4. Between Grand Forks, N. D., and Minot, N. D., via Devils Lake, N. D.

5. Between the Twin Cities and Milwaukee via Eau Claire, Marshfield and Appleton, Wis.

6. Inclusion of Ashland, Wis., on North Central's present Duluth/Superior-Ironwood, Mich., leg.

Bureau Counsel also recommends that the Grand Forks-Sioux Falls route, via Fargo, Watertown and Brookings, recently awarded to North Central on a temporary basis, be made permanent.

Goodridge Man Loses His Life in Truck Upset

Clifford Kolstrand Killed When Pickup Rolls over Near Gully

Clifford Kolstrand, 42, a Goodridge farmer was pronounced dead on arrival at a doctor's office in Bagley after a loaded pickup truck in which he was a passenger overturned into a deep ditch north of Gully and pinned him underneath early Tuesday.

Orville Christianson, about 50, of Goodridge, driver of the truck, was not injured and ran a mile and a half into Gully in a futile attempt to get help in time to save Kolstrand's life. Volunteers from Gully were aroused by the village fire siren and rushed to the scene on a highway north of Gully where they raised the truck and removed Kolstrand.

He was taken to a doctor at Bagley where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The ditch from which he was removed was partially filled with running water from a nearby beaver dam. Kolstrand was probably crushed by the truck but the possibility of his drowning was investigated Tuesday by Polk county Deputy Coroner Glenn Houske and Sheriff Carl Knutson.

The coroner's report, in which the Bagley physician concurred, said Kolstrand died of asphyxiation caused by gasoline fumes. His clothing was soaked in the truck's fuel and several patches of skin on his body were badly burned, according to Sheriff Knutson.

Knutson said the truck overturned into the ditch on the left side of the road after swerving on a slippery spot on SAR 11 north of Gully and that it came to rest on its right side with Kolstrand underneath.

Kolstrand and Christianson were returning to their farms near Goodridge with a load of feed they had ground at Gully

Middle River Girl 1st in Spelldown

Judy Cwikla Winner of Marshall County Event

Judy Theresa Cwikla, Middle River eighth grade student was named Marshall county spelling champion at the annual county spelling contest held Saturday at the court house in Warren under the supervision of John O. Pearson, county superintendent of schools.

Judy will represent Marshall county at the Upper Midwest Spelling Bee in Minneapolis on April 13. Her teacher, Mrs. Lillian Knutson will also be awarded a free trip to the city for the contest. This is the third year in succession that a Middle River student has won the county contest.

Second place honor in the contest was won by Rebecca Shager, eighth grade student in District 82, Gatzke. She will represent Marshall county in the Red River Valley Spelling Contest at the Winter Shows in Crookston next Wednesday. Mrs. Clara Flaten, her teacher, was also awarded a trip to the Crookston contest.

Two students spelled to a tie for third place on Saturday, these being Lois Lokstad of District 49 and Sharon Rupprecht of District 17 while Jolane Jorgenson of District 1, won fourth place. In addition, there were 14 other county students taking part.

Expansion of T59 Motel Scheduled

Work of expanding the facilities of the T-59 Motel on Highway 59 at the southeast city limits is scheduled to get under way next week, Clifford Becker, proprietor, announced today, adding that the contract will be carried out by Harold Langseth, local builder. The work will consist of converting the owner's present living quarters into motel units, and the construction of an upstairs addition including two apartments.

Elementary School Discussion Groups Reach Conclusions

The elementary school discussion group met Tuesday evening in the High School auditorium. The group discussed a variety of topics and went on record as favoring the following.

1. Retaining the present reporting system and the continued use of letter grades (A, B, C) with space for additional comments concerning specific difficulties and problems.

The Parent-Teacher conferences, it was felt had filled a gap in the communication between teachers and parents and the group urged that these conferences be continued.

2. Changing the entrance age requirement to 5 years of age on or before September 1, 1958, of age on or before September 1, 1958, in order to enter kindergarten; and 6 years of age on or before September 1, 1959, in order to enter first grade.

3. Limiting the solicitation of funds for charitable purposes to the Junior Red Cross. Problems involved in connection with fund drives within the school were cited.

4. Grouping of children, by grades, within the building on the basis of ability to perform. It was pointed out that ability grouping could be done only on a limited scale because of the general organization of our elementary schools.

Other topics discussed were: playground supervision, transportation, homework, the noon-lunch program, discipline and remedial reading.

Supt. J. A. Sater and Elementary Director Kermit Eastman both pointed out special problems involved in remedying some situations, but pledged themselves toward bettering the school program in every necessity of planning a program that the community could afford; rather than one which might be considered more desirable.

Sater and Eastman thanked the parents and school patrons who had participated in the discussions, and Mr. Sater expressed his hopes that at least one P.T.A. meeting each year might be devoted to similar discussions.

Education-business Day Termed Success

Approximately 50 Thief River Falls businessmen and women were guests of the city schools Tuesday on Education-business day as local teachers reciprocated the hospitality of the businessmen during the city's first Business-education day held last spring.

F. Miles Nelson, Lincoln high school principal, said the businessmen were highly impressed and in many cases surprised at what they saw in the four schools visited, and they were enthusiastic over the facilities and methods used in the city's modern school system.

The first part of the tour was a visit to [illegible] school after registration at 8:45 a.m. in the high school auditorium. The change in the schedule was due to the fact concrete was to be poured at the school that morning and the teachers wanted to make the tour before the pouring to avoid possible complications.

The businessmen were divided into groups to visit the schools after a coffee break in the Lincoln home economics rooms. Other points of interest there were the demonstrations of auditorium, music in the music rooms and physical education in the gymnasium.

The businessmen also toured the area vocational school and the school bus garage during the morning.

One of the most interesting demonstrations the businessmen saw was the first grade reading classes in session. The teachers conducted the classes as though there were no observers present and the guests were impressed by the reading progress shown

Soil Bank Will Be Topic at 3-county Farm Forum Mar. 7

Other Subjects Also to Be Discussed at Meeting in Armory in T. R. Falls

The family farm will receive attention during the farm forum in this city March 7. And how about the soil bank? Can it help bring about a balance between supply and demand of farm products?

These are some points that will be discussed for farm families who attend the tri-county farm forum at Thief River Falls Armory on Thursday, March 7 starting at 10:00 a.m. according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

General theme for the forum will be farm policies and agricultural programs. Purpose is to let local farm people hear a thorough discussion of farm issues of vital importance, both locally and nationally.

Agricultural economists and other staff members from the University of Minnesota will discuss economic problems and farm policies, and persons attending will be urged to take part in discussions and raise any questions they see fit.

Speakers at the forum will include Harold Pederson, extension economist at the University of Minnesota, and Luther Pickrel, public affairs specialist with the University. Also speaking will be Dr. Reynold P. Dahl, who specializes in finance and agriculture at the University.

Public Offices to Close Friday for Washington's Day

Thief River Falls banks and the court house and other public offices will remain closed Friday, February 22, in observance of Washington's Birthday. The postoffice windows will be closed, and there will be no mail deliveries either in the city or on the rural routes. Local schools and business places, however, will be open on their usual schedules.

Pennington 4H Clubs Compete at Crookston

Demonstrations to Be Given at Winter Shows Next Week

4-H boys and girls from Pennington county will show their skills in cooking, public speaking, leadership, judging livestock and growing and judging grain crops at the Red River Valley Winter Shows next week, County Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today. Sixteen counties from Northwestern Minnesota will be represented at the event.

The district radio speaking contest will be held Monday, February 25, at the Crookston Elks Club. Kay Wik of the St. Hilaire 4-H club will broadcast her speech over KILO, starting at 1:45 p. m., in competition with other county winners.

The livestock judging events will be held on Monday at the Armory. On the dairy judging team from Pennington county are Raymond Nelson and Wayne Harder of Silverton, and Bill Svendsgaard of Mavie with Leighton Hamre of Mavie as alternate.

General livestock judging team members are Billy Grundhaus and Norris Thune of Rocksbury and Richard Jorde of Steiner. Robert Rausch of Steiner is alternate. Raymond Rausch has coached the general judging team while County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk has been coaching the dairy team.

Dairy demonstrations will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Armory, with Pennington county's demonstrations being presented on Wednesday. Demonstrators and their topics are:

Anita Swanson, Highlanding, "Egg nog."; Sharon Swanson, Highlanding, "Making Poteta"; Catherine Mousley, Rocksbury, "Cheese Biscuits"; Bonnie Dicken and Virginia Finstad, Rocksbury, a team demonstration on "Favorite Snacks with Dairy Products"; Irene Morris, Rocksbury, "A Dairy Breakfast;" Carol Lovely, Star, "Toasted Cheese Sandwich;" Donna Schlofer, Star, "Custard;" Marion Swenson, St. Hilaire, "Cereals Cooked in Milk;" Sharon Pietron, St. Hilaire, "Unbaked Cookies;" Sharon Peterson, St. Hilaire, "Chocolate Marshmallow Cream Fudge;" Sharon Rupprecht and Jeanette Nelson, Silverton, a team demonstration on "Cheese Souffle

Businessmen View High School Audio-Visual Aids

Education-business day in Thief River Falls Tuesday proved to be as popular as the Business-education day held last year, with local business leaders being given a new insight into local educational facilities by the teachers of the various city schools. The group here found the audio-visual display interesting. In the foreground Judge Herman Kjos, Al Puddy, Vern Thompson, Elmer Bratsch, Mayor O. D. Beich, Milo Gulbranson and Randall Noper find a model of the human eye most intriguing. Others, including Reuben Lackrem (partly hidden, center background) Reynold Mattson, Sig Quam, Rudy Mehlhoff and Stanton Dahlen inspect the slide projectors and tape recorder used at the school.

Soo Line Maps Projects for Wpg. Division

3 More Yard Tracks to Be Added in TRF at Cost of $45,670

The management of the Soo Line Railroad has announced a 1957 budget in the total amount of $12,667,483 for the four divisions comprising that part of the Soo System known as the "Old Soo."

The budget includes, in part, the following items scheduled on the Winnipeg division, according to E. A. Hamerski, superintendent.

At division headquarters here in Thief River Falls three additional yard tracks will be constructed at a cost of $45,671. This additional trackage will increase car capacity in the yard and eliminate delays encountered in making up trains. An addition to the yard office will cost $8,000 and a steel garage for use of trucks and mechanized roadway equipment will be erected at a cost of $7,000. Improvements at the Thief River Falls roundhouse include a $3,000 item to complete the re-wiring of the roundhouse and an additional $3,000 item to cover the installation of asbestosboard in the ceiling over two engine stalls.

Major improvements at other points on the division include the conversion of the semi-automatic plant with the N. P. at Detroit Lakes to a fully automatic plant. This item will cost $32,800. At Winger, $30,000 will be spent in replacing the present timber highway overhead bridge with a permanent or treated type bridge. A ballast lift costing $10,500 will be part of the summer work program and this ballasting will be between Glenwood and Alexandria, a distance of 17 miles. Two metal car-houses will be erected at a cost

St. Paul Man Will Talk on Taxes to C. C. Friday Night

E. I. Whyatt, Member of Governor's Tax Committee, to Speak at Elks Club

Taxation policies from the viewpoint of a businessman will be discussed by E. I. Whyatt of St. Paul, member of the Governor's tax advisory committee, at a dinner meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday evening, February 22, at 6:30 in the Elks club rooms, Don L. Olson, president, stated today.

Mr. Whyatt, whose contribution to the governor's committee was as a businessman familiar with tax problems, but not as a specialist, is assistant to the president of Gould National Batteries in St. Paul.

Whyatt previously was vice president and comptroller of Northwest Airlines. He also served as chief financial officer of Northwest Airlines, as a director of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, a director of the St. Paul Community Chest, and was chairman of the 1955 Community Chest campaign in St. Paul. He is also a past president of the St. Paul Kiwanis Club.

Mentor Farmer Killed by Train

Arthur C. Nelson Killed When Hit by Locomotive

Arthur Chester Nelson, about 50, a bachelor who farmed a mile east of Mentor decided to walk home on the Great Northern railroad tracks after he had visited with friends on the outskirts of that town Tuesday afternoon.

It was a cold windy day and he had his coat collar pulled well up over his head so he didn't see the Great Northern passenger train No. 36 bearing down on him from behind him to the west.

Engineer Henry Hendrickson, Grand Forks, said he saw Nelson and blew his whistle and finally put his brakes on full emergency but to no avail, according to Polk county Sheriff Carl Knutson. The engine hit Nelson, who died of a broken neck and other injuries without ever realizing his life was in danger.

Guardsmen Go On Active Duty

Co. F Muster Day Next Sunday in TRF Armory

In cooperation with state and federal authorities, Mayor Orlon D. Beich is urging citizens of this community to support wholeheartedly the one-day recruiting drive of the National Guard next Sunday, February 24.

It will be a busy day for members of Company F, according to Lt. Wayne Levorson, training officer, and the public is invited to visit the Armory, especially in the afternoon, when a recruiting ceremony will be held.

This recruiting drive ties in with the new six months training program for National Guard members. Capt. John Oven, commander of Company F, urges young men confronted with their military service requirement to consider seriously this National Guard program.

"This Army training," he said, "is a fine thing for a young man, for it gives him an insight into Army life and teaches him how to live with large groups of men in his own age bracket. The young trainees are taught how to live in the field and given physical training that hardens their muscles and builds their bodies. While the training is not unduly rigorous, it is designed to make a soldier out of a young man."

This program will be explained in all its details at the Sunday "Muster Day" and all who are interested are invited to visit the Armory on this occasion. Co. F now has a membership of 112 officers and men and hopes to increase this number by 25.

Emil M. Olson, 75, Pioneer Resident, Frozen to Death

Body Discovered Monday Morning in Machinery Lot on West Second st.

Emil M. Olson, 75, a native of this area, whose frozen body was found in the machinery lot of a local implement dealer about 10:30 Monday morning in 15 below temperatures, was believed to have died from 14 to 24 hours before the body was found, according to the Pennington county coroner's report.

Dr. George B. Martin said Olson had been last seen late Saturday, before his body was found in the implement lot on West Second st. Dr. Martin said evidence pointed to Olson's having fallen against a disc plow, thus being knocked [illegible] freezing to death without regaining consciousness.

Relatives said Olson was subject to spells of dizziness or fainting. Dr. Martin said the exact time of the fall and subsequent death by freezing could not be accurately stated but that, judging from the condition of the body when it was found, Olson

Bachelor Farmhand Kills Self at Mentor

A bachelor farmhand fatally shot himself Tuesday night after a brief struggle with Polk county law officers at a farmhouse south of Mentor.

Sam Sather, age not stated, began acting strangely late Tuesday, according to Arlen Krutz, another bachelor staying at the farm with Sather. Sather went berserk and chased him off the place. Krutz told the Mentor village constable and Polk county officers.

Sheriff Carl Knutson said the Mentor constable called him Tuesday evening and he, along with Deputies Paul Caouette and Sven Svenningson, drove to Mentor with intentions of taking Sather to Crookston for a sanity hearing.

Upon arrival at the farm they found it completely dark but in shining their lights into the house they spotted Sather standing by the door with a rifle in his hands.

Knutson said they tried to reason with Sather for some time but he refused to let them in so with a strong pull, they broke open the door, which was hooked on the inside.

While one of the deputies held a light on Sather, Knutson and another officer grappled with him in an attempt to disarm him. Knutson said Sather gained complete possession of the gun with a sudden jerk and, before the sheriff could stop him, turned the gun upward and shot himself in the forehead. He was taken to Bethesda hospital in Crookston, where he died about 7:30 Wednesday morning.

Sather was born in Polk county September 20, 1900, where he attended schools and grew to manhood. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. He was employed as a laborer in the woods in the Blackduck vicinity and as a farm hand near Mentor for a number of years.

Surviving are three brothers and three sisters, Gilbert of Billings, Mont., Oscar of Mentor, Johnnie of Astoria, Ore., (Ida) Mrs. John Gudvangen, (Mabel) Mrs. Bernt Strand and (Clare) Mrs. Felix Desotel of Mentor. He was preceded in death by his parents and one sister.

Funeral services are tentatively set for Saturday or Monday in the Hitterdahl Lutheran Church of Maple Bay with the Rev. G. L. Helmrast officiating. Interment will be made in Hitterdahl cemetery.

Freedom Crusade Nets Substantial Sum of $245 Here

The substantial sum of $245.60 was contributed by local citizens last week-end to the Crusade for Freedom, which supports the campaign of Radio Free Europe to broadcast news from the free nations to people living behind the Iron Curtain, it was announced today by E. O. Peterson, treasurer.

Mrs. John S. Jaranson, president of the American Legion auxiliary, which sponsored the collection, thanked the public for its contributions, as well as the VFW and Eagles auxiliaries and the BPO Does, whose members received contributions at the local banks and postoffice.

Council Adopts 2 Ordinances Tuesday Night

Buys Equipment for Water Treatment Plant to Cost $6,073

After hearing the third and final readings, the city council at its regular February session Tuesday evening adopted an ordinance setting up provisions for sick leave, vacations, holidays and other benefits for full-time city employes, and a second ordinance incorporating into the city Bratrud's second rearrangement of part of Parks addition, approval being subject to acceptance by the register of deeds of a revised plat of the property.

The two ordinances will become effective following publication in the Times.

An ordinance setting up a department of sanitation and making mandatory the use by householders of the city's garbage collection facilities was given its second reading after being amended to leave the monthly service fee at 50 cents as at present, instead of raising it to $1 a month as orginally planned.

It was pointed out that if the new mandatory feature does not materially increase revenue from this source, it may be necessary later to raise the fee if the service is to be made self-sustaining. In 1956 1,280 patrons paid a total of slightly more than $7,200, while expenses amounted to more than $10,000, not including depreciation on equipment.

After considering two proposals, the council accepted the $6,073 low bid of Infilco, Tucson, Arizona, to supply carbon dioxide gas generating equipment for the water treatment plant. Harold M. Johnson, superintendent, stated that the equipment would make possible material savings in operating costs.

Also accepted was the bid of the Electric Storage Battery Co., lowest of two received, on an Exide control battery and charger for the municipal power plant at a cost of $1,649.

Plans and specification for sludge heating equipment for the municipal sewage treatment plant were approved, and bids will be opened at the next regular meeting March 19.

Including in $31,600 in building permits approved at the meeting were Pennington Hotel, remodeling, $4,000; Wetch building, remodeling, $8,000; T-59 Motel remodeling and addition, $13,000; and American Legion club remodeling, $4,000.

Confirmed by the council was the appointment of Lloyd Hagenson as a member of the volunteer fire department, succeeding Donald Toomey.

Geo. Erickson Farm Home Destroyed

Household Goods Also Lost in Blaze Monday

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, completely destroyed the George Erickson farm home Monday, according to Erickson, who attends Air Reserve meetings here.

The Erickson farm is east of Highway 59 in Wyandotte township. Practically all the family's possessions were destroyed in the fire, which struck while Erickson was making his school bus run in the morning.

He said he saw the flames as he was returning from the run about 9 a.m. but by the time he got there the house was too far gone for him and the neighbors, who came to help, to get the family belongings into the clear.

At present the Ericksons are living with neighbors. He said they hope to rebuild next spring. The family moved to Pennington county from East Grand Forks about six years ago.

Patricia Zachar Becomes Bride Of Charles Dicken

Before an altar graced with bouquets of red carnations and white snapdragons in the Zion Lutheran church of this city, Miss Patricia Zachar was united in marriage to Charles Dicken Jr., Saturday evening, February 16. The vows were repeated after Pastor Walter M. Pedersen in the presence of approximately 200 guests. Baskets of white gladioli and red carnations in the chancel provided the setting for the double ring ceremony. The pews were marked with white wrought iron candelabra, red carnations with greens and red and white valentine heart ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zachar of this city are the bride's parents, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dicken Sr. also of this city.

A prelude of nuptial music was played on the organ by Mrs. Alton Hanson, city. She also played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the bridal party proceeded to the altar, and accompanied Harold Anderson of this city, soloist. Mr. Anderson, close friend of the couple, sang "Because" preceding the ceremony, "O Perfect Love" as the couple knelt at the altar and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Attired in a floor-length gown of white lace and tulle over satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal dress was fashioned with a fitted torso bodice of lace over satin with long tapered sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The very bouffant skirt featured layers of tulle with escalloped lace insert over satin. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece of pleated net and lace, identical to that in her dress, with tiny multicolor sequins. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white carnations, red roses and rosebuds with long white satin streamers. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the groom.

The bride was attended by a close friend, Mrs. Eric Hoard, city, as matron of honor. She was attired in a pink velvet street-length dress fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice featuring elbow-length sleeves and a slight heart-shaped neckline. She wore [illegible] picture hat, pink linen shoes and carried a red velvet muff accented with a pink rose. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the bride.

Bridesmaids were Diane Helgeson of Pinewood, Minn., cousin of the bride, Paulette Zachar, city, sister of the bride, Doris Pic, city, and Ivy Kleinwachter, Fargo, friends of the bride. They all wore red velvet street-length dresses with pale pink picture hats and red linen shoes. Their dresses were styled identically to that of the matron of honor. They carried pink muffs accented with red roses, and wore pearl earrings, gifts from the bride.

Roxanne Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lee of Mountain Iron, Minn., served as flower girl. Her floor-length dress was of white tulle over satin fashioned with short puffed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Red rose petals were strewn from a white reed basket trimmed with red rosebuds, white carnations and valentine ribbon. Her short veil was held in place by a headband of flowers, and she wore a pearl necklace and bracelet, gift from the bride.

Serving as ring bearer was Rikky Dicken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dicken of this city. He wore a white dinner jacket with dark trousers, and carried the rings on a red velvet heart-shaped pillow edged in white lace.

Jim Syrdal of East Grand Forks, friend of the groom, served as best man. Other attendants were Larry Perkins, Sid Vraa, Billy Lee and Larry Evenstad, all of this city, friends of the groom. Miles Thorson, city, friend of the groom, and Alvin Dicken, city, the groom's brother, ushered. All the men were attired in white dinner jackets, dark trousers and red carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Zachar chose a navy blue faille dress with navy and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a navy blue silk print dress with navy accessories. Mrs. William Sheedy, grandmother of the bride, was attired in a black and white suit with black accessories. Their identical corsages were of red roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given by the bride's parents in the church parlors. Approximately 200 guests were in attendance. Pink and red were the colors carried out in the decorations which consisted of streamers, valentine hearts and Dan Cupids.

The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in pink and red and topped with a miniature bride and groom in a heart-shaped frame. Other decorations consisted of bouquets of red and white flowers and bridal candles. The guests were seated at tables centered with vases of red and pink carnations and candles on red heart-shaped doilies.

Acting as hostess was a close friend, Mrs. Arnold Lee, of this city. Mrs. Conrad Helgeson of Pinewood, Minn., aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake, and Mrs. Bob Robinson of Aurora, also an aunt, poured. They all wore verigated carnation corsages. The waitresses were JeAnne Kapler, Beverly Eggers and Durrell Newbury, all of this city. They wore red organdy heart-shaped aprons over formals.

The gift table was centered with two large portraits of the bride. Mrs. Kenneth Masquette of Aurora, Elaine Balvin of Fargo and Marlis Anderson of this city arranged the gifts. Marjory Irvin of Minneapolis registered the guests. Their corsages also consisted of verigated carnations.

For travel Mrs. Dicken chose a black and white linen dress with matching accessories. After a two weeks trip to Chicago, Ill., and parts of Indiana, the couple will be at home at 213 LaBree av. no. in this city.

Mrs. Dicken is a 1956 graduate of Lincoln high school and is empoyed as secretary at Union State Bank. Her husband graduated from Lincoln high school in 1952 and is emloyed as locomotive fireman on the Soo Line.

Out of town relatives in attendance at the wedding were Mr. andMrs. Fred Hargen, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Hargen, Evodia and Mark and Miss Grace Hedlund of Warren; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Anderson of Newfolden; Mrs. Archie Peterson, Allen Eliason, Mrs. Harry Comstock and Valerie of Minneapolis; Mrs. Robert Hare and Keith of Sierra Vista, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Helgeson and Diane of Pinewood; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson of Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lee, Larry and Roxanne, Axel Jacobson of Mountain Iron; Mrs. Emma Lee of Nitterdahl; Mrs. Barbara Volova and Loretta of Fordville, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Connie Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Almquist, Mrs. Don Johnson and Mrs. Nick Drees of St. Hilaire; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Arhart and John of Gary; Mr. and Mrs. Marvis Tallerude, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tallerude and Jean of Fertile and George Zachar of Goodridge.

Carol Swenson and Dale Sylvander Repeat Vows

Wedding vows were spoken at 7:30 p.m. February 9 in the Assemblies of God church in this city when Miss Carol Swenson became the bride of Dale Sylvander. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Abbott in the presence of approximately 175 relatives and friends. Baskets of lavender and white gladioli and yellow daffodils, two ferns and candelabra provided the setting for the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Swenson of this city, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hjelmer Sylvander of Warren.

Nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Robert Abbott on the piano. "The Wedding Prayer" was sung as a duet by the Rev. and Mrs. Abbott, while Miss Marie Sylvander, sister of the groom, sang "O Promise Me," and Rev. Abbott sang "Together Life's Pathway They Tread."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of patterned nylon net over Skinners satin. The close fitting bodice was fashioned with a shallow scoop neckline and long sleeves which extended to a point over the wrist. The bouffant skirt was of patterned net over satin with a permanently pleated nylon tulle panel down the front. Her fingertip veil edged in wide lace was held in place by a high crown of rhinestones. She carried a crescent cascade bouquet of hyacinths centered with a lavender orchid. Her jewelry consisted of a single strand necklace of pearls, gift from the groom. Tucked in her sleeve at the wrist was a Irish Linen, lace-edged handkerchief from Belgium, gift from a friend.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Eileen Swenson of this city. Miss Marie Sylvander of Warren, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Thier identical floor-length gowns were of orchid net and taffeta, fashioned with scoop necklines, cap sleeves and ruffled net overskirts. They carried French nosegays of yellow roses and white carnations, and wore single strands of pearls, gift from the bride. Floral headbands were worn in the back of their hair.

Bonnie Austad of Hibbing, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her floor-length dress was of white taffeta. She carried a basket of flowers and wore a matching pearl necklace and bracelet, gift from the bride.

Serving as ring bearer was David Dahlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winton Dahlin of this city. He was attired in a white suit.

Best man and groomsman, respectively, were Philip Edman of Alvarado, cousin of the groom, and Winton Dahlin of this city, friend of the the groom. The groom and his attendants wore dark suits with white boutonnieres. Lloyd Olson of this city and Donald Austad of Hibbing ushered.

Mrs. Swenson chose a dusty pink suit with orchid accessories for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother was attired in a brown suit with matching accessories. Thier identical corsages were of yellow roses and white carnations.

A reception was given by the bride's parents in the church following the ceremony. Approximately 150 guests were served. Rev. Abbott acted as toastmaster, and a short program was presented.

The three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom in a heart shape, was cut and served by Mrs. Amanda Aubol of Crookston and Mrs. Peder Bakken of Clarkfield, aunts of the bride. Miss Betty Waters of Minneapolis, friend of the bride, poured. Waitresses were Miss Grace Hagenbeck and Mrs. Chester Smith, of Minneapolis, at the bridal table, and Mrs. Harold Hjelmeland and Nora Doucette of this city, all friends of the bride.

The guests were registered by Mrs. Donald Austad of Hibbing, the bride's sister, and in charge of arranging the gifts were Miss Alice Wold of Minneapolis, friend of the bride, and Janice Swenson, the bride's sister.

For their wedding trip to Duluth, Mrs. Sylvander chose a black velveteen sheath with winter white and black accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Lincoln high school and is presently employed as teller in the Twin Cities Federal Savings and Loan. Her husband attended school in Richmond, Calif., and is now serving as Pfc. in the Army at Fulda, Germany, where he will return March 1. Mrs. Sylvander will return to Minneapolis.

Out of town relatives at the wedding were Mrs. Helga Swenson, Mrs. Amanda Aubol, Miss Dorothy Aubol, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Aubol and Earl Swenson all of Crookston, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Aubol of Red Lake Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Peder Bakken of Clarkfield, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Lokken, Donald and Helen of Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Ranstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edman and Mr. and Mrs. E. Psychiatrist Speaks to 300 at Joint PTA Session Held Monday

Over 300 PTA parents representing the three city grade school and Lincoln High school Parent-Teacher associations met Monday evening at Lincoln High School auditorium to hear an address by Roy Anderson, psychiatric social worker from the mental health clinic in Fergus Falls. Anderson's talk centered about the theme, "What is Mental Health?"

Anderson, featured speaker at the session, listed 11 factors or situations which are necessary to person who is deficient in any one of the factors could develop into a "problem person," or have serious illnesses as a result.

Among the factors Anderson listed as necessary for a healthy mentality were:

1. A positive attitude toward life.
2. Ability to use energy effectively.
3. Willingness to participate in activities.
4. The feeling of being wanted and loved.
5. Ability to meet problems as they arise.
6. Ability to overcome fears and anxieties.
7. Living in reality—that is the present, not the past.
8. Confidence in others.

Anderson explained the importance of each factor and cited cases in which persons were referred to the mental health clinic because of a lack of one or more of the factors. Such cases represent a large majority of those referred to the clinic, he said.

In another phase of his address Anderson outlined the operational set-up of the clinic and emphasized that it is in no way associated with the state mental hospital in the same city. He also referred to new legislation which could affect the placing of new clinics in the state.

Preceding Anderson's address the Lincoln High School chorus under the direction of Bryant Ulseth rendered a 20 minute program of secular music, Christmas favorites and Negro spirituals.

Following the formal program, over which Ormond Johnson, president of the joint PTA council, presided, the meeting adjourned for refreshments in the cafeteria.

Winner of the unit attendance prize was Washington PTA with more than [illegible] per cent of their members present at the joint session.

Rites Conducted Feb. 18 in New Ulm for Mrs. Bennett

Mrs. M. J. Bennett (Julia Higgins) died at the Loretto hospital in New Ulm, Minn. Thursday, Feb. 14th. She had been hospitalized there since July of last year, when she and her daughter Ethel left Thief River Falls to reside in New Ulm.

Mrs. Bennett was born and raised in Mineral Point, Wisconsin. She was married to Michael J. Bennett, Nov. 9, 1897 and they resided in Cobb, Wisconsin until 1915, when they moved to Aberdeen, South Dakota to make their home. Later they came to St. Peter, Minn. and it was there that Mr. Bennett died in 1941.

Mrs. Bennett is survived by an only daughter, Ethel Bennett, a teacher in the New Ulm schools, and also by relatives in California, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Arizona, who were unable to attend the services, held Monday, Feb. 18th from Holy Trinity Catholic Church in New Ulm. A solemn high mass was sung by Rev. Joseph Ettel, Rev. Raymond Neudecker and Father Gabriel Diefenbach. Burial was in St. Peter.

Services Held for Mrs. G. A. Penney, Former Resident

Funeral rites for Mrs. G. A. Penney of Minneapolis, who died last Thursday evening following an extended illness, were conducted Saturday in Minneapolis, with Rev. Wedge of St. Mark's Episcopal church officiating. She was the widow of the late Dr. Penney, former Thief River Falls dentist and mayor.

Born in Carrollton, Illinois, November 18, 1877, Jessie Lakin was married there to Dr. Penny. After first locating at Warren, they came to this city in the early 1900s and had lived here most of the intervening years until moving to Minneapolis.

While here, Mrs. Penney was active in community and social affairs, and served at one time as worthy matron of the local Eastern Star chapter.

She is survived by two sons, Jordan of Minneapolis and Arthur of Longmeadow, Mass., five grandchildren, and two sisters, Miss Leesa Lakin and Mrs. Wm. H. Gurnee, both of San Francisco, Calif.

Interment was in Lakewood Cemetery, Minneapolis.

by the first-graders and the teaching methods used.

The many questions asked by the business people indicated their aroused interest, much to the pleasure of the school faculties. Although the two days—Business-education and Education-business — were the first time such an experiment has been tried in the city their success may lead to a possible repetition in later years.

After a question and answer period in the Lincoln high school auditorium, during which a panel composed of Supt. A. J. Sater, Paul E. Anderson, secondary director; Kermit L. Eastman, elementary director; Nelson, and Arnold Larson, junior high school principal, answered questions related to school operations, the group adjourned to Knox school cafeteria for lunch.

According to several businessmen the lunch was also very enjoyable, and drew compliments on the quality of the food served.

Best way to get good replacement cows in the dairy herd these days is to raise them, says Ralph Wayne, extension dairy specialist at the University of Minnesota. If you buy surplus stock from another herd, chances are you'll be getting cows that are lower in production than the rest.

• • •

In general, phosphate and potash fertilizers can be applied whenever you have time and equipment to do the work, says Charles Simkins, extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota. But regardless of when you make broadcast applications, plan on using starter fertilizer at planting time.

• • •

Prices paid to egg producers may be a little lower late this winter and in early spring. Reason is that there are more eggs on the market, because of higher production per hen than ever before. Market prices for eggs may improve in fall of 1957, depending upon how many chicks are started next spring.

• • •

Compared with 1948, the U. S. diet of 1955 was more expensive. It included more meat, less potatoes, more frozen fruits and vegetables and less fresh, dried, and canned fruits and vegetables, says U. S. Department of Agriculture economists.

• • •

Dollarwise, Americans will probably spend a little more for food in 1957 than last year.

• • •

Minnesota creameries are shifting toward more diversification, according to the University of Minnesota agricultural economists. In 1928, creameries in the state churned 90.6 per cent of their butterfat receipts and marketed the rest in other products. In 1955, only 73.4 of the butterfat received by creameries was churned.

• • •

How should a man and wife file their tax returns — separately or jointly? Best way is to figure it out both ways, say the extension farm management specialists at the University of Minnesota. Then choose whichever way costs you less, advises Hal Routhe and Ermond Hartmans, extension farm management specialists at the University of Minnesota.

• • •

Extra Colostrum doesn't need to be wasted. Put that extra first milk in the freezer, for use later on, advises Ralph Wayne, extension dairy cattle specialist at the University.

• • •

Get the ticks off your sheep before the new crop of lambs arrive, urges R. E. Jacobs, extension livestock specialist at the University of Minnesota. You can use a garden duster for applying DDT, methoxychlor or rotenone dust.

Between 1949 and 1954, Minnesota farmers saved some $770,000 by replacing 3-12-12 fertilizers with more efficient, high-analysis mixtures like 5-20-20.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that its programs to reduce acreage of corn, wheat, cotton and rice resulted in cutting production of these crops by 8 per cent from 1953 to 1955, but production of other crops increased enough so that the total production was higher in '55.

More than 22 million acres of rangeland in 19 western and midwestern states are threatened with light to very severe grasshopper damage in 1957. Greatest grasshopper increases on cropland appear to be in Minnesota and North Dakota, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The most widely used insecticides for grasshopper control last year were aldrin, dieldrin, toxaphene, chlordane, heptachlor, and sodium flousilicate, says the USDA.

of $3,000 each at Alexandria and Parkers Prairie. These car houses will provide a lunch room and individual metal lockers for section crews working at these points as well as storage room for motor cars and tools. Oil burning stoves will provide heat for these car houses.

Among the major items included in tools and equipment are two new trucks and a new station wagon to replace the present equipment now used by the signal maintainer, B&B foreman and division engineer. Also, the lineman working west of Thief River Falls will be furnished with a new truck. The streamlining program on the Wheat Line west of Fordville, North Dakota will be continued this summer and several small mechanized extra gangs will be working on the division installing and renewing ties. The present program of installation of oil burners at depots will be continued with an additional five to seven stations receiving this installation by the fall of 1957.

had died possibly as early as Saturday evening, or, Sunday evening at the very latest.

Final rites for Olson will be conducted today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. in the Gulbranson Chapel with Rev. Walter M. Pedersen officiating. Burial will be made in Lake Bronson cemetery.

Mr. Olson was born July 30, 1881, near Hazel, where he was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith and attended school. He then came to this city and worked in the saw mill. He was united in marriage to Miss Edith Moor who passed away in 1924. On October 27, 1929, he married Nellie Bronson at Thief River Falls, who died in 1954. Mr. Olson was employed as a section hand with the Soo Line Railroad for many years, and retired in 1932.

Survivors include one brother, Henry of Canada; three sisters, Mrs. Josephine Avery of Corland, Ohio, Mrs. D. H. Churchill of Glendale, Calif., and Mrs. Anna Norgard of Longview, Wash. He was preceded in death by his wife and two sisters.

Subdistrict 31 Cage Tourney Opens Feb. 25

Arrangements were completed this week for the 31st district's sub-district and district basketball tournaments. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Feb. 25th, 26th, and 27th, the sub-district tournament will be held at Fisher.

Teams competing in the sub-district will be Plummer, Goodridge, Red Lake Falls, Alvarado, Oslo, and Fisher. As the schedule will not be completed until Friday night, the pairings for the sub-district have not been announced, and will be held in abeyance until the final standings have been recorded.

The sub-district tourney will open on Monday night with Team 3 playing Team 6 at 7:30 p.m.; while at 9:00 p.m. Team 4 will play Team 5. In the Semi-finals on Tuesday night, Team 2 will play the winner of Game one at 7:30 p.m. At 9:00 p.m., Team 1 will play the winner of Game Two.

The consolation game, between the losers of Tuesday night's games, being slated for 9:00 p.m.

Three teams from the sub-district tourney will gain berths in the District tournament which will be played on the North Dakota University fieldhouse court on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, March 4th, 5th, and 6th. The sub-district winner, runner-up, and third place winner will enter the District meet.

At a meeting of the district's coaches at Crookston on Monday night, pairings for the district tournament were made. The Crookston Pirates, the defending champions, were seeded number one, with the Thief River Falls Prowlers being seeded number two.

The first round games, to be played on Monday, March 4th, will find Thief River Falls meeting the Warren Ponies at 2:30 p.m. At 4:00 p.m., the Climax Vikings will meet the sub-district runner-up. The play on Monday evening, March 4th, will find the Crookston Pirates facing the sub-district's third place at 7:30 p.m.; while at 9:00 p.m., the East Grand Forks Green Wave will face the sub-district winners.

The semi-finals are scheduled for Tuesday night, March 5th; and consolation game being set for Wednesday night, March 6th.

Plummer Defeats RLF Quint 43-41

Fourth Period Rally Wins Contest for Cardinals

Coach Darrel Hesby's Plummer Cardinals, with a 20-point effort in the fourth period, overcame a 32 to 23 deficit at the end of the third period and defeated Coach Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles by a 43 to 41 score in a cage game played on the Red Lake Falls court last week.

The Cardinals trailed by a 10 to 8 score at the end of the first period, and by a 23 to 16 margin at the intermission. The Eagles, with Denis Syvock dropping in three field goals, outpointed the Cardinals by two points, 9 to 7, in the third period to enter the fourth quarter with a 9-point lead.

Plummer's Waldal won the game's high-point honors with 23 points, garnering nine field goals and five free throws. Gary Kuiper, with 16 points, and Chuck Kankel, with 12 points, were the pacesetters for the losers.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Ho hum . . . it's still too early to drag out the tackle box and possibly a little rust is forming on the guns in the closet. About this time of year, after the first mild thaw and the sports magazines run their annual boat and motor issues, winter begins to drag.

Tournament time is just around the corner — the hockey playoffs have already started, basketball teams are on the last games of their schedules and down south and out west spring baseball practice will soon start.

The migratory waterfowl down in the Texas and Louisiana swamps are probably beginning to feel the urge to start their annual northward trek. Before long the tornado season will start in the south central states.

Yep—spring is on the way. But as far as we here in the "north woods" are concerned, it's still a heck of a long way off.

A local wit — we don't know who the feller was — has remarked that it's a sad note that we spend thousands of dollars on school buses. Then we turn right around and spend another $50,000 or so for a gymnasium so the kids can get their exercise.

The kids nowadays have to listen to Pop tell how he walked miles in every kind of weather to get to school every day. Probably when today's kids grow up they'll tell their offspring how they had to leave home every day to go to a central school house in order to get their "book-larnin' " instead of staying at home and gaining their education from a TV picture tube built into the rumpus room wall.

It hasn't happened yet — but sooner or later some bright young executive is going to come up with the idea of selling packaged pre-chewed food. He'll probably use the slogan "Just swallow!"

Exaggerated? Perhaps. But, really, we do wonder just how far this "easy-living" fad will continue.

That was one whompin' big silvertip grizzly hide Mike Antonoff got from a relative in Alaska recently. It weighed 1800 lb. before it was skinned out and you can tell by the pictures elsewhere in this paper just how long the critter was.

It isn't the sort of thing a feller would care to run into while taking a stroll.

Polk county Sheriff Carl Knutson has certainly been having his exercise lately. Early Tuesday he was called out to investigate the accident near Gully, in which Clifford Kolstrand was killed.

On the way to investigate another case at Mentor he and his deputy came across another car in a ditch near Crookston. A woman passenger in the car was seriously injured and word is that she died yesterday morning in a Crookston hospital.

In the other two cases one man was killed Tuesday afternoon when a train hit him east of Mentor and Tuesday night Knutson and two deputies were called out to investigate a man who was acting strangely at a farm south of Mentor.

The officers had to break into the house and in the struggle to wrest a gun the man had in his hands away from him, Knutson came out second best in that the man got free and shot himself fatally before he could be subdued by the lawmen.

Perhaps we shouldn't say anything so soon—but it certainly is something to comment on, in that we haven't had a traffic fatality in Pennington county so far. At least one county resident has been killed in an accident—Clifford Kolstrand of Goodridge died early Tuesday morning north of Gully. However, the accident happened in Polk county so it doesn't affect our record.

It's up to each of us to see that it stays that way. SO LONG!

Heart and Polio Funds to Benefit from Tilt Tonight

The regular meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held this evening, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion club rooms. The meeting will be short as the March of Dimes and Heart Fund benefit basketball game between the Jaycees and the Lincoln high school faculty team will start at 8:00 p.m. in the Lincoln high school gym. A large turnout is expected as the returns will be divided between the March of Dimes and the Heart Fund.

Gun Training to Start March 13, Says Dr. Disse

Dr. James O. Disse, local instructor under the Youth's Fire-arms Training program, announced today that the first youth's fire arms training class will begin March 13.

Disse said youth may enroll in the course at any local hardware store and urged that anyone who wishes to take the course enroll as quickly as possible.

This is especially important for those who wish to get in on the first class, he added.

Committee OK's Higher Schedule of Pay to Jobless

Votes Tuesday to Raise Maximum Payment from $33 per Week up to $40

The administration-supported bill to hike unemployment compensation benefits was approved Tuesday by the Minnesota House employes compensation committee after futile attempts to trim the amount of the proposed increase.

The measure, as recommended for passage after Chairman Joseph Prifrel of St. Paul relinquished his chair to speak for the proposal, would make the minimum weekly unemployment benefits $11 instead of $12 and the maximum would be $40 in place of the present $33 a week.

In his labor message to the Legislature a week ago, Gov. Freeman urged a $40 maximum after telling the lawmakers that the average weekly benefit paid in Minnesota during the year ending July 1, 1956, was $23.46 as compared with a national weekly average of $26.33.

In committee the present unemployment compensation law was described by an employers' representative as "the most liberal law in the Midwest" while a spokesman for the labor groups characterized it as "one of the worst in the country."

Rep. Ernest J. Windmiller of Fergus Falls offered an amendment which would have hiked the maximum only $3 a week to $36, but it was rejected after warm debate.

It was brought out at the meeting that the unemployment compensation fund has dropped from 134 million dollars to 117 million dollars.

2 Chimney Fires Cause No Damage

No damage resulted from two chimney fires this week, Fire Chief Roy Langevin reported. The first one brought firemen to the Irvin Chapman farm home in Rocksbury township on the airport road Sunday morning, and the second one occurred Monday evening at the Kenneth Bakke home at 703 St. Paul av S.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Pursuant to adjournment to call the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium Building on January 29th, 1957 at eight o'clock P.M. with all members present.

Ralph Lokken, Auditor, reported on operations of the Municipal Liquor Dispensary during the fiscal year January 1-December 31, 1956.

By motion duly seconded and carried, Falls Squares Square Dance Club was granted use of Auditorium facilities for Festival to be held April 7th, 1957 at a fee of $[illegible].

Morris Owen, Chief Power Plant Engineer reported that the Central Battery of plant had deteriorated so that replacement was necessary. Alderman Stenberg moved that bids for such replacement be called for to be considered on February 19th at eight o'clock P. M. Motion was seconded by Sandvig and carried.

Alderman Winjum moved that Consulting Engineer Stewart be directed to prepare plans and specifications for replacement or modernization of Sewerage Treatment Plant Heat Exchanger with the view of advertising for bids. Motion was seconded by Stenberg and carried.

Alderman Winjum introduced a resolution expressing support of the Council in passage by the present Legislature of a Bill to amending Chapter 8, Laws of Minnesota, by removing the four day waiting period and requirement of publication with regard to Orders and Resolutions of the City Council, directing that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the representatives of this District at the Legislature and moved adoption of such resolution. Alderman Stenberg seconded the motion and the resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

Communications addressed to the City Council dated January 14th of Municipal Drivers & Helpers Local Union No. [illegible] suggesting changes in certain sections of the ordinance now under consideration providing sick leave benefits, vacation allowances, overtime and related rights and benefits for employees of the City, was presented and read and considered as was also a communication of said Local suggesting that Street Employee Russell Moen be placed on a full time pay status; that Clarence Breiland, street Department Mechanic be allowed an additional $10.00 per month, [illegible] at such time as another full time Janitor is required at the Liquor Store he [illegible] at the present $[illegible] per month rate. A communication of Alvin Jablinske, Street Commissioner, in line with suggestion of Local Union with respect to employees Moen and Breiland was presented and read. Alderman Stenberg introduced a resolution approving a monthly increase of $10.00 for Mechanic Breiland as of January 1, 1957 and moved adoption, being seconded by Nichols and the resolution was adopted. Russell Moen was directed to submit to the Council a formal application for the positions in question; no action being taken on the Local's suggestion as to salary of Liquor Dispensary Janitor.

Alderman Stenberg moved that the Ordinance providing sick leave benefits, vacation allowances, overtime and related rights and benefits for City Employees, as amended be given its second reading. The motion was seconded by Alderman Carlson and the same was unanimously carried, whereupon the Ordinance was read and filed.

The Clerk was instructed to advise all department heads of the adopted policy of the Council relative to City owned property and equipment, also that department heads be required to maintain monthly record of sick leave and vacations taken by employees with filing of the same with the City Clerk each month, also to secure and file with the clerk a signed doctor's certificate in the case of any employee who is off duty 3 days or longer.

The meeting was then declared adjourned.

Patrol Officer Addresses Lions

Capt. Walter Anderson Is Speaker Wednesday

Captain Walter Anderson, in charge of state highway patrol activities in this district, and John Oven of the local staff were guests at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Addressing the group, Anderson expressed the hope that measures calling for an increase of 100 or more in the personnel of the patrol would be passed by the legislature in its current session, and added that the increase is badly needed in order properly to patrol the highways.

Enlarging the patrol, he said, would result in adding several men to the present staff of three patrolmen stationed in Thief River Falls.

The patrol radio setup with district headquarters in this city, said Anderson, will be improved shortly by the installation of two more feeder stations at Lake Bronson and Bagley, in addition to the present ones at Roosevelt and Hawley. These new stations, he said, will require the use of less power in broadcasting from the local center, and will minimize the danger of interference with television reception.

A lively question and answer period followed Anderson's talk.

4-H Club News

St. Hilaire 4-H Club

The regular meeting of the St. Hilaire 4-H club was held Thursday in the council room.

This was our Valentine party.

The club decided that for our safety project we would go to farms and apply red reflector tape on tractors and wagons.

Mr. Stelmaschuk gave a talk on the grain clinic. Marion and Arlys Swenson sang two songs. Sharon Pietron gave a demonstration on cookies. A poem entitled, "Washington's Birthday," was given by Margie Haugen.

Demonstrations on how to make chocolate marshmellow fudge was given by Sharon Peterson. Janet Kolden gave the speech which she gave at the radio speaking contest. Susan Lindquist gave the Gettysburg Address. Diane Lindquist gave a short reading. A demonstration by Marion Swenson was given on cooked cereals.

Lunch was served by the Brink and Cords families.—Sharon Olson, reporter.

Silverton 4-H Club

The Silverton 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Thursday evening, Feb. 14 at the Silverton town hall. Group singing was led by Marge Olsen. For new business, a polio benefit program and the play and music contest were discussed. The meeting was adjourned.

Marge Olsen gave some pointers on preparing and giving demonstrations. Eileen Knutson gave a project talk on how she had made a wooden sewing box. A team demonstration on "Making a Cheese Souffle" was given by Jeanette Nelson and Sharon Ruprecht. Eileen Knutson sang a song and little Linda Knutson recited, "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Diana Bjerke gave a demonstration on "Making Pancakes." These demonstrations given by Jeanette, Sharon and Diana will also be given at the Winter Shows.

After the program Lloyd Nelson auctioned off the decorated baskets. Lunch was served by Mrs. Ole Lerol and Mrs. Clifford Nelson, to those not having baskets. Valentines were also distributed.

AIRPORT NEWS

E. L. Booker of the state game and fish division flew in from Minneapolis last Monday and spent a few days here in this area, counting deer, moose, etc. He returned to Minneapolis Thursday the 14th, in the PA-18.

Tuesday, a day of very mild temps, brought out most of Martin's students again and we had a number of visitors from Crookston too: Lloyd Anderson flew the T-Craft; J. P. Muzzitall and Harold Ross came in the Champ; while Curt Haring brought Bernell Nelson over in an Ercoupe. Delmar Hagen came to gas up Champ and visit a while on Tuesday, too.

Hank Sikorski and John Pulliznski of Greenbush landed here for gas on the 13th; they were out for hunting in Hank's J-3. Tony Burkle and Felix Wilebski, also from Greenbush, came in Wednesday for gas and had bagged a wolf and 2 fox on the way over—they too were flying a J-3. In fact, it seemed to be the day for J-3, as Martin Rantanen and George Busse were out hunting in George's J-3, on Wednesday, also.

The 14th, H. W. Anderson of Mahnomen in another J-3, stopped in for coffee, as did a couple of hunters from Perham. They were E. J. Dahl and Lowell King, flying a PA-18.

L. Wichtermen was out doing some hunting on Thursday in his Champ.

The Flying Club has added two more members to its list, Cliff Larson of Holt and Kermit Maldinent, Goodridge. They are taking instructions from Martin Rantanen.

Prowler Quint Bows to Grand Forks 40-35

Burly Paul Grinnell's three field goals midway in the fourth period, hitting on a jump shot and a pair of rebounders, gave Coach Marv Skaar's Grand Forks Redskins the point-bulge by which they defeated the Prowlers 40-35 in a slow, methodical, ball-controlling type of basketball game played on the local court Wednesday night.

Scoring was at a premium, particularly in the first half, which found the Prowlers gaining an 8 to 7 lead in the first period, and then trailing by a 14 to 13 score at the intermission.

During the game, the lead changed hands eleven times, so evenly spaced was the scoring until Grinnell's production late in the fourth period. The Prowlers, on Dave Rasmussen's long shot, took the lead at 8 to 7 in the final seconds of the first quarter. Jack Schalow, hitting on an out-of-bounds play, and then following with a drive-in underhand layup, gave the Redskins the advantage late in the second period, and coach Skaar's held a 14 to 13 lead at the half.

The lead alternated seven times in the hectic third period, with the Prowlers coming out with a one point, 29 to 28, at the quarter's end. At one time in the period, the locals, on a pair of field goals by Rasmussen and a field goal by Jones, held a 29 to 24 advantage.

Entering the fourth period with a one-point deficit, the Skins erased that Prowler lead on Byron Evenson's jump shot with 6:58 to play. Keith Johnson regained the lead with a layup, Grinnell pumped a jump shot into the west basket, and then followed with a pair of rebound shots. Schalow increased the Grand Forks margin to 38 to 31 by dropping in a pair of free throws. Dave Hanson, who shared the game's scoring honors with Grinnell, added a pair of Prowler field goals in the final minute.

The Prowlers were very erratic on their tries from the free throw line, making but five out of seventeen attempts. Grand Forks, on the other hand, had a neat percentage in the free throw department, dropping in twelve points in seventeen tries.

In the preliminary game, which was a high-scoring affair, the Grand Forks 'B' team, showing exceptional rebounding ability, defeated the Prowler 'B' team, 83 to 56. Mickey Hanson for the locals connected for 26 points, having 11 field goals and 4 free throws.

Plummer H. S. Basketball Team Sets Hot Pace In Polar Loop Play

Coach Darrell Hesby's Plummer basketball team is engaged in a red-hot race for first place in the Polar basketball league and is a cinch for a first place tie with Red Lake Falls, according to Hesby. The Plummer team faces Goodridge Friday in a decisive tilt.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Our Sentiments

What's good for the Hallock Polar Bears is good for eighth regional hockey. That's our sentiments with regard to the Bears 3 to 2 win over the Williams Wolves in the regional tournament semi-finals at Roseau last Thursday night. That win gave coach Ken McFadden's squad a berth in the state tournament.

What's good for Hallock, though, only pertains to the regional tournament, for the pairings in the state tourney, which opens this afternoon, are bad for Hallock. The Bears, making their first trip to the state tourney, will meet the favored International Falls Broncos in a first round game at 4:00 p.m. this afternoon. That's so bad for Hallock that it couldn't be worse. If the youngsters from the northwestern corner of the state can keep the score below double figures, they will have gained a moral victory. So powerful are the Broncos.

But to get back to Hallock. It should be quite a boost for the Bears, and high school hockey at Hallock, to get this trip to the [illegible] Polar Bears have been competing in the eighth region hockey conference, and without much success. During this span of years they have always fulfilled their scheduled obligations, and they have never wavered in their efforts to develop a regional contender. Hallock, as a community, has a far-reaching hockey tradition, and this year's state tourney trip should give impetus to the peewee and high school hockey program.

Oh yes, Elmer Poole reminded us that he, away back in October, picked the International Falls Broncos to win the state championship. The Broncos are in the tourney, and they have been installed as the favorites. If we want to get on the Falls' bandwagon, Elmer says that he will make room.

It's Curling History

To the best of our recollection, the appearance of Alan Thompson's rink in the district bonspiel at Roseau on Saturday afternoon, marks the first time that a registered entry from the local curling club has participated in such an event.

The local rink will be one of four, from Hallock, Roseau, and St. Vincent, that will compete in the bonspiel. The winner of the event will be eligible to enter the state bonspiel in St. Paul.

Thompson's rink should make a fine representative on Saturday when, at 2:00 p.m. they curl their first match. Phil Beadle, Buster Anderson, Ardell Liden, and Al Thompson have good spirit, good strategy, and they are good curlers. They are the best sweepers we've seen this year, and they are on the rock all the way from the "hog line" to the "house."

Good luck, Phil and Buster and Ardell and Al.

Take It Easy, Elwood

Say, did you notice that photo in the Minneapolis Morning Trib the other morning? In the sports section? There, as big as life, was a picture of Elwood (Tiny) Karwand "going to work" on a five-layer stack of pancakes.

Elwood, the sports publicity director of Hamline University, is a former Prowler and is a highly-rated golfer. Karwand, who tips the scales at 262 pounds, is preparing for the approaching golfing season, and he will perhaps arrange to make a couple of trips up here. He usually "collects" dues from the local club's championship flight contingent of golfers whenever he comes up here.

But those five-layer pancake breakfasts!

A Few Words From Jack

During Sunday's hockey game at the Arena between the Thieves and the Elmwood Mercurys of Winnipeg, referee Jack McGill assessed a penalty against one of the Mercurys. This player, in great indignation, slapped his stick on the ice, huffed up to McGill and said, "You can't give me a penalty for that."

McGill, at his haughtiest, turned to the player and answered, "I can't, eh? Well, Bub, just read tomorrow's paper." The player, properly subdued, skated off to the penalty box.

Newfolden Quint in Last Tilt Friday at Strandquist

Nordics to Attempt to Avenge Earlier Defeat; 6 Seniors in Last Game

The Newfolden Nordics will play their last regularly scheduled game of the 1956-57 basketball season against Strandquist on Friday, February 22, at Strandquist. Strandquist defeated the Nordics in an earlier game played at Newfolden.

This will be the last regular season game for the following seniors: Lloyd Bakke, Philip Dyrud, Rodney Doran, Richard Halvorson, Dale Moen, an Capt. Jerry Shern.

There being no school on Friday, a bus will go to Holt by way of Highway 59 and pick up players and students along the way. It will leave Holt at 5:35 p.m. and return by way of County Road No. 8 West to the intersection four miles south of Newfolden and turn north on County Road No. 13 to Wewfolden. A second bus will go west of Newfolden four miles on Highway 59 and turn south on State Aid Road No. 11 to Viking. It will leave Viking at 5:30 p.m. proceeding east on State Aid Road No. 2 until it reaches the Columbus School intersection and from there proceed north on County Road No. 13 straight in to Newfolden.

Any students living on these two routes will be picked up if they are out on the road waiting for the bus. Both busses will leave Newfolden at 6:00 p.m. for Strandquist. The busses will return students to Viking and Holt along these same roads after the game. Any spectators or players living on Highway 59 between Newfolden and Strandquist will be picked up if they are on the highway waiting for the bus.

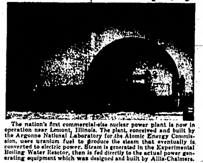
Nuclear Power Plant Now Operating



The nation's first commercial-size nuclear power plant is now in operation near Lemont, Illinois. The plant, conceived and built by the Argonne National Laboratory for the Atomic Energy Commission, uses uranium fuel to produce the steam that eventually is converted to electric power. Steam is generated in the Experimental Boiling Water Reactor, then is fed directly to the actual power generating equipment which was designed and built by Allis-Chalmers.

1957 Duck Stamp Design Accepted

Owatonna Man Places Third in Competition

Third place in the annual nation-wide duck stamp competition sponsored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service was recently won by Stuart Ferreira of Owatonna, Minnesota.

A panel of six waterfowl experts judged the designs submitted by 60 artists. Winner of the contest for his design of two American eider ducks flying over the surf was Jackson M. Abbott of Alexandria, Virginia. The stamp, the 24th issued in the Federal duck stamp series, goes on sale July 1 and expires the following June 30.

A new duck stamp is issued each year by the post office department which is in charge of its distribution and sale.

Every person, sixteen years of age and over, hunting migratory waterfowl is required to have a current issue stamp on his person in addition to a valid state hunting license.

More than two million duck stamps are sold annually. The proceeds are used to supplement other funds appropriated to the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for the purchase, development, administration and maintenance of waterfowl refuges throughout the country.

Judging Contests for 4-H and FFA at Winter Shows

Events Are Scheduled for Monday, February 25; Also Speaking Contest

Several hundred 4-H club, F.F.A., and school of Agriculture students will take part in the Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week at Crookston, February 25-March 1.

Livestock judging contests will be held on Monday, February 25, at the Winter Shows buildings; crops judging contests will be held at the Northwest School on the same day. A 4-H radio speaking contest will be held at 1:45 p.m. in the Elks Hall, Crookston.

Team and individual 4-H dairy demonstrations are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, February 26 and 27, in the Crookston Armory. Junior Futurity classes will be judged on Tuesday, followed by showmanship contests in each class. Also, on Tuesday, the Junior 4-H leader awards will be presented.

The Wednesday program for 4-H members will include the continuation of dairy 4-H junior leadership awards, and presentation of dairy demonstration awards. A dinner for the 4-H grain clinic and crops judging contests will be held Wednesday evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

The finals in the Futurity cattle showmanship will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, February 28, and awards for Futurity classes will be presented at 11:00 a.m. The Junior Futurity livestock show and sale will be somewhat larger than last year, reports George Nornes of Climax, secretary of the show.

On Monday evening, February 25, the banquet for members of judging teams, junior exhibitors, and judges will be held in the First Methodist Church. The banquet for all who participate in the Futurity Show is set for Tuesday, February 26, 5:45 p.m., in the First Presbyterian Church. Livestock breeders are invited to attend the banquet.

THE EFFICIENT SURVIVE

We are living in a community of comparatively large farms. Not far from here they are much larger. In our immediate area however they are far above the national average in both size and in volume of production. For this we are fortunate.

The national farm problem is due largely to the fact that the average farm is too small and doesn't produce enough to earn a fair living for the operator. The production figures are discouraging. Sixty per cent of our farms produce only about ten per cent of the products that go to market.

This is what makes it so difficult to figure out a price and marketing control program that will provide more than a mere subsistence for the small operator. For the farmer who has little or nothing to sell the market price doesn't mean much. A guaranty of 200 per cent of parity would not give him what normally would be considered a fair earning power.

The bright side of this picture, from our standpoint, is the fact that we are becoming a part of the higher production segment of agriculture, the forty per cent group that receives nearly ninety per cent of the total farm income of the nation.

Our farms are decreasing numerically, but they are increasing in size and in production. The fact that while the size and production have increased, the number of hired workers on our farms has decreased, is convincing proof that we still are a community of family farms, and that is the important thing.

There is reason for concern about the trend toward bigness in all phases of our economy. The bigger operations no doubt create new problems. But the operations that remain small are confronted with problems that are becoming increasingly difficult too.

It is reasonable to assume that the most efficient units of production will succeed and it appears that in this machine age the larger units have quite an advantage. We are fortunate that ours is not a community of small farms.

ENCOURAGING BOOTLEGGING

The Legislature two years ago imposed a 15 per cent sales tax on cigars and tobacco. The arguments in favor of such a tax were plausible. Cigarettes were already taxed. There seemed to be no good reason for favoring those who used tobacco in other forms. Now the administration proposes a 5 per cent increase in this tax.

After two years of experience with this tax however the tobacco dealers of the state not only are opposing the proposed increase but are asking for the repeal of the 15 per cent levy that was imposed two years ago. And they have an abundance of facts and figures to prove that this tax is detrimental to their industry.

They point out that neighboring states do not levy such a tax. There are no restrictions on the shipment of these products into our state. No stamp is required to prove that the Minnesota tax has been paid. And they charge that a large volume of these products is being bootlegged both for use and for re-sale, resulting in loss of sales to Minnesota wholesalers.

Here in a territory that borders a neighboring state they have plenty of evidence to prove their point.

It is interesting to note that this tobacco wholesaling industry is also taking a strong stand against an administration proposal to discontinue the stamp as a receipt for the tax paid on each package of cigarettes. Governor Freeman argues that the state will save nearly a half million dollars a year by discontinuing the stamp. The tobacco jobbers say the state will lose far more than it will save by discontinuing the stamp because of the inevitable bootlegging of cigarettes from other states.

The state's revenue from the cigarette tax for the next two years is estimated at more than 18 million dollars. The state tax is a big item in the cost of a carton of cigarettes. It amounts to $24 on a case of cigarettes, and cases of cigarettes not only are easily transported but they also have an exchange value that compares quite favorably with Uncle Sam's currency.

We agree with those who speak for the jobbers of cigarettes that a $24 a case margin would give the bootleggers quite an advantage in the wholesaling of cigarettes in Minnesota, and we think they have a right to be disturbed about the losses their industry would sustain if the stamp were discontinued.

And in these matters it so happens that the interests of the jobbers of tobacco and cigars and cigarettes are closely related to the best interests of the taxpayers. The jobbers are not asking for tax relief for themselves. All they seek is the repeal of taxes that place them at a disadvantage with competitors in neighboring states and the retention of tax collection procedures that provide reasonable protection from illegal, tax-free competition.

The issues are clear on both of the questions. It is easy to take a stand when at the same time you can be for Minnesota industry and against bootleggers.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul.—Disclosure that the spending program Governor Freeman is suggesting to the 1957 state legislature actually is an increase of nearly $151 million over the 1955 budget is giving legislators much concern in their study of his budget proposal.

The governor told the legislature in his budget message that the "budgeted" recommendations total $190,800,000, a modest $25,000,000 increase over 1955.

Total Spending $475 Million

Figures compiled for legislators working on appropriations and tax problems, however, show that the whole spending program, he feels he should follow.

Capitol statisticians report that the proposals mean an increase of 47.8 per cent in state spending. This figure they compare with the New York state budget submitted by Governor Harriman with an increase of 10.8 per cent, and President Eisenhower's federal budget with its 4.2 per cent increase.

Big "Windfalls" Available

The reason Governor Freeman could go ahead with an ambitious program is that the state treasury will have available $66,000,000 in "hidden windfalls"—extra revenue treasury that will be available during the next two years.

These are the "hidden windfalls":

Existing surplus in the general revenue fund	$18,000,000
Enactment of a withholding State income tax plan for paying three years' income taxes in two	$27,500,000
Advancing payment dates for corporate income taxes	$1,500,000
Surplus in World War II bonus fund	$9,000,000
Extra revenue from Iron Ore tax amendment	$9,000,000
Total	$66,000,000

The big difficulty in working out an equitable program by legislative means is that the independents in the legislature (those not affiliated with the governor's DFL liberal group) fear the legislature will be saddling the taxpayers with some terrific burdens in the future.

"Windfalls" Will Vanish

The governor's requests seem plausible enough in view of the larger amount of money that will be available during the next two years. Increased funds for education, care of the mentally ill, aid for mentally disturbed children, a bonus for Korean war veterans and elimination of the personal property tax for which most legislators have no quarrel.

The windfalls in the state's bank accounts, however, will vanish after this two-year period. The 1959 legislature, the independents contend, either will have to retrench or add new taxes to the existing ones. Many of them suspect the governor at that time will request a sales tax as the only way out.

Personal Property Replacement

The proposed increases in the overall education budget total $51,000,000 over the 1955 figures. Increases in expenditures coming out of the general revenue fund—for routine governmental functions— total $32,000,000.

Replacement of revenues lost to local governments through elimination of the personal property tax will total annually $31,000,000. The Korean bonus, which would be the only major non-recurring expenditure, is estimated at $25,000,000. Other items for which the expenditure would have to be made only once total nearly $12,000,000. The increases for education and general state activities would continue in force.

"Year of Tax Reduction"

Comment around the legislative corridors frequently is critical. Many legislators felt when they came to the session that this would be a year of tax reduction—that the findings of the governor's interim tax study commission would show the way to save money for taxpayers. Instead, they feel caught in a political trap.

Even though the pinch of the biggest spending program in the state's history will not be felt by the taxpayers during the coming biennium, the independent legislators take the position they may be breaking faith with the public if they don't apply the brakes sharply.

RELIEF

If you are wearing that look of "false old age", feel tired out, depressed, or suffer from sleeplessness, constipation, lack of appetite, digestive disturbances, lack-lustre hair, your trouble may be caused by iron-poor blood or a system starved for nature's essential vitamins and minerals. If so, you need suffer no more.

STOP SUFFERING

In just one day Drag-NOT Tablet's high-potency iron, multiple vitamins and blood-building elements are in your blood-stream, carrying new strength and energy to all parts of your body. Then watch your elimination. A few days after you start taking Drag-NOT Tablets the lazy organs will go back to work and you will notice the black, poisonous waste beginning to leave your body.

NEW LIFE

Then you will feel a wondrous change: the years will seem to slip away and you will enjoy wonderful new pep and vitality, look and feel younger. Get non-habit-forming Drag-NOT Tablets (rich in Iron, Vitamins B1, B2, B12, C, plus other vitamins and minerals) and see results in 7 days or your money back. Only $1.95 for a month's supply.

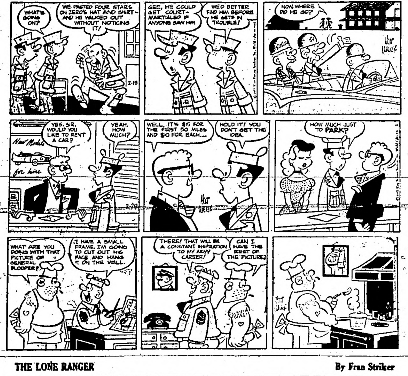
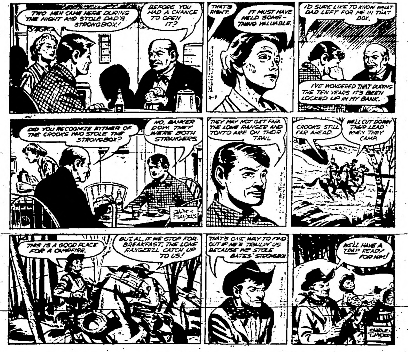
BEETLE BAILEY By Mort Walker



WHAT'S GOING ON?
WE PASTED FOUR STARS ON ZERO'S HAT AND SHIRT— AND HE WALKED OUT WITHOUT NOTICING IT!
2-19
GEE, HE COULD GET COURT-MARTIALED IF ANYONE SAW HIM
WE'D BETTER FIND HIM BEFORE HE GETS IN TROUBLE!
NOW, WHERE DID HE GO?
New Models for hire
YES, SIR, WOULD YOU LIKE TO RENT A CAR?
YEAH. HOW MUCH?
WELL, IT'S $15 FOR THE FIRST 50 MILES AND $10 FOR EACH...
HOLD IT! YOU DON'T GET THE IDEA.
2-20
HOW MUCH JUST TO PARK?
WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH THAT PICTURE OF GENERAL BLOOPER?
I HAVE A SMALL FRAME. I'M GOING TO CUT OUT HIS FACE AND HANG IT ON THE WALL.
THERE! THAT WILL BE A CONSTANT INSPIRATION TO MY ARMY CAREER!
CAN I HAVE THE REST OF THE PICTURE?

THE LONE RANGER By Fran Striker



TWO MEN CAME HERE DURING THE NIGHT AND STOLE DAD'S STRONGBOX!
BEFORE YOU HAD A CHANCE TO OPEN IT?
THAT'S RIGHT.
IT MUST HAVE HELD SOMETHING VALUABLE.
I'D SURE LIKE TO KNOW WHAT DAD LEFT FOR ME IN THAT BOX.
I'VE WONDERED THAT DURING THE TEN YEARS IT'S BEEN LOCKED UP IN MY BANK.
2-19
DID YOU RECOGNIZE EITHER OF THE CROOKS WHO STOLE THE STRONGBOX?
NO, BANKER DOW, THEY WERE BOTH STRANGERS.
THEY MAY NOT GET FAR. THE LONE RANGER AND TONTO ARE ON THEIR TRAIL
CROOKS STILL FAR AHEAD.
WE'LL CUT DOWN THEIR LEAD WHEN THEY CAMP.
THIS IS A GOOD PLACE FOR A CAMPFIRE.
BUT AL, IF WE STOP FOR BREAKFAST, THE LONE RANGER'LL CATCH UP TO US!
THAT'S ONE WAY TO FIND OUT IF HE'S TRAILIN' US BECAUSE WE STOLE BATES' STRONGBOX!
WE'LL HAVE A TRAP READY FOR HIM!

POWER...to cut time costs every trip!

New DODGE PowerGiants

MOST POWER OF THE Low-Priced 3

You get a power reserve in a Dodge Power Giant that pays off every mile you drive. From 204-hp. pick-ups to giant 232-hp. tandems, Dodge gives you the most power of the low-priced three . . . actually as much as 31% more.

Extra power means faster acceleration, safer passing . . . cuts your time costs every trip. It cuts operating costs, too, because it lets your Dodge engine loaf under loads that make less powerful engines whine with strain. Less strain means less wear, fewer repairs. And the special design of these Power Giant V-8's delivers full-powered performance on regular gas.

More power lets you haul bigger loads. That's why Dodge can offer bigger payload capacities in every weight class. For instance, the Dodge 300 pick-up packs up to 73% more payload each trip than comparable competitive makes. And that's the kind of payload advantage that many times means one trip instead of two.

Dodge is the easiest handling truck on the road —with the shortest turning radius for easier parking and quicker zip-in-and-out maneuverability. Power steering is available for most models. And, for the first time on any truck, Dodge offers the extra convenience of a push-button* automatic transmission for the easiest driving ever.

MOST PAYLOAD OF THE LOW-PRICED 3 . . . Dodge pick-ups haul as much as 73% more than other low-priced makes.

Taxpayers Assn. Sees State in Financial Difficulties in 1959

The 1959 legislature will face the task of raising almost $70,000,000 additional revenue to carry on the spending program proposed for the present biennium in the Governor's budget. This fact is revealed by an analysis of income and expenditures proposed in the present budget, with windfalls eliminated and anticipated increases in school enrollments given consideration, according to Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary for the Minnesota Taxpayers association. The analysis contemplates a stable economy at the present level.

"The proposed budget recommends expenditures for 1957-59 of $473,427,000. The 1957-59 budget requires replacement of only 1.5 years of the personal property tax loss to local units of government whereas the next biennium will require replacement for two full years or an additional sum of $11,275,000. The total of these two items is $486,702,000," Mr. Borgen explained, adding "The current budget, however, includes non-recurring items of $25.5 millions for Korean bonus, $5 million for a school construction revolving fund, $4 million for nursing home construction aid and other items totalling in all $36,600,000. This would leave expenditures to be financed in the 1959-61 biennium of $450,102,000.

"The Governor's estimate of income for the 1957-59 biennium is $480,012,000. However, there are certain items of income in this figure which will not be available in the succeeding biennium. These include present balances of $26,189,000, a gain of $27,500,000 from the withholding tax windfall, a gain of $1,500,000 through the speed-up of corporation income tax payments and a windfall of $11,558,000 resulting from the adoption of Constitutional Amendment No. 3. These figures total $69,747,000. Subtracting these from the total of $480,012,000 will leave $410,265,000 to finance expenditures of $450,102,000.

"This means that at the proposed level of spending the 1959 legislature will have to find an additional $39,837,000 to finance the 1959-1961 budget. To this figure must be added increases of which we are certain. We know that the public school population will increase between 20,000 and 25,000 pupils each of the two school years and that the additional cost to finance this requirement will be about $10,000,000. We know also that judging from the past and from the experiences of other states an additional 10 per cent will be necessary in the general revenue fund. This will require another $19,000,000 thereby bringing the total to $68,837,000."

Students Asked to Write Outdoor Recreation Essay

Woman's Club Federation to Sponsor Contest for Sr. High School Students

"Outdoor Recreation" will be the title of the 14th annual conservation essay contest sponsored by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, with the department of conservation cooperating, it was announced today by Mrs. Ole Aune, Underwood, conservation chairman. The competition, open to both public and private school students in grades 9 thru 12, will close at 12:00 noon April 5.

In announcing details of the contest Mrs. Aune said: "Outdoor recreation plays a vital role in the lives of children and adults. The essay contest aims to promote a constructive study of the activities involved and their respective values."

The ten winners in the contest selected by a committee of judges in each of the ten districts comprising the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs will be awarded a week's vacation at Douglas Lodge, Itasca state park as members of the annual conservation caravan, with all expenses paid.

Last year 7,900 papers were written on the subject "Our Wildlife Resources." The contest is approved by the state contest committee of Minnesota secondary school principals.

Every Minnesota high school will receive full information and details concerning the competition.

Inquiries should be addressed to "Essay Contest," Room 633 State Office Bldg., St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

Potato Growers Endorse Federal Marketing Pact

Red River Valley potato growers attending meetings held this past week indicated strong support for a federal marketing agreement for the Red River Valley.

As a result of this strong sentiment, a request will be made to the Department of Agriculture to hold a hearing and referendum on the question.

Ed Gallahue, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. told growers that it usually takes about 6 months from the time action is initiated on a federal marketing agreement until it can be in operation should growers approve it. Red River Valley growers have been operating under a state marketing agreement since 1952. Interest in a federal agreement is due to the flexibility which it offers over a state agreement.

The question was brought to the growers as a result of an industry committee which directed the Red River Valley Potato Growers association to take immediate steps to bring before the question of a federal marketing agreement for the Red River Valley.

Indications are that at least 70,000,000 Americans will make a vacation trip of some sort by automobile this year; about four-fifths of them will be on the highways this Summer.

Pleasant Surprise

Mr. and Mrs. Mordy Morrison were awakened Sunday morning by someone prowling around downstairs — after listening awhile they realized this prowler seemed to know his way around. It suddenly dawned on them that it was their son Denny, who is now stationed in Kansas City. Dennis recently returned from the Hawaiian Islands and is now on a 30-day leave from the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Obelkson of Grand Forks was a week ago visitor at Mordy Morrisons.

Sunday visitors at the O. Uglems in Reiner included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Uglem and family of Kratka, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hyland and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson and boys.

Harold Uglem and Orvin Uglem of Thief River Falls transacted business in Minneapolis Friday and Saturday. Mardelle Uglem stayed at the Orvin Uglem home in Thief River Falls during Orrin's absence and attended a birthday party for Mark Uglem on his fifth birthday.

Pickup Mishap Proves Fatal To Clifford Kolstrand

Clifford Kolstrand was instantly killed Monday evening while riding with Merle Christianson coming from Gully.

The pickup hit an icy spot and overturned pinning him beneath the vehicle.

Clifford had served for over two years in the armed forces in World War II. He had also been wounded during his service in army.

We extended our deepest sympathy to the Kolstrands in the loss of their brother.

Blue Cross Plan Pays out $23 Million in '56

Addressing the annual members meeting of Minnesota Blue Cross held today in St. Paul, Arthur M. Calvin, president, announced that of a total of $25,000,000 received from subscribers in 1956, hospital benefits paid to subscribers totaled $23,501,546. This was the highest amount paid to Minnesota Blue Cross subscribers in the history of the organization.

The $23,501,546 figure represents 93.1 per cent of total subscriber income for the year 1956.

Commenting on the statement of conditions, Calvin pointed out that Blue Cross also had the lowest operating costs of the organization's history, 5.2 per cent.

Calvin explained that during the 23 years of the existence of Minnesota Blue Cross, over $146,000,000 has been paid to members in the form of hospital benefits. Commenting on this total figure, Calvin pointed out that in addition to the increased number of persons using hospital facilities compared with past years, people are also faced with the problem of increased hospital costs. "However, none of us would care to go back to the old days when many of today's scientific medical-surgical techniques were unheard of," Calvin explained.

Calvin, who is also a governor of the newly created Blue Cross Association announced to the members that Dr. Basil C. MacLean had accepted the presidency of that organization. Dr. MacLean resigned his position as New York commissioner of hospitals to accept the new post. The new Blue Cross Association was formed to service the needs of the nation-wide employer.

Commenting on the relationship of Blue Cross and the American Hospital Association, Calvin paid tribute to the officers and staff of that organization for their assistance in developing a cost basis for payment of hospitals by third party organizations; in government relations at the national and local level, in endeavoring to provide health care to a greater number of people without imposing a compulsory national health system in the United States.

Donald J. Condon, vice president in charge of enrollment and public relations announced that 1,106,134 participants are now enrolled in Blue Cross. This record figure represents an eight per cent gain over 1955.

Come try the BIG BUY
(You can boss this Buick Special for little more than the price of a smaller car!)

ONE LOOK at that price figure and you'll know that—again in 1957—if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick.
And look what you get for so little extra money.
You get the most completely new Buick in years.
Not just brand new in styling and brand new in body design.
But new in features that make this the dream car of the year to drive.
You get brand-new performance because the engine is literally new from the crankshaft up.
You get a brand-new instant response because we engineered brand-new torque into Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*
And to give you the new sure-footed safety of a lower center of gravity—we built a brand-new frame—which lowers the car, but keeps the headroom, legroom and footroom that a big car should have.
Fact is, there are more than 150 other chassis changes in this '57 Buick—waiting for you to try them. Do that soon—at your Buick dealer's.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Those words do come from the Bible. And they have sometimes been quoted to justify a man's lack of concern for the welfare of others.

When we quote Scripture we must be careful WHOM we are quoting!

It was Cain, the first murderer, who asked that biting question. God had said, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" And Cain was trying to escape the consequences of his crime.

Each of us is responsible for his brother's welfare. That is the very reason this feature is appearing in your newspaper.

You and your family need the spiritual resources our churches offer. In whichever Christian congregation you select there are waiting to welcome you many men and women and young people whose faith has taught them a deep concern for their brothers.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Those words do come from the Bible. And they have sometimes been quoted to justify a man's lack of concern for the welfare of others.

When we quote Scripture we must be careful WHOM we are quoting!

It was Cain, the first murderer, who asked that biting question. God had said, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" And Cain was trying to escape the consequences of his crime.

Each of us is responsible for his brother's welfare. That is the very reason this feature is appearing in your newspaper.

You and your family need the spiritual resources our churches offer. In whichever Christian congregation you select there are waiting to welcome you many men and women and young people whose faith has taught them a deep concern for their brothers.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FOR TOLL HOUSE COOKIES "AND OTHER FAVORITES"

NEW, DELICIOUS IDEA!

RECIPE

CALICO CRUMB CAKE

QUANTITY: 15" x 10" x 1" cake TIME: 35-40 minutes TEMP: 350° F.

TOPPING
- ¾ cup sifted OCCIDENT All-Purpose Flour
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup butter
- ½ cup finely chopped nuts

CAKE
- 1 6-oz. package (1 cup) NESTLE's Semi-Sweet Chocolate Morsels
- ½ cup shortening
- 2 cups sifted OCCIDENT All-Purpose Flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 large eggs
- 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

1. Combine flour and sugar for the topping. Cut the butter into the flour, sugar mixture.
2. Melt the semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Cool 5 minutes.
3. Combine the shortening and flour and mix at lowest speed for 1 minute, guiding mixture into beaters with rubber scraper. Mixture will be crumbly and fluffy. (If mixing by hand, use pastry blender or 2 knives.)
4. Add sugar, soda, salt, eggs and 2 tablespoons of the buttermilk; blend at lowest speed for 2 minutes. (If mixing by hand, add ½ cup of the buttermilk and beat for 300 strokes.)
5. Add remaining buttermilk and vanilla gradually and mix until just blended.
6. Stir in cooled melted semi-sweet chocolate.
7. Pour into greased pan. Sprinkle topping and nuts over the top. Bake.

The most versatile of all chocolates!

Use them melted, whole, or chopped!

Delicious for all your best baking!

YOUR RIGHT TO SAVE TRADING STAMPS IS THREATENED!

Legislation before the Minnesota legislature would prohibit outright the giving of trading stamps within the state and would take from every Minnesota housewife her right to SAVE stamps.

Any legislation aimed at taking away from a housewife the right to decide for herself whether or not she wishes to save stamps, is a definite threat to her freedom of choice. And . . . any legislation designed to deprive a businessman of a legitimate promotional program — whether it be newspaper advertising, free parking lots, contests, trading stamps, or any business-building plan —such legislation is a serious threat to the American competitive system.

Open competition among businessmen and personal freedom of choice are values which have made our country one of the strongest and most prosperous nations. These freedoms were hard won — let's not carelessly lose them!

We respectfully submit this thesis to the businessmen of Minnesota . . . to the housewives and the legislators of the state: The question of trading stamps is a question that should be settled only in the marketplace . . . not in the halls of the legislature.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, February 26 and 27, hearings on anti-stamp legislation will be held by Minnesota Senate and House Committees. Members of these committees are listed below:

HOUSE COMMITTEE
Richard O'Dea
Reuben Wee
James L. Adams
John M. Fitzgerald
O. L. Johnson
Joe P. Lorentz
Julian O. Newhouse
O. Gerhard Nordlie
Alfred J. Otto
Clifton Parks
Edmun C. Tieman
G. J. Van De Riet
Sheldon L. Beanblossom

SENATE COMMITTEE
J. R. Keller
M. H. Anderson
Fred W. Bohmler
Stanley W. Holmquist
Val Imm
Harold Kalina
Franklin P. Kroehler
Leslie R. Westin
Martin M. Malone
Ralph L. Maylood
C. C. Mitchell
B. G. Novak
John L. Richardson
Charles W. Root
Joseph Vadheim

Protect your right, as a housewife, to save trading stamps. Protect your right, as a businessman, to select whatever legitimate merchandising implement you desire. Write the committee members listed above at the State Capitol, St. Paul; This is a vital part of the American democratic procedures by which you keep your voice in government.

Grandma's Apron Is Center Of Yesteryear Memories

By Elain Derendinger

When I was a child, Grandma's garments made little impression on me—with the exception of her apron. Since Grandma was a woman of ample proportions, her cover all apron was a big affair of dark printed cotton, slow to soil, edged all around with bias tape. Its uses were limitless.

The apron made a "basket" when she gathered eggs from the henhouse, late in the afternoon. If there were fluffy, yellow chicks to be carried to the back porch during the sudden cold spells, they made the trip peeping contentedly in Grandma's apron.

Lots of chips and kindling were needed to start fires in the big black cookstove in Grandma's kitchen. Sure she carried them in her apron. Vegetables and fruits too; lettuce, radishes, peas, string beans, carrots apples, peaches—all found their ma's carry-all. While things were cooking, it was a handy holder for removing hot pans pans from the stove. If the men working in the field weren't too far away, the apron would aloft was the signal to "Come to dinner," at threshing or company time, when the long dining-room table was crowded with hungry folk. Grandma honored about, passing aromatic dishes and flipping the big apron at pesky flies.

When Grandchildren came to visit, the apron stood ready to dry childish tears, of the little ones were a bit shy, it made a good hiding place in case a stranger appeared unexpectedly.

The apron was used countless times to stroke a perspiring brow as Grandma bent over the hot wood stove, or hoed the garden under a blistering sun. In chilly weather Grandma wrapped the friendly apron around her arms while she hurried on an outside errand, or lingered at the door with a departing guest. Hastily and a bit slyly, it dusted tables and chairs if company was sighted coming down the lane and in the evening, when the days work was done, Grandma shed her garment of many uses and draped it over the canary's cage.

Covenant Group Presents Aid Program

A group from the Mission Covenant church rendered the program at the Zion Lutheran Ladies aid on Friday afternoon. A delicious luncheon was served following the program.

A good crowd turned out in spite of the stormy weather.

One economist estimates that we will use about 415 billion barrels of crude oil between now and the year 2,000—more than one and one-half times the total oil discovered in the world to date.

C of C Told Tax Advisory Group Report

E. I. Whyatt, Member of Committee, Talks to Chamber Friday

E. I. Whyatt of St. Paul, members of the Governor's tax advisory committee, gave details of that group's recent report to the legislature at a well attended meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at the Elks club.

Harley Kelly, second vice president of the chamber, presided in the absence of President Don L. Olson, and Mr. Whyatt was introduced by C. W. Rodekuhr, chairman of the legislative committee.

Whyatt said the committee is proud of its work, carried on over a period of 15 months, and that $70,000 in privately raised funds was spent on research. The group included seven businessmen, seven labor representatives, four farmers and three professors.

Pointing out that $1 out of every $4 goes for taxes of various kinds, the speaker stressed the need of providing a broader and more equitable tax base as a means of encouraging industry to expand and provide more jobs for Minnesota people.

Whyatt expressed the opinion that a sales tax will not be required to balance the state budget for the coming biennium.

Among the committee's more than 60 recommendations, he said, were:

Establishing the withholding system for paying the state income tax.

Eliminating the personal property tax on household goods and on manufacturers' and farm inventories.

Changing the assessment date from May 1 to January 1.

Assessing property at its full and true value over a period of six years and lowering mill rates proportionately.

No increase at present in iron ore taxes.

Setting up a county assessor system to eliminate most of the 2,700 assessors now functioning in Minnesota.

In the chamber's business session, Rudy Mehlhoff reported for the trade promotion committee that Saturday, April 27, has been selected as the date of a mystic show to be presented under the sponsorship of the C. of C. He stated that approximately 5,000 school children from thruout this area are expected to be guests at matinee performances, with an evening show for adults.

$70,000 to Be Paid Co. Wheat Raisers Thru Reserve Plan

190 Wheat Producers Have Signed up to Feb. 20; Deadline March 8

As of the close of business February 20th, 190 Pennington county wheat producers have signed contracts under the wheat acreage reserve program for reducing their acreage in 1957, P. W. Culkins, ASC office manager, stated today. This will involve a payment of approximately $70,000 to these producers.

The final date that contracts can be negotiated with the Dept. of Agriculture under the acreage reserve part of the Soil Bank program is March 8th.

103 producers of other commodities have entered into agreement with the USDA to reduce their acreage of commodities other than wheat for a period of 3 to 5 years, under the conservation reserve part of the Siol Bank program.

Under this program agricultural crop land will be kept inreserve, and used at some future date when the demands of the increasing population will require additional food and fiber. The final date for signing agreements for participation in this program has been extended to April 15.

Robert Knutson of Thief River Falls has been elected to the student commission at Moorhead state teachers college. He will be social commissioner in the student representative body which co-ordinates college activities.

Winnipeg Motorcade to New Orleans Stops in T. R. Falls April 3

Fred Furgeson, representative of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce and for many years secretary to the mayor of that city, met Friday morning with men from the local chamber to complete arrangements for a noon lunch to be served in Thief River Falls Wednesday, April 3, to a cavalcade of 50 or more Winnipeg citizens on a good will tour to New Orleans, La.

Following the luncheon, which will be served in the Elks club rooms, the motorcade of 15 to 25 cars will continue on to Bemidji for an over-night stop, going by way of Brainerd to Minneapolis, the next night stop. The schedule calls for the tourists to arrive in New Orleans Wednesday, April 10.

On its arrival in Thief River Falls, the motorcade will be met at the outskirts of the city by local officials, the highway patrol and the police.

Furgeson stated that the tourists will be headed by Winnipeg Mayor Stephen Juba, the Manitoba commissioner of trade and commerce and other dignitaries.

Similar tours, known as Pines-to-Palms tours from Winnipeg to New Orleans have been held frequently in the past, dating back nearly 40 years.

Commission Gives Area Bus Lines 5 Pct. Fare Increase

New Rates Scheduled to Become Effective on Monday, March 4th

Six Minnesota bus lines will increase their fares 5 per cent on March 4 under state authority.

The state railroad and warehouse commission Thursday unanimously approved applications for rate increases for the Greyhound Corp., with headquarters in Minneapolis; Lake of the Woods Bus Line, Grand Forks, N.D.; Northern Transportation Co., International Falls; Triangle Transportation, Crookston; Northwest Trails, Inc., Thief River Falls, and Zephyr Lines Inc., Minneapolis.

Northland Greyhound has routes between the Twin Cities and many of the larger municipalities in the state. These include routes from the Twin Cities to Duluth, the Iron Range, Bemidji, Willmar, Moorhead, Mankato, Fairmont and Winona.

Lake of the Woods Bus Lines, operated by Lewis L. Pierce, carries passengers from East Grand Forks to Alvarado, Warren, Thief River Falls, Greenbush, Roseau and Warroad.

Pierce's operations are connecting line operations with Northwest Trails at Thief River Falls and Greyhound and Triangle Transportation Company at East Grand Forks.

Triangle operates between Bemidji and East Grand Forks. It inter-lines passengers with Greyhound Lines at Bemidji and with Northwest Trails at Crookston and East Grand Forks.

Marshall Co. SCS Referendum to Be Conducted Mar. 20

Tentative polling places were selected by the steering committee for the referendum (vote) on the organization of a Marshall county soil conservation district at a meeting held in Newfolden high school on Wednesday, February 20.

Polling places selected were chosen for the purpose of convenience, so people could stop in and vote in a matter of minutes.

The following list is only tentative and is subject to change: Alvarado, Club cafe; Oslo, Ernie's cafe; Warren, county agent's office; Stephen, filtration plant; Radium, Zutz store; Argyle, Middle River town hall.

Other towns in which a polling place will be open include Strandquist, Legion hall; Viking, school; Middle River, Sportsman's club; Holt, Sportsman's club; Newfolden, Legion hall.

The date set for the referendum or vote has been set as March 20, from 10 o'clock a.m. to 3 o'clock p.m.

Goodridge School Band to Appear on Television Feb. 28

Group of 29 Members to Perform Thursday at 4, Directed by R. Samber

From its 14-member beginning in 1954 the Goodridge school band, under the direction and guidance of Roland Samber, has grown to its present 29 members and the crowning achievement of the band to date will come when the band appears over "Community Billboard", a KXJB-TV program Thursday at 4 p.m. The program will originate in Valley City, N. Dakota.

Samber said that limitations of a smaller school system made it necessary to have a wide spread of class levels, ranging from the 6th through 12th grades. Each member of the band, Samber said, has received at least 12 months individual instruction preparatory to joining the band. The band was outfitted with uniforms in the spring of 1955.

Organization of the Goodridge Band Mothers club in May of 1956 was a great help to Samber in settling problems pertaining to continued band membership and home practice.

In fact, Samber said, it was the Band Mothers club that made it possible for the band to appear on Community Billboard. Not only will the band be seen but as an added attraction Shirley Oski, soprano, will make her debut as a soloist.

Last 2 Townships in Pennington Co. Apply to Join SCD

Numedal and Bray townships have filed a petition for inclusion in the Pennington county Soil Conservation District, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. These are the two townships in Pennington county which are not presently in the district. The petition signed by twenty five farmers was sent to the state soil conservation committee.

Proper soil conservation, and more recently water conservation are playing a major part in a healthy farm economy said Stelmaschuck. The success of crops is largely dependent on proper soil and water management. The farmers in Bray and Numedal townships will be taking on an organized approach to improve and develop soil and water conservation.

A vote on joining the district will be held in the two townships at a later date.

P.P. Tax Payable Before March 1st

Only three days remain in which Pennington county residents may pay their personal property taxes without the imposition of a penalty. The deadline is Wednesday, February 28, according to County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud.

Legislators Vote Selves Expense Bonus

Out-state Solons to Receive $12 Per Day Additional Payment

Members of the Minnesota House of Representatives Thursday reversed their action of February 5 and voted themselves a bonus for living expenses.

A resolution providing for $12 a day for members living outside the Twin Cities and $8 a day for those living in the Twin Cities was adopted, 82-44. The Senate approved the resolution several weeks ago.

The resolution failed February 5 by one vote. The vote then was 63-58.

A number of lawmakers switched their votes after Majority Leader Fred Cina of Aurora chided legislators who vote against such resolutions and then "break their legs to get into the chief clerk's office to get their checks."

Legislators get $200 a month for each month of their terms. House members serve for two years and senators for four years.

The House passed a bill to eliminate the word "teachers" from the designation of the five teachers' colleges at Mankato, St. Cloud, Winona, Moorhead and Bemidji.

The public health committee of the Minnesota senate Friday killed a bill which would allow unrestricted practice of medicine by osteopaths in the state.

The action came after a two-hour public hearing in which tempers occasionally flashed and the claims of the bill's opponents [illegible] snickers from backers of the measure.

The case for the osteopaths was led by Dr. Carl Morrison, St. Cloud, president-elect of the American Osteopathic association. Dr. Leslie Dale, Red Lake Falls, lobbyist for the Minnesota State Medical association, headed the fight against the measure.

A major bill introduced at the close of the week was the one incorporating Governor Freeman's second attempt to get state government reorganization. It was aimed at streamlining the agencies and making lines of authority sharper, but was not as extensive as the 1955 version.

Also introduced was a bill to tax trucks on the basis of weight and distance travelled in this state, which authors said would increase motor vehicle revenue by 5 million dollars.

Red Cross to Start Drive Here March 1

Annual Fund Drive Will Continue Thru the Coming Month

To finance its ever-growing services in this country and around the world, the American Red Cross will launch its annual campaign for members and funds March 1, with 1,500,000 volunteers taking the field, headed by H. S. M. Burns, Shell Oil Company president, as national campaign chairman.

Mrs. L. R. Geving, chairman of the Pennington county Red Cross chapter, stated today that the names of chairmen of the various divisions of the county campaign, together with the quota for the drive, will be announced in Thursday's issue of the Times.

E. Roland Harriman, national chairman, said that expenditures in the year ending last June 30—around 116 millions—were the largest in 10 years, largely because the great floods on East and West Coasts made that the costliest disaster year in Red Cross history.

The Red Cross, Mr. Harriman said, must keep pace with the nation's rapid growth and shifts in population, to continue meeting the people's safety and health needs. "For example, accidents are the biggest cause of deaths in the growing 1-to-35-year age group. The Red Cross must increase its first aid and water safety classes, to help prevent these accidents.

"Also, the enormous spread of population into new suburbs and areas that once were rural means that every disaster endangers more people," he said. "This was especially evident in the floods which struck the heavily industrialized Eastern Seaboard in August 1955.

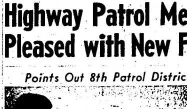
"The generosity of the people enabled the Red Cross to do the job needed in this and other disasters at a cost of approximately $33,000,000. But our reserves were depleted to the point where one moderately sized disaster will wipe them out completely. If that happens, the Red Cross could not to the job the people expect."

Unemployment Compensation Field Man Coming

John Ekman, field auditor with the department of employment security, will be at the state employment office in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, February 27, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 12 noon. Any employer wishing information on his unemployment compensation tax rate is invited to contact Mr. Ekman at that time.

Highway Patrol Members Highly Pleased with New Facilities Here

Points Out 8th Patrol District



Mayor O. D. Beich looks on with interest as Captain Walter Anderson of the highway patrol points out the area taken by the 8th patrol district which is headquartered here. The district covers all of 11 counties in northwestern Minnesota plus parts of three others and is patrolled by 17 men, including Anderson and two sergeants.

There isn't a man anywhere that's more pleased over the completion of the new highway department building than he is, says Capt. Walter Anderson, of the highway patrol.

Since the new building was accepted and put into use the patrol is headquartered under one roof, which makes running local patrol affairs and those of the 8th district, under Captain Anderson, much more efficient. Nor is life nearly so complicated for the four men who man the patrol radio facilities here, Anderson added.

Before moving into the new building, the patrol office and the radio switchboard were together in the old water treatment plant on E. 2nd st. and the repair shop was downstairs in the same building—but it was badly crowded.

Now the radio repair shop is capable of handling two patrol cars at once, while the switchboard is in a large room by

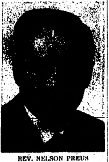
Farm Finances to Be Topic at Farm Forum in TRF Armory Mar. 7

Banquet Speaker



REV. NELSON PREUS

Pastor of Olivet Lutheran church in Fargo, N. D., who will be guest speaker Tuesday evening, February 26, at 6:30 at the annual Fathers and Sons banquet to be held in Trinity church under the sponsorship of the Men's Brotherhood. He is now serving as a trustee of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. He will discuss the topic, "Footsteps in the Sands of Time."

What's the best way to finance a new farm tractor?

That question and others on wise use of farm credit will be discussed by Reynold P. Dahl, University of Minnesota agricultural economist, at the tri-county Farm Forum on Thursday, March 7 starting at 10:00 a.m. at the Thief River Falls Armory for farmers from Pennington, Red Lake and East Marshall counties.

Door prizes will be given and dinner will be provided at a nominal charge. The forum is sponsored by the Farmers Union, Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce.

Dahl will discuss the increased importance of credit in modern farming. With increased commercialization in our economy, farmers need to take more high cash outlays before they get returns.

Advantages and disadvantages of different lending systems, and how different plans can be used for different kinds of purchases will be discussed by Dahl. He will explain the difference between buying farm machinery on conditional sales contracts and with direct loans.

Other topics covered by Dahl will be:

- How interest is figured.
- Long and short term credit.
- Difference between lending institutions.
- Differences between "contract for deed" and mortgage in buying land.
- How to keep a good credit rating.

Other speakers at the Forum will include Harold Pederson, extension marketing specialist with the University of Minnesota; and Luther Pickrel, extension specialist in Public Affairs.

Roy Oen Named to State Centennial Sports Committee

Is One of 72 Minnesotans to Assist in Arranging for 1958 Observance

Seventy-two Minnesotans prominent in all fields of sports, activity, including Roy J. Oen of Thief River Falls, have been named to the Minnesota Centennial sports committee, it was announced this week by Cliff Sommer of Owatonna, chairman of the group and past president of the "M" Club.

In making the announcement, Sommer said planning for 1958 already is well underway.

"The goal of the committee is to commemorate a century of sports in Minnesota with the greatest program of events, amateur and professional, in the state's history," Sommer stated.

"Many national sports competitions will be brought to Minnesota during the centennial year, and here in the state our high schools, colleges and universities will play an important role in developing the 'grand year' for Minnesota sports."

According to Sommer, invitations are being extended for NCAA baseball and hockey championships; championship prize fights; major league baseball and professional football exhibitions; national golf, tennis, badminton and bowling tourneys; championship ice skating and skiing; the world softball tournament; archery and fly casting meets, field trials, and other events.

Special emphasis is being put on the statewide feature of the program which is being developed to include everyone who participates in some form of sports.

The committee is now contacting community sports leaders, urging them to undertake new sports activities during 1958 or expand annual events.

"We want an event in every community in this state," Sommer said. "This means, in the field of amateur sports, participation by all schools and by organized sports groups of every kind."

James R. Muzzy Wins $50 Prize in Judging Event

James R. Muzzy of Rt. 2, Thief River Falls, has been awarded a $50 cash prize by virtue of being one of four contestants who were tied for top honors in the 1956 All-American Cattle Judging contest, it was announced in the current issue of the Holstein-Friesian World. Muzzy, a well known Holstein breeder, and the other winners from Wisconsin, Utah and Washington state each scored 137 points.

Jobs Inc. Elects Six Directors at Meeting Friday

E. O. Peterson and Carl Lee Are Added to Board of Development Group

Six directors of Thief River Falls Jobs Inc. were elected at its postponed annual meeting conducted following the Chamber of Commerce session Friday evening in the Elks club rooms. Bill LaFave, president, conducted the election.

Four directors were retained, including L. B. Hartz, W. E. Dahlquist, Robert A. Wurst and Stuart McLeod. Also named to serve a two-year term was Carl Lee, while E. O. Peterson was elected for a one-year term. Lee and Peterson succeed George W. Werstlein, who resigned recently, and Hilmer Lonke, who has left this community.

Hold-over members of the board include LaFave, L. A. Ihle, Robert J. Lund and Dr. O. D. Beich. LaFave stated that the new board would meet this week to elect a slate of officers.

The primary objective of Jobs Inc. is to promote industrial development and increase payrolls in Thief River Falls. The membership fee has been set at $5 to provide a limited amount of working capital.

Henry Bothmans Go to California

Polio Victim Presented Motor Wheelchair Fund

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bothman and daughter left Thursday morning for LaJolla, Calif., where they expect to establish their residence. In an informal canvass of friends and neighbors of the Bothmans, $360 was gathered, and this amount was presented to Mr. Bothman on Wednesday. The money will enable him, a polio convalescent, to obtain a power wheelchair and aid him in his rehabilitation.

Bothman, former chief engineer at Radio Station KTRF, has made a valiant fight for recovery since being stricken with polio several years ago.

Local friends of the Bothmans who wish to contribute to the wheelchair fund may forward the money to Mr. Bothman at his new address, 6131 Terry Hill Drive, La Jolla, Calif.

Red Lake Co. Man Kills Wife with Shotgun

Joseph Ripplinger Confesses Shooting Wife After Quarrel

A Red Lake county farmer, Joseph Ripplinger, 62, admitted to Sheriff Carl Kankel Sunday he fired the 20 gauge shotgun blasts that killed his wife, 45, and wounded their son, Thomas, 16, after a morning-long argument that started when Mrs. Ripplinger returned home from East Grand Forks, where she worked.

The fatal shooting took place Sunday at the Ripplinger farm home seven miles east of Red Lake Falls. On arrival at the farm, Kankel, Coroner Dr. Alan McKaig and County Attorney Charles Boughton found Mrs. Ripplinger dead from a shot in the abdomen. The youth was taken to the Red Lake Falls hospital in fair condition from a wound in the arm and shoulder.

Kankel said Ripplinger told him he shot his wife after she attacked him with a butcher knife during the family argument.

Thomas Ripplinger, upstairs at that time, came down when he heard the shot. The father said he shot at the boy then called officers.

Marshall-Beltrami Soils District '57 Meeting Thursday

Don Bates, Extension Engineer from 'U' M., Will Be Guest Speaker

Don Bates, extension engineer from the University of Minnesota, will be the main speaker at the annual meeting of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation District on Thursday, February 28, at the Mar-Bel Hall in Argyle. He will talk on Grade A milk requirements.

Although at present no milk market exists, it was announced, it is logical to assume that the Marshall-Beltrami area will one day be a prime milk producing area; because of the bountiful supply of high quality hay and pasture which is grown. For that reason the district board of supervisors invited Bates to talk on this subject.

In addition, Oliver Howland, chairman of the board of supervisors, will make an award to the district's Conservation Farmer-of-the-year. This award, which is given by the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, is made each year to the farmer who has made the most progress in conserving the soil and water resources on his farm. This is the second year the award has been given in the Marshall-Beltrami district. Last years winner was Delmar Hagen of Gatzke.

Mr. Howland will also give a report on the district's activities for the past year, and a brief outline of plans for the coming year.

The district is also sponsoring a dance on Saturday evening March 2, to celebrate the formation of the district. All farmers in the district are urged to attend both the annual meeting on February 28 and the dance on March 2.

Junior Leaders to Be Given Awards

The Elks lodge of Crookston is again recognizing 4-H junior leaders for their outstanding work, county home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

Awards from the lodge will be presented to two junior leaders from the counties in the Northwest district at special ceremonies at the Winter Shows this week.

Receiving the awards from Pennington county this year will be Margaret Myrum of the Deer Park Club, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Myrum of Mayfield township, and Donald Wald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wald of Rocksbury.

The leadership recognition ceremony will be at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, February 27 in the Armory.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

A Review—

Ralph Magelssen Proves Self to Be Vocal Artist

By Bryant Uleth

Patrons of the Northwest Concert Series were treated to fine vocal artistry in the person of Ralph Magelssen last Thursday evening in Lincoln High School Auditorium.

He has fashioned, through practice and performance, a flexible and brilliant vocal instrument. The range of dynamics, clearness of tone and diction prove him a fully capable soloist. His magnetic stage personality and poise contributed to the success of the program.

The program was interesting in its variety. It included several familiar songs from recent musical shows and operettas "Lindend Market" by Benjamin, a modern calypso, provided one of the many high points in the program. Brahms' "Vegeblisches Standshen" (The Vain Suit) even though sung in German was given, effectively enough to be understood in its entirety.

Richard Paige, director of the University of Minnesota Men's Glee Club, gives credit to the accompanist as 50 to 75 percent responsible for a successful performance. Mr. Magelssen is very fortunate in having Miss Anna Selm as his accompanist. The balance and precision was flawless.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson entertained Mrs. John Stewart and sons, Jack and Jim, George Groslie and Bobbie Anderson at a turkey dinner Thursday evening in honor of the Stewarts who will be leaving soon for California.

Lillian Ysteboe, Kenneth J. Ose, Vows Exchanged

Miss Lillian Kathleen Ysteboe, daughter of Mrs. Ivan Ysteboe of Fargo, N. D., was united in marriage to Kenneth J. Ose, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ose of this city, Saturday in the Trinity Lutheran church of Minneapolis.

Attendants were Mrs. Wallace Lindsay, Fargo, bride's sister; Elinor Ose, groom's sister; the Rev. Erling M. Tungseth, St. Paul; James Ysteboe, Fargo, bride's brother; Wallace Lindsay, Fargo and Carl Berggren, Aurora.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ose will be making their home in McKinley, Minn.

The bride is a graduate of Augsburg college.

St. John's Ladies Aid Meets Thursday

The St. John's Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet in the church parlors Thursday at 2:45. In charge of the business meeting will be Mrs. Maynard Mehrkens, president.

The pastor will lead in discussion on "What does the Bible say about the Benefit and the Proper Use of the Lord's Supper?"

Hostesses will be Mrs. St. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Bjerke, Mrs. E. Harbott and Mrs. F. Harbott.

Mrs. Glenn Krenz, Hostess To Church Committee Members

A group of women from St. John's Lutheran church held a committee meeting at the Glenn Krenz home Tuesday evening. After a short business session, the evening was spent socially, and refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs Krenz.

Those present were Mesdames Ralph Wilson, Ferd Harbott, Floyd Borgen, Maynard Mehrkins, Tom Fuller, Bill Butler, S. A. Honebrink, Fred Kapp and A. Seltz.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT COLORS FOR YOUR HOME
by Bud Kelly

Choosing good color schemes is a matter of taste and harmony. Since you are the one to live with the colors, pick the ones that please you. There are, of course, simple steps that everyone should follow.

• • • •

It's a good idea to look at any of the home furnishing idea books available at any newsstand. Better Homes and Gardens puts out a decorating book that's full of color ideas.

• • • •

The color you select should harmonize with the colors of your furniture and rugs. And don't forget to consider the shape, size and location of the room itself.

• • • •

Colors should suit the exposure of the room. Paint north rooms warm colors like yellow, rose, beige, peach, coral and warm browns. South rooms need cool colors like Nile green, light blue, light gray, lime, chartreuse. East rooms need soothing colors like ivory, cream, buff, light gray and similar friendly tones. West rooms need cool, soft colors — avoid rose, peach and tan.

• • • •

The character of a color should also be considered. Red, for example, is exciting. It shouldn't be used for bedrooms. Yellow is sunny and cheerful — it has actually been used to overcome certain neurotic conditions in hospital rooms.

• • • •

No matter what colors you choose, you can be sure we have them in easy-to-apply Super Kemtone. Water thinned Super Kemtone is by far the easiest paint for the amateur to apply. It comes in a wide variety of colors.

Goodridge School Band to Make Television Debut Over Valley City TV Thursday

Goodridge's 29-piece school band will appear Thursday, Feb. 28 over channel 4 KXJB-TV "Community Billboard," according to Roland Samber, Goodridge school music supervisor. Shown practicing for their TV appearance are the members of the band as TV viewers will see them Thursday at 4 p. m. In the back row, left to right, are Roger Johnson, Carol Lovely, Darwin Tanem, Gene Haugen, Larry Ellingson, Ruth Ann Kassh, Enzely Sturre, Marianne Overby, Sharon Swanson, Ruth Johnson and Jean Krbechek. In the middle row are Agnes Cullen, Donna Schlofer, Wavel Siebert, Eldonna Sunsdahl, Anne Haugen, Marlys McEnelly and Lowell Swanson. Front, Billy Svendsgaard, Florence Anderson, Dorothy Haugen, LaVonne Anderson, Iran Geving, Darlene Anderson, Richard Parnow and Marie Breznay. Absent when the photo was taken were Leone Olson and Yvonne Wells.

Samber Drills Goodridge Band

The people of Goodridge and the surrounding area take great pride in their school band, which will make its debut over Valley City's KXJB-TV "Community Billboard," Thursday, at 4 p. m. Members of the clarinet section shown are Billy Svendsgaard, Florence Anderson, Dorothy Haugen, LaVonne Anderson, Iran Geving and Darlene Anderson (reading from center background to left). Music Supervisor Roland Samber is shown giving the band a strenuous workout in preparation for its TV appearance.

C. H. Cooks Announce Daughter's Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cook of Newfolden announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Anne, to James H. Winjum, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Winjum of this city.

Air Reserve Unit to Meet Again Tuesday

The second meeting of Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve squadron, will be held in the downstairs meeting room of the city Auditorium Tuesday at 8 p.m., according to W. M. Draper, flight commander.

The first official meeting of Flight E was well attended by members and prospective members and two new members were signed. All former Air Force men whose reserve tenure has expired. Several recently discharged Air Force men with reserve obligations remain to be assigned to the flight, Draper said, but these will be contacted very shortly.

Draper also emphasized that the newly-formed flight affects obligated reservists who could formerly fulfill their reserve obligations in the Non-affiliated Reserve Section, in that they are expected to participate in reserve general training where facilities for such training exists.

At last Tuesday's meeting Capt. Luther M. Graeff, 9158th Air Reserve group liaison officer told the reservists that information of Flight E and the speed with which it was organized is a refreshing change from a trend in which the smaller reserve units are languishing from poor attendance and somewhat lackadaisical leadership.

He commended all in the new flight for their efforts toward getting the unit off to a good start. Both he and M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson outlined both the general and specialized training phases of the Air Reserve for the benefit of those present. It is hoped that a specialized training course for reserve non-commissioned officers can be started within the year.

Specialized Air Reserve training courses have a schedule of 24 paid meetings per year and have been highly successful in cities, such as Grand Forks, where they have been held.

All members and prospective members of Flight E are urged to attend Tuesday's meeting as further organizational work and training programs for the next month will be outlined.

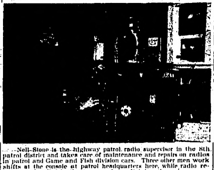
Mayor Views New Patrol Office

Capt. Walter Anderson of the highway patrol and Mayor O. D. Belch (left and center) watch and listen as highway patrol radio operator Kenneth Rustad monitors a call at the radio console of the patrol radio center in the new highway department building. The patrol offices had just been moved into the building when this picture was taken and the Mayor was paying an informal inspection visit.

He Maintains Patrol Car Radios



Neil Stone is the highway patrol radio supervisor in the 8th patrol district and takes care of maintenance and repairs on radios in patrol and Game and Fish division cars. Three other men work shifts at the console at patrol headquarters here, while radio repairs are handled in the two-car shop adjoining the main garage in the new highway department building here. Now that the entire patrol headquarters is under one roof the patrol operations are much more efficient, Capt. Walter Anderson says.

Highway Patrol Radio Setup Now in New Quarters

itself with plenty of room for records, etc.

There is office space galore too, so that Captain Anderson can take a deep breath without crowding others in the room as it was before. Even so, there isn't too much room, because, if the legislature acts favorably to increase the number of highway patrolmen Captain Anderson hopes to have at least two additional patrolmen in the local area and an undisclosed number added in the district as a whole.

At present, in addition to himself and Sgt. Tom Scanlon, the patrolmen here are John Oven, Cliffton Mattson and Bert Johnson.

Another improvement to begin shortly is the addition of two feeder stations at Lake Bronson and Bagley, which will eliminate some transmission difficulties now encountered. Addition of the two new stations will require less power from the local station, Anderson said, and will minimize the danger of interference in TV reception locally.

Addition of the new feeder stations will eliminate "fade-out" in some parts of the district Neil Stone, radio supervisor said. This condition was especially prevalent around Lake Bronson at times.

The radio facilities here are manned by Ken Rustad, Ray Bergquist, and Ray Ptacek, in addition to Supervisor Stone.

While the boys at patrol headquarters are happy with their new quarters here they aren't at all pleased with the three traffic fatalities in the 8th district. At this time last year there had been none in the district.

However, Captain Anderson was philosophical about it—and hopeful. "You can't always have a good record," he said, "but here's hoping we don't have any fatalities the rest of the year!"

Mrs. Herman Young of Middle River arrived Tuesday to visit with her father, Knute Haugen and at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harlan Huseth.

Junior Chamber Hears Reports at Session Thursday

N. H. Kortuem Is Named to Accompany Harry Oen to Austin Award Dinner

A regular meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was held on Thursday evening at the American Legion club rooms.

Several items of regular business were acted on and a report was heard from Ormond Johnson, state director, on the all-state meeting held at Bemidji on Feb. 8 and 9th. Among many items reported he mentioned that the Jaycees had paid their assessment for the War Memorial Fund and national headquarters building. This debt had been against this chapter for many years.

Johnson also called for volunteers to attend the joint regional meeting at Ada Wednesday, Feb. 27. This meeting which includes "old" regions 2 and 3 will be the last meeting of the old regions and several items will be acted on such as regional by-laws and also bids will be received for the spring caucus of the new Region III which includes Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Moorhead, Ada, Crookston and Thief River Falls. Thief River Falls has bid for this meeting.

Final arrangements were made for the trip to Austin Tuesday for the outstanding young farmer award dinner. N. C. Kortuem will accompany Harry Oen, the outstanding young farmer from this area.

Ralph Foster was selected as the chairman of the Teen-Age Roadeo.

The meeting was adjourned to the Lincoln high school gym for the March of Dimes and Heart Fund benefit basketball game. A very small crowd viewed the game. The Jaycees were overtaken in the last few minutes of play, being defeated by the High School faculty by a score of 50 to 48.

Danish Exchange Students Seeking Marshall Co. Jobs

Legion Group Is Encouraging Use of Polio Vaccine

There has been a marked increase in the number of local residents visiting their family doctors to receive inoculations of the Salk polio vaccine since an American Legion committee started contacting local groups, it was announced this week. The committee includes John Holzinger, chairman; S. A. Honebrink and John Jaranson of the postoffice staff. The committee is working in cooperation with the Pennington county polio chapter headed by C. W. Rodekuhr.

200 Attend Guard Muster Day Event

Forty New Men Sworn Into Company F Sunday

About 200 persons attended Muster Day ceremonies at the National Guard armory here Sunday, according to Capt. John Oven, commander of Thief River Falls' Co. F, 136th Inf.

The affair is an annual Guard recruiting event in celebration of George Washington's birthday and locally, featured an all-day drill, display and demonstrations by local guardsmen.

Infantry weapons, field gear and training facilities were shown, 40 new men were sworn into Co. F, several close-order drills were staged and Mayor O. D. Beich inspected the troops at 3 p.m.

Refreshments were served to the public in the form of barbecued, "venison-burgers" Captain Oven added.

Monday's schedule, a continuation of yesterday's events, calls for visits from several classes of Lincoln high school students to see the various displays and exhibits.

Past Week Marked by One Accident

Rev. R. A. Dahlquist Car Hit by Soo Switch Engine

Another accident-free week was reported by all local law enforcement agencies here, as drivers maintained their good driving behavior.

The last accident reported by city police, in which any extensive damage was caused, was at the E. 3rd st. Soo Line crossing last Monday evening. The accident, which was not reported in Thursday's Times, happened when the car driven by the Rev. R. A. Dahlquist was struck by a Soo Line switch engine. Mr. Dahlquist stated he saw the flasher and stopped, looked north and saw no engine so started across—and was struck from the south.

The Dahlquist car was damaged to the extent of an estimated $120, while the switch engine was undamaged.

Police also reported the city arena was broken into a week ago last Friday. The burglars took about $17 in cash and four cartons of cigarettes. No recent developments in this case were reported by police today.

Death Claims Mrs. John N. Whitman City, February 22

Mrs. John N. Whitman died suddenly at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Meyer on Friday evening, February 22, at the age of 81 years.

Funeral services have been set for Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. at the Community Methodist church with Rev. E.C. Mead officiating. Interment will be made at the Greenwood cemetery.

The body will be reposing at the Green Funeral Home from Monday evening until 11:00 a.m. Wednesday and from 1:00 until time of services at the Community Methodist church.

A complete obituary will appear in the next issue of the Times.

Association for Retarded Meets

Child Welfare Worker Reports on 'U' Institute

The regular meeting of the Northwest Association for Retarded Children was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Odegaard on Thursday, February 21. Nine members were present to hear a report from Mrs. Darwin Ferrier on the Institute on Mental Deficiency recently held at the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Ferrier attended this three-day course in connection with her duties as child welfare worker. The course is offered periodically to help improve professional services to the mentally retarded, and to promote better understanding among parents and in the community.

The group was also informed that a state-employed psychologist will be in the area during April; and arrangements were made for the psychological testing of a number of children in this county.

There was also a lively discussion of proposed state legislation which will affect the educational opportunities offered to retarded children.

After the meeting lunch was served by the hostesses.

Silverton 4-H Plans Benefit

The Silverton 4-H club will sponsor a benefit program Friday evening, March, at 8 p.m. in Smiley Community Hall. There will be a talent show by the members, lunch will be served and dancing to the music of the Youngblood and Mattson families will follow.

Proceeds will go to the March of Dimes and Heart Fund.

An invitation is extended to the public.

$28,851 Savings Bonds Bought in County in January

Purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds in January, 1957, totaled $28,851 in Pennington county, representing 12% of the county quota for 1957, J. M. Roche, county chairman, reported today.

Total purchases in Minnesota were $6,833,816, or 8 per cent of the 1957 quota of $85,500,000.

The Treasury recently announced that it has requested the Congress to enact legislation which will permit an increase in the interest rate on new sales of U.S. Savings Bonds.

Passage of the proposed legislation will permit the Treasury to go forward with plans to offer improved interest rate terms on all Series E and H bonds sold on or after February 1, 1957.

Mercury Rises to 30 Here Sunday

Rebounds after Hitting 24 below Zero Saturday

It isn't spring yet, despite the nice, mild temperatures Sunday and Monday. Take it from the weatherman, today's weather is strictly temporary as the forecast shows. By tomorrow the mercury will be back down in the 10-below-zero vicinity.

Despite leaden-grey skies Saturday and Sunday very little snow fell and the clouds blew apart Monday morning to let the sun add to the already pleasant temperatures. All in all however, the weather since last Thursday has been a crazy, mixed-up affair.

Take these scrambled-up temperatures for instance:

Day	High	Low	Precip.
Feb. 21	2	—12
Feb. 22	—0	—18
Feb. 23	8	—24	Trace
Feb. 24	30	7

Today's low temperature was 22 above.

The forecast calls for a cold wave tonight with temperatures skidding to 10 below by Tuesday morning. A few snow flurries are forecast along with the colder temperatures. Highs early this afternoon will be 25-35.

It will be partly cloudy and colder with winds northwesterly 25 m.p.h. Tuesday, diminishing in the evening. A warming period is expected to begin Wednesday, according to the KTRF forecast.

CHESS CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT AT 8

The Chess club will meet in the Trinity church basement Wednesday evening, February 27, at 8 o'clock. Following the session lunch will be served.

Photographers

Kenneth Johnson, Crookston photographer, was named president of the Northwestern Professional Photographers Assn. at a meeting last Tuesday night in Thief River Falls.

Other officers elected were Tom Hanson, Bagley, vice president, and Neal Fox, Thief River Falls, secretary-treasurer. Also on the program was a discussion of latest techniques in processing, printing and coloring.

International Falls Six Defeats Roseau 3-1 to Win State Title

For the second successive year it was an all-northern Minnesota state high school hockey tournament finals, and the powerful International Falls Broncos won the state title by defeating the Roseau Rams, 3 to 1, on the St. Paul Auditorium ice on Saturday night.

Since the high school hockey tournaments were started in 1945, thirteen championship finals have been played, and on eight of these occasions the two finalists have been northern Minnesota teams.

After a cautious first period, and during which the Roseau Rams held a slight edge over the heavily favored Broncos, the game entered the second period in a scoreless tie. With Roseau's Dave Wallestad sitting out a tripping penalty, the Broncos, applying their vaunted power, scored at the 1:25 mark, with Dave Frank scoring; and at the 1:41 mark, Oscar Mahle whipped a shot past goalie Arlyn Sjaaheim. The Broncos added their third marker when, at the 11:27 mark, Mahle again dented the mesh, giving the Falls a 3 to 0 lead.

At the 4:03 mark of the third stanza, with the Broncos' Gene Steele in the penalty box, Roseau's fine sophomore center, Jim Stordahl, beat goalie Jim Wherely from 20 feet out. The Broncos played sturdy defensive hockey to protect their lead an succeed to the state title vacated by the Thief River Falls Prowlers.

In first round tournament play on Thursday, Minneapolis South defeated Edina-Morningside, 6 to 0; International Falls trounced Hallock, 10 to 0; Roseau defeated St. Murray, 3 to 1; and St. Paul Johnson defeated South S. Paul, 3 to 0.

In the semi-finals on Friday night, International Falls shut out Minneapolis South, 4 to 0; and Roseau, in a game that carried into 11:40 of overtime, defeated St. Paul Johnson, 5 to 4.

In the consolation bracket on Friday afternoon, Edina defeated Hallock, 4 to 0; and St. Paul Murry defeated South St. Paul, 3 to 1. In the consolation finals on Saturday afternoon, Edina edged out St. Paul Murray, 2 to 1.

In a preliminary game to the championship finals on Saturday night, Minneapolis South defeated St. Paul Johnson, [illegible], to earn third place in the tournament standings.

May Become 'Pro'

DUANE GLASS

According to Jack Yost, publicity director of the Great Falls Americans of the Alberta-British Columbia-Montana Hockey League, three youthful members of the Americans merit "pro" training. The three players named are Con Grisak, goalie, Sam Williamson, wing, and Duane Glass, defenseman.

The three players have shown so much improvement in their play this season that arrangements are being made to send the youngsters north to a Canadian training camp before next season's play opens.

Of particular interest to the local fans is the fact that Duane Glass has been given such mention. Glass, an all-state tournament selection at defense on last season's state championship Prowler squad, has been with the Great Falls club. The Americans are currently sharing the top spot in that fast semi-pro hockey loop.

Prowler Quint Takes E. Grand Forks 45-37

Coach Al Adams' basketball Prowlers closed out the pre-tournament schedule on Friday night, when in a district conference game played at East Grand Forks, they defeated coach Harold Sullivan's Little Green Wave, 45 to 37.

This week the Prowlers will be engaging in intensive practice drills in preparation for the 31st District tournament that opens on Monday, March 4th at Grand Forks. The Prowlers will meet the Warren Ponies in a first round game on Monday, March 4th, with the tip-off time at 2:30 P. M.

In Friday night's tilt at East Grand Forks, the Prowlers made use of their height advantage to [illegible] vantage proved the edge that gave the locals a 45 to 47 win. The East Siders, as is their custom, utilized a tight zoned defense, and the Prowlers had difficulty breaking that defense open.

The locals bounced away to a 6 to 0 lead in the opening minutes of the game, but the East Siders, dropping in eight of nine tries from the free throw line and Sherm Stallmo scoring a pair of field goals, rallied to take a 12 to 10 lead at he end of the period.

The Prowlers, with Dave Hanson scoring five points and Jim Bennes and Dave Rasmussen adding four points apiece, regained the lead to hold a 25 to 21 margin at the intermission.

In the third period, the Prowlers outpointed the East Siders, 11 to 8, and had a 36 to 29 lead entering the fourth quarter. And the Prowlers managed to edge the Green Wave, 9 to 8, in the final stanza, to gain a 45 to 37 triumph.

The victory was the eleventh of the season for the locals as against eight losses.

Dave Hanson's eleven field goals and three free throws earned high point honors, with 25, for the lanky junior center. [illegible] coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team defeated the East Grand Forks 'B' team, 53 to 40.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Opinion

Did you notice that item in one of the Twin City newspapers released a "trial balloon" to the effect that the International Falls Broncos' line of Dave Frank center, and Oscar Mahle and Bob Miggins, wings, was the "best ever" as far as state high school hockey tournament play was concerned. That's opinion, of course.

There's not a doubt but that Mahle is one of the most dangerous and potent scorers to ever play Minnesota prep hockey; but to say that he, together with linemates Frank and Miggins, is the "best ever" is somewhat strained.

As long as the season on opinions has been opened, we'll type out our two-fits worth and place in nomination for the "best" line to play in Minnesota high school tournament competition the Pat Finnegan, Niel Celley, and Wally Grant trio. This line, with Finnegan at center and Celley and Grant at the wings, sparked the Eveleth Golden Bears to the state championship in the first tournament ever played. That was back in 1945.

On the admission of Cliff Thompson, the long-time coach of the Golden Bears, this line, the Finnegan-Celley-Grant unit, is the best all-round line that he has had at Eveleth. That line had remarkable all-round balance and finesse.

That these boys weren't just high school morning glory players is evidenced by the record that they made when they entered college play. They were all given All-America rating.

As for the player who rates the title of "all-time" great in state tournament history, we'll brook no arguments about Eveleth's John Mayasich. He rewrote the state tournament scoring book. We can recall readily how, with monotonous regularity, the public address system would intone, whenever Eveleth was playing, that the Golden Bear goal had been made by Mayasich.

And for the best all-round squad to play and win the state hockey championship, we'll offer the 1954 Prowlers. Look at the lineup: goal, Jack Hoppe; defense, Mike McMahon, Jim Zavoral, and Les Sabo; centers, Marv Jorde and Joey Poole; and wings, Lyle Gattu, Sid Vraa, Bob Helgeland, Darryl Durgin, and Jack Quesnell.

North Country Cousins

As far as the state high school hockey tournament finals are concerned, the "north country cousins" are showing the "big city slickers" how the game is played.

Our records reveal that since 1945, thirteen state championship finals games have been played, and in twelve of those games a team from the north, from Region Seven or Region Eight or Region Three has been in the finals. And further, in eight of those championship finals games, the two finalists have been northern teams.

Only in one year, in 1955, were the "northerners" kept away from the finals. In that year St. Paul Johnson defeated Minneapolis Southwest for the state title. That was the year, too, in which the Prowlers were eliminated in first round play when they dropped an unprecedented eleven overtime game to Minneapolis South, losing by a 3 to 2 score.

And during the thirteen years of the tournament's existence, teams from the north have won ten state titles. Eveleth has won five championships, Thief River Falls has won twice, Roseau once, Hibbing once, and International Falls once. These are figures and records of which northern hockey fans can be rightly proud, and they are worth a boast or two.

Just a Note

The grade school hockey championship will be played tonight, Monday, at the Arena rink, with face-off slated for 7:00 P. M.

The two finalists, as a result of eliminations played last week, are the St. Bernard's Broncos and the Knox Tigers. St. Bernards, with Tony Poole scoring a hatful of goals, defeated the Washington team, while the Knox squad took the measure of the Northrops.

Rod Collins, who has had charge of the grade school hockey program, has enlisted in the Army, and tonight's championship finals will perhaps be his last contact with hockey for awhile.

It Was an Education

The Alan Thompson rink, representing the local curling club, participated in the district bonspiel held at Roseau on Saturday and Sunday. And what an education in the art of curling the boys received! That's what Alan the skip said.

In the three matches that the local boys curled, the Thompson rink came out on the short end of the score. On Saturday afternoon, Roseau won by a 15 to 7 margin; on Saturday night the classy St. Vincent rink won by a 12 to 5 core; and on Sunday afternoon, the locals dropped a 11 to 7 decision to the Hallock rink.

The St. Vincent rink, with a record of three wins and no losses, won the district title and will now enter the state bonspiel in St. Paul.

Gets Pelf of 1,800-pound Grizzly

Mike Antonoff poses with a huge grizzly bear skin that he received from his brother-in-law Seymour Evenson of Watson Lake, Yukon, Territory. Mr. Evenson, who is Mrs. Antonoff's brother, reported that the grizzly weighed 1800 pounds before being dressed out.

Evenson is a former resident of Thief River Falls, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Evenson. Since arriving in the "far north" country, Mr. Evenson has been engaged in prospecting and trapping; and at present he is the operator of a small store and several tourist cabins along the Alaskan Highway.

States-Dominion Bonspiel Slated in TRF March 8-10

At Least Five Outside Rinks Expected to Share in First Annual Event

Tom Cochrane, drawmaster for the local curling club, announced that rinks from Hibbing, Duluth, St. Paul, Drayton, and Grafton have signified their intentions of participating in the first annual States-Dominion bonspiel which will be held here, on the Arena ice, on March 8th, 9th, and 10th. Mr. Cochrane also expressed the wish that all local rinks, intending to enter the bonspiel, should make their registration at once.

Knox School Quint Defeats Northrop

East Siders Score Their Fifth Straight Victory

The Knox team, leaders in the grade school basketball league, marked up their fifth straight win on Thursday afternoon when, by a 23 to 15 score, they defeated Coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians.

With forward Ray Nelson accounting for 6 points, the Indians gained a 10 to 8 lead at the half-time intermission.

The Knox Tigers, with Tom Lindberg sparking the attack in the second half by adding 6 points to his first half total of 4 points, rallied to outpoint Northrop, 15 to 5. Lindberg's ten-point production gained the game's individual scoring honors.

Knox, with five wins and no losses, are perched on top of the league standings, and hold a comfortable lead over the runner-up Northrop squad.

Marshall Co. Soils Dist. Reports for '56

Lyndon Magnuson, secretary of the Marshall-Beltrami soil conservation district submitted a report of activities for the year 1956, from which the following excerpts are taken:

A plan, the "Calendar of Operations" as agreed upon by the district board and conservation personnel, has been closely followed in carrying out these activities. As in previous years, we must give credit to the Soil Conservation service for technical assistance; the ASC and the state legislature for financial aid; the Extension Service for educational help and various other agencies and individuals that took part in furthering the work of the district. The value of following a soil conserving program on the farms has been very apparent in this year of rather adverse weather conditions. Although main outlets are rather inadequate, rotations and on-the-farm drainage have contributed materially to a more stable income even under these conditions.

Drainage, our number one problem in the district, has been very evident this past summer. The district board has taken the lead in submitting an application for improvement of the Mud and Lost Rivers under the small watershed act known as Public Law 566. Success in this project may lead to improvement of other watersheds in the district later. Much on-the-farm drainage has been carried on also, although this has been hampered by the very conditions which we are trying to overcome; namely, excessive moisture.

Education is probably of equal importance as far as the economic situation of our district cooperators is concerned. In an effort to acquaint the people with the value of different types of soil so that they might recognize them on their own farms, a land judging contest was sponsored by the district board with the help of Fred Heck, John McMartin, our Soil Conservation Agent, and others. We hope those attending our monthly supervisors' meetings learn something of value from the comments by Fred Heck, John McMartin, and other speakers present from time to time as well as movies shown for their entertainment. These meetings are all open to the public.

News articles in the local papers; a weekly news column by our soil conservation agent; displays at the Marshall county fair, a farmers tour viewing varietal and fertilizer trial plots in the districts are some examples. A conservation outline was furnished and several movies were shown in the schools of our area in an effort to interest the young people in the problems of soil conservation. Meetings with several groups of farmers were also held during the year. Considerable work has been done with the 4-H clubs in the district and two members of the Grygla club received awards for soil conservation project work.

Taxpayers Group Opposed to State Withholding Tax

Recommends That Korean Bonus Issue Should Be Referred to the Voters

"The proposal to place a withholding tax plan upon the people of Minnesota and use $27,500,000 of the windfall resulting from this doubling up of tax to pay a Korean bonus of about $27 million is unfair to the taxpayers of Minnesota," Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, said in a statement today.

"The people of Minnesota approved a constitutional amendment in November 1948 which authorized a payment of a bonus to World War II Veterans serving between September 1, 1940 and September 30, 1946, and which authorized the legislature to issue bonds, levy taxes and appropriate and spend money for this particular purpose. This financial responsibility, authorized by the people, has been liquidated and there now is a substantial surplus from taxes levied to take care of the cost of the World War II bonus. Obviously this money which was raised for a specific purpose cannot be used to pay a Korean bonus.

"If it was proper in 1948 for the citizens of the state to pass upon the question of a World War II bonus and to determine the method of financing it, it would be proper now to submit the Korean bonus matter to the people, as was done in 1948."

Mr. Borgen pointed out that the same objections to withholding obtain, regardless of the purpose for which the money presumably is to be used. He said that the best estimates of his organization arrived at after conferring with business men throughout the state, were that it would cost the business interests of Minnesota $2 million to install and administer the system, which at best would bring in no more than $2 million in additional income tax revenues, over and above the windfall.

YOUR SCHOOLS AS WE SEE THEM

— SPONSORED BY — Thief River Falls Education Association

The Washington School
By John Eisbrener, Principal

Elementary schools are the foundation of all the learning that is to follow. In constructing the strength of the foundation determines the size of the building to be placed upon it; so it is education. Children with a broad intensive elementary education can go far in varied fields of learning.

Many changes have taken place in content and method of education. Although education was once regarded as something to be completed at a certain age, it is now seen as continuous life-time process and as an essential process of personal development.

Today we strive for practicality. Where we used to study physiology, for example, we now study how to keep well.

Another development of great and growing importance is the discovery that pupils are people. Although mass instruction has not vanished, schools today are far more aware of individual differences than were the schools of the nineteenth century.

Teaching methods have changed markedly. It has become the function of the modern teacher to stimulate and assist the pupil to learn, think, and understand, rather than impart information by word of mouth.

Critical thinking is evidently the desired goal of education—the achievement of which promises that there will be a life-long interest in learning.

Today we realize that all facts of the child must be educated. In the physical education class he not only is developing physically, but socially and emotionally as well. In any given class the entire child must be considered, not just the subject matter for the class.

In a comparison of the new and the old we have a classic example in the old and new Washington Schools. There will be many advantages in the new building. Basically, the curriculum will be the same, but the children and the teachers will be able to accomplish more due to better lighting, attractive surroundings, added space and an improved attitude. Our upper grade pupils walk down four flights of stairs to get to the washroom. In the new building the washrooms are easily accessible and centrally located. Careful planning has reduced pupil movement to a minimum and thereby assured much less disturbance caused by passing classes. The elimination of stairways in an elementary school is a distinct safety feature. Perhaps the part of the building that will be appreciated most (if any part will be appreciated more, than another) will be the combination lunch room and game room. At present our pupils who bring cold lunch (about fifty to seventy daily, depending on the weather) crowd into one of the class rooms to eat. After they finish eating, the desks must be wipped off and the floor swept because the room must be ready for use as a classroom at one o'clock. We are fortunate that we are able to participate in the hot lunch program at the high school, however, this also presents special problems. Our people who eat in the High School Cafeteria must first cross from our building over to the High School and then walk through the halls which are overcrowded without the added traffic of the elementary children. The little children are almost lost in the movement of classes. In the new school they will have their own lunch room with a chance for better supervision. The new facilities will encourage pupil participation in the hot lunch program and will contribute significantly to health and nutrition teaching.

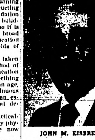
The new building will eliminate many of the problems which arise during our noon hour. The children who eat at school have nearly an hour to spend in the building if the weather is inclement (and we know how many warm days we have during the winter months), and this time must be spent in the classrooms. In the new school this problem will be minimized since we will have a game room for activities.

Anyone who is familiar with the present situation will realize how welcome a playground will be. This year we have had to improvise, which is just one of the growing pains we must endure. A playground which will be completely separated from the High School will be worth all the inconvenience.

The new building will have movable furniture and more equipment for active and creative learning. These new classrooms will be centers where children live and work together. In these classrooms the children will receive help in meeting the problems of growing up. What are these problems? They are problems of being somebody, of finding out what makes things "tick," of getting along with people, and of discovering their own abilities and limitations.

Good learning experiences utilize and grow from the child's own environment. His special interests and the problems he faces in his daily living are necessary tools for learning the facts attitudes and techniques he will need in order to solve more complex problems later. If we utilize our new building to the utmost there is no doubt that we will have a better educational program for the children. For children and teachers, the new building will be a source of pride and it will truly be "a laboratory for learning."

Of course the new school will not solve all of the problems, but it will make all problems look smaller and in most cases make the solving of the problem more simple.



JOHN M. EISBRENER

John M. Eisbrener, principal of Washington School, was born in Pennington County and graduated from Lincoln high school. He attended teachers training at Lincoln high before joining the Navy. While in the navy he served in the Pacific Area. After returning, he taught three years in the rural schools of Pennington county. He received his bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Bemidji State Teachers College. He later received the master of education degree from the University of North Dakota. In Thief River Falls he has taught sixth grade and for the past four years has been principal of the Washington School. Mr. Eisbrener is married and the father of four children.

G. Howard Spaeth Loses Position as Tax Commissioner

Joseph M. Robertson is Appointed by Governor to Take over Post Mar. 1

G. Howard Spaeth of Ada, first commissioner of the Minnesota department of taxation, will be replaced March 1 by Joseph M. Robertson, St. Paul, research director in the tax department.

Lyle Kinvig, purchasing agent for the city of St. Paul, will become commissioner of veterans affairs when his appointment is confirmed by the state senate.

The two new appointments were announced Thursday by Gov. Freeman before his departure for a Phoenix, Ariz., meeting of the executive committee of the National Governors conference.

Kinvig succeeds William Revier. He was in line to step into the veterans affairs post at the beginning of Freeman's first term two years ago, but Revier—only department head asked to resign—refused to quit.

The governor said "the people of Minnesota owe a debt of gratitude to G. Howard Spaeth for his many years of service to the state." He made no comment about Revier.

Spaeth was appointed tax commissioner by Gov. Stassen when the department was created in 1939. He hired Robertson, who had been research analyst for the Kentucky department of revenue, during the term of Gov. C. Elmer Anderson.

The DFL governor is expected to replace another veteran commissioner, M. J. Hoffman, head of the highway department, when his term expires next month.

Easter Seals to Be Mailed Soon to Citizens of State

More than 824,000 special letters, to "give crippled children a chance," will soon be going in the mail to Minnesotans. They are the 1957 Easter Seal appeal letters, which will feature a picture of a nine-year-old girl from Wheaton.

She is Dianne Rowland, one of the 405 crippled children and adults who attended the Easter Seal Society's Camp Courage last year.

This year's Easter Seals again will feature the familiar Easter Lily symbol of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

ONE MORE STUDY NEEDED

There is considerable merit in the proposal that our state teachers colleges and the university be governed by the same board of regents. Under central control and management it should be possible to achieve some operating economies and raise the general average of scholastic standards.

There would be some disadvantages however with such an arrangement. The university is actually an independent branch of our government, with special powers conferred upon it by our constitution. There probably was justification for the special protection that was provided by the founding fathers a hundred years ago, but the university today is a very powerful institution, and in some respects too powerful. To add further to its authority by placing under its independent control the teachers colleges probably would not be in the best interests of the state.

There is need however for a better management of our teachers colleges. They now are operating pretty much under a system of local control and there is justification for the criticism that they are geared too much for volume production with not enough emphasis on the quality of their product.

There have been numerous studies of our problems in the field of higher education but practically all of these studies have been conducted by educators. Their reports are scholarly dissertations on the responsibility of the state to make college degrees available to all young people and sum up the overall situation with a rubber-stamp approval of things as they are.

All will agree that there is a problem in this field of higher education and it is becoming serious. But while the problem the problem is urgent we are sure there is time for one more study, and we think this next study should be made with a more practical approach in mind. Its main purpose should be the establishment of a sound policy on the state's responsibility in the field of higher education, not overlooking, of course, such sordid considerations as our ability to pay.

SIX MONTHS SERVICE

We do not go along with those who argue that six months of active training as a requirement for national guard service is going to be detrimental to that organization. On the contrary it could strengthen it.

Whether we like it or not it appears that compulsory military training is going to be with us for a long time to come. In terms of our future national defense needs our national guard offers one way of meeting this service requirement that should appeal to many young men.

Military training in any form disrupts normal civilian living patterns. In most instances military service means a sacrafice, but it is a responsibility of citizenship that all must accept. And while military service is not an outing that normal young fellows generally look forward to with enthusiasm, fortunately it is an experience that most men do look back upon with satisfaction.

The six months active training plan should make the national guard a far more effective segment of our national defense organization and it provides a way for many young men to meet their service obligation with a minimum of time spent away from home.

THAT NEXT WAR

We agree with Senator Ed Thye that the next war is not necessarily going to be won by the nation that has the greatest firing power. The odds-on favorite to win that struggle will be the nation that excells in the sciences. And the early battles in that war for scientific supremacy are being fought right now.

Russia today is putting into the field more scientifically trained men and women than we are. Our schools are not graduating enough professionally trained people to provide adequately for our own needs here at home. Russia is sending doctors and engineers into the so-called backward countries of the world to make friends for communism.

This is a war our educators are losing for us very complacently.

TAXING HEAVY TRUCKS

A bill to increase substantially the tax on heavy trucks has been introduced in the legislature and it should receive favorable consideration. Truckers themselves agree that the trucks hauling heavy loads are not paying their fair share of our highway costs.

There no doubt are reasonable differences of opinion as to what would be a fair tax but road tests have proven beyond question that the heavy loads cause highway damage far out of proportion to their contribution in taxes. Other states are adopting tax standards that well might serve as a pattern for action here in Minnesota.

TEACHERS AND DEGREES

(Carl Weicht in the Northfield News)

School boards today have a fetish for degrees; persons with a B.A. degree get certain salaries, those with M.A. degrees get higher ones, and those with Ph.D. degrees are just out of this world in secondary schools. Yet, I am sure I am not the only middle-aged citizen who can say that the best teacher I had in grade school did not have a B.A.—only a Normal school certificate. But she was an excellent teacher because she was a fine, well-rounded person who not only knew what she was talking about but had the ability to impart that knowledge with skill and enthusiasm.

The best teachers I had in high school never heard of so-called "progressive education," but they knew how to teach and what they taught has endured. In most cases, a long time. Some of the very best men and women and the remembered teachers who have trod our college campuses, never "earned" Ph.D. degrees this side of heaven, yet I wonder how far they would get with college administrators who put such a premium on this superficial, if necessary, evidence of scholarly achievement.

I would advise anyone who wants to go into teaching to get all the degrees possible, to do graduate study, to study abroad, even write a book (although I have long felt that the invention of printing was not an unmitigated blessing to mankind), but don't stop there, for you may have a dozen degrees and still not be able to impart an iota of what you know to others or inspire them to want to know as much as your diplomas show you should know.

As for those who select teachers or determine their future development, I would offer the unsolicited advice that there is no easy way to find and to bring out good teachers; it is a continuous search, a never-ending process of judgment and encouragement, and a responsibility so high that it can never be approached by theoretical short-cuts.

Pet Parade Held At Newfolden High School

Students and faculty of Newfolden community school enjoyed an internationally acclaimed animal attraction as their assembly program of February 21.

The program featured white sulpher crested Australian Cockatoos and Sacred Doves of India.

The Cockatoos are large birds about 20 inches tall, pure white with a beautifull sulpher colored crest about five inches high. These birds frequently live to be 100 years old and do not age like human beings. Grandpa Joe the veteran of the troupe is over 90 years old. He answers a toy telephone, shoots a cannon, shakes hands, and pushes a merry go round which the other birds are riding.

Some acts which the other birds done to prove their versatability were acting on a set of parallel bars, ladder work, back flips on parallel bars, playing on musical chimes with its beak, and the outstanding bird can count, add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Rainbow trout introduced into New Zealand rivers from America grow to such size that they will not fit into a creel. Some specimens attain a weight of more than 25 pounds.

As many as 30 types and grades of petroleum products may be traveling through a pipe line at one time.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

As this column is written, I am about to leave for a brief meeting, in Arizona, of the executive committee of the Governors' Conference. Each year the governors of all of the states meet together to discuss common problems; and the nine-member executive committee is meeting to plan the 1957 conference which will be held in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Similar Problems

Under discussion at the Arizona meeting of the executive committee are subjects of special interest to all of the states. High on the list are matters relating to both education and highways; —and in both of these areas discussions include the important subject of federal-state relationships. The states are keenly interested in the new, expanded highway program that will go forward under federal aid. They are deeply concerned about proposals now before Congress for federal aid for school construction,—and about programs to lower the cost of financing school construction with the states.

Many of these problems are among the most important now before our Legislature in Minnesota.

Water as a Resource

As a part of the preliminary work in planning the Governors' Conference, the governors of all the states were asked to indicate the subjects they regard as of greatest importance. I am impressed by the extent to which water conservation and development is considered of major significance. Here in Minnesota we are more fortunate with regard to water than most states, and we are only now beginning to realize how necessary it is for us to develop a broad policy with regard to water if we are to remain in this advantageous position.

Recommendations

This is why I gave special consideration, among my recommendations to the Minnesota legislature on conservation, to our water resources. Minnesota, like most states, has a multiplicity of agencies that deal with water. Local governments are concerned with adequate supplies of pure water for general use, and the state has its Water Pollution Control Commission to prevent pollution in our lakes and streams. Our State Board of Health provides staff services for that Commission.

Then we have the Division of Waters in our Department of Conservation, that collects data and provides advisory services. And within that same Department, the Division of Game and Fish is charged with improvement and management of lakes and streams for the benefit of fish and wildlife. The Soil Conservation Committee promotes soil and water conservation activities, and the Water Resources Board approves the establishment of watershed districts. And there are many other agencies involved, one of which is the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation Commission that deals with water problems affecting Iron Range communities and industries.

Coordination Needed

Because of the need for greater coordination, I recommended giving to the Water Resources Board an additional responsibility of holding hearings and of making recommendations whenever there may be inconsistencies or conflicts in matters involving the use of water. We also need to gather all the information necessary for the formulation of a policy that will insure the best use and conservation of our valuable water resources, both on the surface in our lakes and streams, and in our underground supply.

Newfolden Band To Present Variety Show

Friday evening, the 15th of March, at 8 o'clock at the Newfolden Community School marks the date and place for the third annual band variety show, "Musical Wonderland."

This years show will again take you to the four corners of the world as the students present scenes of foreign countries as well as our own, while performing their various solos and ensembles. Characteristic costumes and settings will highlight the event.

Plan to bring the entire family for an evening of entertainment.

Nordics Rank Third In District Play

The Newfolden Nordics enter the basketball tournament competition at Roseau Tuesday, February 26, 1957 at 8:30 p.m. They will meet the Williams Wolves, sixth ranked team. The first game that evening puts second ranked Roseau against seventh ranked Badger at 7:00 p.m.

The Nordics have a season record of 9 wins against 7 losses. In East Sub-district 32 competition, which is completed, their final record was 8 wins and 4 losses.

Coach Wayne Ulferts has chosen the 12 man tournament squad to represent the Newfolden Community school consisting of the following players: Seniors, Lloyd Bakke, Philip Dyrud, Richard Halvorson, Dale Moen, Jerry Shern, capt. Juniors: Clayton Hjelle, Einar Jorgenson, Ronald Nelson, Newell Uland. Sophmores: Dennis Bakke, Robert Dahl. Freshman: Donald Engelsrud.

Glenn Matejka, Industrial Arts Instructor, is the assistant coach, Merle Larson is the student manager. Keith Dyrud is student scorekeeper, and Charles Fisher, high school principal is faculty representative.

Fewer, Bigger Dairy Herds in Minnesota

Dairy farms and dairy plants in Minnesota are switching to large volume business.

E. Fred Koller, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota, points out that there are about 30 per cent less Minnesota farms selling milk or cream now than in 1939. During the same period, individual herds have been getting bigger and fewer, and total milk production has increased slightly.

Dairy plant trends tell a similar story. In 1935, there were 875 buttermaking plants in Minnesota, compared to 561 a year ago—a 30 percent reduction.

This change to larger volume, both on the farm and in the dairy plant, is the result of normal economic adjustments, Koller explains. It takes more capital than ever to pay for the cost of operating efficient, sanitary dairy farms and dairy plants, and the obvious way to make a profit on both is by increasing the size of the business.

There are 20 percent less dairy cows in Minnesota now than in 1944, but average milk output per cow has increased about 100 pounds every year. In 1955, the average Minnesota cow produced 6,380 pounds. Average milk output per farm has increased 35 percent. This increase is due to bigger herds, better breeding and better feeding and management.

At the same time, farmers are stepping up their equipment investments. Farmers who use bulk milk tanks instead of 10-gallon milk cans now produce 17 percent of the total volume of milk marketed in Minnesota. Milking parlors and pipeline milkers are finding their way to more farms. In order to reduce the cost per unit of these investments, farmers have found it necessary to increase their milk volume. Milk is going to the plant in a different form than 20 years ago, too. From 1935-39, 85 percent of Minnesota's milk was sold as farm-separated cream. Today, only 30 percent is sold as cream and the rest is whole milk.

Koller says the proportion of whole milk sold in Minnesota may be even higher in a few years.

Better roads and improved trucks have helped speed the change to larger dairy plants. With more competition from larger plants, many small local operators were left without enough business to keep going. Some small creameries lost out when farmers shifted from selling separated cream to whole milk. Others couldn't afford to switch to handling whole milk, and some plants were forced to close because they couldn't afford to modernize and meet increased sanitary requirements.

As creameries became fewer, their average volume of business became greater. From 1935-55, average annual butterfat received per plant increased 50 percent.

Leading Farmer Sportsmen to Be Chosen in State

Minnesota Winner to Be Given Free Trip to Minneapolis in April

The tenth annual state-wide survey is under way to nominate in each county Minnesota's most outstanding farmer-sportsman. From these nominations the state, district and county champions will be chosen.

Minnesota game wardens, foresters, editors, radio announcers, and sportsmen are urged to make their selections and present them to their county agents.

The most distinguished farmer-sportsman in each county will be selected by the county agent and his committee and sent to the state committee, who will in turn choose nine candidates.

One of these will be the state champion, four will be district winners and four runners up.

The state champion and his wife and the county agent and his wife from the champion's county, will be awarded a free all-expense trip to the Northwest Sports, Travel and Boat Show held in the Minneapolis Auditorium in Minneapolis April 5 thru April 14, 1957.

The champion farmer-sportsman, county agent and their wives will be honored at a banquet by the Sportsmen's Show on Saturday evening, April 13 and presented awards at the show on Sunday afternoon, April 14.

The survey will determine the farmers who are carrying on the best agricultural programs in conserving soil and water, increasing soil fertility and creating wildlife habitat. The farmers' community activities and participation in sportsmen's organizations and youth clubs are vital factors.

Special Convocation to Be Held Thursday

The University of Minnesota is celebrating its 106th birthday this week, Feb. 24-Mar. 2, with a special convocation, store window displays and a statewide speaking program. This week has been proclaimed University of Minnesota Week by Governor Orville L. Freeman.

Sketches of University history will be presented in the annual Charter Day convocation, "Our Day to Stretch," at 11:30 a.m. Thursday in Northrop Memorial auditorium. Alan W. Peabody, teaching assistant in speech and theater arts, as the University president, will view past highlights including the fire in Old Main, evolution controversy of 1927 and cross-circulation heart operations. Written by Lowell L. Munfull, general college instructor, and directed by Philip Benson, graduate fellow in speech and theater arts, the program will be introduced by E. W. Ziebarth, summer session dean. The University band and men's glee club also will take part in the convocation.

An alumni honors luncheon in the main ballroom of Coffman Memorial Union following the convocation will honor all who have received the Outstanding Achievement Award, the school's highest award to alumni.

President J. L. Morrill will present four such awards for distinguished service to Rear Admiral James D. Boyle, supply corps, U. S. Navy, retired; Cecilia H. Hauge, director, Veterans Administration nursing service; Dr. James W. Papez, director, Biological Research laboratory, Columbus State hospital, Columbus, Ohio; and Jack Lamont Van Volkenburg, of the board of directors of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., and retired president of CBS-TV.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Farm Forum Is Slated at TRF Armory Mar. 7

Problems Facing Agriculture to Be Discussed Thursday

Minnesota farm families, business men and consumers will join in discussions with farm policy specialists during a series of farm forum meetings around the state, including Thief River Falls, states county agent Paul Steimaschuk.

Twenty-three farm forums have been scheduled in the state, according to Luther Pickrel, extension economist in public affairs at the University of Minnesota.

The local forum will be held in the Thief River Falls Armory Thursday, March 7, beginning at 10 a.m., and continuing until 3 p.m., with a break at noon for lunch to be served by the Pennington county 4-H leaders' council.

Sponsoring the meeting here are the Farmers Union, Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce.

Pickrel says the purpose of the meeting is to give farm people factual information on agricultural problems. Forum visitors will be urged to take part in discussing the issues, and ask any questions they wish, no matter how controversial the issues are.

Staff members from the University and the USDA will attend each forum. These speakers will include specialists in the many phases of agricultural policy, trade and marketing.

Here are some of the main questions that will be discussed at the forum meeting, according to Pickrel:

How are farmers sharing in the nation's income?

How big should a farm be?

How do trade and foreign policy affect Minnesota farmers and consumers?

Will the soil bank program help solve the farm income problem?

What caused the lowered farm income in recent years?

Does the middleman get all the farmer's profits?

These questions will be geared to the local situation, according to Pickrel.

James Muzzy Top Dairy Herd Award Winner at Shows

Thief River Falls Man Shows Grand Champions in Bull and Females

James R. Muzzy, local Holstein breeder, won the award at the RRV Winter Shows at Crookston for best dairy herd, showing the senior and grand champion bull, and junior, senior and grand champion females in Holsteins.

In crops, Oscar J. Olson, Lake Park, was named to receive the 1957 Master Crop Grower's Award, the honor being based on overall excellence in raising and exhibiting small grains.

In open class crops competition at the Winter Shows, Olson was Becker county's first place winner in wheat, oats and barley.

A tie for first place in 4-H Grain Clinic competition was announced between David Hoff, Perley, and Kenneth Strand, Ada. Both had perfect scores.

Scoring included ability in grain grading, weed identification, small grass and legume variety identification and other problems involving crops.

20 Rotarians Go to Winnipeg on Good-will Mission

A group of 20 Rotarians returned Sunday from a weekend trip to Winnipeg, where they participated in an international good will program sponsored by the Winnipeg Rotary Club. Most of the local men made the trip on the private car of E. A. Hamerski, division superintendent of the Soo Line. The journey was the chief topic of discussion at Monday's luncheon meeting of the club.

Plan New Structure for Old Peoples Home in Thief River Falls

The Valley Christian Home Society, which operates the home for the aged at Horace av. and Fourth St. in Thief River Falls, held its annual meeting at the Evangelical Free church Monday night.

Reports on activities and progress during the past year were made by the Superintendent, Rev. A. N. Larson; the chairman, Waldie Christensen, and by the building committee, which reported that Wells and Denbrock of Grand Forks, had been retained as architects, and that sketches of proposed buildings were being prepared.

The board of directors was authorized to initiate a fund raising campaign, and was urged to work to increase society membership.

C. G. Peterson of Warren, Carl Johnson of Warren and Carl Swanson of Red Lake Falls were re-elected to the board of directors for another term of three years. Other members on the interdenominational board are Waldie Christensen and Donald Thyren of this city, Dr. Arvid Carlson of Warren, Gust Taflin of Fosston, Roy Nyberg of Kennedy, and Rev. Joseph Swan.

A new and enlarged home is greatly needed in Thief River Falls, and the interest of all in the proposed new building is solicited, said Rev. Larson.

District Governor Guest of TRF Lions Club at Luncheon

Gives Club Certificate of Achievement for Attaining Member Quota

Greetings from Lions International were brought to the Thief River Falls Lions club Wednesday by Gordon Snider of Portage LaPlairie, Manitoba, governor of District 5MON-W.

Mr. Snider presented to Wendell Olson, president of the local unit, a certificate of achievement in recognition to the club having signed up its quota of new members during the January campaign.

Songs by the Lions quartet and a short talk by Dr. M. Peterson of the 'U' of M. college of agriculture completed the program.

In its business session the club voted to turn over its meeting Wednesday noon, April 3, to the Chamber of Commerce, which will be luncheon hosts to a Pines to Palms tour of Manitoba residents visiting this city in the course of a good-will tour to New Orleans, La.

Trinity Board of Parish Education Sponsors Dinner

The Rev. J. B. Jerstad of Calvary Church, G. Forks, Will Be Speaker Friday

The guest speaker for the Trinity church appreciation dinner on Friday, March 1st, will be Pastor J. B. Jerstad of Calvary Lutheran church in Grand Forks.

The dinner is being given in honor of the Trinity church school teachers and substitutes, the Luther League advisors, the senior choir and the Scout leaders. Mrs. H. M. Duckstad is in charge of the meal which is being served by volunteers in the congregation. Mrs. Julius Hendrickson will be charge of the dining room, and girls from the Senior Luther League will be waitresses.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Morris Owen, and music will be furnished by the Sorenson-Ulseth quartette. The theme will be "O, Give Thanks Unto the Lord," and various thank you tributes will be made.

Pastor Jerstad, a popular speaker of this area, graduated from Concordia college in 1935, and finished seminary in 1941. He served various parishes in Minnesota and Iowa before accepting his present position in Grand Forks. He was president of the Iowa District Luther League for four years and is much in demand for Bible Camp faculties. He served as skill trainer at the Luther League leadership school last summer.

The dinner, which will begin at 6:30 in the Trinity church parlors, has been arranged by the Trinity board of parish education. No special invitations have been sent.

Water Main Break Near N.W. Hospital

Institution Supplied Temporarily Thru Hydrant

A break in a waterpipe leading to a house that formerly stood where Northwestern hospital is now located caused some concern this week through minor flooding of tunnels and window wells, but no damage was reported.

While city water plant crews dug for the broken pipe, the hospital has been supplied with water direct from a nearby hydrant so service to the institution was uninterrupted, according to Harold M. Johnson, water treatment plant superintendent.

Johnson reported this morning that crews were having slow going because of adverse working conditions imposed by frost in the ground, but that further difficulties are not anticipated.

Coroner's Jury Rules on Red Lake Co. Death

Death of Mrs. Joseph Ripplinger, victim of a shotgun charge at her farm home northeast of Red Lake Falls Sunday, was caused by her husband, a coroner's jury ruled Tuesday. The jury held that the 49-year-old woman was shot in the abdomen about noon Sunday by a 20-gauge shotgun in the hands of the 62-year-old livestock farmer. The inquest, conducted by Dr. Alan McKaig, Red Lake County coroner, was brief and only for the purpose of formally establishing the cause of death.

Michael, 10, son of the Ripplingers, who was at the home when the shooting occurred, testified that his father fired the fatal shot.

Since the inquest concerned only the woman's death, there was no testimony regarding the shooting of Thomas, 16, another son of the couple who was wounded by two charges from the shotgun. The wounds, however, were not of a critical nature and Thomas was reported in good condition Tuesday in the Red Lake Falls hospital.

Ripplinger, meanwhile, is a prisoner in the Polk County jail at Crookston where Red Lake County, having no jail of its own, holds its prisoners. Charles E. Boughton Jr., Red Lake County attorney, said Tuesday that a definite charge against the prisoner would be filed this week.

The Ripplingers had operated a livestock farm northeast of Red Lake Falls for about 10 years.

Mrs. Ripplinger had worked as a cook for about a year at Toby's "It," drive-in cafe at Skidmore and 10th St. N. in Grand Forks.

Dwaine Carlson manager of the drive-in, said she usually worked throughout the week and each weekend went to the farm home to handle the housework. She finished her work about 5 p.m. Saturday as usual, Carlson said, and left for the farm.

Mrs. Ripplinger was a former resident of the Bathgate, N. D. area. In addition to her sons Thomas, who worked in Grand Forks, and Michael, she is survived by another son, Joseph of East Grand Forks; a daughter, Mrs. George Hastings, Grand Forks; her mother, several brothers and sisters and three grandchildren.

Pennington 4-H Dairy Judges Win at Shows

County Team Given Bronze Plaque by Valley Dairymen

The Pennington county dairy judging team topped the 4-H dairy judging contest at the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston on Monday, announced Paul Steimaschuk, county agent.

The Red River Valley Dairymen's association presented the Pennington county team with a bronze plaque for first prize. Members of the team were Bill Svendsgaard, Mavie; Ray Nelson and Wayne Harder, Silverton; and Leighton Hamre, Mavie, alternate. The team was coached by Dale Svendsgaard and County Agent Steimaschuk.

Second place was won by the West Otter Tail county team, with the West Polk team winning third. The teams won in a field of 11 contesting teams, with a total number of 769 points out of a possible 900.

The Pennington county livestock judging team placed 6th in a field of nine. Members of this team were Bill Grundhaus and Norris Thune, Rockabury, and Richard Jorde, Steiner. Also from Steiner was Robert Rausch, alternate. The total for this team was 950 points. They were coached by Stuart Solem.

Mylo Carlson, 16, of [illegible] and Gail Gustafson, 16, of Hallock, were the winners in the district 4-H radio speaking contest. Lilly Carlson, 17, of McIntosh, and Dorothy Olfman, 17, of Pencer, won second. Others participating in the contest were Carolyn Offerdahl, Mahnomen; Kay Wik, St. Hilaire; Carol Lehrer, Red Lake Falls; and Naomi Anderson, Stephen.

The winners in this contest will now compete for state honors with other district winners Mar. 8-9 at the University of Minnesota.

New Garbage Ordinance Is OK'd Tuesday

Report on Missouri Valley Power Heard by City Council

At an adjourned session Tuesday evening, the city council adopted an ordinance after its third reading making mandatory on local householders the use of the city's garbage collection facilities.

Under the terms of the ordinance, which will take effect April 1, the monthly fee for garbage pickup will remain at the present figure of 50 cents, for the time being at least.

At the meeting, reports also were submitted by City Engineer Douglas Stewart and City Attorney Robert A. Wurst on a recent conference with Bureau of Reclamation officials at Billings, Montana, relating to the Bureau's agreement to supply Missouri Valley power to this city.

The local men were informed that it now appears doubtful that the Bureau will be able to make firm power available to Thief River Falls by the fall of 1957 as first expected, due to the present low stage water in the Missouri River reservoirs.

It is anticipated that during the next few days agreement will be reached on details of a contract with Minnkota Power Cooperative of Grand Forks to supply needed power to this city. The proposal calls for Minnkota to build a line from Mavie to the city and to construct the necessary substation.

The council Tuesday also voted to call for bids to be opened March 19 on a new sweeper for the street department and a new ice cube machine for the municipal liquor dispensary.

30 Grade Teachers Conduct Study of Reading Abilities

Study Supports Plan to Require Higher Entrance Age for Kindergarten

A study of pupil reading ability, conducted by teachers of thirty grade classes of Thief River Falls schools, indicates a marked disadvantage in early enrollment, according to Kermit L. Eastman, director of elementary education.

National school authorities are advising against pupils starting the first grade before their sixth birthday, he says, and the local study tends to justify this conclusion, he adds.

The problem has been discussed at Parent-Teacher meetings, and local parents' sentiment seems to favor a backing up of the entrance age requirement. At the present time any youngster who will become six years old by January 1 is qualified for first grade admission at the start of school in September. Local school officials are considering the advisability of changing this age requirement, qualifying only those whose sixth birthday precedes the school opening date.

If this change were made it probably would become effective for kindergarten admission in 1958 and for the first grade in 1959, Eastman states.

The tests conducted here revealed that 46% of the pupils placed by teachers in the poor reading group were born after September 1 and prior to January 2, indicating that many youngsters were handicapped by early enrollment. At the other end of the classification the age factor appeared to benefit pupils who had started school at a slightly more mature age.

Carl Johnson, Soo Line Engineer, Is on Retired List

Carl Johnson, a native of Thief River Falls and a lifelong resident here, went on the retired list February 20 after having been employed by the Soo Line for nearly 48 years and serving as a locomotive engineer since 1921. He started working for the company in September, 1909. He has been in poor health during the past year, and has been confined to his home.

Campaign Seeks to Raise $3,276 Quota in Pennington Co.

With a quota of $3,276, the annual American Red Cross fund drive will open in Pennington county Friday, March 1, and will continue thruout the month, it was announced today by Mrs. I. R. Geving, chapter chairman, who at the same time solicited the cooperation of the public in making the campaign a success.

Captains conducting the drive in the business district of Thief River Falls, said Mrs. Geving, will be Orin Green, Harry Nohre, Gordon Relerson, Harlin Elseth, Jerry Wirt and James Geland. Lester Gustafson will serve as special gifts chairman.

In charge of the solicitation in the residential districts will be the Mmes. A. M. Aase, Anton Carlson, S. A. Honsbrink, E. O. Iverson, Anna Johnson, John V. Olson, V. D. Borry, Robert Robarge, A. O. Stokke, Paul Wendt, Stanley Solheim, M. R. Levorson, Harry Lund, Ole Ekeren and Gust. Vad. Mrs. Margaret Race will direct the school canvass.

Stanley Nelson will direct the drive in the rural areas of the county assisted by Co-chairmen Mrs. Martin Hanson, Rufus Olson, Harry Solberg, Roy Maxon, and Clarence Peterson. Mrs. Vera Lindquist will head the canvass in St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Geving stated that the Red Cross is serving this community in a variety of ways. J. E. Rosengren, disaster relief chairman, is ready to serve with his committee in time of tornadoes, fires or floods. Quentin Jones, water safety chairman, directs the annual Red Cross swimming program for county children at the Tindolph park pool. R. B. [illegible], home service chairman, assists men in the armed forces in contacting their families and in getting emergency leave when necessary, as well as performing numerous other services.

3-County Sugar Beet Association to Meet Here Next Wednesday

The first annual meeting of the Tri-County Sugar Beet Development Association will be held Wednesday, March 6 in Thief River Falls. The meeting will be held in the city Auditorium and will begin at 2:00 p.m., with Harry Oen, president, in charge.

The election of four directors will be the main item of business. Nominations for directors will be received at the office of the secretary, J. M. Roche until Friday, March 1. Nominations can be made only by members of the association and nominees also must be members.

Additional business to be conducted at the meeting includes the submission of the articles of incorporation and by-laws to the members for consideration. Also to be discussed is the future course of action in obtaining sugar beet acreage and a beet processing plant.

The program will consist of a short film, which shows good crop rotation practices, and a talk by Elmer Bradlie, member of the state ASC committee. Mr. Bradlie maintains a farm near Eldred, Minnesota, and is a sugar beet grower. He will speak on sugar beet allotments as well as other factors which are important to the potential sugar beet industry for this area.

It is expected that several agricultural development agents and other individuals interested in sugar beet development will attend.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Over 200 at Dads and Sons Banquet in Trinity Church

Fargo Pastor Speaks at Affair Sponsored by Brotherhood of Church

Over 200 men and boys were present for the annual Father-Son banquet which was held in the parlors of Trinity church on Tuesday, February 26th. Phil Kays, president of the Men's Brotherhood of the church, acted as master of ceremonies.

Arthur Dale, a former interne at Trinity, was a special guest and gave a greeting to those present. Morris Owen presented the Scout Charter for Troop 60 to the President.

Harold Rasmussen spoke briefly in behalf of the fathers, and the response was made by his son, David.

An honorary life membership award was presented to Dr. A. E. Jacobson in recognition of his long service to Trinity church. He is the only surviving member of the original board of deacons. He was appointed to that position by Pastor R. M. Fjelstad and had served continuously as a deacon for over 25 years. In January, 1956, he ended his service as deacon and was elected as the president of the congregation. Dr. Jacobson will be presented with a framed citation and a lapel button denoting his award.

The speaker for the evening was the Rev. Nelson Preus, pastor of Olivet Lutheran church in Fargo. The emphasis of his talk was on leaving footprints, stating that we ought to be concerned what type of footprints we leave.

Bryant Ulseth told "The Bear Story," a humorous reading which was much enjoyed.

School Buses to Go to Tournament

300 Sign for Rides to G. Forks Next Monday

Fully 300 Lincoln high school students will leave on schools buses Monday at 1 p.m. for Grand Forks to see the Prowlers in action against Warren in the opening round of the District 31 basketball tourney in the ND 'U' field house.

All students planning to attend the game Monday afternoon have been instructed to use the buses and not drive private cars said F. Miles Nelson, principal.

The buses will return in the afternoon early enough to cover their rural routes at the usual hour, and then will go back to Grand Forks to pick up the students either before or after the evening games.

Transportation to Grand Forks also will be provided by the buses Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, said Nelson, adding that students may supply their own rides those nights if preferred.

Haarstad-Cirks, Vows Exchanged February 16

Wedding vows were spoken February 16 at 8 p.m. in the Bethesda Lutheran church of Newfolden by Miss Claudia Annette Haarstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Haarstad of Newfolden, and Dennis Dwaine Cirks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cirks of Ada. Bouquets of white gladioli and rose-colored feathered carnations graced the altar for the double ring ceremony which was performed by Pastor T. J. Weltzin in the presence of 175 guests.

The nuptial organ music was provided by Mrs. Lowell Hogberg of Argyle, friend of the bride, who also accompanied Glenn Anderson of Ada, soloist. He sang "O Perfect Love" preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown fashioned with a lace bodice, Queen Ann collar and long tapered sleeves which came to a point over the wrist. The bouffant skirt was of net over satin with lace inserts. She wore a fingertip veil of lace-edged silk illusion which was held in place by a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and hyacinths with white streamers. She wore pearl jewelry, gift from the groom.

Miss Claudette Haarstad of Newfolden served as her twin sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Donna Davidson of St. Paul. Their identical gowns were of cotillion blue lace and net over taffeta, with matching lace boleros and overskirts of ruffled net and lace inserts. They carried shower-type bouquets of deep pink roses and hyacinths. Flower girls were Jane Liedberg of Goodridge and Jane Malakowsky of East Grand Forks who were attired in dresses of blue crystalette. They carried white crocheted baskets containing white hyacinths and a single deep pink rose. Their pearl necklaces and bracelets were gifts from the bride.

Duane Hoven of Ada, friend of the bridegroom, and Karol Bergland also of Ada served as the gentlemen attendents. The groom and his attendents wore business suits with white carnation boutonnaires. Ring bearer was Bradley Field of Stephen.

Mrs. Haarstad chose a medium blue dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the groom wore a beige dress with black accessories. They both wore corsages of American Beauty roses and hyacinths.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony with 125 guests present. The four-tiered wedding cake which centered the bridal table was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Helen Lofthus of this city, and Mrs. Fred Cirks of Ada, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, cut the cake.

Mrs. Sophie Teigen of Oslo and Mrs. Gerald Malakowsky of East Grand Forks poured. Mrs. Larry Skolsky of Ada registered the guests and presiding over the gift table were Ivadelle Anderson of East Grand Forks and Eileen Swenson of St. Paul. Mrs. Otto Haarstad of Newfolden was in charge of the dining room, and the waitresses were Sharon Liedberg, Marlene Breng, Le Nel Knitter and Sylvia Braten. In charge of serving were Mrs. Helmer Lind, Mrs. Oscar Rokke, Mrs. Chester Gast and Mrs. Conrad Windall.

For their wedding trip to Fergus Falls, the bride chose a navy blue two-piece dress of butcher linen with white accessories. The couple are now at home at 322½ North LaBree.

The bride is a graduate of Newfolden high school and is presently employed at the S & L company. The groom is a graduate of Borup high school and is employed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company of this city.

Out-of-town guests were from Ada, Fargo, Grand Forks, Oslo, Argyle, Stephen, Casselton and Thief River Falls.

Offer Paid Training for Air Reservists

M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson, liaison non-commissioned officer of the 9749th Air Reserve squadron in Fargo announced Tuesday that all local and area Air Force reservists interested in enrolling in a specialized training course for reserve Airmen should contact officers of Flight E in Thief River Falls.

Hanson said he hoped that a course could be started here within the next month. Airmen enrolled in the course would get one day's pay for each training session attended, the amount depending on the individual Airman's rank, he said. The specialized training offers many other benefits in addition to pay, some of which are applicable in civilian affairs, he added.

To date, Hanson said, about 13 airmen attending general training sessions of Flight E are eligible for the course. Since it will take about a month to get the course approved by the 2035th Air Reserve center in Minneapolis, Hanson emphasized the need for haste on the part of reserve Airmen.

Including the month of March which will be taken up in getting the course started, only four months remain of the current semester, which ends June 30. In order for such a specialized class to get in the regulation 12 meetings for the semester the course could not be started later than the first week in April.

The course is open to all Airmen in the grade of Airman/1st Class or higher and the pay should run approximately — $20 to $30 — for an average month's attendance in the first two grades for the remainder of this semester.

Hanson also emphasized that opportunities to enroll in such a paid reserve training course are limited so that interested reserve Airmen should contact members of the local unit immediately.

Those interested in enrolling in the course may contact V. M. Draper, Flight E commander; Earl Kolden, Ralph W. Hauswirth, Richard L. Evans or Donald DeLage.

Only men with prior Air Force service are eligible to join the specialized training course or any Air Reserve unit.

Youth Sunday Set For March 3d in Newfolden Parish

Sunday, March 3rd, will be observed as Youth Sunday in the Newfolden Lutheran Parish. Services will be held at Middle River at 9:30, Bethlehem at 11:00, Bethania at 2:30 and Westaker at 8:00.

The messages and songs will be centered around the theme, "My Father's Business" as it relates to the home, local community and the world. Three leaguers will speak at each service. They are: Keith Dyrud, Kathryn Moen, Beverly Bakke, Earl Waterworth, Lloyd Bakke, MonaRae Moe, JoAnn Klopp, Bill Haugen, Irene Julin, Darlene Bjorgaard, Carol Martin & Myrtle Bagaas.

There will be special music at all services including the junior choir under the direction of Mrs. Alton Carlson.

At each service the president of the host Luther League will give a greeting. They are Marian Moen, Mona Rae Moe, Sandra Brekkestran and Earlene Anderson acting in the absence of LeRoy Knutson.

Only 1 Automobile Accident in Area

Local law enforcement agencies chalked up another quiet week in the city and on local highways, despite adverse driving conditions, generally, thruout Pennington county. Paved roads were particularly treacherous due to snow drifted and packed in spots on highways.

City police reported only one accident, a hit-run affair which resulted in about $50 damages to a car owned by Kenneth Laliberte. Laliberte's car was parked diagonally on W. 2nd st. between Main av. and the alley behind the Red Owl parking lot when someone raked it along the right side. Laliberte's car had a badly damaged right front door. He said the car that hit him left light green paint marks on his car.

Captain Walter Anderson of the highway patrol said no accidents have occurred in the immediate area or in the 8th district as a whole. He complimented area drivers for their lack of accidents under adverse driving conditions in the area.

No accidents were reported on rural roads by the sheriff's office.

ST JOHN'S OPENS LENTEN SERVICES MARCH 6TH

Special mid-week Lenten services will be conducted in St. John's Lutheran Church beginning Ash Wednesday, March 6. The sermons will be on the general theme: "Christ Loved Me And Gave Himself For Me." The junior and senior choirs will render special Lenten music.

Glencoe Man Given Top Young Farmer Award for State

Harveydale Maruska of Warren Given 2d Place; Harry Oen Local Entrant

LeRoy Donnay, 30, Glencoe, Minn., Tuesday was named Minnesota's outstanding young farmer.

The award is made annually by the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce and was presented at a state-wide dinner at Austin.

Harveydale Maruska, Warren, was second and Wendell Roberts, Jackson, Minn., third in the competition.

Representing the Thief River Falls community in the competition was Harry Oen, recently chosen by the local Jaycee chapter as the outstanding young farmer of this area. Oen attended the award dinner in company with N. H. Kortuem.

The top award winner will be Minnesota's candidate for the National Jaycee outstanding young farmer award.

Donnay took over management of the family farm in McLeod county 10 years ago when his father quit farming because of ill health.

He farms 400 acres and has a herd of 105 registered Holstein cattle. Since taking over the farm, he has doubled the value by clearing and improving the land and now has an enterprise worth some $100,000. He also increased the butterfat average of the Holstein herd from 300 to 400 pounds a year.

Air Reserve Unit to Meet Monday

Meeting Night Changed to Eliminate Conflict

Thief River Falls' Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve squadron, will hold weekly meetings Mondays instead of Tuesdays in the future, it was announced here today. The change is effective as of March 4.

Members of the newly organized Air Reserve unit are asked to keep meeting nights open in the future since it is highly important that maximum attendance be had at each meeting. The reason for the switch in meeting nights was to accommodate those members who have night school classes or work Tuesday nights, according to 1st Lt. V. M. Draper, unit commander.

Several interested persons in addition to members attended the meeting held Tuesday evening. However, poor attendance on the part of members, because of classes or work, led to the immediate change in meeting nights.

M/Sgt. Verne B. Hanson delivered orientation talks on reserve retirement benefits and new legislation affecting reservists now and in the future.

Supt. of Parks at 'U' M. Institute

Oscar T. Bakke Attended 4-day Training Session

Oscar T. Bakke, superintendent of parks in Thief River Falls, attended a University of Minnesota institute called "Vista Vision for Leisure Time" Sunday through Wednesday.

This fourth annual training institute, presented by the University and the Mid-continent regional park and recreation conference, consisted of discussions, exhibits and films.

Discussion topics include leisure time and a well-balanced personality, labor's viewpoints on leisure time, city planing for future leisure-time needs and future trends in municipal golf.

Persons engaged in the development, maintenance and programming of parks and recreational areas attended the institute.

Plans Progress for Convention Here

Plans for the Ninth District American Legion convention, to be held here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 31 through June 2, were discussed at an organization meeting held at the club rooms Wednesday night. The meeting was conducted by co-chairmen Harlan Elseth and Wallace Jordet.

Several committees were authorized and the following chairmen named: registration, Morris Howick; housing, M. R. Levorsen; advertising, Wendel Olson; decorations, Kenneth Baldin; special events, Richard LeMoine; parade, Alvin Anderson; memorial, Harold M. Johnson; program, Bob Bredeson, and finance, Martin Gulbranson and George Werstlein.

Mayor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, one of the primary responsibilities of the American Red Cross, as a quasi-governmental agency, is the relief of human need resulting from non-enemy-caused disaster; and,

WHEREAS, the Red Cross has long served as the nation-wide agency through which the American people voluntarily extend assistance to individuals and disaster-caused needs, beyond their own resources; and,

WHEREAS, the Red Cross is at all times prepared to give aid during an emergency, now therefore, I, Dr. O. D. Beich, as Mayor of Thief River Falls, hereby officially designate the month of March as the Red Cross campaign period in accordance with the approved federal fund-raising policy and program which specifically provides a separate solicitation period for the American National Red Cross.

I urge all our citizens to extend their full cooperation to the Red Cross. All agencies both public and private, are requested to extend their full support.

Signed: Dr. ORION D. BEICH, Mayor

Monday Quiet in Municipal Court

Only Two Face Charges; Three Forfeit Bonds

It was a quiet day in court Monday as only two traffic law violators came before Judge H. O. Chommie, both of whom pleaded guilty and were fined.

The only highway patrol case recorded in the past week was that of Robert Lee Lorentz, Superior, Wis. who forfeited $75 bond after being arrested for speeding 95 m.p.m. at night.

City police brought Sydney F. Bonimi, Roseau, before Judge Chommie for running a stop sign. Bonimi was fined $5 after he pleaded guilty.

Another stop-sign violator, Myles W. Hanson, Minneapolis forfeited $10 bond.

Charles A. Gram, Fargo, N. D. forfeited $15 bond for throwing refuse on a city street.

Duane A. Hanson, city, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $35 plus $4 costs.

No cases were brought before the court by Sheriff Charles Richards.

House Passes Bill

The house gave final passage, 70 to 53, Tuesday to a bill to make county superintendents of schools appointive instead of elective.

Opponents of the bill made an unsuccessful, last-ditch effort to defeat the perennial proposal to take superintendents off the ballot.

The bill provides for setting up advisory boards of school district chairmen to submit lists of three names to their respective county boards. From the lists the boards will appoint the superintendents.

Two or more counties may hire one superintendent to supervise all their rural schools.

Prof. John Dahlin Speaks This Week

Minneapolis Man Will Conclude Series Sunday

PROFESSOR DAHLIN

Proffessor John E. Dahlin, Minneapolis, teacher at Northwestern college, concludes next Sunday the current series of messages in the Mission Covenant church, stated L. W. Lindholm, pastor, who said the meetings are open to the public.

Mr. Lindholm said that Saturday and Sunday night meetings are held in the Evangelical Free church, 3rd and Kendall, On Saturday night, Professor Dahlin speaks on the message, "Europe and Bible Lands in the Light of Prophecy," which is a message, illustrated by views the speaker took while on a tour of Palestine. The final message Sunday night is entitled, "After the Millennium—What?"

Professor Dahlin's message Sunday morning, is on "Millennial Glory Following Christ's Revelation." Tonight (Thursday) and tomorrow, Friday night, he speaks, respectively, on, "The Jewish Situation and the End-Times, and, "Spiritual Apostasy of the Latter Days." Services except Saturday and Sunday nights, are held in the Mission Covenant church which congregation sponsors Professor Dahlin in this prophetic conference. Week night meetings, said Pastor Lindholm, are 8 o'clock. Sunday services are 11 o'clock A. M., and 7:45 p.m.

Rites Conducted Friday For Mrs. John Whitman

Mrs. John N. Whitman died suddenly at the home of her son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Meyer Friday evening, February 22, at the age of 84 years. Sevrices were held Wednesday afternoon, February 27, at 2:00 p.m. in the Community Methodist Church with Rev. E. C. Mead officiating. Interment was made at the Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Whitman was born in Wabasha county, near Lake City, Minnesota on May 9, 1872. On April 1, 1882 she moved to Excel Township, Marshall county and attended schools in District No. 17 and grew to womanhood there. She taught school at both Holt and Middle River for several years and also taught one year at the Steinhauer district No. 20.

She was united in marriage to John N. Whitman November 16, 1895 after which they resided on a farm in Excel township. Mr. Whitman died in June, 1938, and she remained on the farm until 1946 when she moved to Thief River Falls where she resided until her death. She was a member of the Community Methodist church for over 60 years and had been active in all church functions.

She is survived by one daughter, (Amy) Mrs. L. A. Meyer of Thief River Falls; one brother, Willis Warring of Thief River Falls; five grandchildren, Mrs. Bert Kron of Rosewood, Mrs. Alton A. Nelson of Thief River Falls, Mrs. William P. Glatfolter of Denver, Colorado, Mrs. Curtis L. Berg of Goodhue, Minnesota and Frederic D. Meyer of Hallock; nine great grandchildren and two nieces.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, two brothers and one grandson.

St. Hilaire Man Inducted in Army

The local selective service board announced that Bernan Johnson of St. Hilaire was inducted into the U. S. Army February 21, and is now undergoing training at Fort Chaffee, Ark. Orders have been received by the board to supply one man for induction March 19 and seven men for pre-induction physical examinations the same day.

Grain

Many of you will be cleaning and trading seed at this time of the year.

If you treat your own grain seed with mercury dust, better wear a face, nose and mouth mask, since mercury dust is highly poisonous. Even a slight vapor can make you sick.

Even bags containing treated grain can cause trouble, so wear gloves and keep your hands away from your face when you handle them.

Whenever you use any poison be sure you read the label telling about the dangers involved. Use all the protective clothing necessary. Know what the antidotes are and have first aid treatment readily available. Whenever using any chemical or poison, always follow the instructions to the letter.

Chemicals should never be stored in any container except original. Dispose of all empty containers and keep unused portions where children can't reach them.

When cleaning grain, prevent accumulations of dust. It is highly explosive and can cause fire. Be careful around ladders and bins. Use only strong ladders, well braced and anchored.

Buying certified seed of improved varieties is an inexpensive way to insure good alfalfa and forage production. There's a good supply of certified Ranger and a limited supply of Vernal seed—both recommended varieties— for 1957 seeding.

Rodents

Every rat on a Minnesota farm ruins more than "10 worth of grain and feed annually, and in the nation as a whole, rats and mice destroy as much grain as 200,000 farmers can produce.

Get rid of the food, water and shelter places that rodents depend on and you'll go a long way in solving the problem.

Second use a poison. The new anti-coagulant poisons, such as warfarin, pival or fumarin, are proving very effective. All three poisons are effective rodent killers when used according to directions.

Don't skimp on bait. It usually takes 7 to 9 pounds of prepared bait to control rats and mice on one farm. Put the bait where rodents usually eat—hog house, barn, poultry house, or corn crib.

It helps to put permanent bait stations near runways. Bait stations can be a box or board over the bait, with an opening big enough for only rats or mice to enter. Keep the station supplied with fresh bait. Anti-coagulant baits must be eaten by rodents for five to ten days to be effective.

If "die hard" rats survive after a few weeks of baiting, try switching to a new bait or poison or use traps.

Rat and mouse control is no "one-shot" job. Keep the bait stations and traps working the year around.

For more information on rodent control, check with your county agricultural agent.

Safety

Your "chore route" is full of danger spots. Have you ever hurt yourself at chore time? My guess is, you have.

An accidental injury is more than painful. Cuts, bruises, broken bones cost valuable working time and money. That means that careful chore work literally "makes cents".

Here is some advice for avoiding expensive accidents this winter.

There's no such thing as a tame bull, boar, ram or stallion. Be on guard around any of them. An animal can be tame for years, and for no reason at all, suddenly turn into a charging killer.

If you must work in the pen with a sow or boar, use a hurdle, gate or metal basket as a protective device.

Keep small children away from all farm animals. Your dairy cows may ordinarily be good-natured, but a cow that had a calf recently is apt to chase a child much more readily than she would an adult.

Don't bend your back when you lift a feed sack or other heavy load. Keep your back straight and lift your legs. One back injury from improper lifting can bother you for life.

Make sure you have clean, dry footing whenever you walk. Keep paths clear of ice and snow.

Use plenty of care around stacks of hay bales. Every year, several Minnesota people are killed by falling bales.

If you're chopping ice, careful how you use the axe. It can glance and severely cut your foot.

Don't "warm up" the truck, tractor or automobile inside a closed garage. Exhaust from an engine running in a closed building can quickly kill everybody inside by carbon monoxide poisoning. You can't see, smell or taste that gas, and you can't "take it" either.

Egg prices are still low, and if you have room in your freezer, why not freeze some.

How To Freeze Eggs

Freeze only fresh, good-quality eggs. Egg whites may be placed directly into containers for freezing. Egg yolks, however, may be tough and cheesy when thawed after freezing unless salt, sugar or corn syrup is added.

Here are some tips on freezing egg yolks and whole eggs from M. G. Swanson, assistant professor of poultry husbandry at the University of Minnesota: Break yolks with a fork, stirring lightly. Add ½ teaspoon sugar or corn syrup for each yolk or whole egg or 1 teaspoon salt per cup of yolks: One cup equals 4 whole eggs or 12 yolks.

Glass jars or waxed cartons are suitable containers for freezing eggs. Label each container with date, number of eggs and amount of sugar or salt added. Whole eggs may be mixed according to the directions given, frozen separately in paper baking cups and then stored in a plastic bag.

Use the thawed eggs promptly after thawing. In using the thawed eggs, it may be helpful to keep in mind that one whole egg equals 3 tablespoons, one egg white equals 2 tablespoons and one yolk equals 1½ tablespoons.

Have You Talked Over . . .

—Coming to Farm Forum March 7 with your husband? I hope that you have, and that you are both planning to come. We want to be well-informed on government programs and policies because these programs have a real effect on our way of living.

—Sometimes we get carried away by thinking only about new recipes and we forget about what really lies ahead for us. Maybe now is the best time just to learn what government programs are, and how they will be affecting us as consumers. We really owe it to ourselves to get an unbiased viewpoint on these programs, so we can make up our own minds about them.

What's going on at Farm Forum? You'll see a movie telling of the outlook for families for the coming year, on prices, etc. This will interest you whether you live in town or on the farm. Three men will speak—Luther Pickerl and Harold Pederson, both economists at the University of Minnesota Extension Service, and Reynold Dahl, Agriculture Economist at the University too. In the afternoon, we're going to have a panel made up of local men and women, folks you know, who will ask questions of each other and answer your questions too.

The Pennington County 4-H Leaders Council will be serving a tasty noon lunch at low cost, and there will be door prizes too.

So plan to come to the Eastern Marshall- Pennington- Red Lake Counties Farm Forum at the Thief River Falls Armory on March 7.

You tell your husband you'll be right along with him that day. We'll be glad to see you both.

PUBLIC OPINION

Hot Springs, Arkansas

Editor the Times:

We have had a lovely month of February here in Hot Springs, mostly sunny and warm; up to 70. Horse racing starts Saturday — they have about 1,000 race horses here from all over the country. Crowds at the races are not as large as in the past, due to closing down on gambling.

This town is a beautiful spot, lying between three mountain peaks. Dogwood and redbud trees are starting to bloom. They have 47 hot springs here in a radius of 20 acres, containing different types of health minerals. People from all over the world come here to rest, relax and bathe. There are 16 privately owned bath houses controlled by the U. S. government.

The largest fish hatchery in the world is located here, and as fish are planted continually this is becoming a fisherman's paradise.

A. B. Almstadt, former Soo Line conductor in TRF, and Mrs. Almstadt have bought a home here. We are staying with the V. C. Nopers in their apartment house. Minnesota is well represented here, so we haven't had a chance to get lonesome, but we will be glad to get back there in the spring.

AIRPORT NEWS

Phillip Hongard of Strandquist, started out our busy week by leaving the T-Craft here for the Mechanic to re-license.

Tuesday, the 19th, was a busy day for fox hunters as well as for fellows flying cross-country. L. Wichterman and Harvey Pelaque of Plummer were doing some of the fox hunting in a Champ, as were Hank Sklorski and John Pulezinski of Greenbush, in Hank's J-3. Those going on cross-country trips were Bernie Nundahl of Perham, in a PA-12 and H. Worcester of Minneapolis flew up here in his Cessna 182 to pick up H. Chandler of Warren. They returned to Minneapolis that afternoon.

Our only visitors by air on Wednesday were from Fergus Falls in a Super Cub, they were: Tom Van Meter, Palmer Wething and Stanley Hagen.

The 21st, Don Parker of Parker Motors, Karlstad, flew over in the Ercoupe for auto parts, and continued on to Grand Forks from here. Also on Thursday, Orin Refling, Fertile, and his passenger from Winger, Hiram Christianson, flew over in the Fertile Champ.

Bud Johnson stopped in here on his usual pipeline patrol and with him was Capt. R. L. Willoughby of W-PAFB at Dayton, Ohio. They were flying a Cessna 170.

L. Wichterman and Harvey Pelaque were out fox hunting again on Saturday and they reported good hunting their last trip.

Sunday, we had the Karlstad fellows as guests. Junior Peterson and Miles Wermager arrived in the PA-11. Basil Celany came in the T-Craft. While here, Junior flew his Stinson and Basil took Bert Trane's Ercoupe up, both planes have been hangared here for the winter.

Jack Grahn, flew the Roseau Flying Club T-Craft over on Monday and left it tied down here. Tony Burkle and Felix Wielebski, Greenbush, were Airport visitors on Monday, also.

Martin Rantanen and Joe Kiel drove down to the Cities last Tuesday the 19th to pick up the Super Cub Martin purchased there. Joe arrived back here with it on the 21st.

Wm. Dixon became a member of the Falls Flying Club last week and began instructions under Martin Rantenan.

4-H'er of the WEEK

JoAnn Johnson, Kratka

JoAnn Johnson of the Kratka 4-H club has been blessed with a love for music and a beautiful soprano voice. She and her accompianist, Stanley Olson, who were first place winners in the county music contest last year, performed at several banquets and meetings, and showed how 4-H'ers are talented in music as well as in homemaking.

JoAnn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Johnson who farm in Mayfield township. Her younger brother, Roger, is also a member of the Kratka club.

Active in Lincoln high school, JoAnn is a soloist in the mixed chorus, and sang a solo in the Christmas Story, presented by the music department of the high school. She is organist of her church and also teaches Sunday School.

When asked how 4-H has helped her, JoAnn said, "4-H has helped me in more than one way. I have learned to be more dependable, take on more responsibilities, to do my own work and when I start a job, to finish it also. In my years in 4-H work I have met many new people, so 4-H has helped me to meet new friends, and to work and get along with other people.

"Some of the projects I have taken have helped me quite a bit. In clothing, I have been learning to make my own clothes and to model them as well. I have been doing a lot of the housekeeping and have been learning more about cooking.

"Not only the projects that I have been taking, but the extra activities have been very interesting to participate in. I have had the experience of speaking over the radio, taking part in plays, the music contest, and better grooming. Also I have had the experience of writing a speech for the 4-H radio speaking contest.

"4-H offers a chance for competition, and can help you in youth for later life. I like 4-H a lot."

After she graduates from Lincoln High school this spring, she plans to enroll in a business college in the Twin Cities and then become a private secretary.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

You don't suppose . . . gosh, it couldn't . . . gee, we hope we don't . . . have another spring such as we had last year! Of course it's too early to tell right now but seems to us we've been having some pretty nice weather, of late, for this time of year. However if we're going to have an early spring such as the forecasts call for we'll have to have more of it—and soon!

Do you suppose there's anything to the rumor there are thousands of wild ducks around Sioux City, Ia.? We've heard they're that far already on their northward migration but find it hard to believe at this time of year.

It takes some trouble, sometimes, before one finds how considerate folks can be these days. We've all heard of Southern hospitality but take it from us, the folks down south aren't a bit more hospitable than most folks you'll find in these parts.

For instance, . . last Thursday after the Times was off the press we headed for Viking and Newfolden to take care of a few news-gathering matters in those towns, as we often do in surrounding towns.

About five miles east of Viking the trouble started. Our heater started blowing cold air and the heat gauge showed the engine to be boiling hot so we stopped before doing any damage.

We hadn't much more than stopped than another car stopped beside us there on the Steiner road and the man driving offered a helping hand, although there was little he could do so drove on.

After the engine cooled somewhat we drove into a nearby farm but nobody was home and by this time the engine was hotter than ever before so we had to cut it off again while we gave this quandary some thought.

Well, to make a long story short, we took a chance on finding a farm nearby and drove on with the intention of stopping at the first inhabited place, which we did, before the engine was damaged by overheating.

This was the Percy Hagen turkey farm, where we were very graciously [illegible] Percy not only took us into town to get the necessary replacement part for the cooling system and anti-freeze but had his wife serve hot coffee and cake after we made the repairs, and was otherwise helpful, too.

All in all, while we didn't accomplish what we set out to do we feel the afternoon wasn't wasted. We met some very nice people (including Frank Hanson in Viking who was most helpful in telling us how to make the repairs) and also have some good feature material on the turkey business, which we intend to use at a later date.

As we were saying before, no one part of the country has a monopoly on hospitality!

Valentine Day was two weeks ago but the memories linger on . . . In Orvis Olen's case there's some suspicion that one valentine he got that day wasn't from some pretty little thing, after all. The rumor is that one or two other fellas also got hearts and flowers from the same prankster.

It isn't such a bad old world after all when you have neighbors who'll pitch in and help a burned out family get on their feet again. The George Ericksons in Wyandotte township will be in a house of their own again very shortly, all because their neighbors got together to give the Erickson's a helping hand. Furthermore, one of those houses on the St. John's Lutheran church building site will be put to a very good use when George gets it on his farm.

You have to give George a lot of credit, too. He came here from East Grand Forks without any farming experience a few years ago, started building up a herd and is an otherwise ambitious farmer who wouldn't let a burn-out discourage him from staying on the farm.

We need more people like George and his good neighbors in this old world!

Well — another Thursday, another column . . this one was supposed to have come out Monday but was squeezed out. That has its compensations tho — all we had to do was add a line here and there and we had our Thursday piece ready. It's miraculous how events seem to work out to keep our chatter timely. So long!

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Dec. 10, 1956

A regular meeting of the School Board of Joint Independent Consolidated School District Number 18 of Pennington and Marshall Counties, Minnesota, was duly held in the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the City of Thief River Falls in said school district of December 10, 1956 at 7:30 p.m.

The following members were present: Milton D. Starskow, Elmer Bratsch, William Thompson, R. Eidevik, and Lloyd Howick. Supt. Sater was also in attendance.

In the absence of the regular clerk the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were dispensed with.

Bids were opened for the sale of $400,000 in bonds. The resolutions adopted were those that are included in the minutes of the November 12, 1956 meeting.

The matter of requests from union officials representing local maintenance workers was discussed in detail. The board decided to accede to the request from Mr. Arneson, secretary-treasurer of Municipal Drivers and Helpers Union, Local No. 864, that he be granted a hearing at the January 14, 1957 meeting.

Motion was made by Bratsch and seconded by Howick that the board authorize payment of $700.00 to the local Carnegie Public Library. Motion was carried.

Motion was made by Howick and seconded by Thompson that the board accept change order H-2 from Swanson and Wegleitner, architects, for the construction of an incinerator in the Lincoln School. Motion was carried.

The following insurance allocations were authorized:

Dahlen Agency	$ 41,600
Embury Agency	10,000
Gibson Agency	10,000
Drotts Agency	20,050
Vorachek Agency	80,150
Wessling Agency	35,300

Mr. Pope, director of the area vocational school was granted a hearing on his qualifications in regard to his present position.

Mr. Sater was authorized to proceed with the acquisition of the Bob Bell property west of the new Washington School.

On motion by Eidevik and second by Bratsch the bills were allowed.

There being no further business to come before the board, the motion was made, seconded and carried to adjourn.

Arnold Pearson, Clerk

Jan. 14, 1957

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Ind. Joint Consolidated District No. 18 was held at the Bee Cafe at 6:30 p.m., on January 14, 1957.

Members present were: Starskow, Thompson, Howick, Eidevik, Bratsch and Pearson, Supt. Sater [illegible].

Meeting was called to order by President Starskow. Motion was duly made, seconded and carried to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the last meeting.

Mr. Karl A. Arneson, Secretary-Treasurer, [illegible] Representative and Mr. David Morris, Organizer, of Minn. Drivers & Helpers Local Union No. 864 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters were present to discuss their requests as outlined in communication of October 15, 1956, in behalf of school custodians, mechanics and bus drivers. After hearing the oral presentations Mr. Arneson and Mr. Morris retired from the meeting. A general discussion among board members then ensued, following which Mr. Arneson and Mr. Morris were invited to return to the meeting. Supt. Sater then informed Mr. Arneson and Mr. Morris, in behalf of the board, that we recognized at this time the fact that the employees in question were required to work too many hours a week; that to remedy this situation the work-week of such employees would be, as of 2-1-57, established at 44 hours per week, plus time and one-half for overtime, with the hourly wage to be established upon the basis of employee's present wage rate and a 44 hour week. Mr. Sater also informed Mr. Arneson and Mr. Morris, in behalf of the board, that consideration of their further requests would be deferred until the April, 1957 meeting at which time wages and salaries of all employees of the district are annually considered by the board. Mr. Morris also presented for consideration the matter of several alleged grievances on the part of employees. The board requested that this matter be referred to Mr. Sater for investigation, consideration and report to the board. The board was also informed that all of the maintenance employees, with the exception of one employee who will shortly retire, and with the exception of Mr. Erickson, were members of the union. Mr. Morris further stated that Don D. Olson of Thief River Falls is local union steward and that Mr. Claire Carlson of Thief River Falls is the union grievance representative. We were also referred to the provisions of Chap. 110, Laws of Minn. 1951, as the statutory authority governing procedures where public employees are concerned.

The request of the City of Thief River Falls for an increase in the rental paid by the school district for the use of the arena for school purposes was discussed at some length. Recognizing that the one and two hundred dollars per year paid in the past, up until last year, was very inadequate, motion was made by Pearson, seconded by Eidevik that the Arena rental be fixed at $1,300.00 per year. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion was made by Bratsch, seconded by Thompson, that Supt. Sater investigate the desirability and feasibility of obtaining bids for the clearing and grubbing of the newly acquired east side school site. Motion carried unanimously.

Supt. Sater gave us a brief report in re: Junior College. He was requested to continue his study and observation of this matter.

The monthly report of the Area Vocational-Technical School was presented and placed on file.

Motion was duly made, seconded and carried to pay bills as approved by the Auditing Committee.

Motion was duly made, seconded and carried to adjourn.

Arnold Pearson, Clerk

On the Job!

Red Cross training in life-saving and first aid enabled Dore Ornstein of Passaic, N. J., to rescue two 8-year-old boys from the Passaic River last winter. He threw a rope to where they were struggling in the water, pulled them to safety, then gave them first aid care for exposure and shock. Our contribution to the Red Cross helps to support its free Safety Instruction program. JOIN AND SERVE!

ORDINANCE NO. 210

An Ordinance To Provide Sick Leave Benefits, Vacation Allowances, Overtime and Related Rights and Benefits for the Employees of the City of Thief River Falls Repealing Ordinances No. 241, 261 and 200.

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls do hereby ordain as follows:

Section 1. APPLICATION: This ordinance shall apply to regular full time employees of the City of Thief River Falls, hereinafter called the City. It does not apply to elective officials or members of boards and commissions.

Section 2. SICK LEAVE: Sick leave with pay shall be granted in case of the illness of employees. The Superintendent or head of a department shall have authority to grant sick leave up to a total of three days at his sole discretion but any sick leave in excess of such period can not be granted by such Superintendent or head of department unless it has been certified to him by a qualified physician that the employee will be unable to perform his regular duties. Sick leave benefits shall be accumulated at the rate of one day per month up to a total of 120 days; provided, however, that until an employee has accumulated sick leave under the provisions of this ordinance up to or exceeding that which he has accumulated under Ordinance No. 241 hereby repealed he shall receive sick leave benefits accrued under such ordinance prior to the time of repeal thereof.

Section 3. VACATIONS: Vacation leave shall be granted to city employees as follows:

Subd. 1. During the first ten years of employment city employees shall accrue vacation benefits with full pay at the rate of ten working days (2 full weeks) per year; for all years after the tenth year of employment city employees shall accrue vacation benefits with full pay at the rate of fifteen working days (3 full weeks) per year, the employee must take such vacation in the ensuing year after accrued vacation time can not be accumulated in excess of that accrued during one year. Vacations shall be taken at such times as the head of the department shall designate subject to the direction and control of the City Council. Vacations shall be taken in not less than one week at any one time.

Subd. 2. When a holiday as hereinafter defined occurs during the vacation period of any employee, his vacation period may be extended for an additional day or he may be granted a day off at a subsequent time as determined by the employee's Superintendent or head of department.

Section 4. UNION DUES DEDUCTION: Upon receipt of written authorization from a city employee and so long as such authorization is not revoked by such employee the City Clerk shall deduct all Union dues, initiation fees or assessments as so authorized and forward the same directly to such Union.

Section 5. SEVERANCE PAY: In case of discharge of an employee for reasons other than his misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance in performance of his duties he shall receive severance pay, amounting to one-third of his accumulated sick leave.

Section 6. DEATH IN FAMILY: In case of the death of the mother, father, sister, brother, wife, husband, [illegible] the employee shall be granted leave with full pay for the absence necessitated thereby up to a maximum of three working days.

Section 7. POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENT UNIFORMS AND EQUIPMENT: All necessary uniforms and equipment worn or used by employees of the fire department and police department of the city shall be furnished and maintained by the city. No article of clothing or equipment shall be worn or used by any employee except when he is in the performance of his designated duties for the city.

Section 8. OVERTIME: The normal hourly work week shall be forty hours for all city departments except the fire department, the City Clerk's office and the auditorium janitors, the normal hourly work-week of the City Clerk's office shall be thirty-five hours per week and the normal hourly work week for the fire department and the auditorium janitors shall be forty-eight hours per week. Overtime at the rate of one and one-half times the normal hourly rate shall be paid to all employees for work performed in excess of eight hours per day or their normal hourly work week.

Section 9. HOLIDAYS AND SUNDAYS: No work shall be performed by city employees on Sunday or on those eleven holidays as designated by M. S. A. 645.44 subject to the following exceptions and qualifications:

Subd. 1. Shift workers in the electrical power generating plant, the water treatment plant, the police department and the fire department of the city, shall because of necessity, be required to work their regular shifts on Sundays or holidays but shall receive in lieu thereof eleven days of time off during the subsequent year in addition to their vacation benefits at such times as may be designated by the Superintendents or heads of the various departments.

Subd. 2. If New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day or Christmas Day shall fall upon a Sunday then the following day shall be considered the holiday.

Subd. 3. Municipal Liquor Store employees shall receive the following holidays with pay: New Year's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day and in addition thereto they shall receive full pay for all election days when the law requires that the Municipal Liquor Store remain closed.

Subd. 4. When, because of necessity, employees of the city other than the shift workers mentioned in Subd. 1 of this Section are required to work on Sundays or on a holiday they shall receive as compensation for such work double the normal hourly rate in lieu of their regular compensation.

Section 10. Overtime and holiday pay provisions as specified in the two preceding sections shall not apply to Superintendents or heads of departments who shall be required to perform such additional hours of work at such times as are necessary to keep their respective departments operating in an efficient condition.

Section 11. The electrical power distribution department shall have one man standing by on each Sunday and on each holiday and he shall be prepared and available to furnish whatever emergency electrical service that is necessary. If not called out he shall receive pay at his regular hourly rate for two hours. If called out he shall receive compensation at double the regular hourly rate for actual time expended in addition to his standby compensation.

Section 12. ORDINANCES REPEALED: Ordinances No. 241, 261 and 200 are hereby expressly repealed.

Section 13. EFFECTIVE DATE: This ordinance shall be in effect from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Prowlers to Compete in District Tourney at ND 'U' Next Monday

Coach Al Adams basketball Prowlers will be carrying a seasons' record of eleven wins and eight losses, and a "seeding" as the tournament's number two team, as they play the Warren Ponies in a 31st district tourney first round game at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, March 4th. The district tournament will be played on the spacious court of the fieldhouse on the campus of North Dakota University at Grand Forks.

Other first round games on Monday will find at 4:00 p.m., the Climax Vikings, rated the district's number three team, meeting either Red Lake Falls or Plummer. At 7:30 p.m., coach Al Dreen's defending champion Crookston Pirates, "seeded" as the tourney's number one team, will play either Goodridge or Fisher. The first round will be completed by a 9:00 p.m. game between the East Grand Forks Green Wave and Plummer or Red Lake Falls.

The semi-finals will be played on Tuesday night; with the district championship finals being scheduled for Wednesday night. Coach Adams, and his assistant Joe Mrkonich, have been sending the Prowlers through intensive practice drills. Four of coach Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team sophomores—Mickey Hanson, Gerry Landowski, Lynn Nicholson and Harlie Drees—have been "brought up" to the varsity squad for this week's practice, and it's probable that a couple of these boys will "make" the tournament squad.

TRF Curlers Meet Canadian Club in Arena Saturday

All members of the local curling club are urged to be present at the city arena Saturday at 2 p.m. when the Thief River Falls rinks meet the Ft. Rouge, Manitoba, Canada Legion Curling club in a one-day match, according to Russ Embury, president of the local curling club.

Embury said he hoped a large turnout would be on hand for the match and that it would be important that local curlers be at the arena at 2 p. m. sharp as this is strictly a one-day event.

Goodridge Team Compiles Good Season Record

The Goodridge basketball team had one of its best years in 1957, making an impressive record against tough competition in the Polar loop. The team won consolation honors at the sub-district tournament held this week in Fisher by downing Fisher Wednesday by a score of 61-43.

The team goes against Crookston Monday at the district tournament to be held at the North Dakota University fieldhouse next week.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

That Time Again

The most hectic time of the high school athletic year has arrived, meaning, of course, that it's district and regional basketball time again.

The 31st District will open tournament play on Monday afternoon, March 4th, at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse floor at Grand Forks.

On the season's play, it appears that the Crookston Pirates, the Thief River Falls Prowlers, and the Climax Vikings are entitled to be rated as district favorites. But it's not beyond the realm of possibility that one of the "field" teams, from the remaining five entries, will win the championship, [illegible] so evenly is the district balanced this season. There's not a standout in the pack.

We've just about come to the conclusion that the local Prowlers are more effective when they resort to a deliberate and ball-control type of play. And we arrived at that conclusion as a result of that Prowlers vs. Grand Forks Redskins game here last Wednesday night. The Prowlers won that game on the floor, outscoring the Redskins on field goals, 15 to 14, but they lost the game via the free throw line.

The game, in our eyes, was a throwback to the style of play in the 1920's and 30's, with the score being 8 to 7 for the Prowlers in the first period, and 14 to 13 for Grand Forks at the half. While that style of ball doesn't produce much excitement for the fans, the Prowlers play much better as a ball-control team than they do when they try to "run." The Prowlers, with their height advantage, can "high-score" a poor club, but when they try to outspeed a team such as the Bemidji Lumberjacks, they commit too many errors.

Sorry You Missed It

We're talking about the "hockey" game that was played at the Arena on Sunday night between the Firemen and the Bartenders. Hockey won't be the same game after that exhibition. Have a look at the lineups: for the Firemen, they had Paul Bedard in the nets; Tommy Fuller, Einar Barstad and Olaf Dahlen on defense; Wendy Olson, Bob Carlson, Duane Noel, Al Lafrenz, Freeman Lanska, and Frenchy Cloutier, forwards. Against this aggregation, the Bartenders lined up with Don Houfek in goal; Wayne Leverson and Pat Casey on defense; and Jack McGill, Gus Ferrier, Bill McAnnany, Vere Terway, Russell Lane and Clarence Amiot as forwards.

The official score of the game was 5 to 4 for the Firemen, and as a result they have a valid claim to the city's industrial hockey championship. Bedard, playing at goal for the Firemen, turned in a "believe it or not" performance by scoring four of the five goals for the firemen. It was quite a sight to see Paul, pads and all, stickhandling down the ice and then flipping the puck into the net.

The one disappointment of the evening was the failure of Fire Chief Roy (Strong Ankles) Langevin to put in an appearance and take a couple of turns around the rink. Several times the crowd set up a chant "We want Langevin. We want Langevin," but the Chief did not appear. It's probably though that Roy, on the advice of the old-age assistance supervisor, decided that the hazards of center-ice checking would be too great for a man in his age-category, and for a fellow troubled by "tired blood."

Oh yes, Lawrence (Turk) Blockman coached the winning Firemen.

It's All Settled

Said the V.F.W.'s Norm Wenberg, "Yes, I can assure you that we, the Vets, will win the Tuesday night Business League bowling championship. The Elks Club team will be down amongst the also-rans."

And Roy Jorgenson added emphasis to Norm's positive statement by a nod of the head and "Norm said nothing but the truth. Now that Streamline Olson, with his irksome strike-whistle, has decided to quit bowling to concentrate on curling, we're a cinch."

These are the words of a pair of responsible Vets bowlers.

We hear that the league officials nullified a bit of the Elks Club strategy whereby Wally DuChamp was to sever his association with the High School Faculty team and join the Elks. John and Jesse and Gordy and Jim made a good try.

Coaching Troubles

The Warroad Warriors lost their hockey coach, and the Warroad Lakers lost a valuable team member, when, like a bird, Ken Johannson took off from the Wold-Chamberlain airport in Minneapolis on Saturday with his destination being Switzerland. Ken, the former North Dakota Sioux hockey star, played in Europe last season, and he is apparently joining that club again for a series of exhibition games. According to the information we have, Ken expects to be gone for about a month.

And the Prowlers, too, have been without the services and benefits of their varsity hockey coach, Johnny Matchefts, for the past two weeks. John was called home by the serious and critical illness of his mother. During this two-week interim, the Prowlers have failed to take advantage of the opportunity to hold organized practice.

The blue-and-gold did start, Tuesday afternoon, having practice sessions under the supervision of assistant coach Gene Sack. And it's our understanding that these practice drills will continue so long as there is ice in the Arena.

The one advantage that the northern Minnesota high school hockey teams have, over the Twin City teams is the ability to skate. And when the local players fail to make use of the available ice, they fritter away that advantage and make the odds less than even. And furthermore, theres no argument but that skating is a most wholesome physical activity.

St. Bernard's Team Whips Knox Six to Keep Hockey Title

Win 6-1 on Monday to Retain Championship of City Grade Schools

The St. Bernard's Broncos successfully defended their grade school hockey championship on Monday night when, on the Arena rink, they defeated the Knox Tigers, 6 to 1, in the play-down finals.

Tony Poole gave the Broncos a 1 to 0 lead at the 5:00 mark of the first period when he recovered a loose puck in center ice and skated in to beat the Knox goalie on a hard shot from 10 feet out. The Broncos notched their second goal a short while later when, following a face-off in the Knox zone, Fisher banged in a tally. Wayne Loeffler, who turned in the "hat trick" for the winners, garnered the first of his three goals at the 9:00 mark of the first period when his shot on goal was deflected into the cage by a Knox defensive player.

After the Broncos had moved into a 4 to 0 lead in the opening minute of the second period, on Loeffler's shot with Jim Ranum serving a Knox penalty, the Tigers, at the 6:00 mark, averted a shutout when Ranum found the corner of the north net with a backhander. Loeffler, on an assist from Fisher, boosted the St. Bernard's lead to 5 to 1 just before the period's close.

Poole, with a goal at the 7:00 mark of the third period, closed out the game's scoring.

The summary:

Plummer Wins Subdistrict Championship

Goodridge Quintet Takes Consolation Round at Fisher

Coach Darrel Hesby's Plummer Cardinals won the sub-district basketball championship Wednesday night when they defeated the Red Lake Eagles, 57 to 53, in the finals of the tournament that was played at Fisher on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. In the consolation finals, the Goodridge Huskies defeated Fisher, 61 to 43.

As a result of the sub-district tournament games of Wednesday night, the Plummer Cardinals will play the East Grand Forks Green Wave in a district tournament first round game at 9:00 p.m. on Monday night, March 4th. The runner-up Red Lake Falls Eagles will meet the Climax Vikings at 4:00 p.m. on Monday afternoon. While the third place winning Goodridge Huskies will face the defending champion Crookston Pirates at 7:30 p.m. on Monday night.

In first round play in the sub-district tournament last Monday night, Goodridge, by a 57 to 43 score, eliminated Oslo; while Fisher, by a 50 to 49 score, took the measure of the Alvarado Indians. In semi-finals games played on Tuesday night, the Plummer Cardinals defeated the Fisher Flyers, 65 to 32; while the Red Lake Falls Eagles defeated Goodridge, 54 to 37.

Lloyd Johnson Is New President St. Hilaire Creamery

Lloyd Johnson was elected to the board of directors of the St. Hilaire Creamery at the annual meeting of the organization, Monday, succeeding Wm. Kruse. At an organization meeting of the board he was also elected president, succeeding A. G. Hallstrom.

The creamery had a gain in volume for the year 1956, the total pounds of fat being up about 5,000 pounds. A drop in the pounds of fat received in cream was more than offset by a gain in the handling of whole milk.

Sportsmen's Club to Elect Tuesday

To Arrange Membership Campaign at Meeting

The Pennington County Sportsmen's club will conduct its annual election of officers at its March meeting next Tuesday evening, March 5, in the meeting room in the basement of the Auditorium, Raymond Johnson, secretary, stated today. O. D. Gifford is completing his term as president.

A 1957 membership campaign also will be arranged, and Johnson announced that prospective and present members may obtain their cards at the Sportsmen's Store, Ole's Northern Supply and the Coast to Coast store.

The program at Tuesday's meeting will include the showing of the film, "Northern Harvest," dealing with commercial fishing in Canadian waters.

Traffic Mishaps Are More Numerous in '56

Minnesota's traffic accident picture for 1956 was decidedly poorer than that of 1955, as shown in statistics released today by the Minnesota Highway department. While the number of persons killed in traffic jumped 10 per cent during the year, total accidents and the number of persons injured increased six per cent.

A preliminary summary of motor vehicle traffic accidents in Minnesota, which included information available through January 22, showed that the total of reported accidents increased 6.1 per cent from 52,219 in 1955 to 55,434 in 1956. This represents an average of 152 traffic mishaps each day of the year that resulted in personal injury or property damage of more than $50.

In those accidents, 22,821 persons were injured in an automobile accident in Minnesota every 25 minutes.

As has been recorded in previous years, traffic accidents occur in urban areas about three to one compared to the rural highways. Last year there were 40,313 traffic accidents in urban areas—those municipalities of more than 2,500 population; while 15,121 accidents were charged against the rural areas. This represented a rise of six per cent in each group.

Only in the number of fatalities in the urban area was a decrease noted in the report. In the cities, there were 145 traffic deaths last year compared to 148 in 1955, a decrease of about two per cent. In contrast, rural traffic fatalities jumped from 432 to 492 in 1956 for an increase of 13.8 per cent. Therefore, the jump in total fatalities from 580 in 1955 to 637 last year must be charged against drivers in rural areas.

"Drivers must take the blame for the worsening accident picture," charged Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director. "The largest percentage increase, more than double, in fatalities happened in vehicles which overturned on the roadways. Where 15 persons died in 1955, there were 31 who were killed in single vehicle accidents in which the vehicle overturned on the roadway through driver carelessness.

Discuss Lamprey Control at Parley

75 Weirs Installed on Lake Superior Streams

Meeting in Two Harbors recently to discuss the Great Lakes sea lamprey problem, the Minnesota advisory committee to the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, was brought up to date on control efforts.

The advisory committee is composed of Hjalmer Swenson, representing the conservation department; Fritz Lindquist of Grand Marais, representing the public-at-large, William House of Two Harbors, representing the sport fishing interests; and Stanley Sivertson of Duluth, representing the comercial fishing industry.

The sea lamprey control program involves the installation and operation of electric control weirs in the streams, to trap lampreys during their spawning runs in April, May and June. The lampreys prefer the sandy bottom streams of the Wisconsin, Michigan and Ontario spawning areas, rather than the rocky Minnesota North Shore streams.

Approximately 75 electric weirs have been installed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in the spawning streams tributary to Lake Superior.

Some chemicals have shown promising results in killing lamprey larvae in the stream beds. If undisturbed, the larvae will remain in the beds for five or more years before they mature and begin their migration to the Lakes.

The Minesota advisory committee is concerned wih the future task of rehabilitating the lake trout fisheries, following the eradication of the lamprey.

Former Lincoln Teacher Now Assistant at UND

Graduate Assistant in the department of history at the University of North Dakota is Wesley A. Waage, former Thief River Falls high school instructor. At left, Waage instructs class in American History. At right, he is shown with his family in their Tennis Village home on the UND campus: Donald (sitting on Waage's lap), wife Muriel (holding Miriam), Steven and Mark.

Waage received his master of education degree from the University during the summer term of 1951 and began work in June 1955 toward his Ph.D. degree.

Leaving St. Olaf in June 1948, he accepted the Lincoln High School teaching position. In February, 1951, he was recalled for duty in the Korean action and served on a destroyer off the shores of Korea, Formosa, Japan, Hong Kong and the Hawaiian Islands.

In September 1953, Waage resumed teaching at Thief River Falls and completed work for his masters degree during UND summer school sessions. Waage hopes to continue college teaching upon receiving his Ph.D. degree.

Motorists Toss $225,000 on Roads

Litterbugs Increase Activities During 1956

Minnesota motorists in 1956 threw away $225,808 along the state's trunk highways. That was dishing it out with an even freer hand than in 1955, when they tossed out the sizeable sum of $182,20.

Of course, it wasn't real money that was so generously scattered along the highways. It was only rubbish, litter, refuse—presumably of no value, cash or otherwise. But that rubbish did represent a 'cash value', chargeable against every Minnesotan who pays a motor vehicle or gasoline tax.

For the necessary collection and disposal of all that litter—paper, cans, old tires, bottles, etc.—cost the state that fat figure of $225,808, payable from the motor vehicle tax supported funds of the highway department. That's the report from George Meskal, the department's chief maintenance engineer.

His men and trucks had to use up $225,808 of the motorist taxpayers' money in labor and truck operating costs to pick up a total of 8,726 truck loads of litter along the trunk highways in 1956. That figure hit something of a record. The motorists were able to provide only 6,074 loads to be picked up and carted away in 1955. Filling the 8,726 truck loads in 1956 consumed 88,881 hours of labor at the tidy cost of $159,919 and 27,454 hours of equipment operation for a total of $65,889.

$36 Million Death Benefits Paid in State During 1956

Minnesota families received $36,272,000 during 1956 in death benefits from their life insurance companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. These payments were made under 19,760 policies.

The 1956 death payments compare with $36,978,000 the year before, under 18,721 policies.

"The death benefits paid in this state last year were 62 per cent more than ten years ago," the Institute commented. "In 1946, they amounted to $22,414,000 under 13,277 policies. The increase has been primarily a reflection of the greater amount of life insurance owned and not a rise in death rates, which declined nationally about one-fourth in these years. Ownership of life insurance in this state increased 127 percent between the start of 1946 and the start of 1956."

For the nation as a whole, the aggregate of death claim payments was $2,418,992,000 under 1,739,108 policies, compared with $2,210,731,000 under 1,660,919 policies the year before.

Marshall Co. 4-H Clubs Invite New Members to Join

20 Clubs in County Now Boast over 500 Members, Seys Co. Agent Welberg

Next week—March 2-9—500 4-H Club week, along with more than 2 million other young people in this country.

Through exhibits, newspapers, radio, television and special meetings during the week they will tell the public about the values of their program of "learning by doing."

Members of the 4-H clubs in Marshall County are actively engaged in a variety of projects in farming and homemaking, community service and leadership, as well as health, recreation and other activities. In keeping with their slogan, they "learn by doing." Through their projects and activities they are also carrying out their 4-H theme, "Improving Family and Community Living," says County Agent, Erling M. Wellberg.

During the past year, Marshall county club members have taken an active part in community betterment programs.

While they are taking an increasing responsibility in community service, 4-H club members made an excellent record in producing and preserving food and in making homes and farms more efficient, attractive and comfortable. Their safety activities have played an important part in reducing accidents in the home and on the farm.

Welberg invites Marshall county boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age who are not members of 4-H clubs to attend any 4-H meeting and to get information on club work from the county extension office or adult leaders. Home Agent Janice B. Kyseth points out that 4-H clubs give young people a chance to get acquainted in the community and to take part in recreational activities, in addition to teaching skills and leadership.

PROPOSE SELF-HELP PLAN

A Dairy Policy Committee, representing several leading farm organizations, has completed a study of the industry's marketing problem and is now proposing a self-help program that could increase substantially the returns to producers. An outline of the plan is presented in the current issue of Hoard's Dairyman.

Congress will now be asked to pass permissive legislation that will make it legally possible for the industry to organize in its own behalf. The plan will be submitted to representative groups in various segments of the industry in the hope that united support for such a program by the producers can be obtained.

The plan follows the general outline of proposals that have been under consideration before and is similar to the ideas advanced by the late John Brandt. Some financial assistance from the government probably would be needed at the start, but the problem of controlling the marketing of dairy products should not be too difficult. The cost of surplus disposal would not be a heavy burden to the producers if the producers receive a fair price for that portion of their product for which there is a market demand.

Certainly that portion of the industry that speaks for the producers should give wholehearted support to the committee.

WHY PASS A LAW?

Once again there is talk in the legislature about daylight saving, and, as before, there is a city versus country split on the question.

Maybe we could compromise the differences by adopting daylight saving for the six months of the year when daylight is most scarce, and up here in the northern part of the state there isn't any daylight to spare during the winter months.

But why monkey with laws to accomplish this good purpose when we can achieve the same results on our own initiative merely by buying an alarm clock.

THE WAY TO SURVIVE

It isn't only here in Squash Hollow and Punkin Center that business faces a struggle for survival. The New York Times, commenting on the failure of a great retail store that is now being liquidated after operating in that city since 1886, recalls seven other New York stores of national reputation that have closed their doors since 1952.

"The reasons for these failures," says the Times, "are numerous and complex, with certain factors applying to some but not to others. Basically, however, the causes were two-fold: a management that did not keep abreast of changing conditions and a plant that was not modern and efficient."

This sounds like their problems down east are substantially the same as ours. Remaining young seems to be essential to survival, and that becomes increasingly difficult as we grow older.

DRAINAGE PAYS OFF

All of Pennington county will soon be included in the Pennington County Soil Conservation district. This expansion has come gradually and the fact that the district now includes all of the county is an effective testimonial to the good results that have been accomplished through this organization.

Since 1949, when the district was organized, more than 80 miles of "group" ditches have been contructed, making possible better drainage for more than 50,000 acres on 284 farms. During these years 486 individual farmers have constructed 250 miles of on-the-farm ditches, benefiting an additional 50,000 acres. These are impressive figures.

This program of surface drainage has greatly increased average crop yields and net returns. It has resulted in earlier spring planting, and has reduced growing-season and harvesting losses.

The excessive rains of last fall did much damage to what would have been a bumper crop. Because of better drainage, however, much of the crop that would otherwise have been lost was recovered, and many of our farmers will agree that just one year's benefits have more than compensated for the cost of these improvements.

The program is off to a good start, but it still is only a start. The annual returns from from this investment should increase as time goes on.

NOT ALL PROSPERITY

The Wall Street Journal points out that the Commerce Department figures on gross national product are not necessarily an accurate gauge in the measurement of national prosperity.

Last year's total was an all-time high of $412 billion, an increase of nearly $22 billion over the previous year. But a sizable amount of this increase, the Journal reminds us, was due to price increases, and did not represent actual economic expansion. And conceivably it may not have represented progress. The Journal observes:

> Obviously these flies in the statistical ointment do not prove that the nation is not prosperous; you could tell it is even if the gross national product device had never been invented. And an increase in total output of something less than three per cent, while not as impressive as five and a half per cent, is still a very respectable one for a huge economy like the United States'. Nor does the discrepancy between the actual and the statistical expansion mean that the gross national product is a useless yardstick.
>
> It does, though, suggest a certain amount of caution about using this yardstick. It is unwise to supose we are going twice as fast as we are. And for the Government to assume that it can constantly increase spending because the gross national product is growing so handsomely on paper is a dangerous delusion indeed.

Looking Backward

1897—SIXTY YEARS AGO

Patrick Meehan left for Crookston.—Quite a number of homeseekers have been in town during the past week.—Attorney Frank Allen returned from Duluth.—The mercury registered 43 below zero Feb. 25.—Next Tuesday is election day here, and as yet no move has been made for the holding of one. It is quite evident that the people of this village are incapable of self-government. A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schulster gave them a surprise party.

W. Prichard.

1947—TEN YEARS AGO

Emil Gribstein, alderman for 12 years, died at the age of 74.—The Plummer village council awarded contracts in the amount of $90,000 for installation of a sewer and water system.—The highway department will open bids March 14 on concrete paving on Highway 32 from Red Lake Falls north to St. Hilaire.—Roy M. Barzen was named president of a newly organized TRF Camera Club.—The Minnesota Co-op Wool growers assn. held its annual convention in this city, with 200 members in attendance.

STATE LAW MILL GRINDS VIGOROUSLY

With the state's legislative session just about at the half way point, 876 bills have been introduced in the Senate, 978 in the House. In session, at Committee hearings, and in deep conscientious study on the job, at some state institution, or elsewhere in their big and busy domain, the state's 198 lawmakers are averaging about 16 hours a day to complete their task in the allotted 90 days. To date 16 measures have passed both houses and been signed into law. First statute through the intricate hopper permits the state's metropolis, Minneapolis, to fix its own dates for municipal elections; another governs the acceptance of gifts and donations by the Statehood Centennial Commission. Affecting everybody is the change in the dates for the school census, hereafter scheduled between August 1 and October 1. Chapter 7 fixes open season on bass from May 29 to February 15.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Having formerly been a school teacher and newspaper editor, I read with great interest in a recent issue of the Times Lee R. Boyd's criticism of high schools and grade school teaching.

He speaks of "lack of proper high school grounding"—failure of imparting the know-how to study and application; and "gravely watered down courses being required" for high schools. He also emphasizes "that the whole tax supported educational system from grade school up needs a thorough overhauling; probably the Teachers College most of all."

A few years ago an author wrote a timely book on the subject "Why Johnny Can't Read." I think that most people will agree with me that a person has first of all to learn to read with understanding if he is to acquire an education, and that reading should be put the greatest emphasis on from the lower grades and all the way to the colleges.

We seldom see or hear any mention made of the students in our newspapers or over the radio who are studying and learning something out of books at our schools and colleges, while most of the time they are touting the achievement of basketball, football and other athletic sports. Is that the purpose for which we pay taxes for our schools?

If so, why not call them athletic gymnasiums and training fields. But if we still want to maintain them as schools of book learning let us insist that our teachers devote more time to imparting the ability to read to the pupils and scholars in our schools and colleges.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul—The state legislature, trying to get itself in the mood to appropriate funds for governmental expenditures without raising taxes during the next two years or those after 1959, now finds itself embroiled in the efforts of some of its members to hang a political party label on themselves.

A bill calling for the party designation of legislators passed the house by a vote of 95 to 32. It is now reposing in the senate, where the independents have a control. Even though some of their colleagues in the house voted for the bill, the senate independents feel that tying legislators to a political party will mean the end of considering proposed legislation on its merits.

Want To Back Governor

Proponents of party designation insist that since the governor is elected on a political party basis, pledged to carry out a political party platform, the legislators should also be elected on a party basis. Thus, it is assumed that the sweeping into office of a governor will also sweep into office legislators ready to carry out his proposals.

Opponents of party designation are equally certain that the people do not elect legislators simply to bolster the governor's stand but to send spokesmen to the capitol to judge the governor's program, use their own judgment in determining what is good and to set up a program for the next two years that represents the best thinking of both the governor and an independent legislature.

What Independent Thinking

Independent senators are pointing to the appropriations and tax problem confronting them in the current session. The governor has a plan for the next two years calling for expenditure of $475,000,000, an increase of nearly $154,000,000 over the 1955 appropriations.

Legislative observers expect the house, which is dominated by liberals aligned with the governor, to give him most of what he wants, unless their constituents object to it.

In the senate, however, the independents are looking beyond the current biennium to the possibility of a huge tax increase in 1959 to finance the expenses necessary to carry on the governor's program for the coming two years. The argument is that if the senate were controlled similarly as in the house, the senators would have little choice. They would have to approve the governor's program or face the wrath of their party.

Liberals About Face

As independents, however, they feel their obligation to their constituents is to examine the program carefully and enact a spending program that will not require new and higher taxes in 1959.

Hence, as independents not answerable to the governor or a political party boss, they can use their own judgment in voting on the program, being assured that their action will not have been the result of political party pressure.

Action on party designation has revealed an almost about face by the liberals in the house. When the no-party designation bill was passed in 1913, it was the liberals who fought for its passage. Liberal leaders like former Senator Victor E. Lawson of Willmar, the late Thomas J. Meighen of Preston, and others were in the front of the battle to take legislators out of the party label class. They wanted to get away from domination by party bossism.

In the house vote on the bill only a handful of liberals voted against the party designation bill.

Use Own Judgment

The senate independents assert that during the 40 years of non-partisan designation of legislators in Minnesota, quality of legislation adopted has been among the highest in the country. This has been due entirely, they say, to the fact that legislators have not looked for a signal from a party leader for their votes, but had to judge each bill on the facts concerning it. Ever since its adoption, governors have had to temper their spending programs to the viewpoints in the legislature.

Reorganization Back Again

While they have not yet seen the bill, legislators are mapping plans for a new reorganization plan to replace the law that was knocked out by the state supreme court after its passage in 1955. In his message, Governor Freeman presented a milder version of reorganization than he did two years ago. Since most legislators feel the state government can stand a reorganization, particularly in consolidation overlapping departments and eliminating waste, the likelihood is the bill will have fairly easy sledding in both houses.

New Assessment Plan

In line with one of the recommendations of the governor's interim tax study commission for a standard plan of assessments throughout the state, a bill has been brought in to do this job under the present local assessor system. The commission suggested setting up a county assessor plan instead of the present township or district assessor system. The bill, introduced by Senator D. O. Wright of Minneapolis, senate tax committee chairman, and a group of house members, calls for retention of the township or district assessor who would assess property on a standardized basis fixed by the state department of taxation.

Senator Wright explained that under proper direction and supervision, a local assessor can "carry out the madates of the bill in a completely satisfactory manner, because he is likely to be more familiar with property in his own area than someone from the outside."

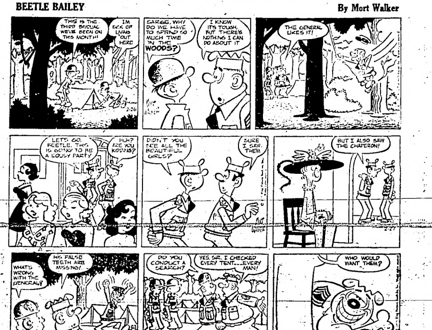
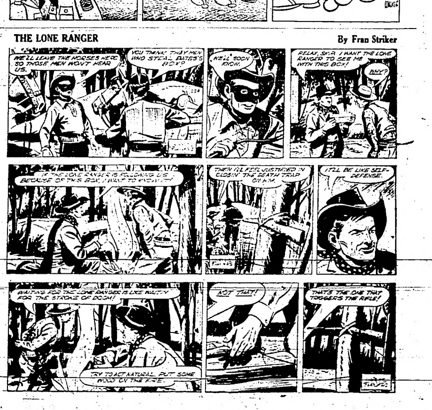
BEETLE BAILEY By Mort Walker



THIS IS THE THIRD BIVOUAC WE'VE BEEN ON THIS MONTH!
I'M SICK OF LIVING OUT HERE
SARGE, WHY DO WE HAVE TO SPEND SO MUCH TIME IN THE WOODS?
I KNOW IT'S TOUGH, BUT THERE'S NOTHING I CAN DO ABOUT IT
THE GENERAL LIKES IT!
2-26
LET'S GO, BEETLE. THIS IS GOING TO BE A LOUSY PARTY
HUH? ARE YOU KIDDING?
DIDN'T YOU SEE ALL THE BEAUTIFUL GIRLS?
SURE I SAW THEM
BUT I ALSO SAW THE CHAPERON!
2-27
WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE GENERAL?
HIS FALSE TEETH ARE MISSING!
DID YOU CONDUCT A SEARCH?
YES, SIR. I CHECKED EVERY TENT.... EVERY MAN!
WHO WOULD WANT THEM?
2-28

THE LONE RANGER By Fran Striker



WE'LL LEAVE THE HORSES HERE SO THOSE MEN WON'T HEAR US.
YOU THINK THEY MEN WHO STEAL BATES'S BOX?
WE'LL SOON KNOW.
RELAX, SKIP. I WANT THE LONE RANGER TO SEE ME WITH THIS BOX!
WHY?
IF THE LONE RANGER IS FOLLOWING US BECAUSE OF THIS BOX, I WANT TO KNOW IT!
THEN I'LL FEEL JUSTIFIED IN CLOSIN' THE DEATH TRAP ON HIM.
IT'LL BE LIKE SELF-DEFENSE.
WAITING FOR THE LONE RANGER IS LIKE WAITIN' FOR THE STROKE OF DOOM!
TRY TO ACT NATURAL. PUT SOME WOOD ON THE FIRE.
NOT THAT!
THAT'S THE ONE THAT TRIGGERS THE RIFLE!

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the

Minnesota Historical Society

FIRST BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Though baseball was played in Minnesota before the Civil War, it did not become widely popular until after the war. In 1867 presidents of baseball clubs at St. Paul, Owatonna, Hastings, Minneapolis, Red Wing, Northfield, Winona, Faribault, and Mankato met to form the Minnesota State Association of Base Ball Players and to plan the state's first baseball tournament.

Five clubs entered the tournament, which was held in St. Paul late in September, 1867. They were the St. Cloud Arctics, the North Stars and the Saxons of St. Paul the Hastings' Vermillions, and the St. Croix club of Stillwater.

The games in which these teams participated featured enormous scores. The tournament game between the St. Cloud Arctics and the North Stars of St. Paul leading by fifty runs. The Vermillions defeated the Arctics by a score of 100 to 44. The North Stars were victorious in two games with the Hastings' team, winning by scores of 58 to 40 and 43 to 35.

At the close of the tournament, the North Stars were named state champions and were presented with a silver ball by no less a personage than Henry H. Sibley, who, in addition to his many political and business activities, was an active sportsman and president of the Minnesota State Association of Base Ball Players. The second prize, a silver-mounted, rosewood bat, was awarded to the Vermillions.

DIME MUSEUMS IN ST. PAUL

The dime museum, which flourished in the nineteenth century, was a unique part of show business. It has long since disappeared, though its descendant may be found in the traveling carnival show of today.

The dime museum was at first a collection of human and animal freaks—bearded ladies, two-headed calves, etc. These attractions were later supplemented by vaudeville acts.

The first such exhibition in St. Paul was at Schroder's Museum on East Third Street, which opened in 1869 and offered a small collection of animal freaks. Schroder's soon went bankrupt, but in the years following its failure, other dime museums opened and closed. None, however, was a commercial success.

The largest and best known of the St. Paul dime museums was Sacket & Wiggins' Mammoth Dime Museum, opened in October, 1885, on East Seventh Street. It had a theater, a freak show, and a wax works. The acts changed frequently, and during its existence the public saw the Australian Gladiator, who broke cobblestones with his fists; the Human Ostrich, who ate broken glass and ten-penny nails; Mrs. General Tom Thumb, a midget; Egyptian battle axe throwers; and many others.

In 1888 this museum passed to new ownership and became known as Kohl & Middleton's Dime Museum. The enterprising new owners advertised in the "Pioneer Press" for March 2, 1890, that they would present "The Reformed Safe Breakers, Handsome Bill and his pal, Rubber Shoe Dan, showing manner of drilling, tamping, wedging, inserting fuse, and blowing up a real safe in full view of audience using tools of most approved pattern. A real safe blown open by real cracksmen."

Despite such attractions, vaudeville and the legitimate theater offered better entertainment, and Kohl & Middleton were forced to close in 1890. Since that time, there have been no dime museums in St. Paul.

MINNESOTA IN THE MONEY

The only Minnesotan whose portrait has appeared on United States currency is William Windom of Winona. Appointed secretary of the treasury by President James Garfield in 1881, Windom resigned when Garfield was assassinated later that year. In 1889 he was reappointed secretary of the treasury by President Benjamin Harrison, and he held that office until his death in 1891.

Later that year the treasury department used his portrait on the two-dollar silver certificate. Most of these bills have since disappeared, and they are now highly prized by collectors. Examples have sold recently for between forty and seventy-five dollars, depending upon their condition.

STRAY ANIMALS

The poundkeeper of seventy-five years ago was responsible for the control of a wide variety of stray animals, including cows, pigs, and horses. Files of old newspapers in the Minnesota Historical Society yield interesting facts about this phase of early municipal government.

Almost as soon as there were newspapers in the territory, letters appeared from irate citizens who complained of pigs "eating and sleeping about their doors and in their woodhouses and stables."

In 1851 the St. Paul town council passed an ordinance prohibiting the running at large of boars and female dogs, and set fines for their offending owners.

Presumably the ordinance was not entirely effective, for ten years later, a St. Paulite complained, in the "Pioneer and Democrat" for August 28, 1861, that cats, dogs, and cows were keeping him awake at night. "It is a positive nuisance for a person to allow his cow to keep a neighbor awake all night, and it should be suppressed," he declared.

The Minneapolis town-council passed its first ordinance concerning stray animals in 1858, but cows and hogs were still a familiar sight on the streets of Minneapolis in the 1860s.

The St. Paul pound contained forty cows on August 8, 1873, and cows continued to be a problem until dairies established milk deliveries in the cities. Poundkeepers apparently received little cooperation from cow-keeping citizens, who only gradually realized that their villages had become great cities and that their pastures must give way to city parks.

Marketing Pact Sought by Valley Potato Growers

At a joint meeting of the directors of the Red River Valley Potato Growers association and Valley potato control board last week, a proposed marketing agreement for the Red River Valley was drawn up, according to Lyle W. Currie, executive secretary. A request will be directed to the Department of Agriculture with the proposed agreement.

Next step in getting a marketing agreement will be the scheduling of a hearing at which growers, shippers, and others, will be able to testify for or against the proposals contained in the marketing agreement.

It is not known just when a hearing will be held. One official of the Department of Agriculture indicated that because of the heavy schedule of hearings that are on the calendar for marketing agreements on various fruits and vegetables in other areas, it is improbable that a hearing will be held in the Valley until late in the spring.

Plans for Annual Red Cross Drive Made in Marshall

Quota Is Set at $4,180; Norma Hanson, Goodridge Heads East County Drive

The Marshall county chapter of the American Red Cross held its annual kick-off dinner February 23 at the hotel in Warren. Dinner was served to a group of 26 people.

Following the dinner a short business meeting was held with Ray Holmquist, chairman of Warren presiding. Clarence Johnson, secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting. Harold Bustrack, treasurer gave the annual report.

Fritz Bijls, fieldman for the Red Cross, formerly of Moorhead and now living in Warren, gave a talk on "What Red Cross Means to Me."

Duane Nielson, newly elected fund raising co-chairman, gave a short talk on the fund drive for this year.

Two fund drive chairmen were elected at the meeting. They are Robert Johnson of Stephen for West Marshall county and Norma Hanson of the Goodridge area for East Marshall.

The quota for Marshall county this year is $1,180.00, a small increase over last year's figure. Village and township chairmen will be announced at a later date.

Legislators to Attend Workshop

DFL Party Plans Meeting In Fergus Falls Mar. 16

A legislative conference which will be attended by Governor Orville L. Freeman and senators and representatives for the legislative districts of Western Minnesota is to be held in the Roosevelt Park high school at Fergus Falls on Saturday, March 16th, it was announced by Marvin A. Evenson of Moorhead, conference program chairman.

First of its kind to be held outside of the Twin Cities area, the meetings are all open to the public without charge. A number of important subjects now under consideration by the state legislature will be covered. Registration will start at 9 a.m. and the opening session is scheduled for 10 a.m.

In the forenoon session the subject of tax revision will be discussed by a member of the Governor's tax study committee. There will be a Governor's luncheon at noon, for which a charge will be made.

During the afternoon there will be workshop type sessions with panels composed of the legislators. These will be on a variety of subjects, the most important of which are apt to be education; conservation and related subjects; governmental functions; welfare and labor problems; and general items. At the close of the afternoon or in an evening meeting there will be an evaluation session with reports from the various workshops.

SPRING MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

As you gaze at this scene of snow, ice, and leafless trees, your mind may skip ahead and picture green grass, abundant foliage, and a rippling stream. The very thought brings happiness. Spring makes the difference.

As grass, trees, and streams are fettered by winter, so some lives are bound by doubt, unbelief, lack of faith, and false ideas. When they come in contact with the Church, the love of God sets them free. They see new beauty in everything about them, and others see new beauty in their lives. As spring brings all nature to new life, so God's love makes human beings happier, gives them life more abundant.

No matter how strong the fetters which bind you, freedom can be yours through the Church and the message it brings to all. Why not accept that freedom today?

These Religious Messages, in the Interest of Our Churches & Community, brought to you by the following CIVIC MINDED Individuals & Businesses. THEY DESERVE YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT!
